PINDEL DECLINES POST OF AMBASSADOR; CRANE MAY BE NAMED

Peoria Man's Declination Is Accepted by the President.

Letter Expressing Keen Regret Sent From White House.

Charges Regarding Lewis Letter Are Cause of Withdrawal.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Henry M. Pindel of Peoria, Ill., who recently was nominated and confirmed as ambassador to Russia, has declined the post, according to a letter to the president made public at the White House today.

Mr. Pindel wrote President Wilson that although the senate had investigated his appointment in connection with his appointment, he felt, nevertheless, that no controversy of any kind should surround the appointment of any ambassador, as it was liable to be misunderstood.

The president, in a letter of regret, accepted Mr. Pindel's declination. With the Russian ambassadorship again open, there was gossip in official circles about the likelihood of Charles R. Crane of Chicago, being named. Mr. Crane was appointed in the president's mind early last year for the post, but is understood to have declined because of his business in this country. There was an impression current at the time that perhaps at the end of a year or two he might be able to arrange his affairs.

Mr. Crane took luncheon with the president a few days ago, but it could not be learned whether the ambassadorship was discussed while he was in Washington.

It was believed that if Mr. Crane could arrange his affairs the president would like to see him go to St. Petersburg.

Pindel to Wilson. The correspondence made public at the White House follows:

"Dear Mr. President: I deeply appreciate the honor you have done me by nominating me ambassador to Russia, and the very great confidence you have placed in me by continuing the nomination by unanimous vote. I had hoped and confidently expected when you asked me to accept the post, that I could do so at once and take up the work at a very early date. I am therefore the more embarrassed to find that circumstances have arisen which will prevent me from doing so."

WANT $6,000,000 FOR MISSION WORK

Men and Millions Movement to Be Urged at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 2.—Plans for a campaign to raise $6,000,000 for missionary work will be perfected when the committee of 150 of the Men and Millions Movement of the Disciples of Christ meets here tomorrow. Rev. Dr. Abram L. Cary, executive secretary of the church, will preside.

R. A. Long of Kansas City has placed $1,000,000 of the fund, which will be raised for the same purpose. Although a systematic campaign has not yet begun, $250,000 more has been pledged to the fund.

The Men and Millions campaign is the outgrowth of a movement for 1,000 men and women and sufficient money to carry on the work of the church, which was started at a convention at Toronto, Ont., last October.

Contains Names of County, State and Congressional Office Holders.

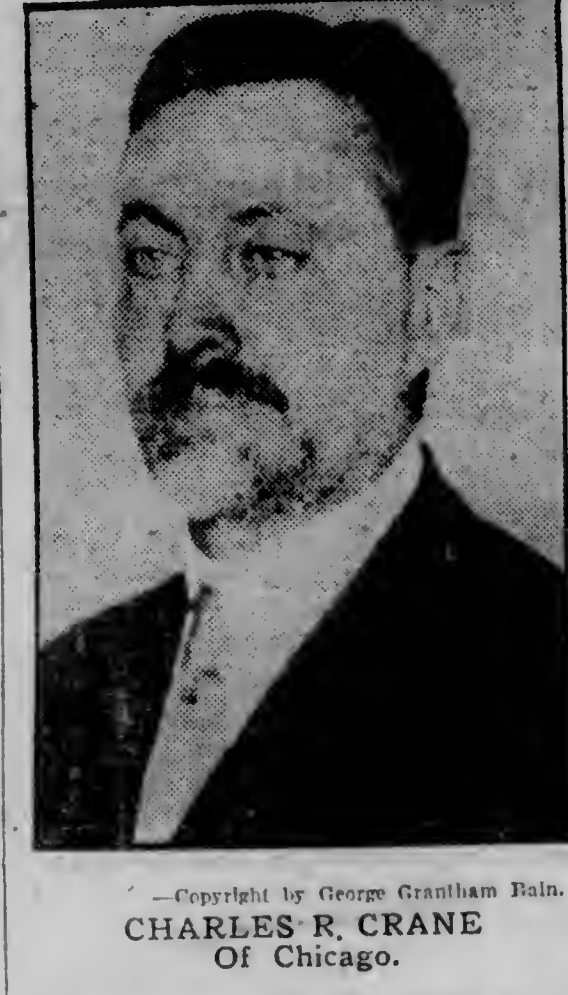

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 2.—The "pie book" which former Congressman Theron Alden last week declared Highway Commissioner John M. Carlisle kept, has been found. It has been placed in the hands of James W. Osborne, who is investigating alleged graft in state departments. It was announced today. According to Mr. Osborne, the book contains the names of state senators, assemblymen, congressmen, county political leaders and a number of employees. Mr. Osborne will continue his investigation tomorrow.

HUNDREDS OF MOORS KILLED BY SPANIARDS

Stubborn Two-Days' Battle Is Fought Near Tetuan.

Tetuan, Morocco, Feb. 2.—Hundreds of Moorish tribesmen fell in a stubbornly contested battle with a column of Spanish troops Thursday and Friday at Beni-Salem, said a dispatch from the Spanish forces reported their own losses as 4 officers and 10 men wounded. The Moorish tribesmen took up strong positions in a rocky fastness and ravines at Beni-Salem. The battle began early Thursday and lasted all day, the Moors holding their positions with great tenacity. They were finally forced to retreat, but their number dead or wounded on the field.

GOVERNMENT RATES BEGIN

Express Charges as Set by Commerce Commission Effective.

Companies Combine Some Offices Owing to Change.

New York, Feb. 2.—The new system of interstate express rates, on a scale of 16 per cent lower than those formerly prevailing, became effective today under orders issued by the interstate commerce commission.

On the same basis of decrease in rates, the states of Maine, Vermont, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Jersey, Illinois and Louisiana are putting into force a new system of interstate express business.

The new interstate rates are based upon a block system, the country being divided into 82 blocks formed by the inter-sections of the meridians of longitude and parallels of latitude.

The first and second class charges are based upon rates per 100 pounds. Third-class rates are 1 cent for each two ounces, not to exceed first-class rates.

Another important feature of the new express rate system now in force is that every express office in the United States is able to determine and quote rates to every other express office in the United States. A new uniform express tariff, which each company used a separate form of receipt.

Closes Its Office. Batavia, N. Y., Feb. 2.—The United States Express company has closed its office here. An announcement explaining the reason for the closing was made by the local agent of the American Express company.

SAY FRANCE WAS CRUEL TO SOLDIERS

Hundreds Crippled By Forced Service During the Winter.

Basse Terre, Guadeloupe, Feb. 2.—Widespread indignation against the French government was aroused here today by the arrival from Saint Nazaire on the French liner Champagne of 104 invalid soldiers belonging to Guadeloupe. More than twenty others died from exposure during her voyage with 200 other native soldiers belonging to Martinique on board, who had been discharged as invalids from the same cause.

M. Gratien Candolo, who represents Guadeloupe in the French chamber of deputies, is bitterly assailed by the native colonists, as it was he who urged the French government to call the native recruits to the colors during the winter season.

WOULD BE GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 2.—Michael J. Ryan, city solicitor of Philadelphia, today published the formal announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Pennsylvania.

Vacillate Whole Village. Rockford, Ill., Feb. 2.—Nine cases of smallpox in Tecumseh today caused the state health officer to direct that all residents of the village be vaccinated.

MARINES ARE NOT WANTED TO AID CAUSE

Haitians Demand U. S. and German Forces Be Withdrawn.

Forces of Rival Rebel Leaders in Battle at Gonaives.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, Feb. 2.—A demand for the withdrawal of the German and American bluejackets and marines from the Haitian capital was presented today to the members of the foreign diplomatic corps by the citizens' committee of public safety. The committee points out that perfect tranquility has prevailed for some time in the capital, and that therefore there is no necessity for the further presence of foreign troops.

The port authorities forbade the landing of a party of sixteen prominent exiles who arrived here yesterday on board the German steamer Sardinia. Among them were Gen. Horace Montplaisir, former minister of war, and minister at Washington. The Sardinia later left for Jamaica with the exiles still on board, and there were no reports from the South indicate serious disturbances there. Firing squads of government troops have executed a number of leading revolutionaries at the ports of Aux Cayes and Aquin. Among those killed was M. Lavieux, a former deputy and a prominent politician.

Gen. Darligue, the military governor of the southern province, is acting with vigor and suppressing with a strong hand all attempts at a revolutionary outbreak.

Rival Rebel Forces Clash. Sharp fighting has occurred at Gonaives between the followers of the two rival revolutionary leaders, Sen. Davidin Theodore and General Oreste Zamor, formerly government delegate at Haiti.

Only the most meager details were obtainable today about the battle. These came from the crews of the Haitian naval vessels which were in the neighborhood of Gonaives, and which left hurriedly as soon as the firing started.

The war craft arrived here today and their officers assert that they saw flames rising over a vast area, giving reason for the belief that the city of Gonaives had been set on fire.

The German gunboats left immediately for Gonaives to investigate. Sen. Theodore, who announced several days ago that he would take supreme command of the rebels, was understood to be marching with his followers on the capital. His rival, Gen. Zamor, was reported to have left hurriedly for the same destination at the head of a body of revolutionaries.

$300,000 PRIZE FOR FLIGHT ROUND EARTH

Contestants Must Start From San Francisco in May, 1915.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 2.—The glory of first girdling the earth in a flying machine and cash prizes amounting to $300,000 or more are the lures dangled today before aviators of the world by the Panama-Pacific international exposition.

May, 1915, is the time set, and the race is to be over an easterly route from the exposition grounds on the shores of San Francisco bay. Surmounting the Sierras will be the first great task, and getting across the Atlantic ocean the next great one. Ninety days actual time is the limit, set, and the distance is estimated at 22,000 miles.

Villa Has 16,000 Troops Ready to Attack Torreon.

Federal Soldiers Are Reported in Mutiny Near Guaymas.

Jimenez, Mex., Feb. 2.—Uncertain as to when they would be ordered to begin the attack on the Federal army at Torreon, the scene of the next important military conflict in Mexico, 16,000 rebels, mobilized here and along the railroad south of here, today awaited the coming of Gen. Francisco Villa.

With their forces drawing in from the south, west and east of Torreon, and with the troops mobilized to the north, the rebel generals assert they will attack the city with a total strength of 16,000. About forty field pieces and great quantities of ammunition have been shipped southward in readiness for the attack.

Against the rebels the Federal garrison under Gen. Refugio Velasco will put forth as formidable a defense as their means will permit. The Federal strength is estimated by the rebels at from 6,000 soldiers upward. It is expected that the rebels will outnumber the Federals at least two to one. Gen. Velasco's soldiers, however, are said to be supplied with superior artillery.

LAWYERS' QUARREL GETS NEW TRIAL

Mrs. Ross Faces Jury Again for Husband's Death.

Fulton, Mo., Feb. 2.—Mrs. Susan Ross today was placed on trial for the second time, charged with the murder of her husband, J. Haywood Ross, a wealthy farmer, shot and killed in bed at his home near here last August. Mrs. Ross was convicted of the deed in September, but was granted a new trial upon a showing that differences between her and her husband had been properly presented to the jury.

Vermont Man's Death Ends Mystery Twenty Years Old.

Burlington, Vt., Feb. 2.—Mrs. James Clarey, a restaurant waitress whose husband disappeared twenty years ago, received word today that he died in New York City. Mrs. Clarey had not heard from him since he left her and four small children and started for the Chicago world's fair.

CURLEY TAKES UP BOSTON MAYORALTY.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 2.—Congressman James M. Curley was inaugurated as mayor of Boston today, in succession to John F. Fitzgerald. Mayor Curley's election was the second under the present charter, providing for a four year term, with the right of recall by the voters under certain conditions at the end of two years. Mr. Curley was elected to congress as a Democrat and is serving his second term.

SIX DEPUTIES FACE TRIAL FOR MURDER

Judge's Train Is Late and Delays Copper Country Court.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Six deputy sheriffs were prepared to stand trial today in the Houghton county circuit court on charges of murder in the second degree. They are accused of killing two copper miners, Alvin Tinn and Steve Putrich, near Fairdale last August.

Tinn and Putrich were the first men killed in the strike, which began July 23 of last year.

The deputies are employees of the Waddell-Mahon corporation and of Houghton county.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 2.—Judge Flannigan's train was delayed and it was announced that the trial would not begin until late today.

Frank Novak, a striker, was wounded Sunday in a revolver fight with James Jensen and Ekkel Strang, non-union miners. Jensen and Strang were arrested charged with the shooting. The accused men said they were returning home from Houghton in company with two other non-union men when they were accosted on the road by Novak. After abusing them, Novak, they declared, drew his revolver and fired twice, neither striking the effect. The fire was returned and Novak was wounded in the arm and leg.

This was the first serious shooting for several weeks in the copper miners' strike.

LITERACY TEST FOR IMMIGRANTS BEING DISCUSSED IN HOUSE

President May Suggest Changes in Burnett Bill.

Is Known to Favor Limit on "Assisted Immigration."

Secretary Wilson Wants Some Drastic Restrictions Imposed.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The Burnett immigration bill, prescribing a literacy test, was brought forward again today in the house.

A motion by Representative Sabath of Illinois to eliminate the proposed test, pending which the house adjourned Saturday night, was the immediate business under consideration.

President Wilson regards it as universally agreed that there should be some restrictions to prevent what is known as "assisted immigration." He has not yet announced his position on the literacy test feature of pending immigration bills, and indicated today that he would not do so until consulted by leaders in congress. The senate committee on immigration has announced that it will seek the president's advice in the matter.

The president has been giving audiences of late to many interested in that phase of immigration legislation, and there is said to be some ground for the belief that he may suggest certain modifications in the literacy test as now proposed.

Secretary Wilson of the department of labor informed congress today that he was not opposed himself to the bill, especially in regard to white slavery, and that skilled laborers imported and contrasted as well as unskilled laborers, be barred.

WILSON NOT BACKING ILLINOIS CANDIDATES

Takes No Personal Part in State Primary Campaigns.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Reports from Indiana and Illinois that the White House was backing the senatorial candidacy of Thomas Taggart and Roger Sullivan, met today with a declaration from President Wilson that he had not interfered in any primary contests and did not intend to do so.

The president feels that in his home state of New Jersey, when he is consulted by the leaders, it is his duty to give his views, but he is on the side of the man who will take no part in any of the many primary contests for the senate.

WILSON SURPRISED AT BUSINESS MEN

Thinks They Should Take More Interest in Trust Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 2.—President Wilson is surprised at the lack of responsiveness from business men to the invitation for suggestions on pending trust legislation, and that so few have accepted the invitation to appear at congressional hearings.

The president does not know whether the business men of the country approve the tentative measures as drawn, or whether they have not yet taken notice of the hearings.

When it was suggested to the president today that business men might fear being branded as "lobbyists" if they came to Washington to make a suggestion, Mr. Wilson remarked that no one could be regarded as a lobbyist who came by invitation.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

Met at noon. Judiciary committee voted against changing the date of inauguration, convening of congress and length of the presidential term.

Glass senatorial case was waiting consideration.

Met at noon. Judiciary committee resumed hearings on administration trust bill.

Democrats arranged for a caucus on the Baker immigration bill for the exclusion of Asians.

A GOLD BOND CIRCULATION!

The Herald is a high-class, 2-cent newspaper with an established clientele of over 28,000 subscribers won entirely on merit. The Herald has never found it necessary to resort to the guessing scheme or premium method of artificially "boosting" circulation. If a subscriber wishes a frying pan, razor strop, mouse trap or other article usually used as a bait, The Herald will direct him (or her) to a store that sells it for less money than the premium newspaper can supply it for. The Herald gives its readers and its advertisers full value first, last and always.

BERRY CROP GIVING OUT

And Grosbeaks and Waxwings Are in Danger of Starving.

Immense Flocks of Northern Birds Wintering in Duluth.

Flocks of three beautiful kinds of northern birds are in danger of starving in Duluth because the crops of mountain ash berries are nearly exhausted.

For the last two weeks Duluthians have watched with interest the immense flocks of birds which have been stripping the mountain ash trees of their berries. There are three kinds of birds in the flocks, the pine grosbeak, the evening grosbeak and the Bohemian waxwing. All of them are northern birds, seed eaters, and winter in this territory.

The largest and most slender birds are the pine grosbeaks. The male is quite brilliantly marked with scarlet, the back being slate colored. The female is a duller shade, without the brilliant markings. They are slightly smaller than a robin.

The shorter and fatter birds with yellow markings are the evening grosbeaks. The waxwings are not so numerous as the grosbeaks, and they are distinguished by yellow markings and a topknot.

At first the birds, split the berries and ate only the seeds, but now as food is becoming scarcer they are eating all of the berries. S. George Stevens says he has been experimenting to find some other food they will eat, but has not discovered any substitute for the mountain ash berries as yet.

"If I do find something," said Mr. Stevens, "I will let the Herald know, for the berries are becoming scarce, and it would be a pity if these birds should starve. They are very numerous in this territory."

WATER AND LIGHT PLANT EARNED $166,982 IN 1913

Annual Report Shows an Increase of $10,000 Over 1912.

Manager Recommends That City Begin to Plan Sewage Disposal.

The net earnings of the water and light department for 1913 were $166,982.18, a gain of approximately $10,000 over 1912, according to the annual report of the department.

The net earnings of the water department are given as $122,809.39, as against $116,550.32 in 1912, and those of the gas department were $34,172.79 as against $40,440.85 in 1912.

The water increase and the gas decrease are due to the fact that a greater percentage of expenses is added to the gas department than heretofore, which results in a corresponding increase for the water department.

The total assets of the plant are placed at $4,137,242.22, of which the water plant investment is placed at $3,024,687.21 and the gas plant at $1,012,555.01.

The report shows that the city's property interest, or the amount spent in extensions, improvements, with this year's earnings amounts to $74,850.38.

Water Rates. In his report Manager D. A. Reed discusses the advisability of raising water rates and making service charges for fire service connections. He recommends that the city begin to plan both its water and sewer systems with a view to future protection of the city's water supply.

possible thereby, large savings to the city, the customer, and leave a profit to the electric plant as well as increased compensation for the power company.

Improvements. The contemplated improvements to the plant for the coming season in addition to the pumping unit at Lakewood and the main extension to the West Duluth reservoir referred to above, are to about $22,000, a new tank for the orphanage system and possibly a new reservoir for the Woodland system.

A portion of the 42-inch force main, nearly 1,500 feet in length, may require duplication the present season on account of pitting. The pitting seems to be caused by carbon dioxide in the clay enveloping the pipe as shown by microscopic analysis of samples taken at various points along the line.

This duplication work will eventually become an integral part of the duplicate force main extending from the city to the orphanage reservoir at Thirty-fourth avenue and Fourth street. A summary of the items for the season's work is as follows:

Operating extensions.....$22,000.00
Orphanage tank.....6,000.00
Force main, 1,500 feet.....18,000.00
Miscellaneous gas and water extensions.....50,000.00

Total.....$96,000.00

Surplus Earnings. It is expected that the surplus earnings for the year will not be less than $100,000, which would be placed left over from the $100,000 bond issue, will furnish a total of $150,000, or $50,000 in excess of the season's requirements.

This covers only the apparent necessary expenditures for the coming year. Emergencies may arise requiring additional expenditures, or conditions may develop requiring renewals or enlargements to the plant at the present time.

The advisability of erecting a combined office, repair shop, garage and storeroom has been under consideration for some time. A number of propositions have been received, but after a careful study of the proposals, the city has decided to erect a new building at the present time.

The purchase of a site and erecting a building at the department's expense suitable for the purpose of a structure two stories in height, besides the basement, would permit a much better use of the space at about 50 per cent more than the present rented quarters at the city's expense.

Woman's Realm

Members of the Housewives' league, club women of the city and other women interested, have been invited to attend the agricultural educational conference which will be held in Duluth Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the Commercial club, corner First street and Fourth avenue west. This conference will bring together educators of this section of the state, representatives of the University of Minnesota and from the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C., and local agricultural experts and farmers. One feature of the conference which will be of special interest to the women is an address by Miss Josephine Perry, professor of home economics of the state university, who will talk on "The Farmer's Wife as a Factor in Agricultural Development." In view of the fact that the State Federation of Women's clubs has been particularly active recently in forming rural clubs for the farmers wives, this talk will be of special interest to them. Miss Annie E. Sheldahl, superintendent of schools of Koochiching county will also be of interest. Her subject will be "The Part of the County Superintendent of Schools in Agricultural Development." Both of these addresses will be given at the Wednesday evening session, but all sessions of the conference will be open to men and women interested.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunate, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. These "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Opton. Fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Opton tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it. You may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Those who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed. Fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Do Not Take Too Much Stock in the Garden Brand of Culture.

"Owing to the devotion of the American man to business the American woman is absorbing all the culture," declares a certain professor, commenting upon the higher education of women. "The result is a marriage in which the woman looks down upon the man who is less cultured than herself, with misery and the divorce court advancing boldly into the foreground."

"By rapid degrees woman is becoming impregnated with the idea that it is tortuous to be equal to a man who is not her equal and whom she cannot respect because he lacks polish and interest in the things which absorb her attention. She hesitates and waits and shrinks from such a union and in the end puts marriage out of her mind altogether or enters the matrimonial state when it is too late to found a permanent home and rear a family."

One would judge from this, that the only human beings being introduced to the higher education these days were the members of the petticoat

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Sketch With a "Punch" and Motion Picture With a "Mission."

They have a dramatic sketch with a "punch" and a motion picture with a "mission" at the Orpheum. The "punch" is delivered in a "crook" melodrama presented by a Miller Kent, and the "mission" is evidently the arousing of sympathy for the "medical" movement. The motion picture is entitled "The Pale of Prejudice," and it is aimed directly at the regular practitioners who seek to establish certain standards for all physicians to meet. It is a thrilling story of a rising young doctor who is converted to the drugless remedy and saves the life of his sweetheart in a very dramatic manner. His sweetheart is the daughter of a governor, and his act results in "medical freedom" in his state.

There is a double surprise in the sketch presented by S. Miller Kent, and two capable assistants. It is quite a little thriller in its way, full of action and capable of sustaining interest to the end. Mr. Kent is an actor of ability and "The Real Q" as a playlet is much above the average.

Three of them follow each other and the third one needs to say has a rather difficult audience to face. Parillo and Frabito play an accordion and the other a guitar, and they sing a variety of popular songs from ragtime to a ditty about a young lady who "broke my heart to pass away." This carelessness of the young woman seemed to make a hit with the Sunday school children.

Followed Schuman and Ramer, a man and a woman, the latter decidedly pleasing to look upon. They sang music of a little higher class, and got away with it very nicely in spite of the fact that the audience was beginning to tire of singing. The young woman has a pleasing voice of good range.

Then followed Nan Halprin, in place of Clara Inge, who was programmed heroically with some character songs, and in spite of the difficult position scored a decided hit. She is a clever little miss, a good mimic and a great dancer, and under more favorable conditions would have been more warmly received.

The program is brought to a close in riotous fashion with three comedians, Moshel, Jones and Mosher. The comedy falls of the backface and the act is a lively and entertaining one throughout.

Miss Anna Timbura, an agile youth who plays a violin, gets a generous measure of applause, chiefly on account of his eccentric dance, which is just a little different from anything seen at the Orpheum.

The opening act is offered by The Blessings, whose acrobatic feats are executed chiefly on the fact that the "ground work" of the team is a woman. She tosses a male partner about in a most workmanlike manner.

The bill is clean throughout, rather light but interesting, and will continue all week with a daily matinee.

AT THE EMPRESS.

New Program of Vaudeville Opens for First Half of Week.

A fair vaudeville bill opened a four-day engagement at the Empress theater yesterday.

Headlining the bill are the Five Bragados, whose number is filled with slap-stick comedy, some of which is new and funny. Two of the members, a young man and woman, introduce several good features.

The tone of the act. The former gives a very good imitation of Harry Lauder, while the young woman gives a pleasing vocal solo.

The Bragados present the sketch, "Fun in a Vaudeville Agency," which deals with the efforts of several stage aspirants to get bookings in vaudeville.

The best number on the bill is the sketch, "Chums," presented by Henry Hargreaves and company. Assisted by George Egan and Miss Lulu Lapping, Mr. Hargreaves succeeds admirably.

The sketch deals with the parting of the two college chums, James Glendon and Carl Williams, and their final rehearsal of the drama to be given by their club. It is a realistic scene and the audience finally realizes that the two men were only rehearsing their part in the club play.

Wolf and Zedella present a comedy talking and dancing number, too only eccentric dancing of Wolf. Otherwise the act falls far below normal. Will Coleman has a patter of jokes, some of which are old. His rendition of "Mother Macrae" at the close of his number scored a hit.

Two feature films, "Louie, the Life-Saver," and "The Hardest Way" open and close the bill, which will continue until Wednesday evening, with the regular daily matinee.

AT THE LYCEUM.

George Arliss and Company Are Coming in "Disraeli."

George Arliss and his company, under the management of the Liebler company, will come to the Lyceum tomorrow in Louis N. Parker's comedy, "Disraeli."

Mr. Parker shows Disraeli at a period when he is no more the spectacular young Jew, the author of romantic novels, the lover of a beautiful woman, a statesman, but an astute statesman, whose warmth of Oriental imagination is concentrated on making his country an imperial power. The historic incident of the Suez canal is chosen by Mr. Parker as the central theme of the play. The intrigue that is the story is a scintillating and deeply interesting. Incidental to this political plot is a delightful love story, and the shrewd statesman is shown making a man of a young aristocrat that he might be worthy the heart and hand of a true English damsel.

The production is elaborate scenically, and the costumes of the period, the early '70s, lend the play attractive pictorial qualities.

The motion picture is entitled "The Pale of Prejudice," and it is aimed directly at the regular practitioners who seek to establish certain standards for all physicians to meet. It is a thrilling story of a rising young doctor who is converted to the drugless remedy and saves the life of his sweetheart in a very dramatic manner. His sweetheart is the daughter of a governor, and his act results in "medical freedom" in his state.

Three of them follow each other and the third one needs to say has a rather difficult audience to face. Parillo and Frabito play an accordion and the other a guitar, and they sing a variety of popular songs from ragtime to a ditty about a young lady who "broke my heart to pass away." This carelessness of the young woman seemed to make a hit with the Sunday school children.

Followed Schuman and Ramer, a man and a woman, the latter decidedly pleasing to look upon. They sang music of a little higher class, and got away with it very nicely in spite of the fact that the audience was beginning to tire of singing. The young woman has a pleasing voice of good range.

Then followed Nan Halprin, in place of Clara Inge, who was programmed heroically with some character songs, and in spite of the difficult position scored a decided hit. She is a clever little miss, a good mimic and a great dancer, and under more favorable conditions would have been more warmly received.

The program is brought to a close in riotous fashion with three comedians, Moshel, Jones and Mosher. The comedy falls of the backface and the act is a lively and entertaining one throughout.

Miss Anna Timbura, an agile youth who plays a violin, gets a generous measure of applause, chiefly on account of his eccentric dance, which is just a little different from anything seen at the Orpheum.

The opening act is offered by The Blessings, whose acrobatic feats are executed chiefly on the fact that the "ground work" of the team is a woman. She tosses a male partner about in a most workmanlike manner.

The bill is clean throughout, rather light but interesting, and will continue all week with a daily matinee.

AT THE EMPRESS.

New Program of Vaudeville Opens for First Half of Week.

A fair vaudeville bill opened a four-day engagement at the Empress theater yesterday.

Headlining the bill are the Five Bragados, whose number is filled with slap-stick comedy, some of which is new and funny. Two of the members, a young man and woman, introduce several good features.

The tone of the act. The former gives a very good imitation of Harry Lauder, while the young woman gives a pleasing vocal solo.

The Bragados present the sketch, "Fun in a Vaudeville Agency," which deals with the efforts of several stage aspirants to get bookings in vaudeville.

The best number on the bill is the sketch, "Chums," presented by Henry Hargreaves and company. Assisted by George Egan and Miss Lulu Lapping, Mr. Hargreaves succeeds admirably.

The sketch deals with the parting of the two college chums, James Glendon and Carl Williams, and their final rehearsal of the drama to be given by their club. It is a realistic scene and the audience finally realizes that the two men were only rehearsing their part in the club play.

might be worthy the heart and hand of a true English damsel.

The production is elaborate scenically, and the costumes of the period, the early '70s, lend the play attractive pictorial qualities.

Mr. Arliss' company includes Violet Fleming, Margaret Dale, Florence Arliss.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Sketch With a "Punch" and Motion Picture With a "Mission."

They have a dramatic sketch with a "punch" and a motion picture with a "mission" at the Orpheum. The "punch" is delivered in a "crook" melodrama presented by a Miller Kent, and the "mission" is evidently the arousing of sympathy for the "medical" movement. The motion picture is entitled "The Pale of Prejudice," and it is aimed directly at the regular practitioners who seek to establish certain standards for all physicians to meet. It is a thrilling story of a rising young doctor who is converted to the drugless remedy and saves the life of his sweetheart in a very dramatic manner. Wolf and Zedella present a comedy talking and dancing number, too only eccentric dancing of Wolf. Otherwise the act falls far below normal. Will Coleman has a patter of jokes, some of which are old. His rendition of "Mother Macrae" at the close of his number scored a hit.

Two feature films, "Louie, the Life-Saver," and "The Hardest Way" open and close the bill, which will continue until Wednesday evening, with the regular daily matinee.

W. E. LEE OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Long Expected Announcement Is Made By Long Prairie Man.

No Reply to His Suggestion for Elimination Conference.

The expected has happened! W. E. Lee of Long Prairie has announced himself as a candidate for the nomination for governor in a letter to The Herald today. This has been momentarily looked for the last week or two.

Several weeks ago Mr. Lee offered to take part in an elimination conference of all anti-Eberhart candidates for the purpose of uniting upon some one strong man to oppose the present administration's attempt at re-election. Only echo answered. The state press urged it but no one has Mr. Lee issued his announcement. It is believed that his offer will cause him to enter the race much stronger than he was before his suggestion was made. In his announcement he says, in part: "Two years ago I was a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. The logic of the situation leads to my present candidacy. The issues then raised by me and upon which I made my campaign, are the issues today.

"An antiquated and complex governmental system; a subservient government with its enormous patronage system of enforced assessments; and unholy alliance of brewery interests, public service corporations and other special privilege seekers; and an attitude of indifference toward the machine, have made the 'tammanyizing' of Minnesota an accomplished fact.

"The issue, then, is the dissolution of this vicious combination—the election of a governor subservient to no one and ambitious only to serve the state. Condensed in a phrase it is: 'The people against the machine.' Further on he says:

"The present governor now admits extravagance but lays responsibility upon the legislature. The legislature is not alone responsible for appropriations. Its members must necessarily consult with those in charge of state departments and institutions. Moreover, undue influence has been used by the governor, his appointees, and interested parties, resulting in lavish expenditures toward certain interests, while others, notably the institutions for the insane and other unfortunate wards of the state, have been treated with abject parsimony.

"Reorganization of the administrative departments of the state government in the interest of economy and efficiency, together with the commission proposed by Governor Eberhart, and declares himself for home rule in the fullest measure. He repeats his demand of the last campaign for a bureau of experts to be at the service of the state departments and municipalities in making investigations and collecting data.

He declares that the responsibility for governmental mismanagement equally upon the legislative and executive departments of the state, and asserts that the last legislature recognized its responsibilities in a marked degree.

"Such a legislature and a governor working in harmony," he says in conclusion, "can regenerate the state."

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington Feb. 2.—Two wintry storms are expected to cross the country from the West during this week, which weather bureau experts said would open with fair weather and moderate temperatures prevailing over most of the states.

"The first part of the week," said the bureau's bulletin last night, "will be fair over the Eastern, Central and Southern portions of the country, with moderate temperatures as a rule, although there will be light frosts Monday morning in Northern Florida. A disturbance now over Montana will extend eastward and southward, preceded and accompanied by increasing cloudiness and rising temperatures, but probably little or no precipitation in the Rocky mountain region and the plains states. There will, however, be rain or snow by Tuesday in the great central valleys and the upper lake region, and during Tuesday night and Wednesday the rains and snows will extend through the lower lake region to the middle Atlantic states and New England.

"Rising pressure and falling temperatures will follow the Northwest disturbance, and as temperatures are now very low over Alaska, it is very probable that another brief period of low temperatures will set in beginning Monday night in the Northwest, reaching the Central portion of the country about the middle of the week, and the East a day or so later.

"A second disturbance will appear on the North Pacific coast by Tuesday or Wednesday. It will cause local snows in the Northwest and will move eastward and southward, with resulting rains and snows over the Central and Eastern portions of the country during the second half of the week, reaching the Atlantic states by the end of the week."

PRISON TERM FOR STRAFACCIA

Must Serve Five to Twenty Years for Killing Rossi.

Joseph Strafaccia, sentenced by District Judge Foster Saturday afternoon for the killing of Frank Rossi, a fellow countryman, will be taken to Stillwater penitentiary by Sheriff John H. Meining as soon as the commitment papers can be prepared by the court.

Strafaccia will serve from five to twenty years on the indeterminate plan for the crime of manslaughter in the first degree.

Strafaccia shot and mortally wounded Rossi following a quarrel over a game of cards at the Strafaccia home, Eleventh avenue west and Third street, on the evening of March 2. After the shooting, Strafaccia escaped and was not captured until several months later. He was brought back to Duluth from Fort William, Ont., where he was working under the name of the man who he had killed.

Rossi was removed to a hospital directly after the shooting. An attempt was made to save his life but to no avail. He died from the effects of the bullet wounds a few days later. Shortly after the shooting, a dying declaration was taken from Rossi in which he accused Strafaccia of the shooting.

Strafaccia was arrested and indicted for murder in the first degree. He was tried at the September term of that court but the jury disagreed. At the November term he was brought to trial a second time. The jury this time returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter in the first degree.

MRS. AULIN'S FUNERAL.

Remains Taken to Old Home in Massachusetts for Interment.

The funeral of Mrs. Axel Aulin of 3165 Minnesota avenue, who died on Friday at St. Mary's hospital, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms, 218 West First street, and the remains will be taken to her old home, Leominster, Mass., for interment.

Aulin, who was the wife of a draftsman of the Oliver Mining company, has lived in Duluth for four years. She was born in Massachusetts 32 years ago, and is survived by her husband and a two-week-old son of Duluth, and her parents and two sisters who live in Leominster. Accompanying the remains East will be Mr. Aulin and the dead woman's mother and sister, who arrived here on Saturday.

BANISH THE REVOLVER!

When a valued member of the police force was shot and killed a month ago by a disturber whom he had arrested, The Herald asked this question:

WHAT BUSINESS HAS ANYBODY WITH A REVOLVER?

And we urged the adoption of a rigid law forbidding the sale or possession of revolvers except by express consent, after investigation, of the authorities.

The January grand jury, in a portion of its report which had too little public consideration because it was overshadowed by a matter of infinitely less importance, called attention to the startling number of homicides in St. Louis county, and recommended precisely what The Herald urged in commenting on the tragic death of Patrolman Neil J. Mooney.

The grand jury's examination of statistics resulted in the appalling disclosure that in recent years there have been murders in this county at the annual rate of 9.28 per hundred thousand people. New York, with its plague of gunmen and thugs, has a homicide rate of only 1.8; Chicago, little better if any than New York, has a rate of only 0.7; and the rate in England is only about one per cent of that in this county.

Manifestly, local laws will not do. There should be a state law, with penalties that will bear harshly upon offenders, to banish the revolver except where it is unquestionably needed.

No private citizen has any business going armed. There is no household that would not be better off without a revolver than with one.

This is civilization, not barbarism. No citizen of judgment will carry or own a revolver. Citizens without judgment should be forbidden to own or carry revolvers, and should be made to feel the pains and penalties of the law if they do.

This is not a matter that should be permitted to pass by with an idle word of comment.

It is a matter that demands action. Some senator or representative from St. Louis county should present such a bill as the grand jury urges on the first day of the coming session, and should make it his personal business to see that it becomes a law before the session ends.

MEN WHO DO THINGS.

A casual visitor, of an analytic turn of mind, brings us a thought—an illuminating thought—about the case of Goethals.

When Dayton, trying out the city manager plan, wanted the very best man it could get to be its manager, it turned to Goethals.

When Mayor Mitchell of New York wanted the very best man he could get to command the police of the metropolis, he turned to Goethals.

And when President Wilson wanted the very best man he could get to be governor of the canal zone, he turned to Goethals—and got him.

Why did these people turn to Goethals in seeking to fill these important public places? Because he had DONE SOMETHING—had shown his capacity.

And this is the thought our visitor brought: that in the new order of politics and public life, the man who is sought for high place and large powers is the man who has DONE SOMETHING!

You must DO SOMETHING nowadays to gain preferment in public life.

Mere loyalty to "the gang," mere diligence in the "ring's" interest in the "stealth precinct," are no longer the passwords to public office.

Men are wanted who have shown, by having done something, that they can DO SOMETHING.

Nor is this confined to public life, either.

It's the same in private employment—always has been so there.

What has happened in public life simply is that this primary principle of preferment in private employment

BEWARE OF THE ATTACK ON THE PRIMARY SYSTEM!

We note considerable talk in the press of this state about the "failure" of the statewide primary election system.

It appears to be led by the Minneapolis Journal, but it is echoed, said to say, by some progressive newspapers.

Isn't it a little soon to judge the statewide primary, when it has been tried but once in this state?

And isn't it a little unfair to judge it by the sole isolated fact that it resulted two years ago in the nomination of Adolph Eberhart by the Republicans—or even by the apparent fact that it is going to have the same result this year?

Peculiar conditions led to this, and may lead to it again. But the general election system produced his ELECTION, also. Should we therefore condemn popular elections?

We cannot be consistent while opposing the popular primary and supporting the popular election. If one is wrong, the other is wrong. If the people cannot be trusted wisely to nominate their candidates, then they cannot be trusted wisely to elect their officials.

The primary election puts the power of nomination into the hands of the people.

If the people don't rightly use that power, that's their fault, and theirs is the penalty, too.

It is not the fault of the machinery. The primary election is merely an opportunity, not an automatic device guaranteed to produce good results.

Even the old caucus and convention system could be used for popular ends, and was—though rarely. It was so only when there was a real popular uprising, and it took a long time and a lot of mischief to breed a popular uprising.

The caucus and convention system COULD be used for popular ends—but it was a clumsy and difficult mechanism. It was purposely made so.

The primary system is an easier mechanism for the people to work their will with. That's ALL it is.

The fact that the statewide primary produced Eberhart as a Republican candidate was not the fault of the system. Neither will it be the fault of the system if it again produces his nomination.

As we have said, this incident in the public life of this state is peculiar, and is due to peculiar conditions, and it involved either ineffective use of the primary system or neglect on the part of Republican voters.

Any proposal to change the primary system involves a return to the convention system in some form.

Do you know what that means? It is a proposal to turn the business over to somebody to handle it for the people, on the theory that the people are not fit to handle it themselves, and that this somebody—or these somebodies—will handle it better!

Disguise it all you will, that's the fact. The trouble is that there is no "somebody" big enough, broad enough, wise enough, honest enough, unselfish enough, to handle these elemental functions for the people.

If the history of free government so far has demonstrated anything, it has demonstrated that beyond the slightest doubt.

Oh, of course occasionally somebody could be found who would perform this delegated function well. Undoubtedly conventions would produce candidates more to the liking of certain interests than the primary produces—candidates more smooth and plausible and polished. But candidates produced by popular vote and responsible to the popular will are more dependable than candidates responsible to somebody other than the people, however polished and plausible.

A benevolent despotism producing ideal conditions is easily imaginable; but we can't trust despotism because we can't rely on despots always being wise and kind and honest and loyal to the common good. They won't always be benevolent. In fact we know very well—or we have read history to little purpose—that they are very seldom that.

And so while occasionally the caucus and convention system works out well, we have read history to little purpose if we are not convinced that on the whole it works out selfishness and greed and the subordination of the public good to private interest.

To turn back to it is to retrace the path of progress! The power now is the people's. The people should keep it.

The remedy is not a return to the old system by which benevolent organizations of politicians kindly took care of the people's business for them, but greater public enlightenment and greater public interest.

However cunningly and plausibly disguised, the proposal now quietly being agitated is to return to a system of DELEGATED POLITICAL POWER!

Beware of that suggestion, however honeyed the words it is couched in, however cunning and plausible the arguments for it! Minnesota should take no step backward to the Dark Ages of ring government. Its people should abandon none of the political power they have regained after a long and bitter struggle.

BEWARE THE ASSAULT UPON THE PRIMARY SYSTEM!

has wisely been borrowed for public use and benefit.

Your employer is looking for somebody who can DO SOMETHING—and he can tell best about that by what you have done. If you have DONE SOMETHING to show your capacity, your chance for promotion has been increased by it.

If you are just sitting back waiting for promotion to come to you, unearned, watching the clock and wasting valuable time in wondering why you don't get on faster, remember that.

The world today wants men who DO THINGS. The way to prove that you can do things is to do something.

Now comes the project of determining longitude by wireless. That seems the most logical way to fix imaginary lines. It's a wonder it wasn't thought of years ago.

MICHIGAN'S TAX BURDEN AND MINNESOTA'S.

From the Detroit Free Press, which writes under the head of "Michigan's Present Tax Burdens," we learn that that state is resting uneasily under the burden of state taxation, and that its thinkers, instead of seeking to mills in 1914, a gain of EIGHTY-SIX per cent!

And while Michigan's per capita state expenditures increased from $2.24 in 1910 to $2.48 in 1914, Minnesota's per capita state expense increased from $3.33 to $4.01.

If Michigan is restless and discontented with state finances, WHAT ABOUT MINNESOTA?

And what are the candidates for the legislature from YOUR district saying about this?

It's about even, money that the groundhog doesn't dig far enough out of his hole today to see anything at all.

GROUNDHOG DAY.

This is Groundhog day. The groundhog, you know, has a way of beating the high cost of living. When winter comes he turns in for a long sleep, which lasts until he thinks spring is at hand.

On February 2, according to the ancient tale, he comes out of his hibernation and projects about experimentally. If he sees his shadow, he runs back, assured of six weeks more of winter. If he sees no shadow he sticks around, believing spring to be near.

Well, he saw no shadow today. Instead he encountered a northeast snow storm in which he revelled while he resumed his nap.

So, presumably, spring will arrive tomorrow or next day, or day after at the latest.

Now about that groundhog story. If the groundhog, anywhere in this country north of Tennessee, is in the habit of poking his nose out on the second of February looking for spring, then the groundhog is an ass.

Spring does not come in February, anywhere in the north temperate zone. Six weeks of fairly wintry weather can be depended upon in the greater part of this country after February 2, and that without regard to whether the groundhog or anybody else sees a shadow on that day or not.

In short, the groundhog either has been misled, or he is a singularly stupid beast, unable even to learn from the experience of centuries of annual disappointments.

The Vanderbilt yacht Warrior was 232 feet long. On that basis, what should be the size of a full-grown ship?

Now is the only time, and now the only eternity. When we would grasp a vanished hour, it is like seizing smoke with the hands, having empty hands when it is gone.

When we would lay hold of a future hour, it is like trying to forge a butler's wing with a 6-pound hammer, a waste of good energy and the destruction of delicate beauty.

Who lives in his past is as a tree blighted of growth, and passing from its initial glory in the splendid present. Who is not now cannot be, and to tell his story, if you past yields anything to you, it yields that by the grace of the present. Except for the grace of the present, there is no life.

There is only today. Tomorrow eternally broken. Joy tomorrow is joy never. Joy today is joy always. What is done tomorrow is a painted deed—eternally broken. Joy tomorrow is joy never. What is done today is forever done. It is June cherries, and all the birds at feast and song.

The bite of lead on the wings of a bird, and joy's flight is impeded, defeated. So some, weight themselves down with the tyranny of their own past. Men try to hold their dead by making graves and embalming. Better the swift, clean fire, and forgetfulness. Men are handicapped by ancestors. Perhaps graveyards symbol the race. Stagnant nations are ancestor-worshipping nations.

Truth is life, and only who lives it knows it. They who would study it on the authority of the dead are themselves wrapped in their shroud and awaiting burial.

What Euclid reasoned out is not true because he reasoned it out. He reasoned it out because it is true, and it is true today because it is true and not because you may find it in Euclid's Theorems. Nothing is true because Jesus said it. It is true because it is true and therefore he said it; and therefore you may say it with the same reality of gladness with which Jesus discovered and spoke. Men seeking authority outside of themselves have authority, but not truth. When they seek truth within themselves they find that none should teach them, for they are taught of God through the persuasive lips of his divine now.

Some Flaws in the "Movies."

Buffalo News: It's a critical audience that views the "movies" every night, and for the benefit of men who stage the photoplays may we say that among the things that those audiences criticize are:

Major generals with musicians' stripes on their trousers.

A sergeant in command of a regiment.

A major general charging ahead of his troops.

Shipwrecked folks in dry clothing.

Washington Star: "Don't you know that your husband is walking the floor because of his debts?"

"Isn't it fortunate?"

Mrs. Torkin, sweetly: "You know the doctor said that Charley simply must take more exercise."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 2.—(Special to The Herald.) Among the members of the committee on military affairs in the house of representatives are at least two men, who, for the life of them, cannot get their ears accustomed to the sound of large sums of money.

The two referred to are Messrs. "Warrior" Hill of Ohio and Percy E. Quinn of Mississippi.

There may be others on the committee who are awed by the nonchalant manner in which men make mention of many millions, but none are so deeply or boisterously effected as Gordon and Quinn. When they hear talk of three or four million dollars these two have to pause then and there for breath before they can go any farther. Scarcely a meeting of the military affairs committee takes place without either Quinn or Gordon, or both, throwing a figurative fit right in the midst of the proceedings.

It is possible that in time Quinn and Gordon will get used to big figures, and be able to say them with the utmost familiarity. A great many members do. In fact, a congressman is not to become so calloused and blasé about money—government money—that he can speak of large sums in trifles, "it wouldn't cost much of anything, I don't know the exact figures, but I don't think it would run more than three or four million and a half at the outside."

It's just a matter of habit. This man makes a $3 hat last him at least a year and a half and thinks a haircut under once a month is extravagant, but he has been on a committee where millions are referred to as lightly as ear fare. A couple of million dollars more or less is no more to him than a word in the language.

But to get back to Quinn and Gordon. They were brought up on farms and can still remember whether a millionaire would be pointed out to them with just as much awe as if he were a rhinoceros. The idea of sitting down at a table in a committee meeting and spending a million or so just by a nod of the head seems to them like treading on sacred ground.

Gradually they have grown more or less used to appropriations that deal only in thousands, but when somebody says of millions Quinn or Gordon nearly turn a startled handspiring.

A short time ago the committee was discussing the matter of appropriating a little item of a few million dollars for some new-fangled kind of pistols for the army.

"What!" shrieked "Wild Bill" Gordon, "all that money just for pistols? Goodness gracious sakes alive, where's so much money coming from?"

A moment or two later the item of targets came up. There was a demand for $480,000 or some such sum for other targets.

Representative Quinn immediately went almost into hysterics. "All that money," he cried in an impassioned voice, "just for something to shoot at? Why, gentlemen, when I come from when we want to shoot at a target we go out back of the barn and shoot at a stump or the old hat or the end of a bucket. And we have some of the best marksmen you'll find anywhere. Whoever heard of paying MONEY for targets. Huh!"

Gordon, while deprecating the expenditure of money on a man's target, hears them talking about, gets a lot of pleasure out of his committee work. He finds it a good sporting proposition in much the same way that a woman enjoys bargain hunting. Gordon's game is to fuss and pound the table and to make the other members of the committee feel that they are getting a raw deal.

If the army wants two millions for rifles, Gordon insists that they ought to get all the rifles they need for, maybe, $50,000 less money.

One morning he came out of the committee room with a check for $134,000. "I just saved the government $134,000," said he. "Think of a man saving $134,000 in less than an hour. I can remember when it took me a couple of months to save a dollar."

Whenever Frank T. O'Hair, Joe Cannon's successor, goes anywhere on the high seas with him a man's many little battered-up satchel not much larger than a woman's shopping bag. The thing is so dingy and disreputable looking that bystanders wonder why the man doesn't try to lose it and buy himself a satchel strap. But here is the explanation. O'Hair had that satchel when he was a boy and took his first trip alone on the choo-choo. It has been his traveling companion ever since. They have journeyed together to all parts of the world. Naturally he and the satchel have grown greatly attached to one another. It understands his moods almost like a dog would. He fears that if he ever puts the faithful old satchel aside now after all these years it might look as if he were getting purple-prod and stuck-up.

Quelling Their Groundless Fears

Kansas City Star: The Eastern newspapers that, in praising President Wilson's trust address, assume a contrast between it and his utterances of a year or two years back simply indicate their own lack of understanding.

The president has consistently spoken of "taking counsel together." That has been one of his best used phrases. His more than willingness now to treat with every interest and to make this government a government of demand understanding has permeated all his utterances.

He has, indeed, served notice all along that no little group shall have a monopoly of giving advice and of running things. But if anyone believes that the latest address to congress indicates a surrender of that principle to business interests or to any other interests, he is in for a disappointment. The spirit of co-operation for fair play, without destruction to anything that is valuable to the country—Mr. Wilson's speeches and writings this year and last year, all have been "shot through" with that sentiment, to use another of his phrases.

His Luck.

Washington Star: "Don't you know that your husband is walking the floor because of his debts?"

"Isn't it fortunate?"

Mrs. Torkin, sweetly: "You know the doctor said that Charley simply must take more exercise."

Reclaim and Settle Idle State Lands

The State Press on a Needed State Policy.

God's Own Land.

Hill City News: And then the snow came in time to save the loggers from a crop failure. You can't beat Northern Minnesota as an all-the-year-round producer.

Get the Night Men in Office.

Aurora News: The inadequate land policy of the state is keeping back for years the development of some of the most fertile land to be found in the whole United States. There are thousands of able farmers who could be brought to Minnesota's fertile acres under conditions which would aid, instead of hinder, their progress.

Still More Important Is the Legislature.

Remidji Sentinel: Northern Minnesota is more interested in the election of an honest and efficient state auditor than in the governorship of this state.

The state auditor is to do more for the proper development of Northern Minnesota than any other individual in the state. What this section of Minnesota wants is someone who is in hearty sympathy with this movement, who is honest and efficient.

Remedy the Ill Whatever It Is.

Deerwood Times: Minnesota is a grand old state. It furnishes the nucleus around which the home-seeking and home-loving emigrant can, with care, create his own little kingdom, free from the molestations of domineering landlords and penny-pinching money lenders. Minnesota offers opportunity for everybody to make a distinction between nationalities nor color. The man who will be the man who does. During 1913, a large store of Long Prairie paid out to farmers alone for their farm products, according to the annual invoice, the immense sum of $22,000. Farmers living near Elk River received during 1913 the vast sum of $42,250 for potatoes, live stock, cream and milk. In two communities in Minnesota—think how many more there are—the farmers pocketed $721,250 as the result of their year's labors. Nearly three-quarters of a million dollars that came from Minnesota's soil! And still Canada and Canadian lands annually draw many hundreds of emigrants from states to the south and east, and these emigrants must pass through this state in order to get to the goal. Something is wrong somewhere. Might the defect not be in the business policies of the state? Might it not be in the narrow land policy of the state? Could it not be in the difficulties that must be overcome by the new settler on the new land in Northern Minnesota? Undoubtedly one of these three deplorable conditions hides that defect. This is the time to investigate for yourself, Mr. Voter, and then when the time comes to cast your vote for the men who are to handle the state's affairs during the next two years, remember that you and I need men at the reins who believe in helping develop Minnesota farms and Minnesota farmers. Help Minnesota grow!

A Chance for Real Good.

Cambridge Independent-Press: The best and biggest thing that the state of Minnesota can do to add settlers on the state lands in Northern Minnesota is to improve the lands and make it possible for the intending settler, who may be a poor man, to make a living for his family from the outset. The efficiency commission can probably give some thought to this end of the immigration problem in Minnesota.

A Time to Be Quiet

New York Evening Post: Now, as we have said many times, the honest men and good men differ in their interpretations both of the facts and of our duty. In regard to the Philippines. It is a fair subject for public debate. But every man who engages in it should first search his own heart to make sure that he enters no selfish interest in arguing for a continued holding of the islanders in subjection. We can listen with patience to the one who is anxious to ex-President Taft, for no one supposes that he is speaking aught but his sincere belief, uncolored by any thought of private advantage. But the case must be different with men who are avowedly engaged in enterprise to make money out of the Philippines. DIES IN ALASKA.

Duluth Woman Receives Word of Brother's Death in Far North.

Mrs. D. H. Haslam, 467 Mesaba avenue, received a telegram yesterday from the death of her brother, William H. Myers, the telegram contained no particulars of the manner in which he met his death.

Myers had extensive holdings in Alaska where he had operated for fifteen years. While there he met a Kentucky girl, now believed to be in Seattle, whom he expected to wed this spring. As all but telegraphic communication is shut off, the body will have to be held until spring, when it is planned to return to the body.

WALTZ DURING FIRE.

University Students Too Absorbed to Notice Blaze in Building.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 2.—University of Minnesota students became so absorbed in the "hesitation" waltz and other modern dances Saturday night at the campus armory that they were ignorant of the fact that a fire had broken out in the building. The fire had gained considerable headway before being discovered.

Meanwhile, 200 couples waltzed innocently on. The orchestra leader had been informed of the fire and kept the musicians playing until the fire, which was extinguished.

CHILDREN HATE OIL, CALOMEL AND PILLS

"California Syrup of Figs" Best for Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "doses" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well known. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicate "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, direct and gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it. It cleans the bowels and sweetens the stomach, and a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which is full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

WILSON IS GREAT MAN

Congressman Miller Pays Tribute to President, Though Republican.

Believes Currency Law Greatest Legislation in a Century.

That President Wilson, Democrat, is a great president and a consistent man is the opinion of Congressman C. B. Miller, Republican, and representative from this congressional district.

Congressman Miller arrived here Sunday morning on his first visit for many months. During the interim he has spent some time in the Philippines sent there by the Republican members of congress to investigate conditions in the islands to ascertain whether or not the natives were being treated in accordance with the provisions of the Philippine act of 1902.

Mr. Miller, by the way, declares that they are far from it. He talks most enthusiastically of the Philippine conditions, native habits and characteristics and of the wonderful things which the United States has done for their improvement and betterment.

However, in the realm of politics and administration policies Mr. Miller's talk is full of criticism.

Mr. Miller will doubtless be a candidate at the next election to succeed himself. To the Herald he said when asked about it:

"I am not ready at this time to make a definite announcement, but I expect to before I leave the city."

As he will leave Duluth for Washington tonight after speaking before the Duluth Association of Office Men, his definite announcement may be expected some time today. In view of the fact that he is not formally a candidate yet, his platform could not be announced, but his conversation indicated about what it would be.

It will doubtless consist, in part, of opposition to the existing tariff and in favor of the government's Philippine policy. It is believed to be quite likely, in fact, that in view of Congressman Miller's intimate knowledge of Philippine conditions acquired during his investigation there, he will be used by the Republican leaders as one of the chief speakers in their fight in the administration's Philippine policy and that this will be made a feature of the next campaign.

Mr. Miller was asked his opinion of the currency law and replied that in view of the fact that he voted for it, and supported it, the conclusion must be drawn that he liked it.

He believes it is the greatest piece of legislation of the last century," he continued. "There has been a great deal of talk about the new law, but it is in my opinion the new law allows of that elasticity. It also keeps money lying idle in reserve under former conditions, and therefore gives the government a better control of the money. Under this bill, too, the business men of the country have their collateral in the market, and they can get it when they want to raise money. Of course under the bill the bankers are not so high a rate of interest, but with the other advantages the bill gives them, they will be glad to do so. What ultimately they will make more money in the end and yet statistics show that more money is under the bill than in those countries than in America.

"But I must ever think that the financial center is going to move away from New York. Where the trade is, the money center will be. New York is the great center of the country and will remain so. But the bill will give the government a complete control of the money of the country by Wall street and the banks. It will serve to increase the business of the nation as a whole and to improve its methods."

Mr. Miller is not so sanguine over the bill as he is over the currency bill. "It was a very great mistake," he declared, "and I am afraid that the country is soon going to find out. Asked if he did not think that it was a mistake, he replied: "No, and it won't. There is no question but that it has set the farmers up in arms. The Democratic administration is an unpopular one with the farmers because of this bill as was Mr. Taft, and that's saying good-bye to the farmers."

Mr. Miller paid a very strong tribute to the president. Said he, when asked what he thought about the administration:

"President Wilson is a very great man and is making a good record. It is a comfort for me to know that he is that unusual kind of a president who is one thing today, you another tomorrow and still another the day after tomorrow. Before he announces himself he thinks over his policy well and then that is settled. He has a strong will and becomes very set in his ideas—perhaps too much so—but he is a man who is not jumping from one thing to another, and whose position you know."

"Of course the president is not right always. The currency bill he was right, but on the tariff and the Philippines he is radically wrong. I believe he will be brought to see his error in the latter matter and if he is, I believe he will be a great success. He has knowledge it and make the necessary change. In cases where he is right, as in the matter of the currency bill, voted with him. For I haven't much to say for a man who is not jumping from one thing to another."

Mr. Miller considers business conditions good and prospects better for the future. This he attributes to the merits of the new currency law and to the fact that he has considered the demerits of the tariff law.

Mr. Miller says that the bill to appropriate money for a new federal building here is pigeon-holed for the present and he fears it will be for a year or so, owing to the present administration.

He says that he will appear in person at the hearings to be held on the matter of changing the classification of the treasury department and with protest witnesses against it.

PINDELL DECLINES POST OF AMBASSADOR

It is impossible for me to undertake the mission. I have, as you know, been put in a very false light by certain gross misrepresentations in the public press, and while it is true that these have been cleared away and the illumination accepted in its true light by the senate after a thorough and dispassionate investigation, I feel that it would be more delicate for me to decline the appointment than to accept it. No controversy of this kind should surround the appointment of an ambassador to a country which cannot be expected to be so lenient with misrepresentations as they are known to have been in this case.

"I beg, therefore, that trusting me to be guided by my own instincts in this matter, you will accept my assurance of deep gratitude for the honor which you have sought to confer upon me with genuine regret, but with no hesitation of judgment, to decline the appointment."

"With sentiments of distinguished consideration, believe me, to be, Mr. Wilson's obedient servant,"

HENRY PINDELL.

The president's letter to Mr. Pindell follows:

"Your letter does credit to your delicate sense of propriety and to your admiration for you and my confidence in you. It is a very imperfect consolation that I may now again express my unqualified confidence in your ability, your character, your discretion and your entire suitability for such a post."

"Cordially and sincerely yours,"

WOODROW WILSON.

Cause of Trouble. Mr. Pindell's nomination grew out of publication of a letter from the Russian ambassador to Senator Lewis of Illinois to Mr. Pindell, urging the latter to accept the post of ambassador to Russia.

Mr. Pindell, in fact, that in view of Congressman Miller's intimate knowledge of Philippine conditions acquired during his investigation there, he will be used by the Republican leaders as one of the chief speakers in their fight in the administration's Philippine policy and that this will be made a feature of the next campaign.

It is a comfort for me to know that he is that unusual kind of a president who is one thing today, you another tomorrow and still another the day after tomorrow. Before he announces himself he thinks over his policy well and then that is settled. He has a strong will and becomes very set in his ideas—perhaps too much so—but he is a man who is not jumping from one thing to another, and whose position you know."

"Of course the president is not right always. The currency bill he was right, but on the tariff and the Philippines he is radically wrong. I believe he will be brought to see his error in the latter matter and if he is, I believe he will be a great success. He has knowledge it and make the necessary change. In cases where he is right, as in the matter of the currency bill, voted with him. For I haven't much to say for a man who is not jumping from one thing to another."

Mr. Miller considers business conditions good and prospects better for the future. This he attributes to the merits of the new currency law and to the fact that he has considered the demerits of the tariff law.

Mr. Miller says that the bill to appropriate money for a new federal building here is pigeon-holed for the present and he fears it will be for a year or so, owing to the present administration.

He says that he will appear in person at the hearings to be held on the matter of changing the classification of the treasury department and with protest witnesses against it.

It is impossible for me to undertake the mission. I have, as you know, been put in a very false light by certain gross misrepresentations in the public press, and while it is true that these have been cleared away and the illumination accepted in its true light by the senate after a thorough and dispassionate investigation, I feel that it would be more delicate for me to decline the appointment than to accept it. No controversy of this kind should surround the appointment of an ambassador to a country which cannot be expected to be so lenient with misrepresentations as they are known to have been in this case.

"I beg, therefore, that trusting me to be guided by my own instincts in this matter, you will accept my assurance of deep gratitude for the honor which you have sought to confer upon me with genuine regret, but with no hesitation of judgment, to decline the appointment."

"With sentiments of distinguished consideration, believe me, to be, Mr. Wilson's obedient servant,"

HENRY PINDELL.

The president's letter to Mr. Pindell follows:

"Your letter does credit to your delicate sense of propriety and to your admiration for you and my confidence in you. It is a very imperfect consolation that I may now again express my unqualified confidence in your ability, your character, your discretion and your entire suitability for such a post."

MANY ATTEND FREE CONCERT

Miss Margaret Linehan in Song Program Is Well Received.

J. H. Hearing Speaks on "The Iron Mines of Northern Minnesota."

More than 500 people enjoyed the excellent program at the free concert at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon.

The soloist, Miss Margaret Linehan, made a very favorable impression on the audience. She has a clear soprano voice of great purity of tone. Her artistic rendering of her songs showed evidence of careful training and sincere study and application. Each of her selections was greeted with hearty applause, to which she responded with well chosen encore numbers.

Her rendition of "The March of the Volunteers" was especially enjoyed. Of the organ numbers, the "March of the Volunteers" was particularly fine, and was the more enjoyed because of a short talk that was given on the subject of the march, under which it was composed. Lovers of classical music enjoyed the two movements from Haydn's sonata No. 1. The final was a pot-pourri of old English songs, arranged by Godfrey.

The speaker was John H. Hearing, who gave an interesting account of "The Iron Mines of Northern Minnesota." According to his figures, he told his audience of the difference between House Democrats will caucus tomorrow to discuss the bill. The bill is the Baker bill for the exclusion of Asiatics.

Rev. Sidney L. Gulick, lecturer at the Federal university of Japan, discussed immigration today with the president. Under arrangements made by the church in America, which includes a special fund for the purpose, Gulick has been visiting leading cities suggesting a new immigration policy.

CORN GROWERS OPEN MEETING

President Goodman of Grand Forks Agricultural Society Speaks.

Six-Day Session Starts Auspiciously in North Dakota City.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—President F. L. Goodman of the Grand Forks Agricultural Society opened the North Dakota corn and clover convention here this afternoon, with a brief statement of the convention's purposes. There was a large attendance.

He pointed out that the convention is designed to bring about the creation of new crop methods for the state, which will mean better profits to the land owners and greater prosperity to all, and he declared that the large attendance accorded the convention on the opening day augured well for the success of the work.

Convention Has Grown.—President Goodman also outlined the progress of the convention from its inception several years ago. Originally it was but a three or four-day institute, with an attendance of but a few hundred farmers each day. At the present time the convention has assumed monster proportions, preaching the gospel of better farming to thousands of land owners, and becoming a veritable agricultural school.

He pointed out that the convention is designed to bring about the creation of new crop methods for the state, which will mean better profits to the land owners and greater prosperity to all, and he declared that the large attendance accorded the convention on the opening day augured well for the success of the work.

H. R. BOEHM, ARTIST, COMMITS SUICIDE

Action Follows Decision That His Pet Cats Must Die.

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Just after conferring with his wife and a veterinary surgeon over the most humane way of destroying his pet cats, which had been models for his magazine illustrations, Henry Richard Boehm, an artist, went upstairs to his home at Birrill Cliff, near here, and shot himself in the head, killing himself.

It is believed he had become temporarily insane. He was anxious to dispose of his cats because of the difficulty of caring for them properly in New York city, to which the family had recently moved, and feared that his pets might be ill-treated if others took them in charge.

Boehm, who had lived in Chicago several years ago.

Drowned in Portage Lake. Houghton, Mich., Feb. 2.—The favorite passenger boat and docked here, making its regular run, was on seven hours, Sidney Mallhot of Houghton, aged 35, attempted to cross the channel on foot, after the tug passed and was drowned.

ASIATIC EXCLUSION PLANS ARE ALL VOTED DOWN IN THE HOUSE

Raker Amendment to Immigration Bill Is Beaten 182 to 6.

Hayes-Lenroot Amendment Downed By Vote of 103 to 54.

Goldfogle Fails to Get Literacy Test Removed From Measure.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The Raker Asiatic exclusion amendment to the immigration bill was beaten, 182 to 6, in the house today.

All Asiatic exclusion amendments to the immigration bill were defeated today in the house. The Hayes-Lenroot amendment was beaten, 103 to 54, after an overwhelming defeat of a similar amendment by Representative Raker.

The bill as it now stands is merely an immigration measure without restrictions as to race or color. The modified "Hayes amendment" was before the house today when it resumed the fight on the Asiatic exclusion feature of the immigration bill. As modified by Representative Lenroot's amendment, adopted last night, it would bar Asiatics and Africans, except those whose entry to the United States has been provided for by treaties or passport arrangements which now exist or may later be entered into its supporters contended that in such a form it did not disturb nor affect the status of Chinese or Japanese immigrants. The original terms, the Hayes amendment would have excluded all Asiatics. The house late yesterday rejected by a vote of 120 to 174 a motion of Representative Goldfogle of New York to strike out the literacy test provision of the Burnett bill.

LUMBERMAN GIVES MILLION TO MISSIONS

R. A. Long Contributes to Fund of Disciples of Christ.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 3.—A belief that the "men and millions" movement, which was formally put afoot today by the Disciples of Christ church, will lead to the Christianizing of the world, was expressed today by R. A. Long, a lumberman of Kansas, who started the movement with a $1,000,000 donation. He spoke to the Committee of One Hundred, composed of missionaries, college presidents and church workers from all parts of the country. Mr. Long pointed out that the campaign of the Christian church to raise $6,000,000 would create a rivalry among other churches such as would lead to astounding missionary results. He was influenced in making the gift of $1,000,000, he said, mainly by his desire to help the college churches where young missionary workers are educated.

CLAIMS RAILROAD IS DISCRIMINATING

Pittsburg Coal Company Man Talks in Rate Hearing.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Discrimination by the Pennsylvania railroad in rates in bituminous coal in favor of the Keystone Coal & Coke company and the Jamison Coal & Coke company, both of Greensburg district, as against the Pittsburg Coal company, was charged today by H. P. McChes, traffic manager of the latter company, before the interstate commerce commission. He was testifying in the hearing on the proposed 5 per cent advance in rates by all railroads in Eastern classification territory.

FOG HALTS STREET TRAFFIC IN PEORIA

Several Accidents Occur in Spite of Unusual Care.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 3.—Traffic in the downtown section of Peoria was practically at a standstill this morning as the result of a dense fog which enshrouded the city. Street cars and teams proceeded with the utmost caution, but notwithstanding this several collisions occurred. Automobile drivers were required to bring their cars to a full stop at each corner before attempting to cross the street.

ST. LOUIS DEFORGED.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 3.—Traffic in all parts of St. Louis was impeded this morning by a dense fog. A Wabash passenger train, inbound from Chicago, collided with a Chicago & Alton passenger train, also from Chicago. Passengers were badly shaken up, but none was injured.

It was said by the authorities that Harvey Prater went home last night accompanied by a woman to whom his father objected. In the quarrel that followed, Harvey is alleged to have shot his father and brother, and in retaliation was shot by the brother as he lay wounded on the floor.

SEND MEN TO SEEK NORTH POLE HUNTER

St. Petersburg, Feb. 3.—A relief expedition to search the Arctic seas for Lieut. Sedoff, the Russian explorer who started for the North Pole from Archangel in August, 1912, is being organized by the Russian government. Lieut. Sedoff, who was said to be using polar bears as draught animals for his sledges, was erroneously reported at Nova Zembla last October.

TALK OF LABORING MEN'S SPARE TIME

U. S. Industrial Relations Commission Resumes Discussions.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The Federal commission on industrial relations resumed discussion here today of labor problems generally, giving considerable time to the question of educating the working man on how to spend his leisure hours more advantageously. The present habits of the laborer and his association with the saloons and moving picture theaters were condemned as "consuming too much spare time."

JEWS WILL OPPOSE THE LITERACY TEST

Want Exceptions Made in Cases of Religious Prosecution.

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 3.—A committee appointed by the convention of the B'nai B'rith, representing 1,500,000 Jews, will present to President Wilson and members of congress a resolution opposing the clause in the immigration bill relative to the literacy test. The resolution asks for the exemption from the literacy test of "all aliens seeking admission to avoid religious persecution, either through overt acts or by oppressive laws."

WOMAN GOVERNOR OF IRISH GALLERY.

Dublin, Feb. 3.—Miss Sarah Purser was today appointed governor and guardian of the National Gallery of Ireland by the earl of Aberdeen, the lord lieutenant. The position is equivalent to that of trustee of the gallery museum, and is one of the most important in the British art world. Miss Purser was already an honorary member of the Royal Hibernian academy.

WILL CUT OFF FREE SERVICE

The Commerce Commission Finds Railroads Favor Big Concerns.

Harlan Announces Plan to Put Value on Services.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Another new development was thrown today into the freight rate case before the interstate commerce commission, in which the fifty-two Eastern railroads are seeking to advance their charges 5 per cent, when Commissioner Harlan announced that the commission intended to hold supplementary hearings on the question of fixing reasonable charges for free services railroad systems now perform for large industrial plants.

The recent decision in the industrial railways case indicated that such free service to so-called trusts not only cost the railroad systems about $15,000,000 a year, but discriminated against smaller industries.

Dismantling Revenue. Commissioner Harlan, in a formal statement, pointed out that the evidence so far submitted tended to show "a diminishing net income and a diminishing net income" for the railroads. The new rates proposed by the roads, he said, proposed advances ranging from 3 to 5 per cent. Increased rates probably would afford additional revenues.

The commission, however, has set for itself a broader inquiry in the proceedings," said he.

CHINESE PROVINCES TO LOSE ASSEMBLIES

Yuan Shi Kai Will Abolish Feature of New Government.

Peking, China, Feb. 3.—A presidential mandate abolishing the provincial assemblies throughout China is to be issued here shortly.

The provincial assemblies, established under the republican government, consisted of a minimum of fifty members and a maximum of 100 members, according to the population of the province. They had power to enact laws applying only to their respective provinces and not conflicting with national legislation. They also controlled the provincial budgets, the collection of provincial taxes and the issues of provincial loans. The annual session was supposed to last for sixty days, but extraordinary sessions could be called if necessary.

SALVATION ARMY LODGINGS BURNED

Several Men Are Overcome By Smoke in St. John Fire.

St. John, N. B., Feb. 3.—Several men overcome by smoke were carried unconscious from the burning Salvation Army lodging house at Prince William and Water streets early today. There was no loss of life. The seven-story building was destroyed.

LIST 200,000 NEW VOTERS

Chicago Women Are Registered to Vote at the Primaries.

"Baby Stations" Are Maintained for Mothers' Convenience.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Women registered today for the first time in the history of the franchise at the spring aldermanic primaries. Upwards of 200,000 women, according to conservative estimates, will have become registered voters by the time the books close at 9 o'clock tonight. Not less than 50,000 men who have changed their residence within the last year will have qualified, according to estimates.

No Rush Over Age. Acting as judges and clerks of election for the first time in the history of Illinois, approximately 700 women assisted in registering the new voters.

The first woman to register in one of the precincts of a North Side ward paid little attention to the ruling of the election commissioners that women might whisper their age to the polling place officials.

"I have lived in Chicago all my life," she said.

"How long is that?" asked the election judge.

"Forty-three years," replied the new voter, Mrs. Elizabeth Beltschmidt of 462 North Winchester avenue. Reports from other polling places were that women were freely giving their ages.

Mayor Carter H. Harrison, his wife, Mrs. Edith Ogden Harrison, and three household employees, registered today in a polling place in a basement in Barry avenue, a short distance from their home in Sheridan drive. Mrs. Harrison, without hesitation, declared her age to be 52 years. The mayor acknowledged an additional year. All were sworn by a woman judge of election, Mrs. May L. Schultz.

Scores of business women, on their way to work, were among those registering early. Many accompanied their husbands to the places of registration and all seemed pleased at the opportunity of becoming a registered voter.

BRENNER IS DYING; RADIUM WITHDRAWN

All Hope of the Patient's Recovery Is Abandoned.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 3.—Although he passed a fairly comfortable night, Robert G. Brenner, the New Jersey congressman who is suffering from a malignant cancer at a sanitarium here, was reported to be weaker today. The radium applications have been discontinued as hope for the patient's recovery has been abandoned. When Mr. Brenner consulted Dr. Kelly in December, he was told that the cancer was so large that it did not lend itself well to radium treatment. It is understood that neither Dr. Kelly nor his assistant, Dr. C. E. Burnam, ever had been talking about a cure, but the congressman's optimism was communicated to all with whom he came in contact. He continued to receive his friends until a few days ago, when he was taken to the hospital. Brenner's election to congress was accomplished while he lay in bed ill. He did not make a speech.

WILSON HAS DECIDED TO REMOVE THE EMBARGO ON ARMS FOR THE MEXICANS

MOVE FAST IN MURDER CASE

Eleven Tentative Jurors Already Secured to Try Deputies.

Bond of One Man at Houghton Forfeited for Non-Appearance.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Counsel in the trial of the five deputies who were indicted yesterday for the murder of two striking copper miners last August, expected to begin the taking of testimony today. Last night eleven jurors had been selected, although neither side had exercised a peremptory challenge.

Search was being made today by bondsmen for Thomas Raleigh, one of the deputies, who has disappeared and whose bond of $5,000 was forfeited yesterday when the case was called in the circuit court.

The accused deputies will have two trials, one for the murder of each of the slain men. Should Raleigh still be missing when the second case is called, a second bond of $5,000 will be forfeited.

Flannigan Presiding. Judge Flannigan, who occupied the bench in the Roosevelt libel case at Marquette last spring, is presiding at the trial of this so-called Seaberville case because Judge O'Brien is indisposed. Raleigh's disappearance has been the most interesting development thus far. Although he had not been seen here since last Wednesday night, his bondsmen did not learn until yesterday that he would not appear when his case was called. Raleigh is believed to have fled to Chicago on the night train last Wednesday.

Prospective jurors were closely questioned by opposing counsel as to their qualifications.

Wellington, Kan., Feb. 3.—Mrs. E. H. Staley of this city received her 2-year-old nephew by parcel post today from his grandmother in Stratford, Okla., where he had been left for a visit three weeks ago. The boy wore a tag about his neck showing it had cost 18 cents to send him through the mails. He was transported twenty-five miles by rail route before reaching the railroad. He rode with the mail clerk, shared his lunch with them and arrived here in good condition.

MINERS WANT HIGHER WAGES

Increases Are Proposed in Report of Scale Committee.

United Mine Workers Adopt Mine Run Weighing Clause.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—A flat increase of 5 cents a ton on a mine-run basis, a 10 per cent increase on all dead work, yardage and day labor, and a half holiday on Saturdays, were the principal recommendations of the scale committee submitted to the convention of the United Mine Workers of America today.

The report is the basis for work of the joint conference of miners and operators of the central competitive field, which will meet in Philadelphia next Tuesday. This field includes Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Western Pennsylvania.

The report of the committee also asks that all coal be weighed before being sacked and that a proper readjustment of the machine differential at the basing plant and the local inequalities and internal differences be referred to the various districts for settlement.

The mine run basis weighing clause was adopted without dissent. Efforts were made to provide for a 50 per cent increase on the ton. It was opposed by several on the ground that that amount could not be won and a compromise would have to be made.

Mousseau, who recently resigned as member of the legislative assembly after a charge of bribery in connection with legislation had been preferred against him, has begun a "hunger strike" and is in a condition of unconsciousness according to testimony given before the assembly's special investigating committee by Dr. Adolphe Demartigny of Montreal.

REBELS SAY IT MEANS END OF THE WAR

Action Will Restore Nearer Neutrality Than Now Exists.

Villa Warns Spaniards to Leave Torreon Before He Comes.

Messenger From Diaz Summarily Executed By General.

Washington, Feb. 3.—President Wilson has decided to lift the embargo on exportation of arms to Mexico.

A proclamation under the authority of the congressional resolution of 1912, which will restore the status of the arms question to where both Huerta forces and Constitutionalists may import arms from the United States, soon will be issued from the White House.

President Taft issued the proclamation which barred the exportation of arms on March 14, 1912. He did that under the authority of a congressional resolution which empowered the president of the United States to take such action as he should find that "in any American country, conditions of domestic violence exist which are promoted by the use of arms and munitions of war procured from the United States."

Taft's Proclamation. Mr. Taft's proclamation prohibiting the exports was in part as follows: "I have found that there exists in Mexico such conditions of domestic violence promoted by the use of arms or munitions of war procured from the United States as is contemplated by the said joint resolution, and I hereby prohibit all citizens of the United States and every person to abstain from every violation of the provisions of the joint resolution above set forth, hereby made applicable to Mexico."

News of the action about to be taken by President Wilson became known today through sources which have been constantly advised of the administration's policy in Mexico. It also became known that the subject had been discussed at the cabinet meeting today.

There were intimations that an official announcement of the administration's purpose would be coming from the White House later.

It is believed that President Wilson finally decided to raise the embargo by ruling that by restricting shipments of arms to Mexico the United States was not really showing neutrality, which was the purpose of the embargo, but was in fact showing partiality, as the Huerta forces were enabled to get large supplies from abroad while the Constitutionalists, limited almost entirely to shipments from the United States, could not.

EX-CONGRESSMAN IS GUILTY OF SMUGGLING

Littauer and His Brother Admit Conspiracy to Cheat Government.

New York, Feb. 3.—Lucius N. Littauer, a former congressman, and William Littauer, his brother, both of Gloversville, N. Y., pleaded guilty in the Federal district court today to conspiracy to smuggle jewelry into the United States. Sentence was suspended.

The Littauers, in satisfaction of civil claims brought against them by the customs authorities in connection with the smuggling, paid the government $14,000.

The brothers were indicted Jan. 27 on three counts. They were charged with attempting to evade duty on a Venetian diamond and pearl tiara and several other articles of jewelry valued at $40,000 and intended, it was said, for William Littauer's wife. Lucius was accused of bringing the jewelry into the country and William of receiving them.

The court's announcement that it would suspend sentence until tomorrow followed pleas by counsel for light punishment.

SAYS DEMAGOGUES QUEERED THE COURTS

Taft Praises Judges, Lawyers and Methods of Procedure.

New London, Conn., Feb. 3.—Speaking last night before the Connecticut Bar association, Former President William Howard Taft warmly defended the courts of the country. Mr. Taft said that "something has happened to impair the confidence of the people in our courts," but declared that the trouble did not lie with the judges, the lawyers or the methods of procedure. In his opinion, the trouble had arisen because of "misstatements and misrepresentations of demagogues as to the character of courts, and of their decisions."

Burns, Miller and Park Speak at Office Men's Dinner.

The Triple Attraction Draws a Record Breaking Crowd.

With three prominent speakers as a drawing card, the gathering at the office men's dinner of the Duluth Association of Office Men at the Commercial club last evening justified the use of that time-worn phrase that the dining room was "filled to overflowing." Twenty-seven members of the association could not get accommodations.

The dinner featured three excellent talks and few left the room before the last sentence was uttered although it was rather late. The speakers were William J. Burns, the world famous detective, S. W. Park, an expert accountant of Minneapolis, and Congressman Miller of Duluth. Walter F. Dacey was toastmaster.

Following the dinner Detective Burns spoke first. Mr. Burns seemed pleased with the gathering and talked much longer than he intended because of the interest he felt. He declared that he liked to find young men organizing to take an active and intelligent interest in things. He declared that this seems to be the age of young men, for he finds that young men are showing a greater interest in civic and governmental affairs than has been the rule in the past. He advised the association to keep the organization alive by the discussion of live topics, and he also urged the association to take an interest in the city government. Mr. Burns congratulated the city on adopting the "progressive" method of government, evidently meaning the commission form.

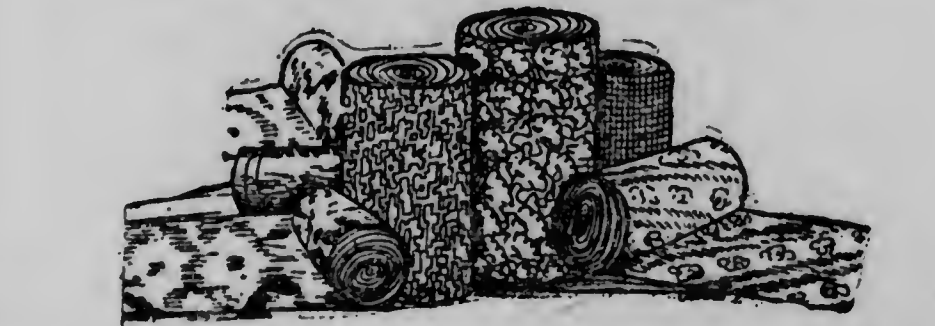

"I am glad to know," said he, "that the public conscience is thoroughly aroused. No more do people let graft and crookedness remain uncovered. And the result is that we are better today than at any time in our history."

and we are getting better all the time. This is the day of investigations. Men are being called to account, and it is such men as you that are compelling honesty. And that is one of the ways to give the little fellow a square deal. Watch your public servants and make them stay honest. Go after the man highest up and you will scare honesty into them, even if you don't convict them."

He told of meeting Sir Conan Doyle last summer, and talking over with him what constitutes a real detective. "Sir Conan," said Mr. Burns "agreed with me that the ordinary common sense detective was the real kind. Speaking of private detectives, let me tell you that the general type of private detective is the worst character and thief unwhipped of justice."

Mr. Burns declared that every criminal leaves a track, that there are no exceptions and that mysteries are mysteries only because they have not been properly investigated. He urged all men to seek to escape jury duty, for it is through the services of the jury that on juries that the public servants are kept honest and crookedness is prevented.

Mr. Park spoke on accounting and those interested in it, as were the members of the association present, it proved very interesting although technical.

Congressman Miller spoke on the Philippines. In substance he declared that while great advances have been made in the development of the natives they are far from being in a position to govern themselves. He declared that Manila is a wonderfully beautiful city, and that the islands in general are both beautiful and productive.

Four Crops a Year.
"Sometimes," said he, "as many as four crops are grown. The soil never seems to wear out. NEW POLICY AT "THE SAVOY."

The Savoy theater, which has always played vaudeville and pictures, started last week with Jack Champion, Grace Richmond and their players presenting a new plan has certainly pleased as packed houses are the rule at every performance.

The Champion and Richmond company is composed of five very clever people, who presented in an excellent manner a vaudeville version of "My Gal Jess" last evening.

The story is well told and is complete in every way.

They change their plays every Monday and Thursday, and are booked at the Savoy for a season of six weeks.

The hit for the last four days has been "The Wedding Day," is said to be a very strong Western drama of the kind that always pleases, and if the present indications continue, the Savoy will do a banner business.

AVIATOR HURT. Former Grand Forks Man Gets Tumble in Mississippi.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Frank M. Bell, formerly of Grand Forks, an aviator, is in a Meridian, Miss., hospital, and probably will die as the result of a 100-foot fall sustained while flying several days ago.

Albert Forsyth, his helper, also of Grand Forks, is so critical that physicians have very little hope for recovery.

Bell made numerous flights here and at other Northwestern cities in 1912.

According to Ring, who was the witness heard this morning, Bell and Bradford have lived in Duluth the past three years. They came to Ellington on Dec. 9 in answer to an advertisement and were then told to obtain some money. They returned on Dec. 11, he testified, and paid Ellington $30. Ring claims that neither he nor Bradford was ever convinced that they never saw the other members of the "Eight Widows' company," and that Ellington failed to have them on the stage by Jan. 1, as he had promised.

The case will continue this afternoon, and may possibly go over until tomorrow.

URGES RERATING TO SOLVE PROBLEM Insurance Commissioner Preus Speaks to Duluth Maccabee Lodge.

Universal rerating was given as the best means of solving the financial difficulties of fraternal insurance companies by State Insurance Commissioner J. A. O. Preus at a meeting of the Knights of Maccabees at Maccabee hall last night. A thirty-day membership campaign was launched at the meeting.

"There is $30,000,000 of insurance carried in the United States," said Mr. Preus. "This makes about $325 per capita. This is not enough. If there was more insurance carried there would not be so much use for poor houses and homes for the aged and other dependents."

He said that the fraternal organizations, thirty-two, Knights of Maccabees among them, have a justified solvent. This must be done by all organizations which wish to be of real benefit to their members. About $600,000,000 of insurance is carried in this state divided about equally by "old line" and fraternal companies.

PROMISES A SURPRISE

Tale of Self-Sacrifice for Pupils Told By Charles Ellison.

Theatrical Producer Secures Many Witnesses to Prove His Honesty.

Charles Ellison, local theatrical producer and dramatic instructor, who was brought on trial before a jury in municipal court this morning on two charges of petit larceny, declares that when he takes the stand this afternoon, he will tell a tale of self-sacrifice and sacrifice that will astound the members of the jury and the court.

It took nearly all morning to draw up a jury, both City Prosecutor Gurnee and George Stowell, attorney for Ellison, challenging many of the jury members. That the jury was drawn are: E. E. Martell, Olof G. Olson, George H. Macfarlane, D. S. McKay, William F. Marblund, B. Tremblay, M. A. McGinnis, Emil Johnson, R. G. Stammers, John Dahl, Dan Cole and Duncan McGregor.

R. H. King, one of the plaintiffs, was the only witness called by the state this morning. He testified that he and E. F. Bradford called at Ellison's office on Dec. 9 and that two days later they gave him $30 in payment for coaching and a promise to write a story for them with a show. Court adjourned after he had testified for the state.

Story of Self-Sacrifice.
Ellison declared that the afternoon of the court that he will tell a story of self-sacrifice and good Samaritanism that will put an entirely new light on his case. He is being great, he whistled, and says and he opened his theatrical school over the Happy Hour theater several months ago.

"In the first place," said Ellison this noon, "I want to say what I did for both Ring and Bradford. They came to me with $30, all the money they had, and asked me to teach them how to act and also place them in an act. For three weeks my wife and I lived on my wife's salary. My wife brought them food every single day, while at night I permitted them to sleep in my office. Oftentimes I would cook a meal for them in a small kitchen adjoining my office."

"I promised to place them in a sketch known as 'Eight Widows,' but a change was made and it was agreed to start the act in Minneapolis. I have been there the past week making arrangements for the opening and I offered several times to take the boys down there and place them in the sketch. But when I returned here last Friday I found they had been arrested. That's all I receive for my self-sacrifice and service. I gave them all I could, when they were in need and now I have to go to jail."

Has Many Witnesses.
Ellison has obtained a large number of witnesses, including Ernest Preus, manager of the Hustler Brown Minstrels, which broke up at Hibbing several weeks ago. A number of his pupils, all of whom, he says, declare they will testify as to his honesty and integrity. One of these, Miss Ethel Walker, said this noon that she came on here from Minneapolis to testify. She recently took a course here and is now singing in the Southern theater in Minneapolis.

In addition to his witnesses, Ellison has a large number of letters, with which he purports to show his standing in the theatrical fraternity. Managers have written him, asking for good acts, which the letters state are placed on the vaudeville stage for from thirty to fifty weeks.

"I have been misunderstood and unjustly maligned," added Ellison. "I propose to right myself in the eyes of all Duluthians. I have been in an eleven year and this is the first time that my honesty and integrity have ever been questioned."

Remanded to Jail.
Ellison was arrested Friday afternoon on complaints sworn out by Ring and Bradford. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded to jail. His trial was set for this morning, in default of $200 bail, he was remanded to the county jail.

According to Ring, who was the witness heard this morning, Bell and Bradford have lived in Duluth the past three years. They came to Ellington on Dec. 9 in answer to an advertisement and were then told to obtain some money. They returned on Dec. 11, he testified, and paid Ellington $30. Ring claims that neither he nor Bradford was ever convinced that they never saw the other members of the "Eight Widows' company," and that Ellington failed to have them on the stage by Jan. 1, as he had promised.

The case will continue this afternoon, and may possibly go over until tomorrow.

GASOLINE FAILS WITH AVIATOR UPSIDE DOWN

Rochester, N. Y., Youth Lands Safely From Height of 3,000 Feet.

New York, Feb. 3.—While Charles O. Niles, a youthful Rochester, N. Y., aviator, was making a flight upside down in a monoplane at an altitude of 3,000 feet over the Hempstead plains of Long Island yesterday, his gasoline supply gave out. Tail first, the machine dropped quickly. Niles remained calm, however, and partly righted the machine, landing safely after a series of spiral dives.

Niles has succeeded to establish a record of looping the loop and flying upside down.

CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATE

George H. Gardner of Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—George H. Gardner, a young attorney of Brainerd, has filed for the state senate from the Fifty-third district. He is 33 years old, the son of J. S. Gardner, one of the first locomotive engineers of the Northern Pacific railway. Mr. Gardner was born in Brainerd and attended the local high school and graduated from the law department of the University of Minnesota, being a member of the class of 1906. He has practiced in Brainerd, and for three and a half years was court stenographer of Judge B. F. Wright, one of the judges of the Fifteenth judicial district.

Mr. Gardner has been a leader in the forward movement in Brainerd in the last two years and was one of the organizers of the Boosters club which has done so much to advertise Brainerd and the Cuyuna range. Mr. Gardner stands for a semi-monthly payday for public service corporations.

Improvement was noted in all departments. At the conclusion of the exercises Bishop McGovern addressed the students, urging them to renewed efforts in their studies and giving them many timely hints to that end.

The following students attained highest honors in their respective classes:
Senior class—Literary-scientific course, first, Fred Ouellette; second, Paul Corbett.
Commercial course—First, Edward Anderson; second, Raphael Graves.
Junior class—Literary-scientific course, first, Vincent McKinnon; second, Leo Spooner.

ACTIVITIES AT BOYS' DEPARTMENT, Y. M. C. A.

The high school Bible study class will meet at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8:15. A special program will be given by the club. The club started last night with an enrollment of eighteen members. This club will meet every Monday night at 8:15. The club will work along the line of accidents that are most likely to come to boys in the home.

The boys' department cabinet will meet this morning at 10 o'clock. The cabinet will be elected to attend the Y. M. C. A. state convention on Dec. 9 in answer to an advertisement and were then told to obtain some money. They returned on Dec. 11, he testified, and paid Ellington $30. Ring claims that neither he nor Bradford was ever convinced that they never saw the other members of the "Eight Widows' company," and that Ellington failed to have them on the stage by Jan. 1, as he had promised.

The case will continue this afternoon, and may possibly go over until tomorrow.

TWIN CITIES AGAIN COMPLAIN OF RATES

Washington, Feb. 3.—The Minneapolis Civic and Commercial association and the St. Paul Association of Commerce have filed a complaint with the interstate commerce commission against alleged discriminatory rates over a number of lines in favor of Duluth, Minn. Superior, Wis., and certain tracks are elevated through the town on a high grade, which effectively forms a barrier between the two sides of the track.

ENDS FRISCO HEARING.

Reserve Bank Committee Goes on to Los Angeles.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 3.—It did not take long for Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Houston to hear all they wanted to about San Francisco's claims as a financial center worthy of one of the government's regional reserve banks. Less than a day was required to hear all the witnesses, and last night the cabinet members left for Los Angeles. The two secretaries constitute the location committee of the Federal reserve board.

One reason that the hearing was so short was that the information desired was already prepared in the form of statistics, maps, charts and blue prints, and these documents were made available to the committee.

PETITION TO RECALL MAYOR

Citizens' Committee Announces Its Success Is Now Almost Certain.

The citizens' committee back of the recall petition intends to file the petition for the recall of Mayor Joseph Konkell on Feb. 10, according to announcement made this morning by its members. Enough signatures were obtained to secure the petition, it is claimed, and the petition has now nearly enough signatures to guarantee the election.

A number of prominent men have been mentioned as possible candidates to oppose the mayor at the polls. It is estimated that the citizens will concentrate their effort in opposing him at the general election when only one man will oppose him.

WILL EVICT PIGEON TOWN DENIZENS.

Unlawful detainer proceedings were instituted in the municipal court yesterday against a number of residents of "Pigeon Town," one of the oldest sections of Superior. It is estimated that all of the people living in the district will be evicted, and that in the near future the place will become the site of a large coal dock.

The property is owned by W. L. Scott & Co. of Philadelphia. It has been the site for about thirty squallid homes for about thirty years. All of the tenants have been living on the place in their own homes, paying a nominal land rent amounting to $1 or $2 per month. The place is one of the oldest sections of the city and lies between the Omaha tracks and the Lehigh Valley dock property.

The location got its name from the early days when many of its denizens were pigeon, duck and poultry fanciers, and obtained most of their feed for their poultry by sweeping cars in the vicinity.

Sheboygan May Get Into Wisconsin-Illinois League.

Sheboygan, Wis., Feb. 3.—Sheboygan may secure the Bond Lake franchise in the Wisconsin-Illinois league. A movement is now on foot here to organize a stock company to take over the Bond du Lac franchise which is now owned by the Milwaukee American association club, providing it can be secured without a strike to it.

The matter has been taken up with President Weeks at Green Bay and will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Sheboygan Business Men's association next Tuesday night when it is expected some definite action will be taken.

Tinker Claims Cole's Services for the Federal League.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—The Federal league will take legal action to prevent Leonard Cole's playing with the New York Americans, should he sign a contract with that club, Manager Tinker of the Chicago Federals announced today.

Tinker claims Cole's services as he holds a contract signed by the pitcher in which he agreed to play with the local team. Federal league officers are confident they can induce the courts to enjoin Cole and catcher Kilmer, who repudiated his contract with Tinker's team, from playing ball with any other league.

Detroit Men Sign.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 3.—The signed contract of Delmar Baker, a recruit catcher from the Lincoln, Neb., club, was received today by President Nave of the Detroit American team. All of the Detroit catchers have now signed, and with the exception of Pitcher Willett, who went to the Federal league, only two veterans have not accepted terms for 1914. They are Outfielder Sam Crawford, now with the players making a trip around the world, and Del Gainer, first baseman.

Pat Signs Up.

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 3.—Catcher Patrick F. O'Connor today announced that he had signed with the St. Louis Nationals for next season. He said he turned down offers from the Federal league clubs. O'Connor was a member of the Pittsburgh team when they won the world's championship in 1909.

IS FREED FROM USURY CHARGE

A. P. Mandelin Secures Verdict in Action Brought by Fiina Karppinen.

Usurious methods were not employed by A. P. Mandelin in making a loan of $400 to Fiina Karppinen back in 1909, as charged by the woman in a district court lawsuit to have the mortgage set aside and cancelled. At least this is the conclusion which Judge Cant has reached after listening to the evidence adduced at the trial of the action.

The court today filed findings in favor of the defendant in the suit instituted against Gustaf Mandelin, Judge Cant holds that no usury was practiced by A. P. Mandelin in making the loan and that the transaction was legal. A. P. Mandelin assigned the mortgage to Gustaf Mandelin, who foreclosed when payments were not forthcoming. The suit was brought to have the foreclosure sale set aside and the mortgage cancelled.

In his findings, Judge Cant states that the evidence given at the trial does not support the woman's claim that A. P. Mandelin withheld $40 from the amount of the loan and that later when offered $50 on account that he refused to make the proper credit. The mortgage covered the plaintiff's homestead, which is described as the northeast quarter of section 21, 61-16.

Resolution to Oust Tammany Chief Is Declared Adopted.

New York Democratic Club Charges Him With Part in Graft.

New York, Feb. 3.—A meeting of the National Democratic club ended in disorder last night after a resolution demanding that Charles F. Murphy be retired from the leadership of Tammany Hall and had been declared adopted on a ye and no vote.

When the chairman announced the result of the vote the Murphy partisans and those favoring his retirement started a demonstration against each other. Fists were shaken freely, threats were made and names were used. It was fully ten minutes before a semblance of order was restored.

Friends of Murphy declared the resolution had been carried by an unfair vote and said they would lay the matter in the form of a protest before the board of governors of the organization.

The resolution was introduced by City Court Justice Edward P. O'Dwyer. A bitter speech in reply was made by Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, who demanded that the resolution be tabled was ignored by Justice O'Dwyer.

The resolution followed:

"Resolved that we favor the reorganization of the Democratic state committee and the state executive committee in Greater New York."

"That we are opposed to the present leadership of the Democratic party, and declare it our belief that the interests of the Democratic party, its future prestige and success demand its immediate retirement from all participation in party affairs."

Prior to introducing the resolution, Justice O'Dwyer reviewed past successes of the party and its position in state and city and declared that the defeat of the entire Democratic party at the last election for the first time in the history of the party by a majority of the voters was due to the conduct of the candidates, for "they were as good a set of men as ever ran for office."

Some Charges Proved.

"The cause that led to our defeat," he continued, "was the issue that was presented to the people, charging us with corruption and graft. Evidence has been produced since, in a court of record, that proved some of the charges."

Now, I am not a grafter, and I don't intend to mingle with grafters. We have seen the spectacle of men swearing in court that money was paid for state control and then being grafted on to the party. Some of the charges have been proved, and even if some of them are not, the people have arrived at a verdict and have determined that the charges are true."

Justice O'Dwyer then introduced his resolution, and Mr. Smith declared that he would not support it, but that he would support the resolution of Justice O'Dwyer, Mr. Smith shouted:

"If anyone can show me that Charles F. Murphy is guilty of one of the allegations made against him, I will be one of the first to support it. He then made a motion to lay the resolution on the table, but Justice O'Dwyer refused to do so, and the club went ahead with its plans to change the leadership and reorganize the party."

WILSON HAS DECIDED TO REMOVE EMBARGO ON ARMS FOR MEXICANS get arms and ammunition practically only by the way of the United States.

It had been frequently reported to the administration that the progress of the Mexican negotiations that if the United States would permit free shipments of arms to Mexico and the Constitutionalists would undertake to restore peace in Mexico and set up a constitutional government within a short time.

Wilson's decision in official circles that the announcement of the president's determination to lift the embargo had gone forward to the United States, in Mexico City, probably will result in the lifting of the embargo.

Predict End of War.

Constitutionalists' agents in Washington learned of the development unofficially and declared that the end of the war was in sight.

For many weeks senators of the former relations between the United States and Mexico have been urging President Wilson to permit free importation of arms to the Constitutionalists in the hope that the war might be ended and peace restored.

Those close to the president said all along that he would take such action as only one of the last resorts in his Mexican policy, and that he would not do so until he was convinced that the Constitutionalists were capable of restoring peace and order in Mexico.

It is now believed that the president has decided to lift the embargo on arms to Mexico, and that he will announce this decision in a few days.

IN THE RUINS OF QUIRIGUA

"Original Roosevelt Grin" Discovered in Republic of Guatemala.

Jungle Reclaims the Crumbling Remains of Once Proud City.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The original of the "Roosevelt smile" has been discovered in the ruins of Quirigua, in the republic of Guatemala, Central America, fifty-seven miles from the Caribbean sea. The discovery is described by Sylvanus Griswold Morley, in a communication to the National Geographic society. Quirigua, he says, was one of the older centers of the great Maya civilization, which flourished in Southern Mexico, Guatemala and Northern Honduras during the first fifteen centuries of the Christian era.

Judging from the dated monuments which were erected in its several courts and plazas this ancient American metropolis was abandoned during the first half of the sixth century A. D., writes the explorer. "Towards the close of the sixth century the Mayas moved out from the older centers of their civilization in the South and migrated northward into Yucatan. Here in the stress of colonizing a new and unfamiliar land the remembrance of their former home gradually faded, until Quirigua, along with many another Southern city, became only a memory. Finally, long before the discovery of America, even the tradition of its former existence had passed from the minds of men."

Curious Sculptural Monuments. "The exterior of the buildings recently unearthed," says Mr. Morley, "was decorated with a curious sculptural mosaic. The design, a variation of the humorous head known as the 'Roosevelt grin,' occurs at each of the four corners and in the middle of the back and side walls. "In this particular example," he continues, "the incisor teeth are as prominent as Col. Roosevelt's, and the first visitors who saw the head immediately called it the original 'Roosevelt grin.' Under this name it has been widely spread, until it became the chief point of interest in the ancient city."

But for the enterprise of a well known corporation interested in fruit cultivation, the ruins might have remained uncovered for centuries more. The company purchased a large tract of land in this vicinity for a banana plantation, and through an arrangement with the School of American Archeology, the systematic study of the ruins was undertaken. During the excavation, the ruins of a city, overgrown by the jungle, were discovered. The ruins were of earth and stone, and were in various stages of decay. MADE GOVERNOR OF THE MORO PROVINCE

FRED W. CARPENTER.

Fred W. Carpenter, formerly of Sauk Center, Minn., has been appointed to succeed Brig. Gen. John J. Pershing, recently recalled as governor of the Moro province of the Philippine Islands. This is the first time in the history of either the Spanish or the American occupation of the islands that a governor for this province has been chosen from civil life.

Mr. Carpenter, who was formerly secretary to President Taft and later United States minister to Morocco, has for a year past been executive secretary of the Philippine commission at Manila.

Quick on the Trigger With a Snap-Shot Eye

THE crack trapshooter has to be a man with steady nerves and muscles absolutely under control—always ready, at the sudden jerk of a string to swing his gun into place and bring down his clay pigeon. This means trained, not to the minute, but to the split-second. He takes no chances with his nerves.

We present the names of some of these crack shots who smoke Tuxedo. They like to smoke; but they take no chances on a tobacco that might "throw them off."

Tuxedo

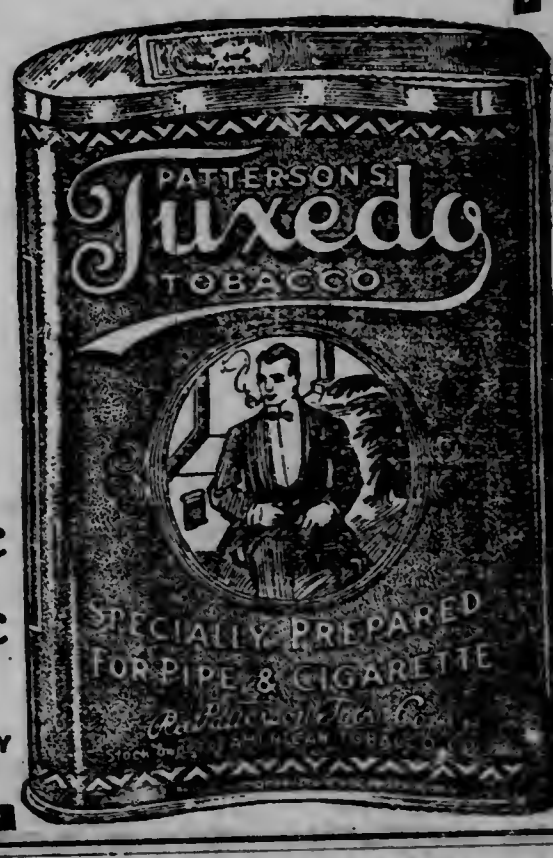

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette is purposely made to give you all the benefits of the highest grade smoke. It is made from the very finest tobacco Kentucky grows—ripe, mellow, sweet and mild—old Burley, aged right up to perfection-day. Then treated by the original "Tuxedo Process," which takes out the sting, makes Tuxedo smoke cool and slow, and guarantees that it cannot bite your tongue.

Tuxedo has had many imitators; none has ever equalled it in sheer quality and smoking-value.

Ladies! Men! Here's the Quickest, Surest Dandruff Cure Known.

Thin, brittle colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied, causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

IN THE matter of sidewalks, Erie is one of the most metropolitan cities in the United States, and there is a steady improvement in this respect that is most noticeable. On the average eight miles of new sidewalks have been laid each year for the past decade. The improvement in quality of the sidewalks has been steady, and cement has superseded brick for this work to such an extent that the use of the latter is practically obsolete. Flagstones, which were the only material used for walks in the business section only a few years ago, have entirely passed away.

Eats Freely But Has No Dyspepsia

A Little Pepsin in a Mild Laxative Promptly Corrected a Bad Indigestion.

Fortunate is the one who can eat "anything" without suffering the tortures of dyspepsia, but as few are so fortunate, care should be taken in the matter of diet. Eating slowly, masticating the food thoroughly and taking a short walk after the heavy meal of the day will do much towards assisting digestion. Any grown-up person ought to know the peculiar foods that do not agree, and these should be avoided.

When these common-sense aids fail, the next thing to do is to take a mild digestive tonic with laxative properties, and there is none better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains the greatest of all aids to digestion, good pepsin. It has other ingredients that act mildly on the bowels, which together form a combination for the relief of dyspepsia or indigestion that is unsurpassed.

Its action is to tone and strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that they can again do their work naturally without outside aid, and when that happy moment comes all medicine can be dispensed with. It is the best remedy obtainable for any disorder of the stomach, liver and bowels, for dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, headaches, drowsiness after eating, gas on the stomach, etc. Thousands of users will testify to this, among them Mr. J. W. Goucher, Stites, Idaho, who for several years had all the worst symptoms of chronic dyspepsia. Since taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin these have all gone, and although Mr. Goucher says he is 64, he does not look more than 40.

Syrup Pepsin is sure in its results, and a vast improvement over chewing or swallowing tablets and pills, which are harsh and nauseous and at best do but temporary good. You can obtain Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 414 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

OUTLET FOR FRUIT RAISERS

Bayfield Growers Expect
N. P. to Build 20-Mile Extension.

Fruit-growers and land owners in the Bayfield peninsula are sanguine that a railroad extension project will afford a direct market outlet in Duluth for the products of that district. Information has gone out from sources regarded as reliable, that the Northern Pacific railroad has under contemplation the building of a twelve-mile extension from Lenoa, to its Washburn line to Herbeston and Cornucopia. From Cornucopia, fifteen miles new road may be built to form a connection with the Bayfield & Western transfer, a line of about twenty miles in length now running into Bayfield. It is said that Northern Pacific engineers surveyed the route of the proposed railroad as outlined what fall and gave the project their approval as offering no engineering difficulties.

In favor of the railroad's enterprise it is pointed out that it would make available for immediate development a large section of country offering alluring fruit raising and agricultural possibilities. It is estimated by an expert that a railroad entering the district might easily earn $300,000 in freight charges during the next five years in taking out the timber alone.

With the market afforded for the products, fruit raising and dairying could then, it is thought, be conducted on a paying basis. In the expectation of railroad connection being ultimately obtained many settlers have already come into the Cornucopia and other Bayfield peninsula districts, and even with an outlet for their products available only during the season of navigation, the majority are said to be doing well.

At Port Wing, eight miles west of Herbeston, considerable settlement is to be noted. Several orchards have been developed there and a sawmill operated by J. E. Okerstrom. The Thompson-Flouth company is also mentioned as an extensive operator at Cornucopia, conducting a sawmill and a large orchard.

COMMISSIONERS TALK "RIGHT OUT IN MEETING"

Two Lively Discussions

Committee of Three Will Pass on New Water Rates.

Duluth's city commission had what resembled a real council meeting yesterday afternoon. A resolution was passed directing the payment of $7,000 for the city's share of maintaining the city and county work farm during the current year.

Because of omissions another resolution was passed fixing the salaries of the water and light department.

The payment of $1,000, 2 per cent of the money received for liquor licenses the last half of last year, was authorized paid to the state. The money was devoted to supporting the inebriate hospital.

An ordinance appropriating $163 for the purchase of a typewriter with adding machine and a chair, and the assessor's office, was given its third reading and passed.

The hiring of a watchman for Park Point, to be paid $25 a month from the public safety fund, was approved.

That political graft is on the wane in the United States and that the influence of the common people is being felt more than ever before were opinions expressed last night by William J. Burns, greatest living detective, in his address on "American Citizenship" at the Lyceum theater.

Mr. Burns proved to be a good speaker and entertainer and his views on public questions and his general optimism made a very favorable impression on the audience.

Mayor W. J. Prince introduced the speaker. Mr. Burns' aim was shown in giving his views on public questions. His aim in detecting crime he said was not to punish the offender so much as to prevent crime in the future. Often the man who commits a crime is not so much a criminal as a victim of circumstances and operates through the criminal.

Work to be Preventive. "In twenty years," said Mr. Burns, "the work of the detective will be confined almost entirely to preventive measures. The criminal is fast learning that it is not to his advantage to be caught. This is due not only to more effective and comprehensive means of running down criminals, but to the fact that the conscience of the people is being aroused as never before."

"Owing to the vast amount of publicity given to crime at the present time it might seem that crime is increasing, but this is not true. The world is growing better, but there has been such a quickening in the public conscience that all kinds of crimes that went on secretly some time ago, are now being given the fullest publicity. This makes it easier to detect much easier and publicity is doing great things in the way of bringing about a better condition of affairs in all lines of life."

In commenting upon the change for the better in conditions he said: "A few years ago murder, theft and various kinds of vice were committed with very little attention was paid to them by the great majority of the people. Today the newspapers publish the minute details of important crimes and the people are kept in constant touch with what the police departments and detectives are doing to run down crime. This has become so rapid both by wire and rail that information is spread broadcast."

Against "Third Degree." Mr. Burns' aim was shown in giving his views on public questions. His aim in detecting crime he said was not to punish the offender so much as to prevent crime in the future. Often the man who commits a crime is not so much a criminal as a victim of circumstances and operates through the criminal.

ATTELL Tommy Burns, Bob Fitzsimmons and George Gardner are thinking seriously of coming back to the fight game. Help! Three sharp fights for assistance!

One of the crowning feats of the career of T. Burns was to extract $50,000 for fighting Jack Johnson. Tommy won the money and lost the battle and set the fashion in modern match making. That should have been quite sufficient for Thomas. Why did he come around with the little matches that must come after the large and juicy affair with Lil' Artha?

It is a crime to permit old man Fitzsimmons to even attempt a fight, notwithstanding the Knockout Sweeney affair.

That isn't the worst part of it. The habit becomes contagious, like the chicken pox. Now Battling Nelson wants to come back. One of the worst things about these fighters, is that they miss the dramatic climax. After the Wolgast encounter Bat waved a broken mitt in attempted graceful salutes of the little Corporal and announced in dramatic tones and pathetic gestures that he was through with the ring forever. Now we find he is hovering around, like the little moths and the flames, and it spoils the vivid impression all of us had of the adieu of the battling one.

We will all of us remember Napoleon's sadness of the little Corporal is one of the most dramatic things of life. Suppose Nap had come back and taken a part in farce comedy. Think of the Jeer the hard hearted of posterity would mete out to Bonny. Therefore Bob, Abe, George, Bat and the rest of them should take heed and warning and remain in the pale of the reflected glory.

He will meet Mike.

WAINO KETONEN is not one of the stripe of those who are refusing to meet Mike Yokel, and we may make this statement with full and ripe knowledge that challenging a champion is one of the favorite and most hazardous pursuits of all of the world. Our admiration for Mike Yokel is the greatest that any wrestler ever commanded. Mike is an honest, rugged, fine natured fellow, and is spotted by the fame that has come his way, and one of the greatest wrestlers of his weight of all time. That for Old Mike Yokel.

This for little Waino. He has hung around Salt Lake City for the past five months or more hoping to get on with Mike. If Ketonen hadn't beaten Jordan there would be no excuse for this short article. But he did; pinned the Greek in straight falls and in decisive fashion and Jordan wouldn't ever take a chance with Waino while he held the championship for a short stretch of time.

Some day, sooner or later, Yokel will have to take on Ketonen, if the Finn continues to beat all the men that are sent to him. One of the best things about little Finn, is that he will meet 'em all. He only asks that any of them make 150 pounds. Waino doesn't pick 'em; he doesn't ask their name, color, religion, occupation, and in this respect he is singularly like Ed Adamson was.

It is our prediction, after watching the Finn work for a number of years, that Mike and Waino would put up one grand contest. But then it is ample time to talk of this and the fans here form their own opinion of the class of the Finn and Carr is also in the hunt for big game.

The Wrong Procedure.
Waino comes in for a number of New York that there is a chance that decisions will be given in the ten round contests that have been delighting the Gothamites for the past several years. This is just the mess that the gamblers of the big town are looking for. Hark—it was gambling that sounded the death knell of the Horton law. The Corbett-McCoy fracas is still fresh in the minds of some of the veteran ring followers. The queer thing they pulled the evening Kid McCoy and Tom Sharkey fought was directly due to the fact that some of the New York politicians had their money on Tom—were told to get their money on Tom—and were told that it would be safe. McCoy knocked the Sailor down twice, but the referee took nearly an hour in the counting, and there was plenty of time for the burly marine to gain his feet.

Harry Blume and Others.

With the striking of the first of the coming month troubles like those of Job will come to the President and directors of the Duluth Baseball club. There are about a million recruits—more or less—to satisfy and then try out, and it is a task of multifarious difficulties. Another one of the tasks the president and the members of the board of directors will be confronted with, is the job of raising money. Another little thing will be that of arranging the training trip. Speaking of the recruits, one of the fans of this city who hides his identity modestly, writes in and suggests that Darby try out Eddie Hansen, who the fans declare is one of the most promising pitchers in this part of the country. According to the information of the fan, Edward is six feet in height and weighs 175 pounds. The fan claims that Hansen is a greater pitcher than Cunningham, and that one of the proofs of the boy's ability is the defeat of the colored Pluto players. It wouldn't do the least harm to give the youngster a chance.

M'FARLAND-GIBBONS BOUT IS POSTPONED

Goes Over to First Week in March, Much to Surprise of Both Principals—Porky Flynn Beats Rodel—Moy Makes Kilbane Hustle—Other Fight News.

New York, Feb. 3.—The boxing match between Macky McFarland and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, scheduled for Feb. 12 has been postponed and will not take place until the first week in March.

The management of the club before which the men are to box said last night that it was deemed advisable to postpone the bout as Feb. 12 is a holiday. It was added that the change in the date also would give Gibbons a better chance to make 145 pounds at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the fight, and permit McFarland to get into the best of condition.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Porky McFarland and his manager expressed surprise last night on learning from Chicago that the McFarland-Gibbons match had been postponed. McFarland received a message from the New York promoter reading:

Match postponed. Big advantage. He could give no reason for the action. He telegraphed from St. Paul to sporting writers here that he had received a similar message and asking for further information. McFarland said he knew of no reason for postponing the match or calling it off.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 3.—A telegram from William Gibbons of New York to Eddie Reddy, manager of Mike Gibbons, was received last night and stated briefly that the bout between Gibbons and McFarland had been postponed until the first week in March. Gibbons said he was surprised when he received the message and Gibbons was disappointed they had arranged to depart for New York today, but will now await further word.

London, England, Feb. 3.—Kid Lewis, the English featherweight, defeated the Frenchman, Paul Tili, in a one-sided contest here last night. Lewis was scheduled to fight against Tili, but the referee stopped the bout in the twelfth round.

New York, Feb. 3.—Porky Flynn, the boxer, defeated Mike Gibbons, the featherweight, in the fourth round of their ten-round match here last night. Gibbons was scheduled to fight against Flynn, but the referee stopped the bout in the fourth round. Gibbons was scheduled to fight against Flynn, but the referee stopped the bout in the fourth round.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 3.—Although he was expected to lose, Ed Adamson, the featherweight champion, won a strong showing in his six-round contest here last night against Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion. Moy, the featherweight, was scheduled to fight against Kilbane, but the referee stopped the bout in the fourth round.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 3.—"Peenuts" Scheiber defeated Chip Murphy in a ten-round contest here last night. Ritchie Mitchell, Milwaukee, shadowed Dick Lowman, Pittsburgh, in the second windup of ten rounds.

WITH THE MATMEN

Waino Ketonen will give an exhibition to the public at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon at the Auditorium, where the Finn is doing his training in preparation for the contest with Joe Carr, which will be wrestled at the Auditorium on Feb. 10. At those who care to see one of the greatest grapplers developed within the past few years can have the privilege of watching Ketonen at work.

The exhibition will be free to the public and during the course of his work Ketonen will take on his wrestling partners and will go through the regular training features. This will give many of the fans of the city their first opportunity to see the boy who looks like the only middleweight in the world who is capable of meeting Mike Yokel on even terms and stand up an excellent chance of getting an even break in the going.

From Humboldt, Iowa, comes the information that Frank Gotch has suggested that he and Beel and American meet and wrestle it out for the American championship. In view of some of the good work that has been done this season by Charles Cutler, it would appear that the name of the former Duluth boy can not very well be left out of the reckoning.

Carr has received an offer to meet Fred Beel of Louisville. Beel is one of the strongest of all the middleweights and in the matter of strength alone he will be a match for Beel. But the trickery and wonderful mat knowledge of Beel should prove entirely too much for Joseph.

Charles Cutler will go against Frisken and the winner will most likely be sent against one of the Zbyzskos. Cutler is showing the best form of his career the present year. Charles is 30 years of age and should be in the prime of his athletic life. He is the largest of the Americans and is the largest of the points of the game. It will prove interesting to see whether the wonderful strength of the Bohemian can overcome the skill of the large American.

Pennsylvania Athletic Chairman Says Academic Standing Should Be Only Standard of Eligibility for College Baseball Teams.

Philadelphia, Feb. 3.—Declaring that academic standing should be the only standard of eligibility required of candidates for college baseball teams, Dr. Arthur W. Goodspeed, chairman of the faculty committee on athletics of the University of Pennsylvania, agreed with the captains of the Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Dartmouth nine, that the college baseball player should be only a question of degree. Dr. Goodspeed said he believed it to be the duty of the college to adopt a universal code that will allow only graduates whose academic standing is up to the standard to try for places on the teams.

CREWS ARE CRIPPLED.

Harvard Up Against It for Oarsmen for Several Shells.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 3.—Harvard oarsmen will begin active training next week with the loss of two of the strongest candidates for varsity crews. It is also possible that two others may not try for positions.

Louis M. Mills, who rowed in the varsity eight last season, is suffering from a sprained ankle and will be unable to practice for at least two months. If his condition improves sufficiently he may try for a place in the eight after the Annapolis race in April. It is also doubtful whether G. M. MacVicar of last year's varsity eight will be a candidate for the crew this year.

As three members of the varsity eight were graduated last June, it will be necessary to find new material for most of the positions this spring.

RUSSIAN FIGHT IS EASY FOR CUTLER.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 3.—Charles Cutler of Chicago defeated Ivan Manutoff, the Russian boxer, here last night in straight falls. Cutler took the first in 22 minutes with a toe hold, and the second in 10 minutes with a leg and body hold.

SHIFT IN OFFICIALS.

Charles H. Thomas Treasurer of the Cubs, Succeeding Williams.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Charles H. Thomas, present secretary of the Chicago Nationals, and formerly with the New York Nationals, will assume the duties of Treasurer Charles Williams, who has been elected to the position. Williams was announced by President Murphy, who ascribed to a misunderstanding, the news that Peter Kelly of Boston would take Williams' place.

A new man, however, will succeed Williams as traveling representative of the Cubs. The Cubs, it is expected, will leave for their training camp at Tampa, Feb. 16, in a special train. The Chicago Americans, on their training trip, will play at Kansas City March 9 and 10, and at St. Joseph, Mo., March 11 and 12, Secretary Grabner announced.

Aiming to eliminate as many conflicts with competitors as possible, the

FANCY SKATER WILL APPEAR

Alexander Cameron, National Champ, Will Skate at Hockey Contest.

Alexander Cameron of Calumet, national champion amateur fancy skater of the country, will give an exhibition at the skating club on Feb. 10. The exhibition will be part of the entertainment and will be given without extra charge.

Mr. Cameron happens to be here with the Calumet hockey team and has consented to give his remarkable exhibition. Cameron has appeared in various parts of the world and is said to be the master of more fancy skate figures than any amateur in the world.

There will be music and skating following the game of this evening. Because of the fine exhibition of hockey of last evening, and because of the league, came to this city last night. It is expected that one of the largest crowds that ever gathered for a hockey game here will be on hand.

YANKEES BIDDING FOR KING COLE

Believed He Will Sign Despite His Federal Contract.

New York, Feb. 3.—The local American league club officials hope to secure the signature of Leonard (King) Cole, who recently signed with the Federal league, to this city last night and was in conference with President Frank Farrell of the Yankees for several hours. Cole announced that he would leave the Federal league and join the Yankees. Cole is a powerful pitcher and is expected to be a valuable asset to the Yankees.

Although the former pitcher has been enrolled with the Federal league, his contract with the new organization does not appear to be a serious barrier. Cole has virtually stated that he will play with the club offering him the most money. Farrell claims that the New York club has already agreed to his terms by telegram before Cole signed with the Federal league.

The New York club is expected to outbid the Federal league for Cole, and if the latter signs, a case similar to that of Killdeer of the Philadelphia Nationals will result, since both the American and Federal leagues will be able to show a contract with the same players.

RUBE PETERS SIGNS UP WITH FEDERALS.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Rube Peters, a former member of the Chicago Americans, has signed a contract here to pitch for the Kansas City Federal league ball team. Peters was in Minneapolis in 1911. He was drafted by the Chicago Americans, but was sold when ill health affected his pitching.

CALUMET TAKES FIRST HOCKEY GAME OF SERIES

League Leaders Win From Joe Linder's Bunch By 7 to 4 Count.

Michigan Crowd Shows Some of Real Class of the Season.

Calumet defeated Duluth last evening by a score of 7 to 4, and the result was brought about by the superior playing of the visitors. In skating, stick handling, cleaner handling of passes, general alertness, following the puck and shooting, the visitors excelled the home lovers. Conceding that the breaks of the game were with the visitors, the fact remains, immutable and unshaken as the hills, that Calumet had the better team on the ice at times, judged by the exhibition of last evening.

Let us pause here to give credit to Capt. Joe Linder. The old boy played the game of his life. The fire of battle was in his eyes and the heart of Joseph and he was all over the ice. He was ubiquitous, omnipresent; he played like a fend on defense, while the offensive play of the Duluth leader was at times brilliant and brought spectators yelling to their feet.

But there were times when Joe went down the ice with the puck that his passes were missed and the opportunity lost for a try at goal. And it was in the matter of receiving passes on the forward line that the visitors won the game.

Calumet Is Fast.
Barkell was clearly off his game last evening. Rarely was he up to the task of taking a pass, and the seeming inability of the lad who generally plays a sterling game to be up to the task of receiving passes in the slot, lost innumerable passes in the slot, lost innumerable passes in the slot.

Calumet has a strong team and Munroe is right as one of the stars of the galaxy of stellar performers. This boy has speed and he has the skill to take a pass and shoot it into the net. He has the local ice for many months. The work of Linder and Munroe stood out over shading that of the others. Olson and Grenner and Bogan and Bell and the latter making some sensational stops, played star roles individually, and for the visitors the seven individuals for to say that the seven individuals played more as a machine than as seven stars.

At the start of the play was mostly in the territory of Duluth. The visitors showed from the bell remarkable speed and some beautiful and effective combinations. In a few seconds after nine minutes had elapsed, R. Treglone and Munroe went up the ice, just in front of the goal, and slipped the puck to the star wing and he promptly shot it by the keeper. The puck was in the net and the score was 1-0.

In a trifle more than three minutes later Munroe took the puck up in one of the prettiest rushes of the evening and shot it in, close to the ice and swiftly by Bellock. The puck was rushed back into Duluth territory after the face off. Suddenly old John promptly loomed in behind his own goal. Up the ice came Joe, he dodged several passes, slipped through the stick of the play and slipped the puck into the net, slipping the puck into the net. The score was 2-0.

Kahler the rubber in front of the goal, and Nick shot it through for almost all conditions. The "American disease" is not the only one that is a handicap. The "American disease" is not the only one that is a handicap. The "American disease" is not the only one that is a handicap.

Some More of Munroe.
The dreadful and accurate execution of Munroe started with the call of time for the second half. Handsome Jack Mahan and the right wing took the rubber up the ice in a rush a few seconds after the lapse of eight minutes. Mahan neatly and effectively slipping it over to Munroe, who hesitated not in the least in shooting it. Just three minutes later Reynolds shot the next net from a mixup in front of the Duluth goal.

Old Joe Linder came flying up the ice and then lost a pass, some puck minutes later, Joe lost the puck in a pass, but in the lively scrimmage that ensued the fighting spirit of the visitors showed that aggressiveness would do a lot for a player, for Joseph slipped into the stick of the play and diving through, shot the puck into the cage.

Grenner caged one of the prettiest shots of the game when at the conclusion of the twenty-second minute of play he received a rebound shot from Olson clear over the boards and shot the puck high and true into the cage. J. Treglone passed to Reynolds in a speedy rush to the goal after a lively mixup in front of the Duluth net at the call of twenty-five minutes.

It remained for Munroe to cage the final one for Calumet. The crack wing received a pass from Reynolds after one of those innumerable rushes down the ice, with three of the Calumet players abreast and neatly caged the final score for the visitors.

Nick Kahler shot the final goal in a rather peculiar manner. The puck was shot from behind the Duluth goal, Nick stopping it with his feet and he dropped obediently to his feet and he, without the least delay, shot the puck into the net. The final score was 7-4.

Next Three Minutes, and the crowd standing and yelling, the game ended in a climax that was in perfect keeping with the quality of play.

Taking It From All Angles, the contest was one of the best played here. It is not difficult to see why Calumet is leading the league. Duluth has a chance to win the game of this evening. Duluth was not outclassed, nor was the local team outthought. The game was with the visitors and they deserved to win. As the game progressed Duluth grew stronger. Perhaps in the contest this evening the Duluthians will start the game with the clip they ended it with last evening. In that event, we repeat, there is an excellent chance for Duluth to win.

WHEAT WEAK AT THE CLOSE

Market Off on Light Demand Following Bearish Foreign News.

Flaxseed Has Sharp Break With Liberal Selling From Winnipeg.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 3.—The market was weak at the close. May wheat closed 1/2 off and July 1/2 off. May durum closed 1/2 off and July 1/2 off.

Oats closed 1/2 lower at 35 1/2 @ 36 1/2. Rye closed unchanged at 52 1/2 @ 53 1/2 for the best grades, and barley unchanged at 41 @ 42.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 37 1/2 and July at 36 1/2. May wheat closed at 85 1/2 and July at 84 1/2.

After a firm opening on higher Liverpool cables, the wheat market ruled slightly easier during the greater part of today's session. This was attributed to a weaker domestic and foreign situation brought about by a number of factors. The cold wave that had been predicted in the winter wheat territory failed to materialize to any extent. The European visible supply showed an increase of 848,000 bu., making it now 1,596,000 bu. as compared with 1,512,000 bu. last year.

The world's visible supply decrease as reported by Harbinger at 1,436,000 bu. was regarded as light for the season. The supply now stands at 206,856,000 bu.

Analysts' bearish factors traders point to the fact that there is a short crop in the winter wheat territory south of the equator during the next two months, and that stocks in America are decreasing rapidly. Said a Duluth operator today: "The trade is not willing to pay the price for wheat. Dealers had been counting on fees from Canada to be sent to the United States, but they are not being sent. The wheat is not being sold. The wheat is not being sold. The wheat is not being sold."

Inspections of wheat at Duluth today were only 29 cars as against 124 last year, and receipts of all grains on the track for the day aggregated 37 cars.

TRAFFIC IN ARMS TO MEXICANS IS ALLOWED BY WILSON'S ORDER

Proclamation Rescinds Embargo Laid By President Taft.

Action Is Approved at Both Ends of Capitol.

Huerta Seems Not Worried; Villa Embraces Bringer of News.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The right to ship arms and ammunition across the American boundary into Mexico through the regular channels of commerce today was extended alike to the forces of the Huerta government and the Constitutionalists—a situation unprecedented since the first outbreak of hostilities in that republic in November, 1910.

No orders for the withdrawal of United States troops from the border will be issued by the war department unless recommendations are made by Brig. Gen. Bliss, in command there. Secretary Garrison said today that while he supposed the duties of troops would be considerably lessened by the lifting of the embargo, he could not say positively that fewer soldiers would be needed, because he was not entirely familiar with the details of the situation. There might be scattered situations which needed such watching, he said, that would render it impossible to withdraw any of the troops now.

The secretary has notified Gen. Bliss of the lifting of the embargo. President Wilson, by an executive order issued late yesterday, removed all restrictions against the exportation of munitions of war into Mexico from the United States.

The executive order emphasized that it was the desire of the United States to be in the same position of neutrality toward the contending factions in Mexico as were the other powers.

Wilson's Proclamation. The text of the proclamation follows: "Whereas, by a proclamation of the president, issued on March 14, 1912, under a joint resolution of congress approved by the president on the same day, it was declared that there existed in Mexico conditions of domestic violence which were promoted by the use of arms or munitions of war procured from the United States;

JURY COMPLETED TO TRY DEPUTIES

Copper Country Prepares for Inquiry By Congressmen.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A jury was completed in the Seaboard murder case this morning. Most of its members reside in the lower end of Houghton county, a district remote from the scene of the strike zone. In all 119 veniremen were examined. The jury will consider evidence against five defendants charged with second degree murder in connection with the killing of a strike leader. Approximately 200 witnesses are prepared to give testimony favorable to the striking miners.

This was made known last night by Angus W. Kerr, chief local counsel for the Western Federation of Miners. Sheriff Cruse has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest of William F. Feltch, one of the defendants in the Seaboard murder case, who has disappeared. The five other defendants in the case are on trial, charged with murdering two non-union miners last August.

ACTION URGED BY INTERMYER

Government Control of Stock Exchanges Discussed By Senators.

Lawyer Gives Reasons for Federal Action in the Matter.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The senate committee on banking and currency today began hearings on the Owen bill designed to prohibit the use of the mails, telegraph and telephone lines for the forwarding of unlawful or harmful stock exchange transactions. Samuel Untermyer of New York was the chief witness in advocacy of the bill. He cited numerous court opinions and recommendations which favorably reported a similar bill in the Sixty-second congress.

Only Two Questions. The only debatable propositions, to my mind, said Mr. Untermyer, "are whether there can be effective regulation of the stock exchanges by congress without requiring incorporation, and whether, if incorporation is necessary, it should be directly under federal law, or whether the congress should enforce state supervision by prohibiting the use of the mails, telegraph and telephone lines."

'YOU ARE UNORTHODOX' SAY PRESBYTERIANS TO REV. CHARLES F. AKED

Former Pastor of Rockefeller Questions Immaculate Conception.

San Francisco, Miners Say He Must Quit Society.

Former Congressman Sentenced to Sing Sing

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 4.—When Rev. Charles F. Aked, a clergyman of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York, takes the chair Feb. 13, next, as president of the church federation of San Francisco and ex-officio as chairman of the executive committee of the federation, he will be called on to rule on a communication from the Presbyterian Ministers' Association of the San Francisco Bay cities, asking for his resignation as president because of unorthodox utterances from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church last Sunday. The Fifth Avenue church was the one attended by John D. Rockefeller, who was credited with a great part in securing Mr. Aked's services.

Dr. Aked said in the pulpit last Sunday that he did not adhere to and would not support the doctrine of the immaculate conception and birth of Christ. "My conclusion upon this question," he announced, "is that the faith of Mark and John and James and Paul is good enough for me. It is good enough for any Christian. These men say nothing about Jesus having come into the world as a deity."

ULSTER TO RECEIVE GREAT CONCESSIONS

Glasgow Herald Makes Apparently Authoritative Announcement.

Glasgow, Scotland, Feb. 4.—Concessions of the most sweeping description are to be made to Ulster in connection with the introduction of home rule in Ireland, according to today's Glasgow Herald. The concessions, says the newspaper, are to cover practically everything short of exclusion of Ulster from the provisions of the home rule measure. They will be outlined in the course of a statement by Premier Asquith at the reassembling of parliament.

The announcement made by the Herald is regarded in political circles as particularly significant, since it coincides with the arrival in Glasgow of David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, to speak on the land question.

Mays Landing, N. J., Feb. 4.—After deliberating less than half an hour, the jury in the case of the state against Harry Haberly, William J. Lutton and Charles Cramer, Atlantic City officials on trial here for election frauds at the 1908 election, brought in a verdict of not guilty.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 4.—International officers of the United Mine Workers of America, which closed its twenty-fourth convention here last night, were busy today in preparation to attend the joint conference of miners and operators at Philadelphia next Tuesday, when negotiations for a new wage scale will be started. The new scale will replace the agreement now in effect in the central competitive field, comprising Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Western Pennsylvania, and which expires April 1 next.

Before adjournment the miners adopted a recommendation of President John P. White that there be no suspension of work at the mines in case the conference should fail to reach an agreement by April 1.

President White proposed that if it were found impossible to reach an agreement, the miners should go on strike and not merely suspend work. He declared suspensions had outlived their usefulness in the organized districts and only aided the non-union mines.

Demands to Be Made. The demands which will be submitted to the operators include an increase of 5 cents on the ton on a mine run basis, 10 per cent. increase for all inside and outside day labor about the mines, a half holiday on Saturdays and the reformation of all local inequalities and internal differences to the various districts affected for settlement.

Each state in the competitive field will be represented at the conference by eight miners and eight operators, in addition to the international officers.

Practically all of the 1,511 delegates here for the convention departed for their homes today. The Pennsylvania delegates had a special train and a number of the far western delegates chartered a special car.

Delegates Elected. In addition to choosing St. Louis as the 1916 convention city, Thomas Hagerton of Reynoldsville, Pa., was elected delegates to the International Mining congress, which meets in Europe in 1916, and John Hessler of Smyrna, Ind., and Thomas J. Reynolds of Collins, Ill., were chosen delegates to the convention of the American Federation of Labor.

PETITION TO FORCE ELLIS IS FILED.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—The United States district court was asked today to compel Frederick W. Ellis, vice president of the Armour Car Lines, to answer questions asked by interstate commerce commissioners relative to the business done by his company.

The clash between the car line official and the interstate commerce commission came by the inquiry by the commission into private car lines. It is understood an interval of several days will be granted before the hearing.

Former Pastor of Rockefeller Questions Immaculate Conception.

San Francisco, Miners Say He Must Quit Society.

Former Congressman Sentenced to Sing Sing

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 4.—When Rev. Charles F. Aked, a clergyman of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York, takes the chair Feb. 13, next, as president of the church federation of San Francisco and ex-officio as chairman of the executive committee of the federation, he will be called on to rule on a communication from the Presbyterian Ministers' Association of the San Francisco Bay cities, asking for his resignation as president because of unorthodox utterances from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church last Sunday. The Fifth Avenue church was the one attended by John D. Rockefeller, who was credited with a great part in securing Mr. Aked's services.

Dr. Aked said in the pulpit last Sunday that he did not adhere to and would not support the doctrine of the immaculate conception and birth of Christ. "My conclusion upon this question," he announced, "is that the faith of Mark and John and James and Paul is good enough for me. It is good enough for any Christian. These men say nothing about Jesus having come into the world as a deity."

LITTAUERS ARE LET OFF WITH FINE OF $1,000 EACH

Court Suspends Jail Sentence of Former Congressman.

Says It Is Not Customary to Imprison for Smuggling.

New York, Feb. 4.—Lucius N. Littauer, a former congressman, and his brother, William, were fined $1,000 each and sentenced to six months in jail today for smuggling.

The court, however, suspended sentence in the matter of the jail penalty. The brothers were arraigned in the Federal district court before Judge Thomas, having pleaded guilty yesterday to two indictments charging smuggling and conspiracy to defraud. They had admitted bringing into this country, without paying duty, valuable jewelry purchased in Venice and intended for gifts for William Littauer's wife, United States District Attorney Marshall, at the time of the plea, urged that the full penalty of the law be imposed, and pointed out that the Littauers were not smugglers, but had been benefited by the protective tariff.

Jail Sentences Not the Rule. In suspending the jail sentence, Judge Thomas warned the offenders that this would not be his policy in future. He explained, however, that he had not found it the custom in this district to inflict such penalties. He severely arraigned both defendants and said that the fact that Lucius Littauer Valuable Pictures and Furniture Are Destroyed in One.

Glasgow, Scotland, Feb. 4.—Two fires, the work of suffragette "arson squads," caused heavy damage today in the neighborhood of the Perthshire village of Comrie, famous for its Druidical and Roman ruins.

The first fire was discovered in a drawing room of Aberuchill castle. Servants, awakened by the thick smoke, extinguished the blaze after a number of valuable pictures and valuable furniture had been destroyed.

Shortly afterward another magnificent mansion, the "House of Ross," which was temporarily unoccupied, was consumed with all its contents.

A third case of arson occurred in Perthshire later in the day when Saint Fillans, a fine mansion, was destroyed. The house was the property of Stirling Boyd, whose wife formerly was president and now is vice president of the anti-suffrage league of Edinburgh. A placard was left on the grounds inscribed "A Warm Welcome to Lloyd George," the reference being to his arrival in Scotland to make a speech.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paul Barcomb of Duluth, conductor, was killed in the yards of the Iron Range railroad here about 7:20 this morning when a south bound pulpwood train ran away on the steep grade and dashed into Barcomb's train which was about to pull out for Duluth.

Lawrence Enfield, fireman of the runaway train, was slightly injured. Barcomb, known to Duluth, where his family lives, was buried under piles of wreckage and pulpwood or less mangled.

The investigation is not yet completed, but from most reliable information obtainable it appears that the crew on the south bound train, which consisted of twenty-three cars loaded with logs and pulpwood, lost control of the train on the grade coming into Two Harbors and the locomotive collided with the rear of the Endion local which was about ready to pull out of the yard.

Engine Leaves Rails. The engine of the south bound train was derailed and ran down a bank and was considerably damaged and the cab caught fire and was consumed. The caboose of the Endion local and a number of box and gondola cars were demolished and others more or less damaged. The crew on the engine of the incoming train jumped for safety when they saw that a collision was unavoidable, and the fireman, L. Enfield, was slightly injured.

The crew on the south bound train state that the air brakes appeared to be in good order.

TWO DULUTH MEN AMONG THE VICTIMS

Odin Mecalson Dead and Fred Le Roux and Archie Campbell Hurt.

George Gunderson, Proprietor, Wife and Three Children Are Injured.

Flames Start From Furnace and Building Burns in Thirty Minutes.

Remidj, Minn., Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five men are known to be dead, several are missing and thirteen persons are seriously injured as the result of a fire which completely destroyed the new three-story frame hotel at Kelliher, forty miles north of here, at 1 a. m. today. The dead: ODIN MECALSON, aged 23, general store clerk, formerly of Duluth. GABRIEL SCHOBERG, aged 32, laborer. E. PRATT, homesteader. CHARLES LARSON, laborer. M. MCQUINN of Deer River.

Tried to Save Mecalson. Of the death of Mecalson, Benjamin Hirschfeld, who himself was injured in jumping from the second story, says: "Mecalson had the room next to mine. I heard him call, 'Save me, save me.' I leaped out of bed and started into Mecalson's room, but flames enveloped the room and I saw that poor Mecalson was done for. I grabbed my trousers and fell from the window."

The most amazing escape of any of the guests was that of a laborer who appeared at the third story window and let himself out grasping the window sill. Then slowly he slid down the wall of the building. He lay stuck to the wall no one could say, but he landed on the ground and walked away as if nothing had happened.

Teacher Had Narrow Escape. Another narrow escape was that of a Kelliher school teacher who was saved by a man who broke into her room and tied sheets together, making a lifeline down which the teacher safely descended.

A temporary hospital was established in a nearby saloon, and when the flames threatened this structure, the injured were taken to the Craig hotel.

None of the bodies of the dead has been recovered. It is believed only their ashes remain in the ruins. The injured were brought to this city. George Gunderson, owner of the hotel, artery in foot cut and body bruised.

Mrs. Gunderson, back injured in jumping from second story. Inez Gunderson, aged 13, hurt in being thrown from window. Mabel Gunderson, aged 5, hurt in fall from window.

Harley Gunderson, aged 16, hurt in fall from third story window. Rose Dwalbe, chambermaid, hurt in fall.

Millie Abraham, back broken, probably fatally injured. Joe Barknecht, porter, badly burned. Kohler, Remidj, dredging contractor, badly bruised.

W. J. Twoby, traveling salesman for Hackett, Gates & Hurly of St. Paul, foot badly cut. Benjamin Hirschfeld, traveling (Continued on page 14, fifth column.)

PRESIDENT OF PERU SEIZED

Rebels Capture Billinghurst and Kill Premier Varella.

Revolt Is Due to Effort to Rehabilitate Peru's Finances.

Lima, Peru, Feb. 4.—The president of the republic of Peru, Guillermo Billinghurst, was taken prisoner today by military revolutionists.

The rebels suddenly attacked the presidential palace this morning under the leadership of Col. Benavides. Gen. Enrique Varella, premier and minister of war, was killed in the sharp fighting which ensued.

Dr. Augusto Durand, a former revolutionary leader, whose arrest was sought by the police yesterday, took possession of the palace. It is generally believed that he will at once organize a new government.

The attack on the palace began at 4:30 in the morning. Thousands of the inhabitants of Lima dashed into the streets, alarmed by the firing. Squads of soldiers were ordered to fire volleys into the air in order to prevent the formation of crowds in the streets, and by this method they kept

STILL DUE HIM.

A lien action involving a claim of $789.23 for labor and material furnished was filed in district court today against the new Kitchi Gammi club building by James J. Brown, a local contractor. The Kitchi Gammi club, a corporation, MacLeod & Smith, contractors, and W. G. Hegardt, who holds a trust deed of the property, are named as defendants to the action. Brown claims that during the period between June 5 and Nov. 3, 1913, he furnished labor and material worth $1,708.89 in connection with the construction of the building, and that he has received on account only $5,822.61.

Examine Your Factory

Investigate your power problems. The difference between the horse-power that can be produced by the coal you buy and the horse-power you use on your machines is enormous. The loss in friction alone will amount to 30% to 60%.

Central Station Power Will Cut Your Costs

When you use Central Station Power, you pay only for the power actually used by your machinery—there is no waste. You avoid the problems of fuel purchase and storage, ash disposal, interest, taxes, depreciation, the ever-present danger of breakdown and all the other expensive vexations attendant upon private power plan operation.

We will be glad to tell you what it will cost to operate your machines with Central Station Power.

LESSON IN THE TANGO

Fifty Young Women Taught New Dance at Social Center.

Mayor Prince Is Spectator at Gathering in Irving School.

The mysteries of the tango dance were mastered by a class of nearly fifty young women at the social center meeting at the Irving school last night. Miss Berta Schmidt led the class through the various steps and showed how the dance could be danced with propriety.

Nearly 300 young people gathered in the upper hall of the school to witness the work of the classes and all voted that the dance was one of the prettiest they had seen and that they would have no trouble in mastering the steps. To show that they could, many of those present danced the tango in the wings of the hall, and were reluctant to stop when the music ceased.

The gathering was one of the largest that has been held in the school since the opening of the social center. Mayor W. I. Prince was present, more as a spectator of the activities than as a speaker. In several of the rooms small clubs of young people spent an hour discussing

FUNERAL OF CIVIL WAR VETERAN

ASA H. MERRIMAN.

The funeral arrangements for Asa H. Merriman, the Civil war veteran who died at his home, 4122 Grand avenue, Monday night, will probably be completed this evening. William H. Merriman of Butte, Mont., a brother, is expected to arrive this evening after which the arrangements will be made.

It is probable that the funeral will be held under the auspices of local posts of the Grand Army. The pallbearers will be from the local posts, while the Sons of Veterans or Spanish War veterans will make up the firing squad.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

George Mallory, Jr., has one ambition in life, and that is to become a curler as early as his illustrious "dad," for whom he now plays second at the Western Curling rink.

Young George has shown a great deal of skill in the Scotch game. He has been playing the game for four years and has already acquired a mastery of it which threatens disaster for many of his competitors.

The young man got his first knowledge of the game while playing with the Wade "kid" rink, which four years ago walked off with the Burns and Eaterly trophies. During the past two years he has been playing on his father's rink.

Only one game was played at the Western Curling rink last night. In this game the Zauß rink easily won to defeat the Zauß rink. The latter failed to score until the ninth end.

Four games will be played tonight. Ison will play Evered in the Hendrickson event. Quinn and Brown will line up in the Bagley, and Judson will play Ilik, and Ireland against Wade in the Eaterly.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club, who took an active part in getting an opinion from a local attorney as to whether the city had a claim for damages against the Canadian Northern railroad for damages to No. 4 fire hall, are not pleased with the declaration of City Attorney Harvey Clapp that the city will have to wait until spring before any steps will be taken by the city's legal department in the matter.

"It seems to be peculiar that the city attorney should state that this particular case is exceedingly difficult," said John J. Frey this morning. "It did not appear very difficult to the attorney from whom the West Duluth Commercial club obtained its opinion. It might take a day or two to get the necessary evidence, but that is what we taxpayers are paying his salary for."

"In the opinion of many of us West Duluth people, our city attorney is not doing any more than he absolutely has to and is adding many things that are really important," said Mr. Frey.

BODY IS FOUND BY NEIGHBOR
Widow of Victim of Colbyville Shooting Dies After Long Illness.

Mrs. George Riley, 38 years old, of Colbyville, widow of George Riley, who was killed three years ago last October by Frank Schmidt, died this morning at her home, following an illness of more than two years. She was found dead in bed by the wife of one of the neighboring farmers.

She had lived in Colbyville for fifteen years and was very well known in that vicinity. She is survived by five children. The body has been removed to the Grady & Horgan undertaking rooms, where the funeral arrangements will be made today.

The shooting of Riley near his farm three years ago, will be remembered by many Duluthians. Riley had gone to Schmidt's farmhouse early in the afternoon and had a heated argument before leaving. Just as Riley left the house, Schmidt took his rifle and fired the bullet taking effect in Riley's arm. He staggered along the road for a short distance, but finally died from loss of blood. The body was found by some neighboring farmers.

Schmidt was later arrested and charged with murder in the first degree. Following a sensational trial, he secured his liberty and has since left this part of the state. His present whereabouts are unknown.

FIRE WARDEN'S ACTIVITIES.
Fire warden John J. Schinlaub devoted considerable time in January to inspecting theaters and other buildings in the city, as shown by his monthly report to Safety Commissioner William A. Hicken.

Some of them had become careless of the safety requirements and all were directed to comply with the ordinance, or face the alternative of being prosecuted. The fire warden ordered thirteen red lights installed to mark fire escapes and directed the posting of nine cards giving directions for reaching fire escapes.

In addition, much other work was done by the fire warden. He made 1,100 visits to buildings and 1,929 to basements. Other items in his report include: Asbes removed, 23; gas stoves cleaned, 11; fire extinguishers recharged, 9; fire extinguishers inspected, 13; blasting permits, 2; stove pipe repaired, 6; rubbish ordered removed, 409; and guards ordered on elevators, 4.

Moose Order Will Secure 125 New Members in West Duluth.

West Duluth lodge, No. 1478, Loyal Order of Moose, will be instituted this evening at the Great Eastern hall. A class of 125 residents of this end of the city as well as a number of resident members of the order will join with the local lodge.

James Geraghty, national director of the order, has been in West Duluth during the last two weeks and has assisted in securing the big class. The majority of the first officers has already been selected.

It is expected that a large delegation from Duluth will attend the initial meeting of the West Duluth lodge. Arrangements have been made with the street railway company for two special cars which will bring members of the Superior lodges to the city to attend.

The ceremonies will begin at 8 o'clock. Following the institution of the lodge the members will be asked to take up the proposition to secure clubrooms which will be on a par with similar clubrooms of the lodge throughout the country.

is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief. Its harmlessness, its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs, its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over. Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store, and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, forms and sour, and forms gas, causes headache, dizziness and nausea; or cructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach, all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

a cubic yard for all the rock which they reduce to a size which can be put through the crusher. An experienced, able-bodied man could make about $1.50 a day at that rate but others could hardly expect to earn more than 75 cents a day, provided they weren't afraid of sweating or getting tired.
That would be sufficient to maintain them temporarily.

The works division will keep the rock pile open a short time longer, but unless more men appear to work it will be discontinued. The situation relative to the unemployed appears to have improved considerably in the last week.
Many, who have been placed in the woods and have believed that any professional day was there were among the idle have manifested sufficient energy to help themselves when confronted with the alternative of going to work or being arrested for vagrancy.

COLLINS IS NOT COMING "DUNCES" OUT OF JOB

Agreed to Debate With Kaplan, Say Knights of Columbus.

Allege That Socialists Refused to Bring Kaplan Here.

Peter W. Collins, the anti-Socialist lecturer who appeared here in December, will not be at the Auditorium tomorrow night to debate with Carl D.
Thompson, the Socialist lecturer, according to a statement issued by the Duluth Knights of Columbus today.
The statement also says that the intimations made by the Socialists in advertising the Thompson lecture, that Collins might be present, are made with full knowledge of the fact that Collins will not be there.

The statement says:
"When Mr. Collins appeared at the Armory Dec. 11, he was challenged to a debate by Morris Kaplan, who publicly declared that he had been selected to debate. A member of the Socialist city central committee in the audience backed Kaplan up in that assertion, and Kaplan has repeated it. Mr. Collins accepted the challenge and agreed the time between Jan. 25 and Feb. 3.
It was understood, of course, that the Knights of Columbus, who financed Mr.
Collins' first appearance, would bear their share of the expenses of the debate, including the lecture fee of the bureau under which Mr. Collins is working."

"This we were willing to do for a debate between Collins and Kaplan, but at all times we were ready to fulfill our obligation in that respect, but we have at no time agreed to do so. Mr.
Collins to Duluth to debate with Mr.
Thompson or any man other than Kaplan. We do not believe the public interest in a debate between Collins and Thompson would warrant the expense of the trip."

"Our last letter to the Socialist committee, dated Jan. 27, we offered to have Collins here on Feb. 6 to meet Kaplan. In a letter dated Jan. 28, the Socialists refused to bring Kaplan for the debate. We considered the incident closed. Any intimations made that Collins might come to debate with Thompson were made to mislead and put Collins in a hole when he did not appear."

"We have had no communication with Mr. Collins since he was here and we have not consulted him in the matter.
The date, Feb. 6, was furnished by the bureau under which he is lecturing.
We understand that he is not in a position to meet any Socialist leader in debate, but he is not in a position to conduct lecture and debate engagements at his own expense. In view of the lack of public interest we feel that we would not be warranted in meeting the expense necessary to a Collins-Thompson debate and we have never agreed to hold it."

certificates will be conducted by N. A.
Young, county superintendent of

BILL FOR INSPECTION OF GRAIN REPORTED

Southerners May Ask to Extend It to Cotton.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)
Washington, Feb. 4.—Senator Oringum of North Dakota today reported from the senate committee on agriculture the McCumber bill providing for Federal inspection of grain.
It is expected that when the bill is considered by the senate an effort will be made by senators from the South to have it amended so as to include
Federal inspection of cotton.

Detroit, Minn., Feb. 4.—John Fagerinto the moving machine and had his left foot ground off, necessitating am-

Try This Treatment For Superfluous Hairs

(The Modern Be. Ay.)
Beauty specialists are greatly interested in the new treatment for removing objectionable hairs, and the success of this treatment (which is possible) means the abolishing of the painful and time-consuming electrolytic treatment. A paste sufficient to cover the hairs not wanted is made with powdered delatone and water and applied; after 2 or 3 minutes remove and with it comes every trace of hair. Washing the skin to remove the remaining delatone leaves it clear and firm. Be sure you get delatone.

ROADS' EARNINGS ARE IMPROVING

Railroads operating in this territory are now making good showings in their current earnings. The St. Paul road's net revenue for December was reported at $2,641,871, an increase of $55,068 over the corresponding month in 1912. For the six months, its gross earnings assured $9,745,765 as compared with $9,602,728 in 1912. The system's net income in 1913 was $18,098,092, a falling off of $2,392,131 from the record
of the total for the same period in 1911.

THREE RAILROADS SHOW LARGE GAINS.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 4.—Three railroads which reported their earnings for the last six months in 1913 to the state tax commission Tuesday show healthy increases over the earnings for the first half of the year.
The Minneapolis & St. Louis earnings were $1,938,881.57, an increase of $299,564.55. The St. Paul Bridge &
Terminal company with a total of $106, 165.75 boosted its total $28,397.50. The Railway Transfer company reported earnings at $106,507.02, which is an increase of $9,823.33. The taxes on these earnings amount to $107,722.57, which is $17,064.23 more than for the first half of the year. The total money to be received from all railroads operated in the state for the last half of 1913 probably will reach $5,000,000.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS MEETING THURSDAY

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, I will send you a copy of my story and show it to any other who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Tomorrow evening he will tell of his findings. At least an interesting talk is expected from him concerning his trip.

SCHOOL BOARD LACKS QUORUM

It would not be surprising were there no meeting of the school board on Friday evening of this week for the reason that there may be no quorum. Friday is the regular night for the monthly meeting to be held, but so many of the members are out of the city that there may not be enough on hand to make the meeting possible. President W. E. Magner is away on business. Director E. A. Brewer is in the South for the rest of the winter. Mrs. T. J. Davis is away and Director J. H. McNeill is also absent on business. Unless some of these return there will be no meeting.

TO TRY IT AGAIN.

Grand Forks to Vote Second Time on Commission Form.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the second time in four years Grand Forks will vote March 2 on the question of adopting the commission plan of municipal government. The campaign for its adoption will be supported by the Grand Forks Material Union, which is sponsor for the attempt to bring about the change. Thonethly. This method has been voted down by a big majority. Mayor M. P. Murphy, the retiring chief executive, is making a campaign in favor of the commission system.

FATE AGAIN WITH JURY

Evidence Completed in the Second Trial of Madame Gain.

Whether Mary Le Flohic, alias Madame Gain, a notorious character in Duluth's half world, is guilty or innocent of the charges of conducting the Clifton, now Elgin hotel, 321 West First street, as a house of ill-fame between June 24 and July 8, 1913, charged in an indictment returned by the September grand jury, is a question which will be put up for a second time to a district court jury. The second trial of the case was concluded this morning. The case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon. Madame Gain had the start in her own defense yesterday afternoon. She repeated in every detail the same story of her life of shame that she recited on the first trial of the case. The testimony was almost identical to that given on the former trial, even to the sobs. The tears came on scheduled time immediately after the police had been made of the death of her father and mother in the cross-examination on her first trial, she could not remember just how many persons she had been married until her memory had been refreshed by Mason M. Forbes, the prosecuting attorney who had before him in a book a history of the woman's life from a Chicago detective. Yesterday she had no difficulty in remembering her past.

Woman on Stand.
The defense morning with the testimony of Mrs. Beatrice Lowe, one of the women who was caught in the raid by the police in the Clifton hotel on the night of July 8. Mrs. Lowe was convicted in municipal court on a charge of being an inmate of a house of ill-fame. She admitted her conviction and presence there this morning, but denied the stories told by the Hoffmans and the other so-called "stool pigeons" who were in the hotel on the night of the raid.

A story of Madame Gain told yesterday on the stand to the effect that she had been "kipped off" by the raid by William H. Riedel, the patrolman on the beat, and that she told the officer that she had nothing to fear was flatly contradicted by the officer and the witness in whose presence the conversation was alleged to have taken place.

The madame testified that Officer Riedel came to the Clifton before the raid and informed her that the police were about to "frame up" on her. At the same time, according to her testimony, she introduced her to Attorney G. A. E. Finlayson. The woman alleges that the officer suggested that she might do well to engage the services of the attorney in anticipation of the "prospective raid."

Attorney on Stand. Finlayson and the officer both took the stand. They both admitted having interviewed Madame Gain about the time in question. Finlayson stated that he took the officer with him to the hotel, might be introduced to the madame, and after the patrolman went off duty, he came back and introduced her to him. After the officer had introduced him, Attorney Finlayson said that she was in need of the services of an attorney and suggested that if she was he would like to handle her case. That was the extent of the conversation, according to both Riedel and Finlayson.

The taking of evidence was concluded about 11 o'clock this morning, after which Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, opened his closing address to the jury. He concluded his remarks during the first part of the afternoon session. He expected that Mr. Goldberg will attack the "stool pigeons" in the afternoon. Mr. Forbes will be followed this afternoon by Benjamin M. Goldberg, who will argue for the defendant.

LED THE LIFE OF A HERMIT

August Dietrich and Brother Resided in Lonely Cabin Twenty Years.

The death of August Dietrich, 65 years old, revealed the strange hermit life led by the deceased and his brother for a period of twenty or more years in a small cabin about a mile north of Proctor. The conditions under which the brothers lived were brought to light by a visit to the cabin by Human Agent Robert McKeercher. Dietrich was found living on a mass of grass and weeds, which at one time had been a mattress. The cabin was dense with smoke issuing from an open fire in the center of the room.

The brothers had lived here for about twenty years, according to the statements of neighbors. The statements of neighbors, who had known them for about four years ago, that they had received considerable money from the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad for a tract of land they owned in spite of the fact that they seemed to be living in squalor and poverty.

It was not until the place was shown by the fact that a large number of logs on the place have been allowed to rot.

No Municipal Market.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks will not operate a municipal meat market, as requested in a petition signed by over 300 residents, who used the fact that the city has established a municipal abattoir as the basis for their attempt to bring about the operation of a municipal meat market.

DEAN WOODS GIVES REASONS FOR HIGH COST OF LIVING

Bad Market Conditions Rob Farmers and Consumers, He Says.

Conference Speakers Laud Duluth Men for Work in Agriculture.

The great agricultural future of Northern Minnesota and St. Louis county in particular was brought out today by noted speakers, who gave addresses at the Agricultural Educational conference, which began a two-days' session at the Commercial club. Agricultural leaders of this district were highly praised for their efficiency and self-sacrifice as well as for the big things accomplished by them in farm development.

Farmers' Vital Problems.

The great problems before the farmers of Minnesota are co-operation, reducing the cost of marketing and the profits of the buyers, making farm life pleasant, and building up permanent farming communities in the undeveloped districts. These were the subjects of the University of Minnesota, who spoke this afternoon on "Agricultural Development in Northern Minnesota." Dean Woods said that he had found less opposition in Northern Minnesota in attempting to carry out his plans than in any part of the state. He congratulated the agricultural workers of St. Louis county for their hearty co-operation in helping to promote good farming and putting it on a scientific basis.

"The margin of profit for the farmer is very small compared to the ultimate cost to the consumer," said the speaker. "When the cost of production is low, the farmer is bringing a low price. At the same time the consumer is confronted with the eternal high cost of living problem."

The cause is not at either end, but in the middle. It costs too much to get the product from the soil to the consumer. This is the problem that is made by those who handle the commodity.

The only remedy for the evil is co-operation. The farmers, the middlemen and the consumer must all work together, all for the welfare of each other.

WHY NOT STOP DRINKING?

Men and women who drink regularly and excessively cannot answer this question. When they realize they are slaves to the appetite for alcoholic liquors they wish to stop, but find they cannot. They do not understand they are being daily poisoned with alcohol, until the craving for it has become stronger than the will power to resist. The only hope for these unfortunate men and women is proper medical treatment—the Neal Treatment, which is a safe, sure, vegetable remedy that removes the craving and necessity for drink in three days, without the use of hypodermic injections. The Neal Drink Habit Treatment will quickly make you sober men and women. Write to the Neal Institute, and become master of yourselves. Call and investigate. Write for new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction." It tells the whole interesting story. Mailed on request—in plain sealed cover.

ELLISON'S FATE IN JURY'S HANDS

The fate of Charles Ellison, local dramatic instructor and producer, who has been on trial in municipal court on two charges of petit larceny, preferred against him by two of his pupils, is now in the hands of the jury, which went out shortly after noon today. A verdict had not been returned up to 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Ellison was arrested last Friday on the warrants sworn out against him by R. H. Ring and C. E. Bradford, who failed to do so and not been returned on Dec. 11 last, for a course in coaching and part payment. "The Night Windows." This they say Ellison has failed to do and they are now dealing with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Ellison pleaded not guilty when arraigned last Friday and a jury trial was granted him. The trial was held yesterday morning.

The entire day and this morning having been spent in presenting the evidence. The case was given to the jury shortly after noon today.

Besides Ring and Bradford, who testified for the state, Chief Troyer and Pearl Adison, and Cashmire Kuntler, former pupils of Ellison, were called by City Prosecutor Gurnea to present evidence against the defendant. Those who were called by the defense were Ellison, Mrs. Ellison, Guy Hallock and Abe Edelson.

A verdict is expected sometime this afternoon.

Power and Telephone Companies Spent Big Sums Last Year.

Over Half Million Used in Putting Wires Under Grbund.

The Great Northern Power company, the Zenith Telephone company and the Bell Telephone company have invested $555,976 in their underground systems, according to information which has been gathered by Mayor W. I. Prince. The Bell company leads the list with expenditures of $225,000 in this manner. That of the Great Northern Power company is $153,976, while that of the Zenith Telephone company is $75,000.

"Duluth wire companies have done much more underground work than has generally been supposed," said Mayor Prince today. "They have been making considerable progress towards removing the unsightly overhead wires and the poles accompanying them. This is moving in the right direction and I am informed that the local companies are contemplating much of that class of work for the coming season. The statement of the Zenith Telephone company shows that its officers have outlined underground construction which will cost approximately $51,200 during the current year."

Mayor Prince stated that he is greatly pleased with the showing made by the wire companies in Duluth. He has also secured the annual report of Electrical Inspector F. E. Hough and says that it is a source of satisfaction to know that the municipality is doing its share to improve the appearance of the city by removing its wires as rapidly as possible.

PREPARING TO REVIEW RATES

Merritt Writes Member of Wisconsin Utility Commission to Come.

Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utility division, is losing no time in carrying out his program to have an expert review of the new rates of the water and light department. Yesterday he wrote to Harvard Erickson, a member of the Wisconsin utility commission, asking him to come to this city to pass upon the new schedule.

It is proposed to have some member of the Wisconsin commission, W. E. Erickson, now engaged in making a revision of the Duluth-Erickson plant, and D. A. Reed to act as a committee to investigate the new water rates, which have recently been subjected to much discussion throughout the city.

WANT UNEMPLOYED TO MARCH APRIL 1

Call Is Sent From Chicago to Every City in the Country.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Plans were formulated at a largely attended meeting of the International Association of Unemployed yesterday to concentrate all the unemployed men and women in the United States in a march to take to Washington a petition to Congress that a legal remedy for the industrial conditions of unemployed labor be enacted.

While Jacob C. Coxey, leader of the "On to Washington" army of 1894, was present at the meeting, it was announced that the march will not call for a march of unemployed men on the national capitol. The scheme decided upon calls for a more formal arrangement, but it will not preclude any spontaneous movement of Washington that may arise with unemployed persons.

A call was drawn up, to be sent to all cities in the country, asking that all unemployed men and women organize parades on April 1, and march through the city in which they live. After the parades, the marchers are to meet and select delegates to a national convention to be held in Chicago, April 15. These delegates will take to the convention statistics as to the number of unemployed, their condition, and information as to whether there is an abnormal situation at present.

RURAL CREDITS ON HOUSE PROGRAM.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Plans for placing a rural credits bill on the administration legislative program have been tentatively agreed upon by the house Democratic leaders. It was decided that the measure should be framed by the subcommittee of the banking and currency committee now investigating the subject, for introduction in the house by April 1. The measure then will take its place with the administration anti-trust bills, to be pushed at every opportunity.

Early action in the house on the Shackelford Federal good roads bill, appropriating $25,000,000 for Federal aid to the states in building postroads, also is contemplated.

NEW EXPRESS RATES COMPARED WITH OLD AND PARCEL POST

Boon for Shippers of Small Packages—Not So Favorable on Larger Packages.

The new express rates, which went into effect Feb. 1, please the shipper of small packages, especially where shipments are made to points a considerable distance away, such as New York, Chicago, Milwaukee and Omaha. To points such as these the parcel post rate is higher than the new express rate on small packages, but to nearer points the parcel post charges less than the express companies.

However another feature of the new rates is that a few points at least the new express rate is higher on packages over the parcel post limit—50 pounds—than the old rate. The express representatives of Duluth declare that there are very few points of which this is true. Two of them vitally affect some Duluth interests, these being Chicago and Milwaukee. The rate on larger packages to each of these points is higher than the old rate, as will be shown in the accompanying table.

Use Block System. The express companies, at the order of the interstate commerce commission have adopted a system much after the order of the zone system used in rating the parcel post. It is called a block system. There are 226 blocks, boundaries being within it sixteen sub-blocks, and the rating is made according to the block in which the point shipped to is located. The only difference between this and the parcel post system is that the latter is determined by circular zones.

At present the express companies have to go through a large book of rates to find the rate for shippers. But some genius, a messenger at Dallas, Texas, it is said, has invented a rate card so simple that the rate can be determined at a glance. Henry Gruen of Duluth has done the same thing for the parcel post.

The following tables show the changes in express rates on packages of 75 and 100 pounds to Milwaukee, Chicago and New York, these chosen to indicate in a general way the difference:

	On 75 Pounds	Formerly	Now
Milwaukee	$1.50	$1.70
Chicago	1.59	1.85
New York	2.46	3.05
	On 100 Pounds	Formerly	Now
Milwaukee	$2.00	$2.20
Chicago	2.25	2.40
New York	4.75	4.00

On Small Packages. Another table shows the difference between the old and new rates on packages weighing 10 pounds, compared also with the parcel post rate. The difference is lessened, however, when it is remembered that the express rate includes insurance on the package against damage or destruction, while the parcel post does not. Insurance against damage is not included in the parcel post rate. The points named were taken at random. The table follows:

	Express	Parcel	Rate
Carlton, Minn.
Hemlock, Minn.
Pargo, N. D.
Princeton, Minn.

TALK OF RELIGION AND THE SCHOOLS.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 4.—Religious instruction of public school children by approved teachers of religion was one of the principal matters discussed at a session of the general board of religious educators of the Protestant church. Four of the bishops of the church are among the noted clergy men who are in Detroit attending the conference.

The meetings of the board are not public, but it is understood the members took under consideration the recent action of the board of education of Gary, Ind., in voting to release children of the public schools of the city to religious teachers in the churches, either one hour a week or one hour a day.

It is expected the board will announce before the sessions are over whether the members are in favor of endorsing the Gary plan or of suggesting some other method of religious training for young men and young women of school age.

The board also is expected to act upon a plan to standardize methods of instruction in the Sunday schools of the church. It is probable the board will appoint a general director of collegiate education.

HONORARY DEGREE CAUSE OF $500,000?

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 4.—The bequest of $500,000 to Yale by Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal came as a surprise to the university authorities, according to a statement by the college secretary.

"We have had no information bearing upon this gift," said the statement. "It is a use depends entirely on the provisions of the will. It is possible that Lord Strathcona remembered Yale in this generous manner because of an honorary degree which we conferred upon him in 1892. It was his only degree from an American university. At the time he was president and chancellor of McGill University, Canada."

TEACHER'S CASE UP. Miss Leslie Gage Demands $2,500 of Street Railway Company. In Judge Eschig's division of the district court yesterday afternoon a jury was drawn to try the personal injury action which has been brought against the Duluth Street Railway company by Miss Leslie Gage, a Duluth school teacher, who is demanding $2,500 damages for alleged injuries in a street car accident on July 14, 1913.

Miss Gage claims that while she was walking east on Fourth street between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues east she was struck and knocked down by one of the company's cars. She alleges that she was obliged to walk on the track owing to the fact that the sidewalk was occupied at that point by a concrete mixing plant. She declares that no signal of the car's approach was given.

The plaintiff alleges that her ankles were badly sprained and bruised and that she sustained a severe shock to her nervous system.

W. A. Baune, Floodwood horse dealer, was awarded a verdict for $600 against the Great Northern Railway company in district court yesterday in a suit to recover for the loss of one horse and alleged injuries to two others while in transit. Baune sued for $700, alleging that on April 7, 1913, he shipped the horses from Bent to Floodwood. While en route the train was wrecked at Grand Rapids. In the wreck, one horse was killed and two others were injured. The case was tried before Judge J. J. Baune and the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff on the same day.

EMPLOYER IS HELD FOR BARTENDER'S ACT.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 4.—It is not necessary for a saloon keeper to give definite instructions to his bartender not to sell liquor on Sunday to avoid personal liability for the violation of the Sunday closing law, the St. Louis court of appeals announced.

The decision was in the case of George Campbell, a saloon keeper of St. Louis county, who was found guilty in a lower court of violating the Sunday law. He appealed.

Campbell testified he was not aware liquor had been sold on Sunday, as two witnesses testified.

WAIT PEOPLE'S VIEWS

Before Deciding on Building Dunn County, N. D., Courthouse.

Manning, N. D., Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county seat problem is the paramount issue in Dunn county at the present time. The burning of the courthouse has brought the matter to an issue earlier than had been anticipated. The Northern Pacific has graded its line into this county and the trains will be in operation this spring. The towns along the road will naturally seek the location of the county seat but had not planned a campaign until next year, because of the excitement this year incident to the arrival of the road.

The county commissioners, knowing that the matter will soon have to be voted upon, will not order the construction of a new courthouse at Manning until the people have decided on the location of the seat of government.

FAVOR EXTENSION OF B. & M. NOTES.

New York, Feb. 4.—All but a very small number of the holders of the $10,000,000 of Boston & Maine Railroad company's one-year 6 per cent notes, which matured yesterday, have agreed to grant an extension of payment until June 2, according to treasurer Herbert E. Fisher, who spent the day at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., consulting with local holders of the notes, or their representatives. It was stated that the note holders, who held out were only awaiting action by the directors of the Boston & Maine, who were holding a meeting in Boston.

The time fixed for the extension, June 2, coincides with the maturity of $17,000,000 of 6 per cent Boston & Maine notes.

POORLY WRITTEN AD GET PAIR ARRESTED.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 4.—Charged with using a lot which he never owned in Venice, a Los Angeles suburb, as security for loans which they advertised, F. C. Sharp and C. B. Kelsor, real estate agents, are under arrest. The poor wording of their advertising attracted the attention of the police. Thomas Donnell, a painter, answered the advertisement. He was followed into the office of the defendants by a detective, who arrived in time to see him deliver a check for $200 to Kelsor. The latter was followed to the bank and placed under arrest.

nette Kellerman, the Australian swimmer, and Herbert Brenson sustained severe injuries, owing to the bursting of a glass tank containing 4,000 gallons of water.

In one of the scenes pressure became so great and the glass front gave way with a crash. The tremendous rush of water swept the occupants across the jagged edge of the glass. Miss Kellerman was badly lacerated on the left side, and Brenson was fished seriously in the arms and legs. Brenson was removed to a hospital, and Miss Kellerman was taken to the hotel where she had been staying.

HOUSEKEEPING A SCIENCE

Training Women to Spend Money Judiciously May Help Solve H. C. of L., Says Home Economics Instructor.

Miss Louise McDannell, head of the department of home economics of the University of Minnesota, who is one of the speakers for the agricultural education conference here, declared that the education of the woman is one of the big and vital factors in the solution of the problem of the high cost of living.

The general course of home economics, the students are taught the value of foods, textile buying, the best foods to buy for the money and for the most nutritious results, the quality and value of household goods—and in the process of learning to do these things, a sweeping and thoroughly broad sense, the science of buying.

"Now, for instance," said Miss McDannell, "I heard a reporter when you stop to think that a large proportion of the most successful business women—and this is overwholly true of the wives of the men who are receiving salaries of $2,000 or under, why should we not begin to think seriously of teaching the women how to spend?

"You see the science of production is not only a science, but a science of production. Mind, we are not objecting to the science of production; in fact, it is right and as a direct result of the fact that the woman is not to do with the production side of the problem. The women of the country have more in this vital relation to the cost of living than we are trying to educate them.

"I think for just one moment of the wonderful number of labor-saving devices in the production of the various articles of daily life, and then compare the list with the amazingly small list of the labor-saving devices in the preparation of the various ar-number of clever amateurs and it is a happy circumstance that the foremost of them have volunteered their services to the Elks lodge (then is Philip Jordan Brown, who has an established reputation in Duluth's musical circles. He will sing the role of Poo Bah.

will meet with Mrs. Julius R. Tessman, 2120 West Third street, tomorrow afternoon.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Union church will hold its annual business meeting on Friday afternoon of this week at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. C. H. Enzel, 731 West Second street. There will be special instruction in the production of "Disraeli," as given by Mr. Arliss and his company.

Whether or not Mr. Arliss' conception of Disraeli is historically correct, and it probably is, is also unimportant. It is sufficient to the theater-goer to know that it is convincing. He has made the great Jew a man of infinite humanity. Above all else his human qualities stand out. To his opponents and enemies he was a man of great wit, his ready wit, his fund of sarcasm, and his infinite resource. His delightful humor is shown in such scenes as those with the duchess, and the lady Larissa. Unfortunately the lady Beaconsfield, Mr. Arliss' gripped the audience as he did at no other time. With "Mary," "Daisy," and the mask of the statesman. Gone was the mask of the courtier that made him the most beloved of all English statesmen by Queen Victoria; gone was the mask of the statesman that made him the most beloved of all English statesmen by Queen Victoria; gone was the mask of the statesman that made him the most beloved of all English statesmen by Queen Victoria.

Throughout the play this quality of being human stands out. He was the greatest statesman fully realizing the responsibilities of his position. He was carrying, but he found relaxation in feeding peacocks. He could not be a great banker in the world, he was not above dabbling in a little love affair with a girl, and he was a man of humor that stood like a buffer between him and the slightest of a duchess or the stupid insults of a financier.

Could "Disraeli" be any more perfect than this? Mr. Arliss has endowed Disraeli with a quality that carries a swift appeal to an American audience—the ability to bluff. The great scene Disraeli's compels the head of the Bank of England to "sign the papers" that spoil the final success of the Suez canal deal, just when failure seems imminent. When the auditor is mentally protesting against the possibility of even a prime minister being able to compel the head of the Bank of England to give unlimited credit to anybody, the dramatist neatly and naively squelches the objection. "Disraeli" was bluffing.

That Mr. Arliss is not a one-act actor is evident to those who saw his performance in Mrs. Fiske's production of "Vanity Fair." The two roles could not be more widely different. The hardened old roue and man of the world of Becky Sharp's acquaintance, was the direct antithesis of the great Jew with the soul of a poet, and the heart of a patriot.

Mr. Arliss has a rare knowledge of how to make an effective entrance or exit—in which respect he has no rivals unless it be Otis Skinner. What could be more effective than the swarming entrance of Mr. Skinner in "The Honor of the Family" for example, unless it be the dignified appearance of the weakened little statesman in the last act of "Disraeli." The audience seemed to feel the personality of the man—not the actor, but the man he represented—as they felt the presence of the queen at the final curtain when Lord and Mrs. Beaconsfield went in to receive the thanks of Her Majesty for her new title of the Empress of India.

Some producers and actors would have introduced a real live queen with $10 worth of light from the head of the crown, and several hundred dollars' worth of velvet and ermine draped about her. That would be realism. Mr. Arliss made you feel that she was just inside the door, and she was there, a real live queen with $10 worth of light from the head of the crown, and several hundred dollars' worth of velvet and ermine draped about her.

Disraeli hasn't enjoyed Margaret Dale's delightful setting and charming presence since William H. Crane played "Father and the Boys" here. It's too long between Disraeli and "The Russian Spy," she is thoroughly satisfying.

The great difficulty with "sweet young thing" roles is that when an actress is experienced enough to play them well, she is generally too old to look the part. Miss Violet Heming, radiantly and youthfully beautiful, as the Lady Larissa, succeeded in beating Father Time to the experience by several long jumps.

The work of Mr. Arliss as Lady Beaconsfield was nothing short of perfect. The playwright and not Arthur El-dred must be blamed for the fact that the man of action, the man of the instant, must be a man of the instant. The costumes and settings are above criticism, and add immeasurably to the perfect picture.

"Disraeli" will be repeated this afternoon and tonight.

Amusement Notes. Manager Billings of the Duluth Orpheum is planning for a "Tango Week" next week at the Orpheum. The motion pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sear, the husband and wife of the bill. The Castles will be shown in their newest ball room dances, which are the most accepted as the dancers best qualified to show how the new dances should be presented. The pictures are taken close up and are said to show every step clearly. Fred and the studio of a picture director, is preparing some special music suitable to the pictures. The pictures will be seen that were in ball room dances as they should be danced.

Duluth is as interested in the tango and the hesitation waltz as other cities of the country, and they are danced in almost as many ways as there are dancers.

One of the acts that is pleasing Orpheum patrons this week is that offered by Miss Helen Elson Scharf and her company. The five Bragans are shown in their latest act, "The Five Bragans." The five Bragans are the biggest bands in the country. For four years they traveled with Sousa's band, and they have also appeared with Nattoli's band. Both of them have a deep seated aversion to rag-time music, and they are in the rag-time craze. "We have aimed to get music of a better class than will at the same time appeal to the average theater-goer," said Miss Scharf. "I believe the majority of people prefer good old music to popular modern trash."

For the last time tonight, the present bill of variety acts will be shown at the Empress. They have all proven entertaining. The Five Bragans are offering novelty in the way of singing, dancing and comedy acrobatics. The song number by the young woman of the troupe is rendered in a pleasing voice, while the imitation of Harry Lauder singing "She's My Daisy," is a hit. Will Cleman with his fund of jokes and bright sayings is causing many laughs. Henry Hargraves and his company of players present an odd one-act comedy drama, "Chums." The parts in this sketch are handled by Mr. Hargraves, George Egan and the other players. The play depicts life in the Wild West, where the gun was the means of settling disputes and debts. The character of Salomy in the hands of Kathryn Stevens, "the girl" for whom the play is for the first time in her life is played by Earl Ross.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY FEABODY

Jealousy is Never Anything But An Insult.

"The jealousy of a lover is a homage, that of a husband an insult," it has been said and with some truth in the assertion. There may be occasional excuse for jealousy between lovers, but that there is anything even remotely resembling homage in the feeling is quite beyond my comprehension. Between husband and wife it certainly evinces a poor quality of faith.

Jealousy is actuated by distrust and covetousness. It is an admission, pure and simple, that one lacks confidence in one's own powers to attract and hold friends. It is as though one said to another, "Your character or then charm are eminently more appealing than my own."

Thus you can see that jealousy ordinarily reflects upon the courage, confidence and ability of the individual. This doesn't alter the fact, however, that the pangs and gnawings of jealousy are of the most discomforting nature. One is often moved to pity some person, thus tormented, although with such pity one must almost necessarily mix contempt. The spectacle of a man or woman enslaved by jealousy is not a pleasant one.

There is a type of woman who glories in the fact that she can inspire jealousy in the heart of a man. She looks upon it as a tribute to her charms and fascination. Possibly this is what is meant when it is said that the "jealousy of a lover is a homage." But jealousy of this character is only founded upon distrust and questioning of the motives of the person under scrutiny; it can as easily be placed under the head of insult, and with more reason.

And this is equally true, whether of married or single lovers. Unless a man and woman are worthy of trust and confidence, they are not worthy of much of anything in this world, and certainly not of the love of a human being.

For a woman to consider that every act of courtesy directed by her husband towards other members of her sex is to be proof of unfaithfulness is for a husband to hold that the common civility necessary in the treatment of all male acquaintances is a cause for jealous mistrust approaches the ridiculous. It even hints of a disordered mind requiring the services and opinion of an alienist.

THE WIND AND THERMOMETERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Would you kindly tell me whether the wind affects a thermometer or not? And if it does, why are some thermometers put in glass cases?

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 2.

According to the United States weather bureau, the wind does not affect a thermometer unless it brings a colder or warmer current of air, and then it is not the movement of the air but the air of lower temperature coming in contact with the thermometer that causes the mercury to rise or fall. Thermometers are often changed by air currents of different temperatures.

Thermometers are not kept in glass cases, according to the weather experts. The best place to keep a thermometer is some distance above the ground and away from all substance that would tend to affect the mercury unduly.—The Editor.

SENATORS.

How many United States senators are there in Minnesota and what are their names? CARL HANSEN, Colesburg, Minn., Feb. 2.

There are two United States senators for Minnesota. They are Nelson and Moses E. Clapp.—The Editor.

ONE VIEW OF IT.

To the Editor of The Herald:
I have a friend who owns a factory in which he manufactures a certain patent clothes-pin exclusively.

He finds, after very careful figuring, that the actual cost of producing his clothes-pin is 7 cents per hundred. The mere cost of cutting these pins out of wood is a trifle over 1 cent per hundred. But there are other charges, such as cost of material, interest on money invested, taxes, insurance, labor, clerk hire, advertising, packing, inspection, depreciation of plant, rent, gas, electricity, water and all other items which go to make up the final cost of the clothes-pin.

He sells his clothes-pins for 15 cents per hundred to those customers who buy in lots up to 10,000, and for 12 cents per hundred for the next 10,000, and for 8 cents per 100 for all that are bought in addition to this 20,000.

Thus, you see, he sells to the wholesaler cheaper than to the retailer, which is good business management.

But a little bunch of Duluth business men have been telling him lately that if he will reduce the selling price of his clothes-pins to 2 1/2 cents per hundred and sell enough of them at that price that he will make all kinds of money, because, you see, he will have that much more revenue with which to pay his running expenses.

Now, my friend is very anxious to make a success of his business and make as much money as he can, but he can't figure out how he can manufacture his clothes-pins for 7 cents per hundred and sell part of his output for 2 1/2 cents per hundred. He figures that the more clothes-pins he sells at 2 1/2 cents per hundred the more money he will lose until, if he sells enough clothes-pins at 2 1/2 cents per hundred, he will lose all the profit he has made by selling a part of his output at 15 cents per hundred and a part at 12 cents per hundred.

But I told him that John T. Armstrong and seventy-three other business concerns in Duluth could show him exactly how it could be done. The problem is evidently very simple if you go at it right, only I'm not bright enough to figure it out for him, so I tell him to "let John do it." Very sincerely yours,

DAVID HENRY DAY.

Duluth, Feb. 2.

P. S.—My friend wants facts and figures compiled by men engaged in the business of making clothes-pins or similar articles; not words, phrases and suggestions from men who never saw the inside of a clothes-pin factory. He says that the compiling of cost of production is purely a matter of figures and nothing else.

SCHUMANN-HEINK

MUST FIGHT CASE.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the grand opera singer, will have to fight to obtain a divorce from her husband, William Rapp, of this city and New York. It was made known here by Rapp's counsel, Leo J. Rapp. The suit was filed here several months ago, the singer alleging desertion.

"Mr. Rapp will not allow the suit to go by default," said Mr. Frank. "When the time comes he will appear and tell a surprising story."

Mme. Schumann-Heink's allegation that Rapp deserted her two years ago has been challenged, according to Mr. Frank. The singer and Rapp, a lawyer and son of the late publisher of the Chicago Star's Zeitung, were married in 1908. Mrs. Schumann-Heink had eight children by two former marriages.

THINK JAIL PLAN FOLLY

Fifth Ward Club Disapproves of Project to Erect New Building.

Members of the Fifth Ward Improvement club expressed disapproval of the project to build a new county jail, at its meeting at the Emerson school, Eleventh avenue west and Third street, last night. The members were unanimous in claiming that it would be a folly to spend $100,000 for a jail building when a sum amounting to less than one-tenth that would be sufficient to place the old jail in good condition.

"We should educate the people to stay out of jail instead of encouraging jail birds by building larger and better quarters for them," said one member of the club. "The present quarters fixed up at a small expense could very easily serve for several years. There is no very good reason why we should build palaces for the offenders against law and order."

The proposed discussion of the increase of wages to city employees that had been scheduled for last night did not materialize because of the non-attendance of members of the city commission. The subject was brought up in an informal way but will be taken as a special order of business by the club at its March meeting when members of the commission will be requested to be present.

Isaiah Ridge was elected president of the club at the annual election of officers. He takes the place of D. C. Moore, who has been at the head of the organization for nearly three years. The other officers elected are Joseph Pitts, vice president, and W. L. Pierce, secretary.

Members of the club will ask the city to make some provision for providing an outlet from Second street to Twelfth avenue. At present traffic cannot connect these two streets owing to a large cliff of rock extending for nearly a block between Second and Third streets. It is intended to ask the city to purchase a right-of-way for traffic through private property which is now being used and also to make provision for laying sewer by this route for that district.

DULUTH WILL GET Milder Weather

Forty Below Temperatures Registered in North Dakota and Canada.

After taking a look at the thermometer, the barometer, the weather-vane, and a few other devices for detecting conditions in Duluth, and scanning the weather map to see what was happening in other parts of the country, the weather man shook his head and said: "Duluth will have just ordinary winter weather today and tomorrow with slightly rising temperatures. The wind will blow from an easterly quarter and snow flurries are expected. Duluth will have just ordinary winter weather tonight will be about 5 below."

North Dakota and Western Canada got a real cold snap last night, and the mercury ranged from 20 to 40 below zero. But Duluth's usual was more favored, the lowest temperature being 11 below, and only 10 below at 7 o'clock this morning.

ADMITS ENGLAND IS OPEN TO CRITICISM

Sir Edward Grey Says She Started Dreadnought Competition.

Manchester, England, Feb. 4.—Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, in an address before the chamber of commerce on the subject of foreign policy and armaments admitted that Great Britain was partly responsible and open to criticism for setting an example by building the first dreadnought. He believed, however, that at that time the idea of dreadnoughts was in the air, and they were put in the sea in any event. Moreover, the increase in the number of dreadnoughts, he said, was proceeding without reference to British expenditure. Slackening in one of the world's navies would lead to exhaustion, failed to produce slackening in the others. He therefore feared that the reduction in Great Britain's naval estimated would not influence European building programs.

NO COMMITTEE ON SUFFRAGE IN HOUSE

Democratic Caucus Decides Against It By Vote of 124 to 55.

Washington, Feb. 4.—House Democrats at a caucus last night went on record against the creation of a house committee on woman suffrage. By a vote of 124 to 55, the caucus adopted a resolution declaring this a state question, and rejecting the Raker resolution to create the committee.

Of the 250 house Democrats, a few more voted "present" or not responding at all. Speaker Clark and Democratic Leader Underwood voted with the majority.

At the outset Representative Raker presented his resolution to create a standing house committee on suffrage, declaring that the magnitude of the question demanded the action, and pointing out that the senate had such a committee. Then Representative Hefflin of Alabama, target of attack for many months from the suffragists because of his opposition to their cause, offered and urged his substitute, declaring: "It is the sense of this caucus that the question of suffrage is a state and not a Federal question."

Representative Clark of Florida moved the previous question, shutting off debate, and the substitute was adopted.

DEFEND NAVY MEN'S DATA ON WARSHIPS

Advocates of Big Navy Before House Committee.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Greater navy advocates were before the house naval affairs committee yesterday, armed with statistics to refute the charge by representatives Witherspoon of Mississippi and Henley of Missouri that experts of the navy department, in preparing for the 1912 year book, had underestimated the strength of the American sea fighting line. Secretary Daniels was on the stand again and was questioned at length by both sides. Representative Britton of Illinois, one of the spokesmen for the battleship men before the committee, gave out a statement saying: "The questions fired at Secretary Daniels with a view to discrediting the warship comparison of the world's great navies as presented in the 1913 navy year book, were intended merely to confuse the secretary and not for the purpose of establishing his views upon an adequate navy."

PIG RAISING PROFITABLE

Farmers Attending North Dakota Corn Convention So Notified.

Soil Tillers Attending Meet Particularly Apt in Class Work.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—“A Better Way for North Dakota” was pointed out this morning to farmers attending the North Dakota Corn and Clover convention, A. V. Lindberg of Langford, S. D., and J. E. Eastgate of Larimore, N. D., discussing the adoption of swine as one of the principal activities on the farm.

That the raising of pork can be made one of the most profitable of the farm's assets was the contention of both speakers, who discussed the various methods of raising swine. The speakers pointed to concrete illustrations of profit making in pork production.

Following the general lecture period, class sessions were held, during which lectures took up various points in hog raising.

This afternoon dairy cattle are being featured with F. W. Merrill in charge. Poultry raising is being featured with Gustav Walters of Marion, N. D., as the speaker.

J. H. Worst, president of the North Dakota Agricultural college, is the principal speaker for the late afternoon session.

In their class work the farmers are particularly apt, an attendance at the several sessions since the convention began clearly illustrates. The registration for the class work is also very heavy and from 200 to 300 attend each class, with several such bodies in session at the same hour.

On Thursday morning the lecture period will be devoted to “An All-Over Crop for the Northwest.” Joseph E. Wing, of Mechanicsburg, Ohio, regarded as the greatest authority on alfalfa, will deliver the lecture. The study period of the forenoon will be given over to dairy cattle and the evening session with J. E. Dorman of Salt Lake City, Utah, President G. W. McFarland of the Valley City normal school, and F. W. Merrill in charge of the discussions.

In the afternoon beef cattle and potatoes will be the subjects. C. E. Brown of Elk River, Minn., will be in charge of the potato section, and Frank Sanford of Valley City, Minn., of the beef division. Making the Farm Pay will be the subject of Mr. Wing's afternoon address, and in the evening he will deliver his lecture, “In Foreign Fields.”

Thursday night the visiting farmers also will be entertained by the Grand Forks Commercial club, the luncheon being served in the club rooms and it is expected that over 1,000 will be entertained.

Bank Safe Stands Test.

Stillwater, Minn., Feb. 4.—The State bank at Scandia, Washington county, was entered by vagabond Monday night, but the safe withstood repeated blasts of nitroglycerin, the noise of which was heard.

Not until the bank's interior was found wrecked yesterday was the cause of the explosion revealed. The vault door had been blown off.

ONE RIFLE SHOT BRINGS MAN FARM.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Feb. 4.—One crack of his rifle gave Isaac Kalman a farm which he has desired for ten years. An animal which he shot in the dark proved to be a black fox, which he sold for $1,000. He cashed the hide for a forty-acre lot.

DEMOCRATS TO HAVE BIG STATE MEETING

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 4.—Feb. 24 has been set aside as the date for one of the largest meetings of Democrats ever held in Minnesota.

“We propose to make this an occasion to be long remembered by the Democrats of this state,” said E. A. Purdy of Minneapolis. “The call will be issued by the state central committee and the affair will be in the nature of a great get-together convocation at which speakers of national prominence will be heard.”

The feature of the meeting will be the banquet to be held at the West hotel in Minneapolis, where all the sessions will take place.

Mr. Purdy said that the speakers will be announced within a few days.

MORE IMPLEMENT MEN ARE PRESENT

Second Day of North Dakota-Minnesota Meeting Proves Magnet.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Late arrivals swelled the total attendance today at the second day of the North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota Implement dealers' convention. During the forenoon the auditorium was the great attraction. Some of the exhibits that were on display yesterday were in good shape today and a great deal of interest was taken in the new inventions and the improvements of the old.

Probably the most striking feature of the many exhibits was the remarkably large number for which motive power is used to relieve farm work of a great deal of its objectionable drudgery.

Afternoon Program.

This afternoon at the Grand theater the program was along lines showing the relationship of the implement men and the manufacturers. John H. Anderson of Minneapolis spoke on “The Effects of Modern Legislation on Business.” William H. Taylor of Minneapolis talked on “Business Principles.” R. A. Lathrop, the association secretary.

MINIMUM WAGE LAW IS UPHELD

Attorney General Smith So Rules in Opinion Given State Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 4.—That the Minnesota minimum wage law is constitutional and that a wage fixed by the commission authorized to carry out the provisions of the act can be enforced, is the opinion of Attorney General L. A. Smith. His views on the interpretation of the law were submitted yesterday to the advisory board appointed by the commission to investigate the hours of labor and working conditions in general of women and minors employed in the mercantile industries of the Twin Cities.

The attorney general holds that the commission cannot fix a minimum wage, unless it is found that at least one-sixth are receiving less than living wages, and that the provision forbidding an affirmative finding that six must be getting less than a living wage is unconstitutional.

In addition, if a minimum wage is fixed for women, there must be one for men, and the provision requiring that the two ways differ, as the cost of workers may be shown to vary.

Verona, Wis., Feb. 4.—“Old Tom,” known for many years as the saddest man who ever lived at the Dane county almshouse and asylum here, died yesterday.

For thirty years Thomas Seery was an inmate of the county institution, a faithful worker, but ever desiring to escape the injustice suffered by himself and his wife, who were convicted on a charge of larceny in 1884 and sentenced to thirty years in state prison. After serving part of the sentence they were freed, discovery of the lost diamonds proving their innocence. Continued brooding for the injustice for which the state offered no redress, Seery became insane and was committed to the asylum. He lived to be 72 and was valuable as a laborer at the institution, being a quiet patient, whose only mania was to weep forth the story of his wrongs.

OLD PRISON BUILDINGS.

Speculation as to What Will Be Done With Them After June.

Stillwater, Minn., Feb. 4.—There is considerable speculation over the question of what use will be made of the buildings at the old state prison when that institution is finally abandoned by the state.

Next June the buildings that are being erected at the new state prison for the manufacture of farm machinery will have been completed and the crews that are now engaged in the work of building binders, mowers, etc., at the old prison will, it is supposed, be transferred to the new quarters at South Stillwater.

In the month of September following the contract between the state and the Western Shoe company expires, and no one looks for a renewal of that agreement. When that time comes there will, apparently, be no work to do for the state at the old prison and all convicts will be engaged on state work at the new institution.

It has been suggested that the place could be utilized as a prison for the criminal insane; but it is understood that the state would not favor such an idea, that body claiming that the surroundings and environment are not such as would conduce to a cure of the proper care of those afflicted with mental disorders. With this idea, most people will agree, so it becomes necessary to find some other use for the property.

The buildings are well adapted for manufacturing purposes, they are solid and substantial materials and construction and there is floor space and room for the conduct of a large manufacturing business.

THE HUMAN BODY IS AN ELECTRIC BATTERY?

Startling New Discoveries Seem to Prove Beyond All Doubt That "Electricity Is Life."

Men of Science Demonstrate the Value of Electricity as a Cure for Disease.

Remarkable Claims of a New York Man Whose Invention Meets With Great Success.

That the human body is electric is no longer a mere theory among scientists and up-to-date physicians. It is generally conceded to be an absolute fact.

Prof. Edgar L. Larkin, discussing the new physiology, writes as follows:

"A man, brain and body, is a battery, and nerves correspond to wires. It is now certain that transmission of sensation over them is electric. Nerves have been cut and a galvanometer inserted. The needle moved, proving that nerve power is electric. The human system is an electro-chemical battery and the life principle is electricity. The electric age is here. Drugs are hard hit on all sides, and an intelligent physician tells me he has almost entirely stopped their use. The electric health now means a normal supply of electricity in the body, and the word disease means an insufficiency of that power."

Dr. Albert J. Atkins, the eminent California scientist, is still at work proving that every principle in what we call our electric science is merely borrowed from the human body. He has proved that trains and automobiles by means of electricity and think it wonderful, but the human dynamo has always known how to propel itself and with skill and almost absolute safety in either walking or running, and now Dr. Atkins shows us that the millionaire in his automobile and the hobo on foot are alike carried forward by electric force.

With a man's stomach as the only electric battery, Dr. Albert J. Atkins and E. J. Lewis recently charged an ordinary telephone apparatus so that it conveyed sound," says a San Francisco morning paper.

"It demonstrates that the human body is an electric battery."

"The experiment consists in the swallowing of two platinum electrodes, so that they touched the walls of the living stomach."

"By means of copper wires the electrodes were connected with a telephone and a microphone, a sensitive instrument which readily latencies sound."

"There was absolutely no mechanical or chemical battery in the circuit, yet the moment the electrodes were swallowed sufficiently to touch the walls of the stomach, human electricity flowed over the wires, rendering audible sounds. The electric charge measured from seven to eight watts on a western galvanometer."

The Effect of Electrical Treatment Upon School Children.

From Cosmos L'Electricien, and other sources, the following data have been secured bearing upon experiments conducted in a number of years past in Stockholm, in accordance with suggestions made by Prof. Svante Porhentius, with the object of determining whether or not electricity affected advantageously the development of the human body. Two groups of fifty children each, were carefully selected so that the two groups were, as nearly as possible, absolutely equivalent from the standpoint of the health, height, weight, etc., of their members. Each group received instructions in one of two rooms identical in dimensions and layout, the other group, however, was wound—walls, ceilings, and apparently floor—with a coil of a great number of windings of insulated wire, which thus formed a cage. The children and through this coil were sent alternating currents of high frequency. The conditions within this room were therefore in part similar to those in the cage of a great electromagnet, a d'Arsenal apparatus on a grand scale. The fifty pupils who constantly occupied this room were thus immersed in a magnetic field while at work, the other group used as a "check," studied under conditions otherwise entirely similar. Presumably, both pupils and masters were kept in ignorance of the treatment to which those in the electrified room were being subjected.

All the pupils, having been carefully measured physically, were also classified minutely according to age, capacity for mental labor, and state of advancement in studies. In other words, every effort seems to have been made to reach satisfactory conclusions as to the effect of the treatment upon the favored fifty.

At the end of six months, the electrified pupils had, on the average, grown 2 1/2 inches (63 millimeters), the "check" students only 22 millimeters (14 inches). The increase in weight, etc., was proportional to that in height.

The mental progress was as remarkable as the physical. Taking as a standard of advance in studies that of the very brightest children and denominating this 100 per cent, the average advance of those who had been subjected to the new treatment was 92 per cent, and fifteen out of the fifty pupils were recorded as having attained the maximum. On the other hand, the average progress of the "check" was represented by 75 per cent, and none of them attained to the maximum. There were also marked differences in mental alertness and attention and in capacity to resist fatigue, on the part of those in the electrified room. Teachers as well as pupils benefited by the treatment.

Electricity the Basis of Human Vitality.

Professor Jacques Loeb, after 10 years' research and experiment, made this statement:

"A part of the chemical energy of foodstuffs is transformed into electrical energy, which in turn gives energy to the muscles and organs of the body. Electricity, and not heat, is the life of the body. These discoveries are going to upset the theories of medicine, as administered by the physicians of today, as it is settled that electricity is the basis of human vitality."

Keeps Old Age at Bay.

"Electricity will restore elasticity and buoyancy of youth," declares a famous New York physician, writing in the Medical Times.

"No matter how old a man may be or how young in years, whenever his arteries begin to harden, resist the increased pressure of the blood, then he actually is old. Then the electric treatment must be applied, and after a few days nature takes up the work and carries it on, and the patient gets young again—or at least is able to resist the encroachments of old age."

"By electric stimulus the system is energized, the blood made to circulate equally, the digestion aided, and waste products stimulated, the repair tissues are assisted and the normal working of the bodily functions restored."

Electricity to Supersede Drugs.

I maintain that electricity is the power which runs the human body—the force that keeps the heart going, the blood circulating and the various organs performing their functions like so many machines. I claim that electricity works the miracle of digestion and assimilation and converts the food into blood and bone, tissue and muscle and supplies the brain with power to think.

I have had my theories confirmed by some of the world's most learned scientists and today the use of electricity as a curative agent is spreading to every corner of the civilized world.

While others were speculating and arguing over the merits of electric treatment, I have gone ahead achieving results, and I can point with pride to men and women in all walks of life who say they regained their health and strength through the use of my Electric Body Battery.

Before I talk further regarding the use of my appliance you must understand my claim, that the human body is an electric organism, deriving its motive power from the digestion of food in the stomach. This electric force generated in the stomach is taken up by the nerves and conveyed to the different organs of the body, and is their life. So long as there is sufficient electric energy to satisfy the demands of nature, the vital organs perform their regular functions properly, but just as soon as the natural electric force is over-taxed in any way the organs become weak and inactive and sickness or disease is the result. Now you can cure the trouble until you restore the lost force. Nature must have more electricity, or vitality, as it is termed by medical men, in the ailing person. You cannot renew this force by dosing the stomach with poisonous drugs, which only help to drain away the vitality that you have. When every organ of the body has all the motive power—electricity—it needs, weakness and disease do not exist.

Now the purpose of my invention is to restore this electric force to a natural, scientific way. When the stomach is unable to supply the demands of the vital organs you must assist nature by filling your nerves with galvanic electricity.

My appliance is a generator of a powerful but soothing current of electricity, worn about the body while you sleep. It sends a subtle stream of electric life coursing through the nerves and vitals for hours at a time. Its touch is gentle, without stinging or burn. There is no shock. All you feel is a glowing warmth.

Electricity fills the nerve cells with new life. It drives out pains and aches, builds up vitality and strengthens permanent weakness. Such trouble as lumbago, nervousness, rheumatism, insomnia, many female complaints, varicose veins, weakness of any kind and, kill stomach, kidneys, liver or bowel disorders. This is my claim.

The Product of Experience.

I have devoted years to the perfection of my appliance. I have removed defects as fast as they appeared in actual use, and have supplied new features from time to time, so that my appliance is in a class by itself.

The current can be regulated to any degree of strength by the pressure of a finger upon the regulator arm.

Compared with mine, all other electric body appliances that I know of are products of the blacksmith's hammer.

It is not upon this point alone, however, that my success has been founded. My immense business is due also to my knowledge of the effect of electricity upon the ailments to be overcome and the best way to obtain that effect.

When you consider my theory that electricity is life to the organs into which my appliance sends it, you can see how we get our results. My success is due to the reality effected by my appliance. It did not produce results, my business would have died out long ago.

When I say that my appliance gives results, I don't ask you to accept my word alone as evidence. I can refer you to people who got back their health through the use of my appliance, and they will tell you what it did for them.

Here Is Proof.

Dear Sir: You are at perfect liberty to use my name in recommending my HERCULEX BELT. You have done me the greatest favor I believe any one except God could do. Just imagine a man's happiness after seeking a cure for ten years and spending $200 for worthless medicines, to find a simple and wonderful cure like your BELT. I believe there is nothing to equal my whole world. I was a sufferer from stomach troubles, torpid liver, rheumatism and bladder trouble. Two years ago I had my right leg broken, and was crippled thereafter, being very lame, but your HERCULEX BELT entirely cured me of lameness in a short time, and I can now run as fast and as well as I did when a boy. Doctors said I would never be cured, but your BELT has beaten their skill all out of sight.

Yours truly,
CARL SPICER,
Wright, Minn.

Dear Sir: It gives me pleasure to be able to recommend your Belt as best. K. K. It certainly was in my case. I have paid out a lot of money for drugs without result, but the Belt did the work. I have found your firm reliable and pleasant to do business with. I am 53 years old and look to be not over 35 or 38 years, and I have done lots of hard work, too. You can use my letter as you see fit.

Cured Over 10 Years Ago.

Dear Sir: In the summer of 1897 I was laid up from Spring to Fall and could hardly do anything, with rheumatism and weak back, but on November 8th I sent for one of your Electric Belts and wore it steadily for two months. At that time I felt like a new man, and have been well ever since, and I can honestly recommend your Belt to all those who suffer from rheumatism or pain in the back.

Yours truly,
H. O. BRUSVEN,

Loss of Energy—Completely Run Down.

Dear Sir: You will recollect that I called at your office with friend and told you about the great bone fit I had received from your appliance. For years I had suffered from lame back, but it seemed as if my complaint was sealed and I was as I lost weight steadily, was completely run down, appetite poor, loss of energy—in fact I felt very sick without being able to detect the cause. I consulted six doctors but none gave me relief. I made up my mind to try electricity and purchased one of your Belts and am happy to say that today, I am a perfectly well man. I have gained in weight, my appetite is normal and although an old veteran of the Civil War, can work and lift like a young man. Thanking you, I am, Very truly yours,

J. J. BARRETT,

Backache and Rheumatism.

Dear Sir: I feel that it is my duty to let you know what your Health Belt has done for me. Last April I bought a No. 8 Belt. I did not have much faith in it at first, but now I am convinced that what you said regarding the Belt is the truth, for my back-ache and rheumatism have entirely left me through the use of your Health Belt. Everyone who is suffering ought to procure one.

Respectfully,
A. MICHELSEN,
R. No. 1, Box 7, Devilsville, Minn.

Cured of His Trouble.

Dear Sir: I received your letter, and in reply will say I am cured of my trouble. Your Belt is a good article and does what you claim. I would consider myself selfish if I did not assist you in advertising it.

Health Without Drugging.

M. d'Arsenal, a well-known savant of the Physiological Institute of Paris, in an address at the Institute, said that electricity would be the medicine of the future. He showed that it is excellent for certain malaises and described the difference between sudden shocks and the slow method by which it pervades the system without the patient's consciousness.

"THE WORD HEALTH NOW MEANS A NORMAL SUPPLY OF ELECTRICITY IN THE BODY AND THE WORD DISEASE MEANS AN INSUFFICIENCY OF THAT POWER."—Professor Edgar L. Larkin.

Professor Andrew MacConnell, president of the Society of Universal Science, in a recent essay, made this statement:

"The only difference between a well man and an invalid is that the invalid is not producing enough electric power to run the functions of his body and keep the vital organs up to the necessities of life."

"This power is electricity, that by understanding the laws governing the production and control of electricity in life, any human can cure himself in a few weeks, can increase his working capacity, can get rid of his ailments, and also that any person, feeble from age, may in the same way reinvigorate himself."

When one falls into any form of disease, he simply does not produce as much electricity in his body as when well. We see, too, that age is just like a chronic disease, that one begins from ignorance of the laws of electric production to gradually decrease his generation of electricity until he finally reaches the point where he does not produce enough to keep his vital organs running. This means death. The same amount of electricity in a man of 70 would make the same power as the same amount of electricity in a man of 30. This proves the prolonging of life a scientific matter of keeping the production of electricity up to the normal needs of the body."

With some 200 scientific experiments from recognized scientists it has been conclusively proved that most drugs are poisons, and poisons wreck the nerves.

Many people believe that when a drug gives relief it is doing good. That's a big mistake. Drugs, in my opinion, can give temporary relief, and it is always at the expense of the nerves and vital organs.

If you have a pain or an ailment of any kind, you don't want to fool yourself into the belief that you are getting well when you are not. That's all you do when you dose yourself with drugs.

It is easy enough to stop a pain by stupefying the nerves with poisonous drugs, but the pain will return as soon as the stupor passes off. You can force a weak organ to act by giving it a powerful stimulant, but you can't restore its natural strength that way, and it will probably be weaker than ever when the drug stops working.

That is why temporary relief is dangerous. Drugs do not remove the cause of disease, and every minute that they give relief the disease is getting a firmer hold upon your system. As long as the cause remains the trouble stays there, and the only way to get rid of it is to assist nature. Nature wants strength, vitality, power to fight disease and drive it out, not poisons which only make it worse. Isn't this sound logic?

Electricity is nature's medicine, and the proper use of it will, in my opinion, restore you to perfect health.

Disease results when you break nature's laws. If you continually overwork the stomach you will have stomach trouble. If you abuse any organ of your body you must suffer for it afterward. Then the real cause of disease is due to the weakness or inactivity of some part of the body machinery. The reason any organ breaks down or fails to work properly is because it has not enough vitality to withstand the strain when it is overtaxed. The vitality is nothing more than electricity, the motive power of the human body. Now, to overcome the trouble you must renew the vitality or electricity of the part that causes the trouble. When this is done the disease cannot exist, for the cause is removed. This is my theory in a nutshell.

Electricity for Weak Nerves.

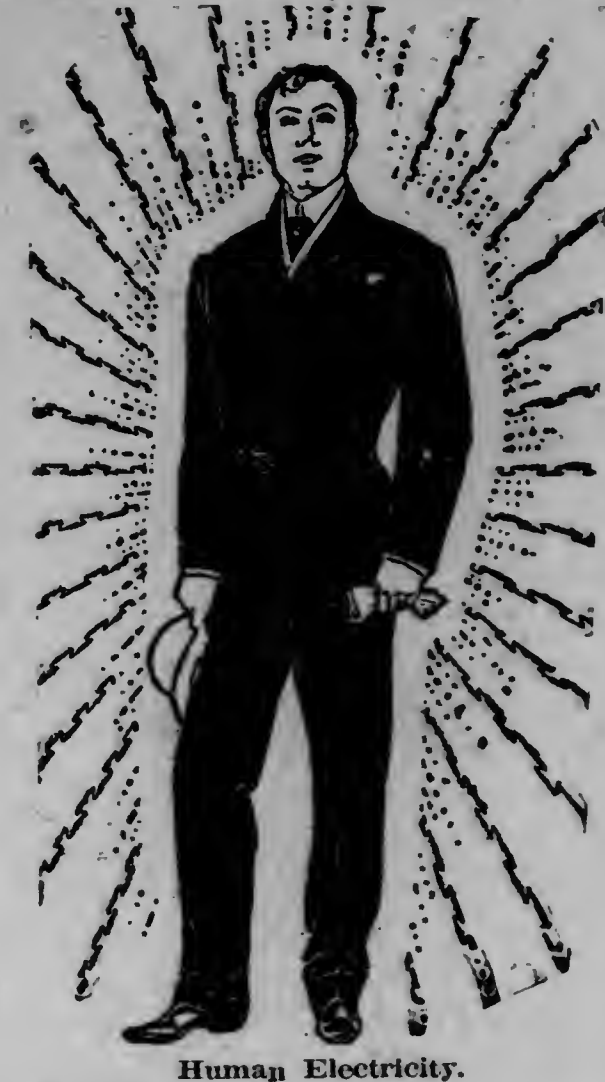

A great many people suffer from ailments caused by weak, impoverished nerves, and try to cure these troubles by dosing their stomachs with drugs. It is impossible.

If you are weak, run down, nervous and unambitious; if you suffer frequent headaches, and have spells of despondency, it probably means that your nerves are starving for new energy; electricity—that's all they need, and nothing else, in my opinion, will restore them so quickly and pleasantly.

I claim that my appliance saturates the nerves and vitals with electric life while you sleep. That it builds up strength and vitality in every weakened organ and drives out pains and aches.

If there was any nourishment in drugs, they might do some good, but you know there is not. Drugs are drugs, stimulants, narcotics, antidotes, poisons, not food. I maintain that electricity is nerve food—nerve life. That it soaks into the nerves and is taken up by them just as a sponge absorbs water. That it nourishes and vitalizes the parts which drugs cannot reach.

Every dose of drugs that you put into your stomach weakens your nerves. Every time you kill a pain or an ache by stupefying the nerves with poisonous drugs you are hurting them, and anyone can see that in time, by steady dosing, your nervous system will be completely broken down.

Human Electricity.

The Wonders of Electricity.

DO YOU KNOW the connection between electricity and animal vitality? Why electricity is life? You are familiar with the electric sparks produced by stroking a cat's back? Do you know about the electric eels, and other animal creatures that can give one an electric shock? Have you ever walked across a woolen rug and then drawn an electric spark with your bare hand from some other person's hand? Have you noted tiny electric sparks in combing or stroking hair? You probably know about these things. They should help to make clear the truth of what I am teaching and the curative power of my Electro-Vitalizer for body wear. You have heard how plants and animals, in the laboratory, have been made to grow several times faster than normal growth through the aid of electricity. It is now possible through my Appliance, for you to cause growth in the weak cells of your body. Do you realize what this means? You know that the chemical action of electricity is so great that it will even break up water into its elements. It is this small force that you may now use to dissolve your impurities, and so eradicate them. Electricity is Nature's great stimulant, but a natural stimulant, from which there is no weakening reaction. Do you fully realize what this means?

Why Use a Body Battery?

A party asked the other day why it is the faradic batteries and static machines do not give such results as my electric body appliance.

That's because you can't stand the treatment for more than a few minutes at a time. A nervous person can't endure it long on account of the shock. When a man tries that method of hands that it does not help him, he naturally concludes that electricity is no good.

Now, my system is different. With my plan a current is sent into the body for six or eight hours every day or night, usually while the person sleeps.

The delicate nerves are not jarred or shocked by this current, as it goes into them like a drizzling rain saturates a newly plowed field. They absorb it, drink it in, and as it is their very life they grow strong with it.

Poor digestion, inactive liver, constipation, sluggish heart, slow thinking, dormant energy and laziness are all due to lack of electricity. Under electricity is the motive power of the human machine, the power that keeps the organs active, and you will see what we mean. In such cases you will see how my appliance can put energy into the body. It renews the electric life of the nerves and transforms the sluggish into a bundle of vigorous energy.

Because you have experimented with faradic batteries and belts, or taken electric treatments from physicians without success, is no reason why my method should prove failure. The doctors' battery can only be applied for a few minutes at a time, and that is not enough. Besides, that method is inconvenient and expensive. My appliance can be used all day or all night without interfering with your work or rest. It takes up none of your time.

Prejudice Against Advertised Treatments.

There is a whole lot of prejudice against advertised remedies, due no doubt to the large number of quacks and schemers that have foisted worthless remedies on the public during the last few years.

If it were not for this prejudice I would not be able to handle all the business that would come to me. The many fake electric belts and girdles advertised by charlatans have made many people skeptical; but I know that I have a good thing and will hammer away until everybody knows it.

Every organ of the body, any part that lacks the necessary vitality to do its work as nature intended, can be restored by this electric treatment. It warms it, it makes it pliable, it makes it strong and it vitalizes the nerves and puts vim into the brain and muscles, it just makes a good man out of a bad one in every way.

My appliance overcomes rheumatism pains and aches, weak nerves, general debility and any other trouble which can be cured by restoring the life force.

No matter where you live, you can use my appliance as successfully as if you could come here to my office.

VAN ANTWERP OPPOSES THE STOCKS BILL

Tells Congressmen Plan Would Paralyze American Exchanges.

Declares Present System
Is Fairer to All Concerned.

Hitchcock Claims Measure Would "Russianize"
United States.

Washington, Feb. 5.—W. C. Van Antwerp, a governor of the New York stock exchange, today told the senate banking committee that the Owen bill for government regulation of stock exchanges would do more harm than good, and that enforced incorporation would destroy America's primary market place.

The disciplinary power of the New York exchange over its members, based upon "just and equitable" principles of trade, he said, was a stronger restraint than could be provided by any law. He pointed out that to incorporate the exchange would transfer the power of government into the courts, where judicial reviews would displace the arbitrary power of the governing body.

More Moral Than Legal.
Mr. Van Antwerp declared the New York exchange applied the layman's view of what was just and equitable and was governed more by moral than legal considerations. If the exchanges were to adopt the regulations of the Owen bill, he said, $15,000,000,000 of stocks and $15,000,000,000 of bonds immediately would be withdrawn from lists, and the exchange would cease to be a market of importance.

He added, however, that the listing of securities and that organization, capitalization and regulation of exchanges was a matter for government regulation.

"It is a duty that clearly belongs to the government," said he, "and the stock exchange will relate when the government is ready to take it up."

LESS ILLITERACY IN BADGER STATE Superintendent Cary Gives Out Figures for Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—The percentage of illiteracy is rapidly decreasing in the state, according to statistics compiled by State Superintendent C. P. Cary. According to recent statistics there are 57,500 illiterates in the state, representing 3.2 per cent of the total population 10 years and over, compared with 47 per cent in 1900. The percentages of illiteracy is 33.7 among Indians, 8.1 among foreign born, 4.5 among whites, 4.5 among negroes and 3.9 among the colored.

POLITICIAN DENIES HE ATTACKED WOMAN

Chicago Assault Laid to Resentment at Women in Politics.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Joseph McDonough, a Fifth ward politician who is charged by Miss Mary Walsh, one of the women election clerks who served at Tuesday's registration, with beating her last night while she was on duty, today denied the charge. He said he was not on duty at the time of the assault, and that the attack was prompted by McDonough's resentment of the entrance of women into politics.

Miss Walsh declared that McDonough struck and injured her after ordering her from his house. McDonough denies the charge, but friends of Miss Walsh believe the attack was prompted by McDonough's resentment of the entrance of women into politics.

Miss Walsh, after the assault, was assisted to the home of a friend by Edward Oehl, Republican clerk, who had accompanied her and who was also assaulted. According to the story told the police by Oehl, the two clerks were canvassing a precinct in the Fifth ward, and when they called at McDonough's house they were greeted with a torrent of abuse on women and the interest they have been taking in politics. They started for the door, Oehl said, but McDonough knocked a number of times. Oehl also received several blows. As they left the house, McDonough threatened to kill them if they made complaint.

With the advent of women in politics, McDonough has lost his power as a leader in the ward, according to the police.

Anti-Suffrage.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 5.—There was a big gathering of women from all parts of New Jersey at the state house here last week for a hearing on the question of woman suffrage. A resolution to amend the Constitution of the state and give women the ballot is before the legislature. It must be passed by this legislature and the one which succeeds it and then adopted by the electorate before it becomes effective. Mrs. Everett Colby, wife of the former state senator and Progressive candidate for governor at the last election, as chairman of the joint legislative committee of the four suffrage organizations of the state, conducted the equal suffrage side of the hearing.

Mrs. O. D. Oliphant of Trenton, secretary of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, appeared as the chief representative of the anti-suffragists. She assured the members of the legislature that a majority of New Jersey women were opposed to suffrage. She said the claim had been made that the grangers of the state were in favor of woman suffrage, but she assured the legislators that she had been speaking four times a week at grange meetings, and had found the vast majority of grangers absolutely opposed to woman suffrage.

WILL ACCUSE SIX DEPUTIES Witnesses Ready to Testify to Copper Country Shooting.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Witnesses in the Sackerville murder case were prepared today to testify that Steve Patrick, a striking copper miner, had been shot and killed by six deputy sheriffs "in the execution of an unlawful arrest." Sheriff's are defendants in the case, and Thomas Raleigh, the sixth, has disappeared and is being looked for. According to the outline of the state's case given yesterday by Prosecutor Lucas, the deputies attempted to arrest a striker who had crossed mining property.

The striking refused to submit to arrest. While the deputies were leaving, one of the deputies is alleged to have turned about and to have deliberately fired, fatally wounding Patrick. The state says the six deputies then fired a fusillade into the windows of a boarding house where Patrick lived, killing one and wounding three.

State's First Witness.
John Sullivan, a copper miner, occupied the stand during the entire morning session of the Sackerville trial today. He was one of the two men the deputies on trial went to a miners' boarding house to arrest, in which two strikers were killed.

The witness testified he did not see the actual shooting, as he was at supper, but he saw one dead and three wounded men being carried after the deputies had left. He denied that either he or John Kahan made any threats to "fix" Humphrey Quick, a watchman, when the latter warned them off of mining company's property previous to the shooting.

Threatened by Quick.
He declared the watchman had threatened him. (Continued on page 8, fifth column.)

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 5.—The stock of the Fifth avenue store of McCrory & Co. was destroyed and a number of nearby business places were damaged by a spectacular fire that kept all the downtown fire companies on duty from last midnight until dawn. Loss $200,000.

Among the business concerns that suffered loss were Frank & Seder, the Hilton company, W. L. Douglas Shoe company, R. H. Long Shoe company, Sell Bros. and the Duane restaurant.

Alaska Bill Up For Debate By House.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Thursday became today for consideration of the Alaska railroad bill. The Chamberlain bill, already passed by the senate by a special rule, was substituted for the Wickersham bill.

An agreement was made for debate from 11 a. m. today until adjournment tonight.

Next Wednesday the measure will again be taken up for detailed consideration.

SHIP'S ENGINEER SCALDED TO DEATH.

New York, Feb. 5.—The San Gregorio, oil tank steamer, in port today from Rotterdam, reported that on street restaurant walked out today. The union officials said the strike would extend to thirty-five restaurants controlled by the Restaurant Keepers' association unless the request of the employees for increased wages, shorter hours and one day off each week is complied with.

The engine room broke, filling the compartment with steam. The engineer, an engineer, was scalded to death. Three other members of the crew who were seriously burned, were in the ship's hospital when the vessel came in today.

CONGRESSMAN BREMNER DEAD

Radium Fails to Save Life of New Jersey Representative.

Was Warm, Personal Friend of President Wilson.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 5.—Robert Gunn Bremner, member of congress from the Seventh New Jersey district and editor of the Newark Daily Herald, died today of cancer, a local sanitarium, where he had been undergoing radium treatment since last December. He had been suffering from the disease for four years.

Mr. Bremner was 39 years old and married, but childless.

Representative Bremner's wife, three of his seven brothers, and a sister were at the bedside when the end came. The patient had been practically unconscious since Monday although there were times when he appeared to be aware of what was going on around him and occasionally he would talk intelligently. Since yesterday morning he had been unable to articulate.

Among his last requests was that his brother, Leith, should take over the business of the Newark Herald, of which he was owner as well as editor, and also that he should look after the interests of his wife.

The funeral services will be held at Mr. Bremner's late home at Passaic, where the body will be taken, possibly today.

Mr. Bremner came to a sanitarium here to try the radium. After physicians in this country and Europe had vainly tried to cure him. For a time the patient seemed to improve, but a few days ago he was seized with a relapse.

CORPORATION FEE COSTS JUDGE OFFICE

Removes Wisconsin
Man, Says Owen.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—The acceptance of a retainer from a corporation by a municipal judge vacates the office. This opinion was given by Attorney General Walter C. Owen today to District Attorney Sam J. Williams of Heyward.

Mr. Williams asked the attorney general whether a municipal judge who accepts a retainer from a telephone company vacates his office or not.

"If the telephone company in question is a corporation," said the attorney general, "the municipal judge who accepts retainer from the same is violating our statutes, and under the express terms of the law his office shall be deemed vacant."

"Disorderly" to Make Wife Sleep on Floor.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—A man who habitually sets his alarm clock for 2 a. m. and at that hour makes his wife get out of bed and sleep on the floor is guilty of disorderly conduct. This defendant was fined today by Municipal Judge Sullivan, who fined the offender, Stanley Melich, $50 and costs after listening to the story of Mrs. Melich and her objections to ordered early rising.

House Passes Immigration Bill With Literacy Test.

Senate Is Expected to Pass
It—Wilson May Use Veto.

Washington, Feb. 5.—With a provision barring illiterates, said to be the most drastic legislation of its kind for many years, the Burnett immigration bill was before the senate today, where the final question on the literacy test will be threshed out. The bill passed the house yesterday.

Many expect the senate to pass the bill as it stands, but President Wilson's attitude is the subject of much speculation. Some of those who claim to be informed say the president is opposed to the literacy test.

Before Mr. Wilson signs the bill, he will give public hearings upon it, as former Presidents Taft and Cleveland did on similar bills.

Soft Pedal on Asiatics.
Secretary Bryan urged the house immigration committee today to take no action on the Raker bill for exclusion of Asiatic immigrants. Diplomatic negotiations between the United States and Japan over the California anti-Asian land laws and the whole question of the Asiatic exclusion was discussed at length behind closed doors.

The secretary bound Democrats and Republicans alike to secrecy, and told them the administration needed to be free from legislative embarrassment in dealing with the situation diplomatically.

Secretary Bryan told the committee that unless some upward circumstances were met for no similar adjustment of the Japanese question. An agitation in congress at this time, he declared, would be most unfortunate.

It generally was understood the wishes of the state department would be respected, and that no effort would be made to press the bill before the committee at this time.

Wilson Will Seek Toll Act Repeal.

Washington, Feb. 5.—President Wilson announced today that he would use every legitimate influence at his disposal to have repealed the provision in the Panama canal act exempting American consular vessels from the payment of toll.

Acquitted—Face Other Similar Charges.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Flanagan, former chief of police, and Fred Turner, former city detective, were adjudged not guilty of bribery by a jury in the district court here today. They were indicted on a charge of sharing in a $1,000 bribe given by a woman of the underworld. The case went to the jury late yesterday.

County Attorney O'Brien announced he would move today to bring Flanagan and Turner to trial on another grand jury indictment which charged them with accepting a bribe of $2,000 from a former resort keeper.

Historic Flodden

Boston, Feb. 5.—Claims of a score of residents of Boston and vicinity to possession of Twizel Castle, part of the historic Flodden field, and other property in England, will be filed shortly in an English court. The solicitor of the British treasury has granted permission for the entering of the suit.

The property, which has a present value of about $5,000,000, reverted to the crown when the widow of Gen. Robert Dudley Blake of the British army died intestate in 1874. The claimants are grand nephews and nieces of Mary Kane, an aunt of Mrs. Blake.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The taking of testimony in the government dissolution suit against the American Can company, which was to have been begun here today, was postponed to a date to be fixed later.

AMMUNITION POURING INTO REBEL HANDS

Hundreds of Thousands of Rounds Released at Mexican Border.

Mazatlan Reported Captured for Carranza; Huerta Increases Army.

De La Lama Gets Some Funds—Will Return to Mexico.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Hundreds of thousands of rounds of rifle and machine gun ammunition, under seizure along the Mexican border, are being turned over to the Constitutionallists as fast as they prove ownership.

During the two years that the embargo on arms has been in force, agents of the department of justice have arrested hundreds of men in the act of transporting arms across the border, and have seized carloads of ammunition. In many cases the ammunition so seized was turned over after it had been used as evidence.

Such arms as may be needed against persons still under indictment will not be released for the present. It was said today, however, that the department of justice probably will not attempt to prosecute all the cases against arms smugglers.

Mazatlan Captured.
Nogales, Ariz., Feb. 5.—Mazatlan, an important seaport in the state of Sinaloa, fell into the hands of Carranza's rebel forces today, according to information received in Nogales, Sonora, from rebel sources.

Huerta Orders Campaign.
Mexico City, Feb. 5.—A circular of instructions was issued today by President Huerta to the chiefs of all army divisions and governors of states. It recites that the government has begun a more active campaign against the rebels, and urges that extreme diligence be observed in giving all possible protection to non-combatants, removing them, when necessary, from the zone of operations.

President Huerta last night issued a decree increasing the army by 50,000 men.

Including irregulars, according to official reports, the army now totals 233,000 men. President Huerta declares he will begin an active campaign against the rebels.

ACCUSED OF MURDER OF PITTSBURG MAN

Norman Stanley Will Return
From Wheeling to Cleveland.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 5.—Norman Stanley, arrested here early today in connection with the murder of Robert Mercer of Pittsburgh, whose body was found buried in a shallow grave in the basement of a new city hall in Cleveland, has decided to return to Ohio to clear up his papers. When that a charge of murder had been entered against him in Cleveland he said: "I am in the clear."

He admitted he was with Mercer the night Mercer disappeared, and said he would tell all he knew of that night's happenings when the right time came.

Smallpox Scare Follows Illness of Two of the Members.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 5.—A large number of members of the Kentucky legislature and many residents of this city are nursing sore arms today, the result of vaccination due to a smallpox scare which developed yesterday when it was announced that Senator J. Porter of Port of Dixon and Representative A. J. Oliver were ill of the disease.

Senator Porter is confined to his room in Frankfort and Representative Oliver is at his home in Allen county. Both cases are declared by the physicians to be slight. Health officers did not consider the situation serious enough to necessitate recess of the legislature.

Doctors express the opinion that the two legislators contracted the disease from a nurse at a hotel where many members of the state assembly are stopping.

Corn Products Man Sees
No Objection to Higher

Washington, Feb. 5.—The first testimony by shippers favoring an increase in freight rates was developed today before the interstate commerce commission at its hearing on protests against the 5 per cent advance asked by the Eastern railroads.

T. A. Gantt, traffic manager of the corn products refining company, testified that his company had no objection to the increase if the rates made no discrimination in favor of competitors.

The commission gave today to those interested in the increases as they would affect lined oil, corn toll and similar products. Among those who noted their protests on the advances in this schedule of the railroad tariff was the Archer-Daniels-Linseed company of Minneapolis, Minn.

DULUTH IS PICTURED AS A FUTURE WORLD MARKET

Farm Expert Tells of Vast Production Possible on Northern Farms.

Co-operative Buying Is Being Generally Adopted By the Farmers.

Duluth was pictured as one of the future world markets for potatoes and dairy products by George B. Alton, state high school inspector, in an address before the Agricultural Educational conference at the Commercial club today. He based his prophecy on the location of the city and the wonderful agricultural resources still undeveloped in the surrounding territory. Mr. Alton's address came after reports had been made by various county agents and instructors of agriculture. He said he had never heard so much optimism in a meeting of his kind and was amazed at the vastness of the possibilities during the last two years.

Back to Jefferson.

The speaker said that the American people were just waking up to the ideas expressed on agriculture by Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin, and he said that the Puritan idea of preparing a man for heaven instead of training him to work successfully on earth had been the thing that had retarded agricultural development and kept agricultural teaching out of the schools. Mr. Alton then discussed the subject of "Culture," and disputed the argument that agricultural teaching is a handicap to acquiring culture in the public schools. "There is just as much culture shown in raising a good crop scientifically as there is in singing a hymn," he said. "The heaven-preparatory courses of study ought to give way to courses of more practical work."

Farmers and Railways. That the railroads are now working hand in hand with the farmers as much as possible was the keynote of the speech made by L. B. Arnold, immigration agent for the Duluth & Iron Range railway. "A few years ago," said Mr. Arnold, "the farmers were suspicious of the railways and troubles were constantly arising with new settlers. The viewpoint of both the farmers and the railways has now changed. The two are working hand in hand now, and the farmers often get advice from railroad agents and the railway agents are doing everything they can to help settlers develop the country. The railways are reforming."

The great improvement of farms in Minnesota through the raising of alfalfa and securing of better seed, especially of corn, was brought out by E. E. Palmer, district supervisor for Western Minnesota. He said that alfalfa raised during the coming season in Western Minnesota and that 50,000 bushels of excellent seed corn had been gathered for next season's planting.

According to the data presented by various instructors in agriculture and county agents, the future of the mid-die men in many communities is extremely uncertain, and many will probably go out of business in the near future. These conditions were approved by the speakers who maintained that if any class of business men cannot make profits without working to others' disadvantage, it would be better for them to go into some other business.

Co-operative Buying.

The thing that is undermining the country merchant is the elaborate system of co-operative buying that is getting grounded in almost every rural community where farmers' clubs have been organized. As the promotion of farmers' clubs is one of the chief features of the county extension work, co-operative buying is expected to increase rapidly. Concrete examples were given today of farms saving from 50 to 40 per cent on purchases made in carload lots from Duluth firms. While this is hard on the merchant in the small town, it was pointed out that the merchant might better become a producer than to conduct a business that has no function for good in the town and community.

Another high school instructor who spoke was Prof. Gibson, teacher of agriculture at the Central high school of Duluth. Forty-two of Mr. Gibson's pupils attended the sessions yesterday afternoon and showed a marked interest in the proceedings. Mr. Gibson spoke on the practical nature of the one-year course being given at the Central school. Interest has so grown, he said, that the course will be lengthened to two years after this season. Work being done on various experimental stations and demonstration farms was discussed later in the afternoon. The conference will close this afternoon.

WILL HARNESS

STURGEON RIVER.

Covington, Mich., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald).—To the list of hydro-electric plants in Upper Michigan, among which are some of the largest in the country, notably those of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company at Marquette, the Oliver Iron Mining company and the Peninsula Power company at Iron Mountain and the Escanaba Traction company at Escanaba, there is to be added one that will rank with the most important in the state. This one is the project of the Northern Michigan Power company, controlled by Eastern capitalists. The Sturgeon river is to be harnessed at two points a few miles from Covington. Immense power will be developed. The electricity generated will be transmitted to points in the Michigan copper country, ranging in distance from forty to seventy miles, and will be utilized in the operations of the mines and other industries.

PARCELS DISCOURAGED.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Parcel post in the mountainous country of the West has become so great that mail carriers are abandoning their contracts. Senator Brady of Idaho today urged the post office committee to take steps to give them relief.

DISOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP

POSTAL SAVINGS ARE INCREASING

Average Amount on Deposit Also Larger Than Year Ago.

Including the deposits of January there is now an average of $137.71 credited to every depositor at the local postal savings bank. A year ago Jan. 31 the average deposit was $130.41.

During the month of January 750 persons withdrew amounts or withdrew some of their savings, according to the monthly report just prepared. There was $13,050 on deposit, making a total of $185,000 on deposit at the local bank at the close of business Jan. 31. A year ago the same time there was $136,987 on deposit, making an increase of $48,013 for the last twelve months.

OBEY MANDATES OF DEPARTMENT

Meat Inspector Finds Shippers Obeying Instructions; Few Condemnations.

Although hundreds of pounds of veal have been shipped into the city in the last five months, Meat Inspector Leo Bernhardt has condemned but two carcasses, according to his monthly report for January, submitted this morning to Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health.

He explains that this is due to the fact that the shippers are following the instructions sent out by the health department last summer.

During the month three meat markets closed their doors and one new shop started. A large amount of meat and poultry was inspected during the month, but very little of it was condemned.

MINORITY REPORT ON "GATEWAY" PLAN.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Contending that the Constitution ought to be the direct declaration of the people rather than the declaration of a legislative body, Senator Cummins and other members of the minority today submitted a minority report today urging adoption of a so-called "gateway" amendment to make the Constitution amendable without initiative action by Congress. It has been reported adversely by the judiciary majority. Senators Walsh, Borah, Lehman, Overman and Chilton also favored the Cummins resolution.

COMPLY WITH HICKEN CODE

Saloon and Cigar Store Owners Are Already Making Alterations.

Some Saloons Forced to Eliminate Cigar Stores Entirely.

Although the provisions of the Hicken code affecting cigar stores in front of saloons do not become operative until May 1, the saloons and cigar stores are already beginning to make preparations to comply with the ordinance.

Building Inspector S. M. Kelley issued a permit this morning for the remodeling of a building occupied by a saloon on West Superior street, between Second and Third avenues west. The changes are being made in order that the cigar store remain in front of the saloon without violating the regulations. Most of the others are also getting ready to make alterations necessitated by the ordinance. A few will eliminate the cigar stores entirely, two having already vacated their space in front of downtown buildings.

The section of the ordinance which must be observed is that which states that no room occupied by a saloon can be more than six feet wider in the rear than in the front, and allowing but one entrance to the rear room. To meet this requirement, some of the cigar stores are having their partitions extended through to the rear of the building. This gives them considerably more space than they need, but they will use it for storage purposes or leave it vacant. This will also cut down the size of the rooms occupied by the saloons. In some instances, the cigar stores are so located that it will be practically impossible to comply with the ordinance, leaving the abandonment of their business as the only alternative.

No entrance will be allowed between the cigar stores and the saloons. The partitions must reach to the ceiling and be without doors or openings of any kind. Under the ordinance, the saloons can have but one entrance, which necessitates the nailing up of all rear and side entrances.

GETS NOTHING FOR INJURIES

Street Railway Company Wins Suit Brought By Duluth Teacher.

Miss Leslie Gage, school teacher, will recover nothing from the Duluth Street Railway company for injuries she is alleged to have received in a street car accident on July 14, 1913. A jury in district court, before Judge Englen this morning, after fifty minutes of deliberation, rendered a verdict for the company in the personal injury suit brought by Miss Gage.

The plaintiff sought to recover $2,500. She claimed that while she was walking east on fourth street, between Twentieth and twenty-first avenues east, she was struck and knocked down by the company's cars. She was walking on the track at the time, she says, owing to the fact that the sidewalk at that point was obstructed by a concrete mixing plant, there by reason of paving operations. Negligence was charged against the company.

Miss Gage alleged that her ankles were badly sprained and bruised and that she sustained a severe shock to her nervous system.

Dances of Today

The Rex theater is this week showing motion pictures of six of the best known modern dances. The pictures were posed by Sebastian and Miss Allen, whom New York society people are taking lessons from. Those who can dance at all can, it is claimed, learn the tango, American, Mexican, bolero, waltz, and others by visiting the Rex theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday and watching these artists work.

TWENTY-ONE TAKE TEACHERS' EXAMS

Many More Expected By Saturday—First Grade Examinations Then.

Twenty-one young women, most of them residents of Duluth, are today taking the teachers' examination being held in the grand jury room at the courthouse under the direction of the county superintendent of schools. The examinations will continue through Saturday. The tests are given today and tomorrow over second grade subjects and the examination Saturday will be for those applying for first grade certificates. It is expected that about fifty will be enrolled before Saturday.

PERMITS SHOW BIG INCREASE

Building Activity During January Reflected in Inspector's Report.

Building activity is starting the year with a rush, judging by the records in the office of Building Inspector S. M. Kelley. During January he issued seventy-three permits for the improvement of buildings to cost $237,610. This is a heavy increase over January, 1913, when but forty-four permits were issued for improvements estimated to cost $68,675. The fees on the permits last month aggregated $367.75, as compared with $215 for the same month a year ago. The statistics bear out the prediction of Building Inspector Kelley, that the current year will be a record for building activity in Duluth.

PROVIDE WORK FOR TWENTY-FIVE

City Caring for Jobless Men—Four on Rock Pile.

The works division is now furnishing employment to twenty-five men. Twenty-one of these are engaged in the construction of the two sewers which the council authorized to be done by day labor and four are making big stones into little stones at the rock pile.

Only two men went to work at the rock pile yesterday morning but two more showed up in the afternoon. Commissioner Frederick Murchison expects that the number will increase. With the rock pile in operation the authorities state that they will be able to rid the city of most of the men who are looking for free maintenance and object to laboring. The jobs have been given to give an opportunity to earn 75 cents a yard breaking stone at the rock pile and if they refuse to do this they will be arrested for vagrancy.

REMARKS ABOUT BELL CAUSE MANDAN ACTION.

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald).—"That high school bell sounds like a tramp dog running down street with a cowbell attached to its tail," declared a Dickinson young lady, who was visiting here and who retired up the alumni association so funds have been raised to purchase a big new bell. The old one is cracked and broken and the sounds it gives forth are raucous.

The Home Beauty Parlor

By Betty Dean

Dearie: Yes, I believe men all recognize a "made" complexion. Throw away your powder and rouge and use a plain spumax lotion. Then you will have a complexion of which you can feel justly proud, because it will be real as well as beautiful. To prepare it, dissolve four ounces of spumax (which you may get from your druggist) in one-half pint of water, or hot water. This lotion cannot be detected when on and its regular use banishes lines, blotches, pimples, blackheads and sallowness. The spumax lotion is delightful for spring months, as it protects the skin from the winds.

Drops: You can make your eyes sparkling and clear by this simple home treatment: Dissolve an ounce of erysine (get at drug store) in a pint of water. One or two drops in each eye every day will be all that is necessary to make them feel strong and look bright. If the lids are red or inflamed, try soaking dabs of absorbent cotton in the tonic and laying them on each eye.

Juvenia: The sagging of skin which you write about is disfiguring and you will soon be wrinkled past help if you neglect it. But try this simple treatment: Mix an ounce of aloin (from the drug store) in one half pint cold water and add two teaspoonfuls of erysine. This cream jelly will cause the skin to contract slowly until the firmness is restored. Keep your complexion clear and free from blemishes. Also remove blackheads.

Eugenie: Your yellowness doubtless means that your liver requires a regulator and I would suggest a plain kar-deine tonic. This will cleanse the blood and give tone and strength to the liver and kidneys and when these

GRAY DENIES HE PLANS RESIGNING

Great Northern President Says He Will Stick By Road.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 5.—Persistent rumors in local railroad circles have been current the past few days to the effect that Carl Gray, president of the Great Northern railway, would resign soon to accept an important position with the New Haven road under Howard Elliott, chairman of the board, formerly president of the Northern Pacific, but inquiry among those who ought to know, including Mr. Gray, have brought only denials. Mr. Elliott at New York, yesterday, denied the report that Mr. Gray was coming to the New Haven.

Mr. Gray denied the report he was to quit the Great Northern, saying: "I have no intention of resigning the presidency of the Great Northern railroad."

Mr. Gray intends to leave St. Paul soon for an Eastern trip. When asked whether this trip might be connected with rumors that he was about to close negotiations with an Eastern railroad, he answered in the negative.

Eastern men believe it. Eastern railroad men, according to reports here, have for some time been familiar with Mr. Gray's plans. Rumor had it that Mr. Gray's resignation at this time, as such an announcement might have an undesirable effect upon the discipline of the system during his remaining months as head of the Great Northern. Although no definite date for his resignation has been decided upon, according to reports, it is understood that Mr. Gray will sever his connection with the railroad early in May.

Because of his numerous other duties, it is understood that Louis W. Hill would be opposed to resigning the presidency of the Great Northern. James J. Hill refused to discuss the report that Mr. Gray would resign.

Good Suggestion to Duluth People

It is surprising the amount of old, foul matter the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler's-Ika, drains from the system. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and acts on BOTH the upper and lower bowels so thoroughly that ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. We are mighty glad we are Duluth agents for Adler's-Ika. W. A. Abbott, druggist, 205 West Superior street.

cause the foundry of Parker & Topping to add men to its crews.

Police Bingham. Recently he petitioned the city commission that a public hearing be held and that Bingham was shown to have violated his authority on the night when the Equity Co-operative exchange sought to retain the auditorium. JOINT RATES GIVEN AIRING AT ST. PAUL Carriers and Shippers Meet the State Railway Commissioners.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The system to be adopted in the making of joint through rates over two or more connecting lines was discussed at a hearing given to railway traffic men and shippers by the state railway commission here today. About fifty attended the meeting.

Under the old system, when the initiating line had a fairly direct route to the point of destination it was not compelled to surrender its shipments to a competing road with a slightly shorter mileage from the junction point.

When the Cashman distance tariff law was enacted, the legislature repealed the 1911 joint rate rules, and substituted an act more arbitrary in character and giving to the commission less discretion than heretofore in routing through shipments. This law says that when the distance over one line is greater than over two lines, the shipper is entitled to a point rate, no discretion being given when the distance over the initiating line is only slightly greater than over two roads.

FARMER WILL NOT BE HURT

Dean Woods Says the Tariff Is No Cause for Worry.

May Force Some Into More Profitable Diversified Farming.

"If the farmers of the Northwest are to suffer any losses because of the new tariff law, they will be more than recompensed by gains accruing through other effects of the law," said Dean A. F. Woods of the agricultural college of the University of Minnesota in an interview today. "The reduction in tariff may tend to lower the price of wheat in Minnesota, but many articles which the farmer buys will be cheaper."

Dean Woods said that he had not joined the country howlers who have been trying to stir up the farmers against the administration because of the tariff. He said it was not a problem that could be solved in a minute, but that it would be years before it would be necessary to obtain the real results of the law.

Many of the lowering of the price of wheat is all the harm the law will have upon the farmer, then the Minnesota growers should not worry. What if it should force many of them out of the wheat business? No harm would result. It would simply force them into dairying, stock raising and other diversified farming. And it is the diversified farmer that is making the money these days. His product will bring a good price, but he is building up his soil instead of wearing it out by raising wheat."

Mr. Woods said he did not know what effect the big importation of beef from Canada and fattening them here for market and thus make a fine outlet for the producers of alfalfa and corn.

"As far as the raising of steers is concerned, it will affect the Minnesota farmer very little. Few steers are now being raised. Dairying has been found to pay better."

ORGANIZE GLASS IN SALESMANSHIP

Rally at Y. M. C. A. Is Addressed By J. S. Taylor of Minneapolis

The opening rally held last night at the Y. M. C. A., at which a class was organized in salesmanship, proved most successful.

Many turned out to hear John S. Taylor of Minneapolis. He outlined the course as laid down in the textbook of salesmanship, and cases from his own classes in the Twin Cities which he used as a basis for the course.

He mentioned instances of different types of men. One was that of a man who had come from the country and secured a job at $35 a week. He had been in the course in salesmanship three years ago and today is receiving $3,500 a year as a salesman.

Another man who took the course four years ago is now receiving $5,000 a year and 10 per cent commission.

The same course which Mr. Taylor is giving at the Y. M. C. A. and in addition several valuable extra lectures will be given by Mr. J. S. Taylor and David P. Swenson of the University of Minnesota on the "Psychology of Salesmanship."

A good sized class was enrolled last night and several indicated their intention to enroll soon.

The first regular session of the class will be held next Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A.

MANAHAN CLAIMS HE HAS STOPPED REBATE

Says Practice Has Long Attended Transportation of Immigrants.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)
Washington, Feb. 5.—Representative Manahan claims that he has ended rebating on the transportation of aliens from ports of entry to inland cities, which has been the practice for an indefinite period under an agreement between the railroads and steamship companies.

Manahan declared today that the agreement provides for the payment of the steamship companies by the railroad companies of rebates varying from a small amount up to a maximum of $4, and that the aggregate of these rebates is about $2,500,000 annually on the basis of the business done last year.

The prohibition against the payment of rebates will be effected through an amendment to the immigration bill. It was offered by Manahan and accepted by Chairman Burnett without debate.

TWO MONTHS FOR ELLISON

Dramatic Instructor and Producer Found Guilty of Petit Larceny.

Unable to Raise Money to Pay Fine—Goes to Jail.

Charles Ellison, local dramatic instructor and producer, unable to pay a fine of $100 and court costs, will have to spend the next two months in the county jail. The prisoner made a vain effort this morning to raise the fine, and was this noon taken to jail.

Ellison was tried on two charges of petit larceny before a municipal court jury yesterday, a verdict of guilty having been returned after the jury was out four hours. Judge Winslow, before whom the case was tried, fined the prisoner $75 and costs in each case or thirty days in the county jail.

The petit larceny charges against Ellison were made by R. R. Ring and C. E. Bradfield, two of the former's pupils, who claimed that they paid him $30 on Dec. 11 last for a dress in which they should have been paid him under arrest. Ellison, who is married and the father of five children, has lived in Duluth for eleven years.

City Prosecutor Gurnee, in making his address to the jury shortly before noon yesterday, declared that if Ellison were acquitted, the members were placing a stamp of approval on his work. He would go on with his business, Mr. Gurnee said, with no opposition whatever, just because twelve representative citizens found him to be a fair and just in his business dealings. He appealed for a verdict of guilty in the name of justice and protection for the young men and women, who are easy prey for coaches of stage-struck persons.

Among the witnesses who testified against Ellison were Ring, Bradfield, Chief Proprietor, Petit Larceny and Casimir Kusnierek, the latter two being former pupils of the defendant. George Steadman, attorney for Ellison, introduced Mrs. Ellison, Guy Hallock and Mrs. Edelson as witnesses for the defense.

Ellison was arrested last Friday afternoon, and pleading guilty when arraigned, his trial was set for Tuesday morning. In default of $200 bail he had to remain in jail.

OSBORN SHOOTS WHALE.

Former Governor of Michigan Fires Lance Into Leviathan.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Feb. 5.—Former Governor Chas. Osborn, who lives here and is now making a tour of the world, has written friends that he is getting into the Col. Roosevelt class as a hunter, having recently shot a whale in the Indian ocean.

He writes that he was privileged during a whaling trip on the Indian ocean to shoot the bomb lance into a monster of the deep.

The next shot hit him about four feet back of the jaws not far from the lungs, writes the former governor. "This did the business and I had killed a whale."

Then while he was lashed alongside and the other whale was picked up and also lashed, I grew sad. Perhaps it was the taking of such a splendid life; the destruction of such a magnificent creature. But this is the way of men."

INJUNCTION "LIFTED."

North Dakota Druggist Proves He Did Not Violate the Law.

Devils Lake, N. D., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Champagne and wine as a wedding present resulted in the officials of Benson county placing an injunction on the drug store of J. A. Ballenger at York, and yesterday, five weeks after the store was closed, Ballenger was successful in proving to Judge Butts of the district court his innocence of the charge that he had sold liquor illegally. The injunction was dissolved.

Officials, searching the building, found part of a case of champagne and numerous bottles of wine, most of the latter being in his home, upstairs over the store.

Ballenger maintained that the champagne was the "remains" of a case given him when he was wedded, and that the wine was received in the same manner.

STEAMER SINKS IN 170 FATHOMS.

Prince Rupert, B. C., Feb. 5.—The steamship Vason of the Canadian line, Capt. Richardson, was lost in Macoez gulch, Portland canal, early Tuesday.

The boat, in a heavy snow storm, hit a rock, sinking in half an hour in 170 fathoms. Twenty-six persons on board were all saved, reaching here by the steamship Venture.

Capt. Richardson's story of the sinking is that the Vason struck in a wild storm when it was still dark. The steamer immediately began to fill. Many of the crew were in their bunks and had only time to get a few personal effects and lower away small boats. All of the freight, including a big coal shipment, was lost. The survivors reached Arsenault canal, where they were picked up by the Venture.

SOCIALISTS HAVE INNING

Question Good Faith of Knights of Columbus in Debate Matter.

Declare Knights Imposed Impossible Conditions to Get Out of It.

The "did and didn't" quarrel that has been going on for some days between the Knights of Columbus and the Socialists is not settled yet and probably will not be until after the lecture tonight by Carl D. Thompson of Milwaukee, who is here advocating Socialistic principles.

The basis of the quarrel is the alleged understanding of the Socialists that Mr. Thompson would be a party to a debate tonight with Peter W. Collins of Boston on the subject "Is Socialism Opposed to Christianity and the Labor Movement?"

When Mr. Collins was here some time ago giving an anti-Socialistic lecture, interruptions by Morris Kaplan, brought about an agreement for a debate between Mr. Collins and Mr. Kaplan on the subject mentioned. Mr. Collins said that he could come here any time between Jan. 29 and Feb. 9, on which dates he had open time. Later Feb. 5 was agreed on.

Since then Mr. Kaplan has moved to New York to go into business. In view of his removal from the city, and for other reasons, the Socialists chose Mr. Thompson, but to this the Knights of Columbus would not agree, claiming, as stated in their explanation published in The Herald of last evening, that they do not believe that a debate between Collins and Thompson would arouse enough interest to warrant the debate, but that a debate between Collins and Kaplan would.

As the Socialists have refused to bear the expense of bringing Kaplan here to New York, the Knights considered the whole affair "off" and declined to explain their position.

One of the leading Socialists of the city issued the following statement explaining their position:

"We question the good faith of the local Knights of Columbus in the matter. In their letter to us they made conditions that we could not possibly accept, and which Mr. Collins did not ask while in this city."

"They insisted upon an admission charge of 25 cents being made and that the entire proceeds be turned over to the St. James Orphanage and the Children's Home. We are raising funds among our members to defray the expenses of the meeting tonight, and we would not agree to such a condition and thereby impose an additional burden upon those of our membership who wished to attend the proposed meeting."

"We asked the committee representing the Knights of Columbus if they would permit the expenses of the speakers to be paid out of such admission charges and the balance to go to the institutions named, but they refused to meet us on that point."

"I believe they are afraid to match Collins against Thompson and submitted impossible conditions in an effort to get away from it. Are the people of Duluth interested in a personal fight between Collins and Kaplan? We do not think so, and this is what would result should those from Kenton meet on the public forum."

"Just one other thing: Why did the committee of the Knights of Columbus wait until the last moment before announcing publicly that Collins was not to be here? Our last conversation with the chairman of that committee was to the effect that he would wire Mr. Collins to ascertain if that gentleman would come here and meet Mr. Thompson. We heard nothing further from him and we feel that we were justified in our course in view of the fact that they had arranged for Mr. Collins to be here Feb. 5."

It is understood that Mr. Thompson will answer questions at the meeting tonight, should any one in the audience wish to put them to him. The Socialists say they will be glad to give any accredited representative of the Knights of Columbus an opportunity to debate with Mr. Thompson according to the terms suggested by Collins at the Amory meeting Nov. 11.

SAVED GOIN FOR IMPLEMENT MEN

Showing at Fargo Meet of Benefit to Their Fire Insurance

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the closing day of the North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota Implement Dealers' convention, and brought out a maximum attendance. Following the big banquet last evening the delegates were somewhat slow in assembling this morning, but there were large crowds at the machinery exhibits at the Auditorium. This afternoon the annual report of the Implement Dealers' Fire Insurance company was submitted by Secretary Sheehy of Grand Forks. This organization was established eleven years ago by the dealers and is claimed to have saved the members 400 per cent in prepaid dividends within that period. It has a capital of $50,000 and has paid $15,000 in losses and made room for $10,000 to the policy holders, while its insurance has been written at an average of 50 per cent of actual rates.

Check Freight Bills. Another interesting feature was the auditing of freight bills. Many dealers submitted these and they were gone over by experts and checked up for overcharges.

The business session occupies the last half of the afternoon session. It provides for the reports of the secretary and treasurer, a discussion of business, unfinished business, new business, plans for future work and election of officers before adjournment.

Fargo has extended an invitation for the dealers to meet here again next year.

HOBSON WANTS HIS SALARY SETTLED.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Representative Richmond P. Hobson of Alabama, who has been campaigning against Oscar W. Underwood for the Democratic nomination for the senate from Alabama, wants immediate action on the demand of W. H. Parker of Alabama that his salary be withheld for the days he has been absent from the body.

When he returned from Alabama Mr. Hobson telephoned Representative Underwood, demanding that something be done about the Parker protest. He declared he wants the matter called up on the floor of the house and thrashed out, or dropped entirely.

Representative Underwood said he had nothing to do with the protest; did not know Mr. Parker, and would not concern himself with the matter either on the floor or elsewhere.

To Entertain Trained Boosters. Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The booster club, after its regular meeting Friday evening, announced a special program for the Columbia theater by the proprietor, Edwin Harris Bergh, who has arranged a special program of music, pictures and other features for the edification of the boosters. The entire club of 300 members will turn out and attend the smoker arranged by Mr. Bergh.

SODA SWEETENS ACID STOMACHS, ENDS DYSPEPSIA

When we eructate sour food, acid fluids and we belch gases it doesn't mean the stomach is lacking in digestive juices, says a noted authority who states that nearly all stomach distress and indigestion is a result of acidity; meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the digestive organs. This irritating acid retards digestion and promotes food fermentation. Then everything eaten sour in the stomach like garbage sour in a can, forming gases which inflate the stomach like a balloon, causing a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest or we eructate food, constantly belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, bloating, water-brash and nausea.

He tells us to get a package of 10 grain Soda-sodas tablets any pharmacy and take one tablet any time following a meal of water. This will instantly neutralize acidity, stop fermentation, absorb the gases and sweeten the entire digestive system.

A well-known local druggist says these 10 grain Soda-sodas tablets are a favorite Antacid used by thousands of men and women because of their harmless nature, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbamate U. S. P.

BODY CREMATED IN HOTEL FIRE

Word was received here last evening that the bodies of those burned in the hotel fire at Kallisher Tuesday night are unrecognizable.

Only the skull of the body of Odin Mecolson, 34 years old, former Duluth young man, who was burned in the fire, has been found for the architects of the ruins. He was sleeping on an upper floor when the alarm of fire was given, but was unable to escape in time. He was caught by the flames and his body was completely consumed.

Last evening Albert W. Mecolson, head of the drapery department of the George A. Gray store, brother of the dead man, left with an employee of the Crawford undertaking rooms to bring the body back to Duluth. Owing to the uncertain train connections they do not expect to be back before tomorrow noon.

Mecolson formerly worked in the office of the Pittsburgh Coal company, having left here about two years ago, when he did the business and had killed a whale.

Then while he was lashed alongside and the other whale was picked up and also lashed, I grew sad. Perhaps it was the taking of such a splendid life; the destruction of such a magnificent creature. But this is the way of men."

OSBORN SHOOTS WHALE.

Former Governor of Michigan Fires Lance Into Leviathan.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Feb. 5.—Former Governor Chas. Osborn, who lives here and is now making a tour of the world, has written friends that he is getting into the Col. Roosevelt class as a hunter, having recently shot a whale in the Indian ocean.

He writes that he was privileged during a whaling trip on the Indian ocean to shoot the bomb lance into a monster of the deep.

The next shot hit him about four feet back of the jaws not far from the lungs, writes the former governor. "This did the business and I had killed a whale."

Then while he was lashed alongside and the other whale was picked up and also lashed, I grew sad. Perhaps it was the taking of such a splendid life; the destruction of such a magnificent creature. But this is the way of men."

INJUNCTION "LIFTED."

North Dakota Druggist Proves He Did Not Violate the Law.

Devils Lake, N. D., Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Champagne and wine as a wedding present resulted in the officials of Benson county placing an injunction on the drug store of J. A. Ballenger at York, and yesterday, five weeks after the store was closed, Ballenger was successful in proving to Judge Butts of the district court his innocence of the charge that he had sold liquor illegally. The injunction was dissolved.

Officials, searching the building, found part of a case of champagne and numerous bottles of wine, most of the latter being in his home, upstairs over the store.

Ballenger maintained that the champagne was the "remains" of a case given him when he was wedded, and that the wine was received in the same manner.

STEAMER SINKS IN 170 FATHOMS.

Prince Rupert, B. C., Feb. 5.—The steamship Vason of the Canadian line, Capt. Richardson, was lost in Macoez gulch, Portland canal, early Tuesday.

The boat, in a heavy snow storm, hit a rock, sinking in half an hour in 170 fathoms. Twenty-six persons on board were all saved, reaching here by the steamship Venture.

Capt. Richardson's story of the sinking is that the Vason struck in a wild storm when it was still dark. The steamer immediately began to fill. Many of the crew were in their bunks and had only time to get a few personal effects and lower away small boats. All of the freight, including a big coal shipment, was lost. The survivors reached Arsenault canal, where they were picked up by the Venture.

Woman's Realm

The appallingly large attendance of children at the theaters today, the natural interest of the child in things dramatic and efforts which may be made in trying to elevate the standard of taste in this line, especially among children by devoting entirely legitimate means of satisfying this natural interest in dramatic performances, were brought out by E. W. Bohannon, president of the Duluth state normal school in a lecture on "The Modern Theater and the Child," given this morning before members of the Twentieth Century club at the library club room.

"The interest in dramatic forms of expression," said Mr. Bohannon, "is instinctive with the child and is expressed in its imitation of everything and every action it sees. This desire to imitate is not cultivated, but a natural force and its special form depends upon environment and education. This tendency in the child to imitate should be directed and it is here that help should come from the home and from the schools. The theatrical managers and owners are making money from this instinct in every child and every adult. It is a vital force which must be satisfied and must be recognized, and rightly directed is one of the greatest educational forces. We learn through imitation more than in any other way and the child begins early by playing that he is this or that animal, this or that person or thing in this or that situation, simply following his interested instinct for the dramatic.

"Children should be encouraged in natural self expression and to give their own interpretation to stories and plays and this training should begin early in the home. The school can do much toward directing their tastes but not much alone. Too much that was formerly taught in the homes has been taken over by the schools already and the parents should feel their responsibility in this matter to a greater extent.

"Care should be taken in giving the child that which he can understand and not expecting him to interpret things which belong to mature years and in school work the training should be given to all children and not just a few who will make the work a credit to the school.

"If this perfectly natural interest of the child in things dramatic is satisfied in good carefully selected plays and games outside of the theater, he will not be so eager to go to the plays presented there which are seldom suited for children to see or hear. A production really good for children is a rare occurrence and so a good deal of outside entertainment is necessary."

THE TRADITION OF DULUTH'S FRIGIDITY.

There was matter in an interview with Congressman Miller on the sport page of The Herald last night that should be taken into account in discussing whether or not it would be good for Duluth to have a winter ice carnival that would advertise this city to the world as the world's center of winter sports.

Mr. Miller was saying that the Duluth crews had given the city national advertising of inestimable value, and that it was an eye-opener to many to find that there was weather in Duluth that would permit the development of national championship crews. And then he proceeded to discuss the false and vexing tradition of Duluth's perennial frigidity.

In some way and in some method Duluth has secured a large-sized reputation for being one of the coldest points to the pole. When you say Duluth to the majority of people they instinctively shiver. Why? I don't know. Someone started the belief and it has become country-wide. The very fact that Duluth had crews that went to the Boston national regatta caused some of these people literally to sit up and take notice. Some of them began to wonder if we didn't have some summer climate after all.

And Mr. Miller added—without a thought of the ice carnival idea and very likely without having heard of it—that he thought the best way to fight this lying tradition of Duluth's frigidity was to have a series of summer sports of a national character.

There is no evading the fact of this tradition. Nobody ever gets a hundred miles away from Duluth without encountering it.

"From Duluth?" asks the man you have just met in Chicago or Baltimore or Philadelphia or Boston. "How in the world do you ever endure the cold up there?"

And then you have to get all heated up declaring that Duluth's climate is the finest in the world, and when you get through you realize that your friend confidently believes that you are trying to spoof him.

One of Duluth's biggest jobs is to tackle and destroy that damaging tradition, and the question is just this: Can it be combated with a winter ice carnival that shall spread Duluth's fame as a place of ice and snow?

For our part, we believe that it can be combated—and beaten—by spreading Duluth's fame as a summer resort. That's why we can't jump to join the very enterprising and agreeable gentlemen who want to advertise Duluth by an ice carnival.

Secretary MacKenzie of the Wisconsin state board of agriculture advises using newspaper advertising for the state fair instead of billboards. In other words, put the ads where people can see and understand them when they get home, instead of where only fleeting glimpses of them can be had as the car goes by.

CURING POVERTY.

Henry M. Gescheidt, a lawyer and patent medicine manufacturer, recently died in New York leaving a peculiar bequest. He gave half his fortune of three hundred thousand dollars to the corporation of Trinity church to provide for the establishment of a permanent bread-line. The line is to be known by his name, and every loaf of bread given out is to be stamped with his name.

The bequest is interesting enough, but far more interesting is the manner in which it is being discussed.

UNSEXED.

It doesn't unsex her to toil in a factory
Minding the looms from the dawn till the night;
To deal with a schoolful of children refractory
Doesn't unsex her in anyone's sight.
Work in a store when her back aches inhumanly—
Doesn't unsex her at all, you will note,
But think how exceedingly rough and unwomanly
Woman would be if she happened to vote.

To sweat in a laundry that's torrid and torrid
Doesn't subtract from her womanly charm;
And scrubbing the flags in an echoing corridor
Doesn't unsex her—so where is the harm?
It doesn't unsex her to nurse us with bravery,
Losing death's hand from its grip on the throat;
But, ah! how the voices grow quivery, quavery,
Wailing, "Alas, 'twill unsex her to vote!"

She's feminine still when she juggles the crockery, Bringing you blithely the order you give;
Toiling in a sweatshop where life is a mockery
Just for the pittance on which she can live—
That doesn't seem to unsex her a particle.
"Labor is noble"—so somebody wrote—
But ballots are known as a dangerous article, Woman's unsexed if you give her the vote!
—Berton Braley in Collier's.

part of its maker—seems a trifle too medieval.

"The same money used to attack poverty at the root instead of to mitigate one of its symptoms would have been of much greater ultimate benefit to the community. And in connection with the use of the money something could have been done for the incidental preservation of the testator's name far more permanent than its stamping upon the charity loaves."

This, it is good to believe, is a fair reflection of the modern spirit. Poverty not only can be but will be cured. Charity is a salve, but not a cure; and poverty is not the disease, but a symptom. The real disease is social injustice; and social injustice can and will be cured.

To leave a fortune for a permanent charity is as wise as it would be to leave a fortune to buy salve for sores instead of for study of a remedy to cure the disease of which the sores are symptoms.

The militant suffragists are doing their best to make good on the old saying, "Scotland's burning."

"IMPROVING" THE PRIMARY.

The St. Cloud Journal-Press says that The Herald need not be alarmed about the assault on the statewide primary law, because nobody proposes to hurt it—just to improve it. We know all about those "improvements" to the primary law. Every session of the legislature since the county primary first became law has been full of them. Indeed, there has been a session of the legislature, except possibly the last one, when if the politicians who constituted a majority of each branch had dared to do it, they would not have repealed the primary law—or "improved" it out of existence.

Every proposed "improvement" to the primary law involves a return to the convention system. Of course the primary system is to be retained, as a concession to public sentiment. Nobody dares propose an out-and-out repeal of the primary law. The Minneapolis Journal Tuesday evening said: "It seems generally agreed that there should be some combination of the direct primary with the convention system."

Of course the primary is to be retained. But it is to be "improved." The convention system is to be hooked up to it—and of course the hope is that the convention system may return in all its glory, and the primary system be made an innocuous and dead-letter feature honored only by a humble and inconspicuous place on the statute books.

Disguise it in pretty words as you will, the project now being agitated is to do away with the popular primary, and return to a system of delegated political power. It is to turn over to somebody else the business of nominating candidates, on the theory that the people are not competent to nominate their own candidates.

Yet if the people are not competent to nominate, they are not competent to elect. If the popular primary should be "improved" out of existence, the popular election should be abolished also.

The people have a right by this time to a settled system of election machinery. They must be weary of constant changes in the election laws that have to be learned all over again every election year. The primary laws as they stand should be given a thorough trial, not revamped every two years and certainly not mutilated at the behest of the professional politician and his reactionary spokesmen.

There is but a single change that should be made in the primary law, and that is the incorporation of a simple provision authorizing the placing of candidates in the field for the primary election by petition. Then not all the candidates need be selected for office, and it will be possible to enlist men for public offices who will never take the initiative themselves and put themselves in the position of seeking office. Such an amendment would permit at least the appearance of the office seeking man, and not even the appearance is possible under the present provisions. But the principle of direct popular nomination, like the principle of direct popular election, should never be destroyed in this state.

It will be destroyed unless the people watch very jealously the campaign now in progress to destroy it by "improvements."

When food prices got exorbitant in Chihuahua, Gen. Villa ordered that all the available beef cattle be seized by the Constitutionalists and the meat sold at 6 cents a pound. Which would seem to argue that conditions in Mexico aren't so bad as they might be.

THE LITERACY TEST.

The house of representatives has passed by a rather overwhelming vote a bill forbidding immigrants to come in unless they can read some language, our own or theirs.

There is—and always has been—a good deal of debate over this proposal. We don't expect ever to see unanimity upon it. There are motives playing at cross-purposes in the discussion.

The last congress passed it, and Mr. Taft vetoed it. Cleveland vetoed it a generation ago. President Wilson has intimated that he doesn't care much for it himself, though whether his dislike is strong enough to cause a veto he has not disclosed. The senate seems favorably inclined to the idea, and very likely we shall have a chance to find out if the president's opposition will go so far as that.

There is at best but a doubtful gain in illiterate immigrants. We have altogether too many of home production—many more than people think. They don't add to our wealth, though their sons and daughters may. Yet if the literacy rule had been adopted many years ago we should have lost many valuable citizens. Not many, though, among those from the German states, the British isles and the Scandinavian peninsula, where our best came from.

Illiterate immigrants can work, it is true. Much of the opposition to the literacy rule comes from folks who want them to come in and work, thinking that being ignorant they will be content with low wages, not knowing any better. But they find out, and when they think they are dangerously inflammable material than literates.

Congress, manifestly, is pretty set on getting this rule made into law. We must confess, on the whole, a good deal of sympathy with congress, though well aware that no vast harm will come if the president disagrees strongly enough to induce a veto.

The most appealing argument against the measure, and the one that will decide its fate if it is vetoed, is that it puts this country in a position of refusing asylum to the persecuted from other lands where ignorance is the bitter fruit of tyranny and oppression.

Prof. Taft says the demagogues are responsible for the complaints about the courts. Probably it was a demagogue who suggested to that New York judge that he suspend the Littauer sentence for smuggling.

Leading With Thirteen Trumps.
A Fall Mail Gazette reader writes: "The certainly extremely rare occurrence of one of the players holding thirteen trumps in one hand reminds me of the following question asked occasionally to puzzle even the most experienced player. Do you know the story of the man who held thirteen trumps in his hand, and yet could not win the game? Well, the answer is that he trumped dummy's tricks (which, of course, he could not help doing), whereupon his partner became so excited that he kicked him out of the room!"

Ideals of Sport

Editorial in the Chicago Tribune.

At a recent meeting of the American Collegiate Athletic association the Rev. Dr. Endicott Peabody of Groton school and Dean Briggs of Harvard spoke of ideals of sport. The one of English and the other of American. Dr. Peabody said that a Rhodes scholar at Oxford was asked by the captain of his college football team to become a member of it. The American agreed, but with misgivings, fearing the grueling training to which at home he had been subjected as preparation for playing.

To the American notion, the game had been anything but jolly. They had been disgraced, and the English scholar was chagrined. The idea that there could be any joy in the playing of games with the large, to a disastrous result was foreign to his way of thinking; but, seeing that the Englishman was so confident, he said, "Well, yes, we did," and thereupon in a measure began to think so.

"The aim of sport in America," said Dr. Peabody, "is to win the large, to victory. The aim of sport in England, taken in the large, is recreation." This has been said time and again, and probably will have to be said time and again in the future; but slowly it will have its effect on American college athletes and college players, and will become victims of uncontrolled grief, and colleges themselves will not be excused in gloom because of a defeat on the athletic field.

And the American system will be considered in England until it is regarded as unworthy to lose a match because of lack of preparation. The two codes of sport are giving some thing to each other, and the English scholar will be less devastated by defeat; the English less reconciled to it. The American will eliminate some sharp practices—Dean Briggs in his talk said such practices were being put down sharply—and the English will introduce new ones.

Two nations of athletes will meet each other half way, to the benefit of each.

The Problem

I like a church; I like a cow;
I love a prophet of the soul;
I love a man who walks with me,
Fall like sweet strains, or pensive smiles.

Yet I find that his faith can see
Would I that cowed churchman be,
Why should the vest on him allure,
Which I could not on me endure?

Not from a vain or shallow thought
His awful God young Philias brought;
Ning from him, from him, from him,
The thrilling depth of oracle;
The burden of the Bible old;
The burden of the Bible old.

The hand that rounded Peter's dome
And grained the aisles of Christian Rome
Wrought in a sad sincerity;
Himself from God he could not free;
He builded better than he knew;
The conscious state to beauty grew.

Knowest thou what wove our wood?
Of leaves and feathers from her breast?
Or how the south o'utburst her shell,
Painting with morn each annual cell?
Or how the sacred pine-tree sheds
To her old leaves new myriads?

Such things are not to be told,
Whist love and terror laid the tiles,
Earth proudly wears the Parthenon,
As on a globe upon her zone,
And morning opens with haste her lids
To gaze upon the Pyramids;
O'er England's abbey bends the sky,
As on a globe upon her zone.

For out of thoughts interior sphere
These wonders rose to upper air;
And now we gladly gave them place,
Adopted them into our race,
And granted them an equal date
With Andes and with Ararat.

These temples grow as grows the grass;
Art might obey, but not surpass,
The passive master lent his hand
To the vast soul that o'er him planned;
And the same power that reared the shrine
Bestrode the tribes that knelt within.

Ever the fiery Pentecost
Girds with one flame the countless host,
Trances the heart through chanting
And through the priest the mind inspires.

The word unto the prophet spoken
Was writ on tablets yet unbroken;
The word by seers or sibyls told
In groves or caves of wind and gold
Still floats upon the morning wind,
Still whispers of the willing mind,
The heedless world hath never lost,
I know what say the fathers wise—
The Book itself before me lies—
Old Testament, and New Testament,
And he who bent both in his line,
The younger Golden Lips or mines,
Taylor, the Shakespeare of divines,
His words are music in my ear,
I see his cowed portrait dead;
And yet, for all his faith could see,
I would not the good bishop be.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Military Progression.
Amos R. Wells: Let us shoot to pieces our $6,000,000 battleships with our $12,000,000 battleships, to improve our marksmanship so that we can knock to flinders a $15,000,000 battleship. Let us then build $15,000,000 battleships with which to shoot to pieces our present $12,000,000 battleships, thus improving our marksmanship so that we can reduce to junk a $20,000,000 battleship. Let us next build $20,000,000 battleships, wherewith to pulverize our $15,000,000 battleships, educating our next generation in a $25,000,000 battleship. Let us then build $25,000,000 battleships, which will smash the $20,000,000 battleships, and so on, till the limit of public patience, credulity, and folly has been reached.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Claude Kitchin of North Carolina rarely engages in conversation with a friend without first asking for a cigar.

Kitchin is the member of the ways and means committee who will probably succeed Oscar Underwood as house leader if Oscar should get himself elected to the United States senate.

But this is simply about Kitchin and cigars. A man walks up to him to ask him a question, and before answering him Kitchin inquires: "Have you a cigar?"

"You don't smoke?" in the friend's vest pocket to find if there isn't a smokeable cigar nestling there.

Kitchin is willing to buy cigars on his own account, of course, but he smokes a good many and his supply keeps running out; besides, he thinks it's a great joke to get them from his friends.

The other day Representative Tim Ansherry of Ohio went up to Kitchin to inquire about some intricate phase of pending statecraft, and Kitchin replied: "Let's go out here and smoke. Haven't you got a cigar?"

"I haven't any cigar, but I'll gladly take you downstairs and buy you one," volunteered the magnanimous Tim.

They started downstairs. In the elevator Kitchin emphatically said: "Remember, Col. Ansherry, that I never smoke anything less than a 25-cent cigar. You needn't think you're going to take me down here and insult me with a cigar costing 5 or 10 cents."

At that point their conversation was interrupted by another occupant of the elevator, a man with a Southern accent, evidently a visitor in Washington.

"Aren't you Mr. Kitchin?" he asked, tapping Claude on the shoulder.

"Yes," said Kitchin, "and you are?"

"I'm from your district," said the visitor; "I've shaken hands with you once or twice at meetings, and I used to hear you say that you were a Southerner."

"Glad to see you," said Kitchin, "and won't you come with us to the cigar counter. We were about to buy a few cigars. I was just joking my friend, Ansherry, here about getting me a 25-cent cigar. I've heard it said that there are people who spend that much for a smoke, although it seems scarcely believable."

They walked up to the cigar counter, and Kitchin enunciated distinctly to the clerk:

"Let me have a nickel's worth of those 'Stag' cigarettes—the kind you know, that I always smoke."

Elmer Murphy, a well known Washington correspondent, was the victim one day of an excess charge of 15 cents by a conductor of an interurban railroad running out of Los Angeles.

It was only 15 cents, but it made Murphy exceedingly indignant, and he raised his brain for way to get even.

When he got back to Los Angeles he made up an itemized bill against the railroad, working in such legal phrases as he knew, and sent it to the claim department. The bill included such items of mortification, loss of peace of mind, loss of time, and so on. Altogether his claim amounted to $147.

In his letter to the railroad company Murphy gave his address at the office of a friend, and he went to the friend and told him what to do.

"They will send a claim agent around," forecasted Murphy. "Always tell him you don't know where I am. After he has been here four or five days, then tell him that you want him to leave. He will then give an amused laugh. He'll ask you what you're laughing about and then you say to him:

"Why you're evidently up against it. That man Murphy just loves to get a lawsuit. He has lots of money and will probably spend ten times the amount of his claim simply for the fun of making the railroad company pay it. If I were you I would settle with him for almost any sum and get rid of him."

And the strange thing was that it all came about just as Murphy had mapped out.

Great State for Raising Taxes.
Perham Enterprise: Minnesota farmers can raise almost anything that pays, but it looks like Minnesota officials can't raise anything but the tax rate. We must admit they are hummers in that line.

Anoka Union: The whole state is suffering from high taxes and the taxpayers are swearing a blue streak.

An Expensive Headlight.

That's What Is Needed.
St. Peter Free Press: What excuse is there for any state to expend $10 per capita for running the state government? Our state is progressive and satisfied with nothing but the best, but that is no reason why our affairs should not be managed economically and along sound business principles. But to do this would mean an elimination process, affecting several departments and a healthy consolidation of the others, and which accounts for the difficulty in getting the needed reform.

Probably He Is Being Watched.
Brown's Valley Tribune: The candidate who talks progressiveness today, but who when in office in the past was anything but progressive, will bear watching.

This Man Does Not, at Least.
Belgrade Tribune: Everybody admits that Woodrow Wilson is in earnest and honest. Such a president could not go far wrong.

Crowning Incident.
Lippincott's: Sometimes one can hurt another's feelings worse by a slight action than by any number of words. There is an example of this in the young married woman who went home to her mother and sobbingly declared she just couldn't be happy with her husband again.

It wouldn't have minded it so much, mother," she sobbed, "if Charlie had answered me back when I scolded him, but—he did do something worse!" Her mother was duly shocked at this.

"Mercy, my dear child," she exclaimed. "He struck you, then?" "No, worse than that, mother!" and the young wife sobbed afresh. "Tell me at once!" indignantly demanded her mother.

"He—he just yawned."

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

ONE VIEW OF THE NEW WATER RATES.

To the Editor of The Herald: If the managers of the water department know the cost of pumping water they also know what the rate should be.

No one should ask for special rates nor should they get them. If the large user of water can pump water cheaper than the city, then the city is paying too much for its water. Some one said that breweries, foundries, carbolic plant, blast furnaces, laundries, etc., can use unclean water from the bay. Why, yes! but what of the result? The foundry man cannot pour that kind of water on his hot sand and retain his health very long.

No one ever thinks of asking special (charity) rates on post stamps. Special rates have become unlawful on railroads, why not in every other business? Sell the water at cost, and let it go at that.

THE TAX BURDEN.

To the Editor of The Herald: Since you invite communications of general interest to the public, I desire to offer the following: A. G. McKnight, also having filed for the state senatorship, is requested to state his position on the tax exemption referred to in my communication in the Open Court requesting Senator Tush to state his stand.

These questions affect every man, woman and child in this state. The tax burden on the laboring man is too heavy and on the land monopolist it is too light.

We want the masses to have greater buying power, then every seller will have greater selling power. That means more production, more pay, more business, and more life.

Dogs, saloons, nuisances, should be taxed to lessen their number or to abolish them, but food, clothing, furniture, homes, necessities of life should not be.

What do you think about it, Mr. McKnight? NICK NAME.

"HERE'S YOUR HAT: WHAT'S THE HURRY?"

To the Editor of The Herald: What would be a serious and offensive "knock" on Duluth if it were not silly, is being displayed these days in the window of a well-known Superior street cigar store, fronting an equally well-known place where men congregate to hoist liquors. This "knock" consists of several more or less well-done drawings boasting Superior and giving Duluth the worst of it. The evident idea which the "artist" wished to convey seems to be that since the "lid" went on in Duluth, Superior is the only burg in this vicinity, that is doing any business and that Duluth is being depopulated. It is well known that the man who runs this store is disgruntled against the city administration for various reasons, the first being his discharge from the police force some years ago. Since the Hicken administration came into power this man has never ceased to bewail the observance of the law. If he is so enamored of Superior that he openly knocks his home town, why doesn't he move across the bay.

Certainly the class of "business" that has gone to Superior is not the kind Duluth wants.

SUPERIOR STREET.

Duluth, Feb. 4.

THIS MUST NOT HAPPEN AGAIN.

To the Editor of The Herald: Will you kindly give space for the following little gem(?)

Say, hasn't this big Hicken been running things just great in keeping our old Duluth town strictly up-to-date?

I was surely strong for him in a hundred ways or more.

But, really, wouldn't this tango talk make you kind of sore?

I didn't mind the saloon laws, they hit me not at all.

I didn't wink an eyelash at the cigar stores' recent call.

But my righteous indignation has got started now for fair.

For I dearly love to tango and I'm right up in the air.

At the thought of herring "hesitating," castle-walking, too.

I can't see why a nice man wants to show him how they're done.

And I'll bet my cap if she can get him our cause is surely won.

Here's hoping Hicken keeps on handing out his laws.

But leaves alone the tango dance, and there I have to pause—

The Last Resort

(By Savard.)

Washington, Feb. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)

"When the devil is sick, the devil a monk would be."

When the devil gets well, devil a monk is he."

And so it is with a political party, and out in our glorious republic.

It goes nosing around the supreme bench for a candidate for president, and just now the Republican contin-gent is running up and down the earth with a lantern hunting a candidate, and finding that Teddy will not touch the ex-G. O. P. with the tongs, it seeks to draft Charles E. Hughes from the supreme court. Mr. Justice Hughes is an eminent citizen and he would make a great president; but Hughes is pretty nearly the antithesis of Aldrich and it is not quite clear that he would fit a Republican nomination.

There is this in this. John McLean of Ohio was an associate justice of the supreme court from 1829 till 1861, and the Whigs repeatedly threatened to nominate him for president. As I now recollect, his name was before the Republican convention of 1868 that nominated Fremont—"the statesman without a dispatch, the lawyer without a brief, the soldier without a battle, the millionaire without a cent"—for president, and possibly McLean was the contending man on the last ballot.

But he never got there. He reminds me of the horses that eternally run second—no good.

In 1868 the Democrats had a chance to win, if they had discovered the sagacity to nominate Chief Justice Chase for president. When Lincoln was a mild emancipator, Chase was an abolitionist; but aside from the emancipation of the negro, Chase was as much of a Democrat as the Democrats.

Hendricks, or Morrison, and now the negro was free and Chase had returned.

O, the folly of it when the convention nominated Seymour. Chase would have made the election almost certain, for he was a pro-slavery Democrat.

But in those days the Democrats were not so foolish as to nominate a man who was a pro-slavery Democrat.

When Grant was a pro-slavery Democrat, but in those days the Democrats were not so foolish as to nominate a man who was a pro-slavery Democrat.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M. D.

Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine.

HOW DISEASED MEAT DOESN'T GET INTO YOUR HOME.

The average householder is so well taken care of in these days of prophylaxis against disease and a more efficient degree of hygienic service in food supply that the question of butcher shops and meat hygiene is often carelessly taken for granted. But those engaged in the abattoir business are not permitted to do as they please. The meat which goes upon your own table is put through a series of examinations under the supervision of skilled veterinarians and their inspectors. The inspection begins away back on the land of the farmer, who fattens cattle for sale at the public market. For instance, a steer, or a calf, or a sheep, or hog, or any other animal back on the farm, is closely examined. Oftentimes some infectious disease like glanders, tuberculosis, hog cholera, rabies, bacterial dysentery, etc., is discovered and the animal immediately killed. This prevents any spread of the trouble.

Quarantines are established, and very often these most dangerous diseases of infected meat are handled in such a way that even the nearest neighbors are not aware of the presence of any diseased animal. Vaccine serums are freely used, and an up-to-date laboratory is maintained for the Pennsylvania veterinarians at Philadelphia, where the most obscure diseases can be studied and the most modern methods of treatment worked out.

For instance, the average housewife, until very recently, knew nothing about whether she would buy at her doorstep from the dealer who was free from tuberculosis or not. In Pennsylvania, the milk is tested and close check is kept on every milk dealer as to the character of milk he supplies to your table. His cows are frequently tested by the modern tuberculin reaction, and if any farmer's cow is found to be infected with tuberculosis or other infectious disease, the animal is killed and the owner reimbursed for the loss by the state. In the same way, butcher shops are investigated, and every dealer in butchered meats is kept under the closest observation, so that only the best possible meats are consumed by the public's stomach.

Every effort is being made in Pennsylvania by this livestock sanitary board to help each housewife get a better line of butchered meats and to assist wherever possible in the correction of faulty sanitation in dairies, creameries, slaughter houses and butcher shops. Whenever you are confronted by any unhygienic condition, therefore, of the butchered meat you eat, and you can make any helpful comments to the state livestock sanitary board in Pennsylvania, located at Harrisburg, let me urge each reader to do so. It doesn't matter if you do live in some other state. By writing the Pennsylvania board, they will be glad to direct you to the proper authority in your own state to whom you can lay any unhealthy evidence that needs to be quickly and thoroughly dealt with, if you suspect diseased meat or milk is being supplied to you or your friends.

Yes, you should be quickly advised by your family doctor. An Ohio lady, "Miss S. W.," says: "I am 17 and seem to have a cold and can't get rid of it. I have a brother a little older than me who has had colds and coughs. I am afraid I will get it from him. How would you advise me to protect myself? He always comes around me and wants to play with me. Do you think there is any danger of my taking the disease?"

Yes, you should be quickly advised by your family doctor.

MARRIAGE WILL DO YOU GOOD; YOUR ACHES THEN WILL DISAPPEAR.

A 28-year-old gentleman writes that he has had a backache for seven years, and that he cannot get it out. He says: "I am a farmer, and I am engaged to be married. I do not think my outlook in the future is promising."

Yes, indeed I do. Marriage is the greatest thing to dispel aches and pains if you will a good comrade for a wife.

Wholesalers who invade their towns.

"You want the right to combine among yourselves in your localities, and to shut out the mail order business and other competition," suggested Chairman Clayton, and the delegation agreed.

Hear Low and Brandeis.

Seth Low, president of the National Civic Federation, continued his remarks before the committee yesterday, arguing that labor unions and farmers' organizations should not be amenable to trust laws.

DON'T let anyone tell you that the boxer gets the worst of it in Australia," said Pat to the writer, yesterday. "Some of the boxers who come back from that country have personal grouches and they immediately start the knock. Snowy Baker treated me grandly and he is one of the nicest fellows that I have ever had anything to do with."

"Now about the battles in Australia—there was no chance that I would get a square deal in the second meeting with Hughey McEgan. The first battle was in Sydney. There is where I won the decision, and it was generally acknowledged by the Australian papers that I fairly outgrew the holder of the championship of England and Australia. The second meeting was in Melbourne, the home of McEgan, and before the contest was fought I knew that there was little chance for me to get an even break in the case of a decision."

"McEgan is a tough fellow, one of the tough and raw-boned kind. He weighed around the 150-pound mark the time he fought me, and he was so big that it was pretty hard for me. He never hurt me and the best they could have given was a draw."

"Most of the followers of boxing conceded in my second fight with McEgan that I had every round but possibly two. But then we all of us get those breaks, and there is really no use of kicking—it doesn't get you anything. What I am telling you is not in the nature of a kick; it is merely for the benefit of my friends."

"Snowy Baker wanted me to go back with him. On my next trip over—sure, I am sure that I will go back one of these days, cause I am stuck on the country—they will give me a liberal percentage agreement, McEgan and I drew something like 18,000 people at the Rush Cutler's Bay pavilion, so you can figure for yourself that it would be wise for me to work on the percentage plan instead of accepting the guarantee."

"It was winter when I was there—some winter—110 in the shade. I was as brown as a berry when I left there. Have kind of lost some of it coming over on the boat. One of the grandest sporting countries in the world—some of the finest people too. I could never ask to receive better treatment, not even if I were among my own people. It is a country where they seem to try to show you a fine time, and if it were not for the fact that the 75 cents they will give me a liberal percentage agreement, McEgan and I drew something like 18,000 people at the Rush Cutler's Bay pavilion, so you can figure for yourself that it would be wise for me to work on the percentage plan instead of accepting the guarantee."

Pat stated that the veteran sport writer of Australia, William Corbett, took special pains to treat him in a fine manner. He also stated that the sporting men over there appeared to be chaps of breeding and gentlemanly instincts.

Duluth and Hockey.

ONE wonders after seeing a hockey game of the class of the one of a half-century ago why the attendance during the present season has been so small at the big curling rink. The spacious arena was packed the evening the Winnipeg Victorias played here. That is the only game of the present season that has been well attended.

Is it because the curling club seven is not a winning one—or at least is not a winning one to date—or is it the fact that the 75 cents they will give me a liberal percentage agreement, McEgan and I drew something like 18,000 people at the Rush Cutler's Bay pavilion, so you can figure for yourself that it would be wise for me to work on the percentage plan instead of accepting the guarantee."

One of the officials of the curling club—not in answer to the query as to the price of the seats, but in answer to the question as to the number of reserved seats—declared that the number of seats held in reserve was very small; that the popular priced seats outnumbered the higher priced ones.

Surely it can't be that they are tired of the game here. Hockey is one of the grandest sports of the winter show. While our team is not at the present time at the head of the league, we are getting some of the best hockey of any center in the country—and we are getting it in one of the finest rinks in the world, are getting music and skating with it, and are getting it mighty reasonable.

In the past Duluth has patted itself on the back and murmured that it was some sport center. Baseball is not patronized any too well here—and now we come to the sport of hockey and find that so far during the winter the sport has been very poorly patronized.

It was the officials of the Duluth Curling club that made it possible for big league hockey. In the past—years and years—we have demanded the enclosed rink and hockey—"rinks like some of the other regular cities have."

Well, now we have the rink—a finer one than anyone dreamed we would have, and the real hockey, better than we find that for some reason or other the game is not being supported like it is being patronized in some of the cities that have had big league hockey for a number of years. Maybe the people here are not as yet educated to the game. At least let us hope that the attendance will increase with the passing of time.

Word From Barton.
EDITOR OF THE MINNEAPOLIS DAILY NEWS, writes that Joe Carr has put his whole dynamic being into the task of getting right for the contest with Ketonev. This match means much for the husky Pole. A victory would mean further laurels among the middleweights. If Carr loses he will have to be satisfied with stacking against some of the lesser lights of the wrestling game.

Ketonev stands acknowledged as one of the real wrestlers of the middleweight division. His victory over Jordan is evidence of the standing of Ketonev. Jordan is one of the real rocks of Gibraltar of the middleweights and they kicked him on Ketonev out Salt Lake way when little Waino Ketonev was too persistent. The thing acted in the nature of a boom-crang, for the Finn is now pointed at as the man who has really gone begging for a contest with Yoke—and has been put off, at least for the time being.

Therefore a victory for the husky Carr would mean that Joe would leap blithely into the limelight as the logical opponent for a meeting with Mike Yoke—for Carr gave Yoke an hour and 57 minutes of strenuous work in Minneapolis this fall.

Boosting the Game.
THE idea of a series of handball games between the players of St. Paul and Minneapolis, is the real and right way to boost one of the greatest of all indoor games. The Herald has lent what influence it has to bring about the very arrangement that has been entered into, and it will take extreme pleasure in boosting along the intercity series that cannot fail of being a great stimulant to the game.

FANS TO MEET BROWN
AT CARR-KETONEV BOUT

Range Lightweight Will Be Introduced Before Wrestlers Start Mat Battle; Fans Flock to Training Quarters of Ketonev.

Pal Brown will be introduced to the fans of Duluth on next Tuesday evening when Waino Ketonev and Joe Carr engage in a finish mat battle at the Auditorium. Brown announced here yesterday that he would come down from the range and make a short talk. This will be the first appearance of Brown in the city since he left for Australia, early in the summer.

It is very probable that announcement will be made Tuesday evening of the date of the next bout of the range lightweight. Negotiations were started yesterday for an early appearance before the Portage club across the bay, and the date may be definitely known by Tuesday evening, when it will be announced to the public.

Spillo Kelly will be introduced in the same ring, and as Johnny Tillman, the champion of the world, is coming up from Minneapolis with Brown and Joe Carr to witness the contest, the evening promises to be one of the largest ones of the present season.

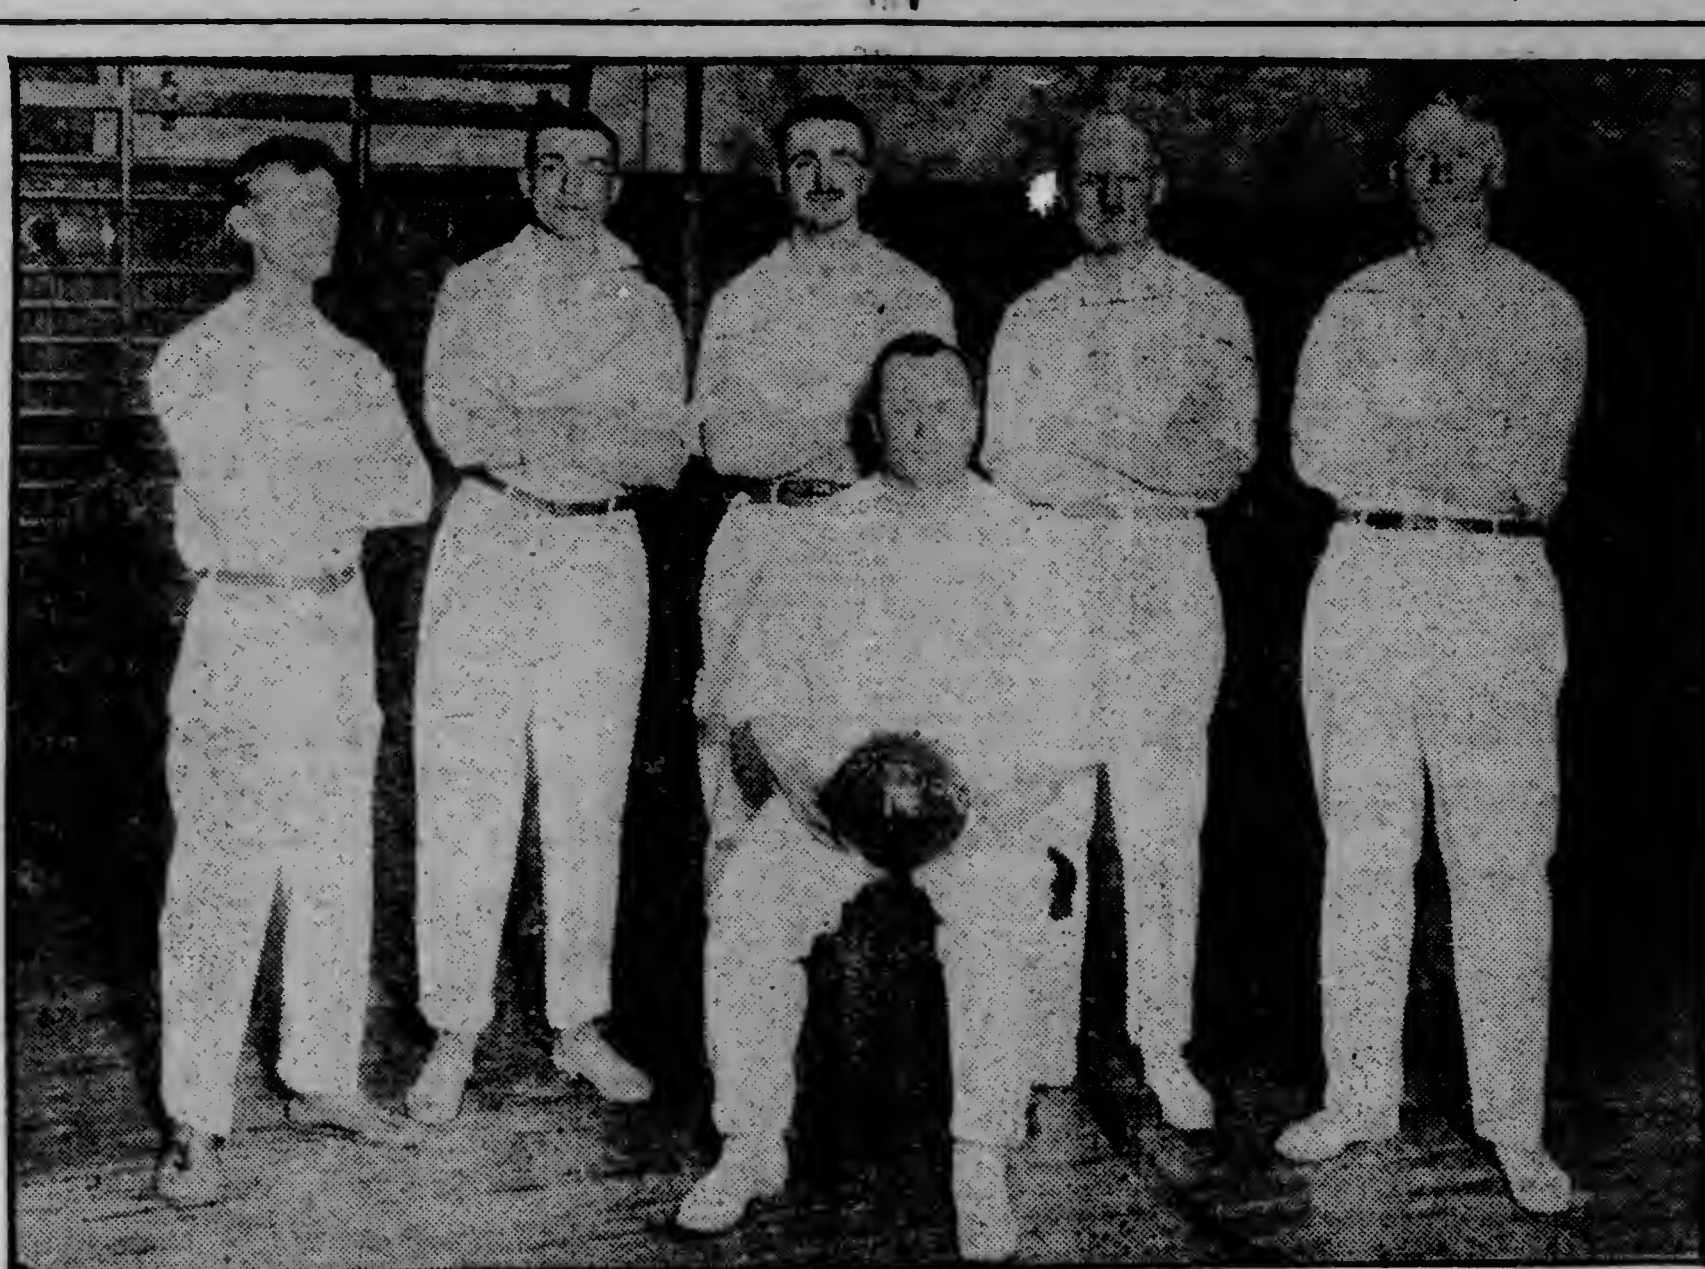

Crowd Watches Ketonev.
Yesterday afternoon the public workout of Waino Ketonev attracted a crowd of nearly 500 mat fans. Chairs were placed around the ring in the center of the spacious floor, and those who were attracted to his quarters to get a line on the ability of the eighty-toured Finn, found him on his ability.

Working with Aris Wirthen, one of his trainers, the conqueror of Curia Ketonev showed some of the repertoire of holds that stamp the aspirant for the world's middleweight title as one of the greatest wrestlers of the world at the 165-pound limit.

Those present at the training workout of the ability of the boy who put the power onto Jordan were not in the least exaggerated. The little Finn showed some of the wrestling holds that stamp him as a master of the game. That 500 fans should take the time to attend the training practice of a wrestler indicates the tremendous amount of interest there is in the coming contest between Ketonev and one of the very strongest wrestlers of all the middleweight brigade.

If we were the kind of a wrestler who made it a point to go into the annexing business, Ketonev might claim this waterweight title. Otto Euter is supposed, or at least the Chicago Athletic association says he is, to be the best waterweight champion of the world. Miller has beaten Euter at the boxing has never been at the prize-fighting. It is not a contest between Ketonev and one of the very strongest wrestlers of all the middleweight brigade.

It was the officials of the Duluth Curling club that made it possible for big league hockey. In the past—years and years—we have demanded the enclosed rink and hockey—"rinks like some of the other regular cities have."

Anybody interested is invited to attend, but children unaccompanied by older people will not be admitted.

The local team expects to play a return game with Eau Claire, and will, probably meet some Twin City teams on the same trip.

FEDERALS ARE AFTER MINORS

Tinker Says Highlanders
Can Have King Cole
Without Fight.

Outlaws Will Try to Sign
Some Touring Stars.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—The Federal league has turned its attention to the clubs of the big major leagues and has begun to riddle some of the teams, according to Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago Federals. With the exception of a few minor leagues still wavering, practically all the players in the American and National leagues have decided on what side of the fence they will stand.

Not only are players now in minor league rosters sought by the Federals, but those who may receive their ten-day notice of release from major to minor will be offered places by the new circuit.

Developments in the Cole case convinced Tinker that the pitcher belongs to the New York Americans, and no attempt in court or otherwise will be made to force him to carry out the contract he made with the Federals.

It was found that Cole practically had accepted terms with the Yankees before he signed the contract with Tinker, and the threats of court action were based on Cole's misrepresentation of his position. Rather than take a weak case to court, the Federals will give up Cole, they said.

Manager Tinker declared, however, that the Federals would fight the Killifer case to the limit and prophesied that Killifer would play ball with his team of new players.

A number of players, Tinker hinted, would be offered places by the Federals, and henceforth will not be favored by the major leagues.

President Chivington of the American association will be among the public leaguers in the gathering of baseball men at New York next week to discuss the big league threat.

Rumors that wear measures will be discussed there, were scattered here last night. Word is received here that six of the stars on the Giants-White Sox world tour are still unsigned and an effort, it is said, will be made before they embark on the last leg of their trip to line them up for the Federals.

The Chicago Nationals arranged an exhibition game with Savannah on March 19, this date practically commencing the north bound schedule of the Cubs.

The signed contract of Ellis Johnson, who has been received by the Chicago Americans, Johnson, whose home is in Minneapolis, was a member of the Sox team last year, but did not report on account of illness.

Steve Kane, former National league umpire, has signed a contract with the Federals.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 5.—Discussing the report that the Federal league will make raids upon the American association for players, James G. McGill, one of the owners of the Indianapolis association club, said he did not believe the Federals could have at the waiver price of any of the players of the American association.

Signings by the Federals of Outfielder Kauff, drafted from the New England league, McGill said he believed to be true.

Kansas City, Kan., Feb. 5.—Drummond Brown, purchased last year from the Boston Nationals by the Toronto club of the International league, has signed a contract to play with the team here. Brown last year went to the Boston Nationals from the Vernon team to the Coast league. He was later sold to Toronto.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 5.—Nick Allen, last season's catcher on the New York, Feb. 5.—Yachtmen who either own or represent the owners of the three big 75-foot sloops that will be candidates for the honor of defending the America's cup, of Sandy Hook next September, met at a dinner at the New York Yacht club last night at which it was decided to sail under the colors of the United States.

According to a member of the club, who had talked to each of the men who are building the yachts, most of the races are likely to be sailed in open water east of New London, where the yachts will contest under conditions resembling as possible those of the America's cup.

It is also understood that these races will all be in the races, sailed under the observation of some members of the America's cup committee, who are to select the yacht which will meet Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV, this year.

FEDS TO RAD MINORS,
SAYS A DULUTH PAYER

Well Known Playing Manager Tips Information to Duluthian.

It Is Believed That Federal Teams Are Short of Material.

From Winona comes the statement that Collins-Bowery Collins—and Bud Croake have been offered inducements by the various managers of the Federal league.

From Duluth today comes the story that the Federal league officials, unable to fill the rosters of their teams with players from the larger leagues, are about to raid the ranks of the smaller leagues of the country.

This story comes direct to one of the players of the local team from one of the playing managers of the Federal league. The Duluth player has requested that his name and the name of his information of the plans of the Federal league be withheld. The player in question was at one time the greatest third baseman in the time. Since then he has become a manager, and he is one of the big ones. It is to be presumed that he knows what he is saying.

If this story is true and the stated intentions of the Federal league officials are to be carried out, then it may be that some of the best players of the minor leagues will be enticed into signing Federal league contracts.

OLD RIVALS WILL CLASH

Portage Lake and Duluth
Will Fight Out Hockey
Supremacy.

Well, here we have Portage Lake. Most of the hockey fans down here are intimately acquainted with the members of the Houghton and Houghton Friday and Saturday evenings the final league games for sometime to come will be played. Duluth is going against her ancient and honorable enemy, Elg Paul Hogan, Carlos Hagg, Ole Haug and the others will be here. They are well known. Never as long as hockey is talked of will those two names of the last season be forgotten. They will live forever in the hockey memory of the followers of the game here. And now we are about to see the first game of the present season with Portage Lake.

Duluth hopes to get one of the games. Linder declares that his men will surely grab off one contest—possibly two.

Both of the games will be fought out to the finish—it is quite unnecessary to add that Duluth and Houghton are the deadliest of rivals. The games should be exciting, fast, peppy, fast and classy from bell to bell.

Following will be found some interesting information about the members of the Portage Lake team, which will be sure to refresh the acquaintance of the fans with some of the visiting stars:

Charles Haug—Oldest goal tender on the circuit, and second only to Monette, but has had more experience. He is 26 years old and weighs about 165 pounds; is inclined to be rough before and after the game, and is a way length of stick at all times. Has always been at Houghton and has had considerable experience against the old Houghton professional team, from A. to Z.

Bill Frith—Point, nick-named "Old Faithful" to his team. He is 26 years old, weighs about 145 pounds, and about the cleanest on the circuit. He is a very clean player for so heavy a man. He is a right winger and noted for his long, accurate shots. Extra good combination player, and a very clean player.

Paul Hogan—Cover point, the captain of the team, is the heaviest defense man in the league, weighing 180 pounds and 6 feet tall. He is a long suit is breaking up combinations on account of his long arms. Is good at advancing puck and plays a consistent team work; has a splendid long shot. He has played for the Houghton team, and for the past three years at Portage Lake. Is a very clean player for so heavy a man.

Stanley Skinner—Rover, taking Elmer Skotter's place in the latter having had his shoulder broken at the American Sox. Skinner is a Calumet boy, signed with Calumet the first of the season, but was released to Houghton. Is light, weighing 130 pounds, and is the fastest man on the team; can shoot from any angle or any distance and has been known to shoot a goal from the face off without moving out of his tracks; will hit Skotter's place with credit.

Ole Haug—Center, weighs 155 pounds and is 6 feet tall. Fast in spurts and a wicked shot. He is a great individual player but spends much time on the bench. At the Canadian Sox he spent five minutes of each half on the bench. Haug and Skinner will work well together.

Walter Ekley—Right wing; called "The Little Iron Man." He is a close checker and is inclined to be rough; is a good shot, shoots from any angle; a good combination player; steady; powerful; sensational; heavy, weighing 165 pounds.

"Ching" McCarty—Left wing; weight 170 pounds; fast; lightning; good individual player, but plays team work.

RITCHIE TO FIGHT IN AUSTRALIA

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 5.—Willie Ritchie, former champion of the world, will go to Australia probably for a series of fights. He has a guarantee of $50,000; after his fight here with Harlem Tommy Murphy, the exact date of which has not yet been determined.

The announcement was made by an Australian promoter, after a long talk with Ritchie and his manager yesterday. Two of the bouts probably will be with Hughie Mehegan, who was lightweight champion of the antipodes until Young Saylor of Indianapolis for the very reason that the Feds may be able to offer the embryo stars more money than the strong boxes of the smaller clubs can give.

Jawn Kading, whom the fans around these parts will recall as the first base guardian of the Eau Claire outfit won the Minny pennant, is at the present time signed with Joe Thinkers Chicago team. Biddy Dolan, another of the stars of the Minny, played last season with the Indianapolis Federals, and the chances are that he will be with the same team during the coming season.

It looks at the present time as if there is little hope of the Federals recruiting enough big league stars to fill out the ranks of their teams. In that event the minors will have to be raided for men to fill in.

Strangely enough—paradoxical almost—it may transpire that it will prove more difficult to lure the bush stars than it was to sign some of the stars of the larger baseball firmaments. You see, the youngsters have the haunting fear of not making good; if the young player fails to make good with the Federal league, what recourse is there left to him? He will have to go back to the semi-professional corner lots. There will be no place open to him in organized baseball.

The Case of Lewis.
Jack Lewis of the St. Paul American association was turned over to the La Crosse team of the Northern league. Lewis refused to go, and jumped to the Pittsburgh Federal team. Lewis was not signed for the coming season and now he is out of his league. The case of Lewis may be typical of others; therefore there may be hesitancy upon the part of some of the young stars in affixing their signatures to a Federal contract.

The clubs of the Northern league have a number of stars that would be the object of Federal league possession, should the threatened raid be carried out. It seems that the most of the minor leagues will be enticed into signing Federal league contracts.

knocked him out last week, and with Herb McCoy, an Australian lightweight, who won from Matt Wells of England two weeks ago in seventeen rounds.

KELLEYS WIN
FROM BAGLEYS

At the French rink last evening the Kelleys defeated the Bagleys in one of the best hockey games of the amateur league schedule, the score being 2 to 1. The contest was up to the high mark and that has been set in all of the games of the league and was fast and interesting from start to finish.

Fisher shot the only goal for the Bagleys. The score counted some minutes after the start of play. Langren tied up the score a few minutes later.

In the second half Miller scored the winning goal for the Kelleys. The Kelleys played a grand defensive game. While the Bagleys had some fine team work, the Kelleys did some great individual plays.

The line-up:
Kelleys Skomars

Bagleys Olson
Kelleys Hefferman

WILL TEST ALL COWS

Outside Dairymen Shipping Milk to Duluth Have Hitherto Escaped.

The health department will this year resume the testing for tuberculosis of cows which are owned outside the corporate limits, where they furnish part of the local supply.

Because of shortage of funds this was abandoned two years ago, but Dr. Webster considers that this is as essential as testing the cows inside the city or those which are shipped here from other points. Nearly half of Duluth's daily milk supply comes from the outside. Dr. Webster states that this milk is as likely a medium for the transmission of disease as any other.

In his report for January, Milk Inspector Gust Helman states that the local milk supply the best in the country. He says that the dairymen will co-operate, as they realize that what is for the benefit of the community helps them. During the month the department inspected 163 cows for tuberculosis and condemned one. The milk inspector visited 25 dairies, examined 112 samples of milk, made 12 sediment tests and made many examinations for bacteria. The average of butterfat for the month was 3.86 per cent and the average bacteria count was 18,673.

ALLEGED THREATENER IS FOUND POISONED

Well Dressed Woman Taken in Charge By Evans-ton Police.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—A young woman who registered as Mrs. M. F. Flint, Melrose, Ill., was found in a serious condition from poison by a policeman who entered her apartment in an Evans-ton, Ill., hotel today to serve a warrant charging her with threatening to kill E. J. Reidy, another guest at the hotel.

The young woman was well dressed, apparently well educated and about 24 years of age. She registered here last night at an address in the North Shore suburb. The police have no knowledge of Reidy except that he swore to a warrant charging the woman with threatening to kill him.

VOTES $500,000 TO FIGHT HOG CHOLERA

Senate Agrees Unanimously to Appropriation of Half Million.

Washington, Feb. 5.—A threatened loss of $500,000 in hogs during the present year from hog cholera led the senate today to agree unanimously to a bill of appropriation of $500,000 for the department of agriculture to fight the disease.

GRAND JURY NOTES DENIED DEFENDANTS

Judge Van Valkenburgh Decides in Florida Land Fraud Case.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 5.—Access to the notes of the federal grand jury that recently indicted eight officers and agents of the Florida Fruit Lands company, was refused in the federal court here today by Judge A. S. Van Valkenburgh, answering the petition of Herbert S. Hudley, attorney for the indicted men.

Mr. Hudley made the request for the grand jury notes at the opening yesterday of the hearing on his motion to quash the indictment on the ground that government agents conducted the grand jury investigation illegally. Judge Van Valkenburgh not only refused to allow the production in court of transcripts of evidence given before the grand jury but also announced that none of the grand jurors would be permitted to testify in the proceedings.

SEVEN AMERICAN MEN TAKEN PRISONERS BY MEXICAN BANDIT GANG

Big Tunnel Ruined and Train Burned By Castello.

Carranza Will Add Aerial and Water Fleets to His Forces.

Germany Prepares Refuge for Her Citizens at Tampico.

Mexico, Feb. 6.—Seven American railroad men are believed to be prisoners, the great Cumbre railroad tunnel through the continental divide is in ruins, and the Mexican Northwestern passenger train which left here Wednesday morning is a charred wreck at the mouth of the tunnel, as the result of the depredations of members of the Maximo Castillo gang.

This information amplifying reports last night from Chihuahua, was received here today at the headquarters of the railroad. It corrects last night's statement that it was the Drake tunnel, a smaller one south of Cumbre, which was destroyed. The Cumbre tunnel is the largest on the road, 3,700 feet long, and required eighteen months to construct.

Names of Prisoners.
The names of the prisoners reached here are:
Mr. J. G. Martin, superintendent of the road.
Mr. J. Schenck, superintendent of the road.
Mr. J. Williams, assistant manager of the railroad.
Mr. J. J. McArthur, engineer of the passenger train.
Mr. E. W. Venable, express agent.
A seventh American is believed to have been on the train and Americans were also employed on the freight train which was used to fire the tunnel.

Villa Enraged at News.
Gen. Francisco Villa, commander of the rebel forces, now at Chihuahua, was enraged at the news, and in a telegram which passed through here today, instructed Gen. Felipe Macias, operating in the Casas Grandes district, to shoot any American who could not satisfactorily account for his presence there.

Castello, the bandit leader, after twenty-two of his men had been captured and executed by a revolutionary force at El Valle near Casas Grandes, set fire to the woodwork of the Cumbre tunnel, which carries the Mexican Northwestern railroad through the continental divide, and on an official report received at the municipal council here, the men were captured and summarily executed Wednesday.

The report says, Castello's desperado band took the train and the Cumbre tunnel, runs through soft earth, and the burning of the tunnel, which may entail heavy loss by cave-ins.

Was Madero's Bodyguard.
Castello was former bodyguard of President Madero. During the present revolution he and his band of fifty or sixty followers have been raiding non-combatants. Castello has harassed the Mexican colony in Casas Grandes, and is charged with the murder of George Seary, a member of the committee.

SEEK TO DISARM THE COAL MINERS

Colliers, W. Va., Feb. 6.—Aroused by complaints of citizens who fear open warfare between striking miners and contract men at the mines of the West Virginia & Kentucky Coal company here, peace officers of Brooke county today sought a plan by which the men could be disarmed, and the officers say many men are armed with high power rifles. The strike has been on since last September and has been a "hot" one, with many deaths and injuries.

MUST WORK FOR LIVING

Alberto Terrazas, Famous as Spender, Reduced
By Mexican Revolt.

Mammoth Family Estate
Declared Confiscated
By Villa.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 6.—His immense income tied up by three years of revolutions, Alberto Terrazas, of the family whose name in Mexico is a synonym for great wealth, has been compelled to seek a means of livelihood.

This information, as astounding in Mexico and along the Rio Grande country as similar news affecting a Rockefeller or a Vanderbilt would be in the United States, became known here today with his departure for Toluca, Mex. He was accompanied by his family, but not the usual retinue of servants.

Near Pasadena, Terrazas, ex-ceto to buy or lease a small farm, where he can make a modest living. He is one of those who see no peace in the nation's land, and the income of the vast Terrazas family fortune, estimated at $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 in American gold, (Continued on page 16, third column.)

MARRIED TEACHER WILL FIGHT FOR HER PLACE

MRS. JEANNETTE ORTMANN GAMSE.

New York, Feb. 6.—The agitation of the question of married women as teachers is centering at present in Jeannette Ortmann Gamse. As Miss Ortmann she was a teacher in the public schools of New York. She married Mr. Gamse, and knowing the rule against married women as teachers she did not inform the school board. Therefore when her marriage was discovered the board had a perfectly good excuse for dismissing her from the service on the ground that she had concealed something. Mrs. Gamse and her friends are not going to let the matter rest. They have rallied all the friends of women, including the suffragists, and are going to make a test case of the matter.

WALL STREET IS DEFENDED

Stock Exchange Men Continue Protests Against Owen Bill.

Speculation "of Direct Economic Value," Says Van Antwerp.

Washington, Feb. 6.—New York stock exchange officials, bankers, appearing before the senate committee on banking and currency, today resumed their arguments against the Owen bill proposing government regulation of stock exchanges.

"There is no comparison between the efficiency of the division now and what today," said the general secretary of the exchange, "the field movements during the year have been invaluable to our troops. At the camp at Texas City is the first attempt ever made to mobilize the division in order to prepare it for possible trouble, and the venture has been a complete success."

No Refuse and No Flies.
Communities, the particular attention which was paid to proper sanitation of the camp and environs, the commander said. "The methods for the disposal of garbage and other refuse in the camp might well set an example to many cities. All of it was burned, and there is not a fly in the camp."

"Swat the fly" campaigns received considerable attention in the newspapers, and the newspapers would stop talking about swat the fly campaigns and turn their attention to the proper disposition of refuse there might be less annoyance from flies in our large cities."

Praised Short Selling.
J. B. Mebon, president of the exchange, invited the committee to New York to see its operations.

Henry G. S. Smith, a member of the exchange, defended speculative transactions on the day's fluctuations in gold and silver, and the selling, he said, created a positive market for stock.

SAYS ARMY CAMP COULD TEACH CITIES

Gen. Carter Talks of Discipline and Sanitation on Mexican Border.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Maj. Gen. William H. Carter is proud of the Second division of the United States army and of its showing in the mobilization camp in Texas.

"There is no comparison between the efficiency of the division now and what today," said the general secretary of the exchange, "the field movements during the year have been invaluable to our troops. At the camp at Texas City is the first attempt ever made to mobilize the division in order to prepare it for possible trouble, and the venture has been a complete success."

PILLAGING IN CAPE HAITIEN

American Sailors Landed at Request of Foreigners.

Navy Officer Reports Fear for Safety of Port au Prince.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Rioting and pillaging broke out in Cape Haitien yesterday to such an extent that Commander Bestwick of the gunboat Nashville landed eighty men to protect lives and property of foreign residents.

Commander Bestwick took action at the request of foreign consuls. In instructions to his landing force were to protect Americans, all foreigners and their property.

Davilaire Theodore, who had proclaimed himself provisional president before his defeat at Gonaves at the hands of the Zamor brothers, is trying to set up a government at Cape Haitien, where he retreated after the battle. He has appointed a cabinet, but according to Commander Bestwick's report, appears to be losing control of his forces.

Fears for Port au Prince.
Latest reports from Capt. Russell of the battleship South Carolina, at Port au Prince, expressed apprehension for the safety of the city. However, he reports no organized efforts to expel the foreign naval forces policing the city, though his earlier reports indicated dissatisfaction by natives generally at the presence of the sailors and marines ashore.

A committee on safety, headed by an American resident at Port au Prince, representing foreign residents and principal business elements of the city, also requested the landing of naval forces, and asked to have the rebel army now advancing on Port au Prince excluded until some force of government can be organized.

PULLMAN CHARGES TO GO UP MARCH 1

Exclusive Occupation Will Come Higher After That Date.

New York, Feb. 6.—On March 1 a new and higher rate for Pullman compartments and drawing rooms occupied exclusively by one person will go into effect, unless objection is raised by the interstate commerce commission. Notice of the new tariff, adopted by practically every railroad in the United States, has been filed with the commission.

Instead of charging a single railroad fare and a single drawing room fare as heretofore, the roads will charge for exclusive use of a drawing room by one person, double the railroad fare plus a single drawing room fare, and for Pullman compartments for the exclusive use of one traveler, the present charge for one railroad fare plus the compartment fare will be increased to one and a half railroad fare plus the present compartment fare.

POLICEMAN KILLED BY MAN HE SEARCHED.

New York, Feb. 6.—Policeman Edward Murtha, shot under the heart last night by a gunman he was endeavoring to search, died today. James O'Connor, a bystander, who was wounded by the gunman, was in a critical condition today.

Laundry Burned.
Quincy, Ill., Feb. 6.—The plant of the Quincy Laundry company was almost entirely destroyed by fire today. Loss, $50,000.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Maj. Gen. William H. Carter is proud of the Second division of the United States army and of its showing in the mobilization camp in Texas.

WOULD CUT EXPENSES

How to Effect Reduction of $300,000 in State's Expenses.

Let Each County Pay for Care of Its Own Insane.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last year twelve million dollars, this year fourteen millions, who's to blame for the rise in state taxes? All over the state one hears the break-kick-kick-kick chorus—it's the governor's fault; he ought to have stopped it; it's the legislature; they ought not to have done it. Which is all very interesting, but it doesn't get to the root of the matter.

Expenses will be reduced when and where public opinion wishes to have them reduced.

To go back a minute. Fourteen years ago Governor Lind pointed out that a good many patients were sent to state insane hospitals who might be as well off at home. He also showed that Minnesota is the only state that supports its insane population entire. And he recommended that the actual cost of feeding the insane should be charged against the counties from which they come, with leave to the counties to reimburse themselves from the families if they were able to pay.

That strike the average man as a reasonable proposition.

The legislature paid no attention.

After Lind came Van Sant. Governor Van Sant in his first message hit on the happy thought. Why shouldn't each county pay the state for the care of its own insane? Will leave to collect from the relatives when they were able to pay.

ABANDON FIGHT TO PUT LID ON CHICAGO

Anti-Saloon League Move Dropped; Illegal Signers on Petition.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Opponents of saloons in Chicago have abandoned a plan to procure a vote at the spring election on the closing of bars.

Leaders in the Anti-Saloon league had previously announced that a petition to have the question of closing saloons placed on the ballot would be signed by a sufficient number of voters.

At a meeting of the league last night, it was discovered that the legal requirement had not been met by the petition. It also developed that some of the leaders of the movement to oust saloons thought it inadvisable to put the question to a vote now.

Illegal Signers Found.
Ninety men were arrested last night in a raid on a pool room when the policemen found them signing petitions circulated by the Anti-Saloon league. None of the men, it was said, has legal residence here. They said they were to receive 2 cents apiece for their signatures.

Option elections will be held in many towns and cities throughout the state this spring, and it had been said by anti-saloon leaders that with the women voting, Chicago and all the rest of Illinois could be made prohibition territory. Opponents of the prohibitionists declare that they have statistics to show that the female vote will have no effect on saloons.

SWEDEN WILL GUARD BORDER

Demand of 30,000 Citizens Approved By King Gustaf.

Russian Aggression Feared
There and in Austria-Hungary.

Stockholm, Feb. 6.—Thirty thousand patriotic Swedes gathered in the outskirts of the Swedish capital yesterday and marched today in procession before King Gustaf to present a petition asking for the reinforcement of the national defenses. The petition demands an increase of armaments without delay.

The movement is regarded in many quarters as indicative of the fears of many Swedes of a possible Russian aggression.

Striking successes, both spectacular and material, attended the monster demonstration. The 30,000 participants were told by king Gustaf that the problem of Swedish defense must be settled without loss of time.

The army of patriotic petitioners was greeted with enthusiasm by the entire population of Stockholm as it marched through the streets to the palace, at which King Gustaf was waiting to receive it.

Plot Alleged in Hungary.
Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 6.—Russia will not demolish her army until the Russian flag floats over the Carpathian mountains.

TEACHER-MOTHER IS BEATEN ON APPEAL

Is Told Courts Have No Authority to Reinstate
Her.

New York, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Bridget Pelicotto, a school teacher, who won a preliminary contest in the state supreme court after having been dismissed by the school board because she absented herself to become a mother, met with reversal by the appellate court today.

This court unanimously upheld Justice Scabury's decision, which had ordered the board to reinstate the teacher. The higher court held that Mrs. Pelicotto should have applied to the state commissioner of education for relief rather than to the courts.

T. R. WILL "COMMAND" BULL MOOSE PARTY

Will Get Into Saddle on His Return, Declares
Perkins.

Portland, Me., Feb. 6.—Theodore Roosevelt will come to Maine next fall to assist the Progressive party in its state campaign. This announcement was made by George W. Perkins, chairman of the executive committee of the National Progressive party, in an address to Maine Progressives.

Perkins told the Progressives that Roosevelt, upon his return from South America, would get into the saddle and assume command.

WEST AND SOUTHWEST ARE GRIPED BY COLD;

42 BELOW IN MONTANA

PROMISES INCREASE IN DEFENSES OF SWEDEN

Snow and High Winds Accompany Biting Temperatures.

Mercury Reaches Zero in the Panhandle of Texas.

Duluth Is Comfortable, Though Cold Wave Is Predicted.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The severest weather of the year is now prevailing in the upper Missouri valley and the plains states, as far south as Oklahoma and the Panhandle of Texas.

The weather bureau, in a special bulletin, announced today that the temperature at Havre, Mont., was 42 deg. below zero, and zero temperatures or lower prevailed as far south as the Kansas-Oklahoma border.

The city's low readings have been attended by snow, high winds and gales. East of the Mississippi there have been numerous thunder showers in the Southern states, and snow in the northern regions. Thus far the snow has been comparatively light, but indications point to heavy snow in the West and Northern New England.

The cold wave will overcloud the East Gulf states, the middle Mississippi valley and the lower Ohio valley in the next twenty-four hours and will reach the Atlantic coast states from Florida to Maine by Sunday morning, says the bulletin.

Cold in Montana.
Helena, Mont., Feb. 6.—The state of Montana is in the grip of the severest winter weather experienced in years. Temperatures range from 9 below zero at Great Falls, the warmest spot in the state, to 38 below at Billings and 42 below at Havre. Cattlemen expect little loss of livestock because of the lightness of recent snows.

MOVE TO REPEL THE CANAL ACT IS BEGUN

Plan Is Before Congress as an Administration Measure.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Repeal of the toll exemption provision of the Panama canal law was before congress today as an administration measure backed by President Wilson.

Although repeal of the section which would give free passage to American coastwise ships through the great waterway involves a practical repudiation of one of the plans of the Democratic platform adopted by the Baltimore convention which nominated President Wilson, administration leaders were sure of prompt action.

And began lining up their forces in the senate, where the hardest fight was expected. Some democrats there are avowedly in opposition to the president's wish, and have announced their intention of fighting his proposal.

A message to congress, probably delivered in person by the president, is expected as soon as conferences develop the administration's course.

Repeal of the free passage section will dispose of Great Britain's protest of it is in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

TOO DAZED TO SEE SHOOTING

John Kollan Testifies in Trial of Deputies at Houghton.

Says He Was Hit on Head With Club Just Before.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Kollan, one of the principal actors in the prologue of the Seaberville tragedy, was unable to throw any additional light on the shooting of the two strikers by deputy sheriffs and Waddell-Mahon guards, when called as a witness today at the trial of five officers on charges of second degree murder.

In attempting to arrest him, Kollan said, one of the deputies struck him over the head with a club, and he was in such a dazed condition while the shooting was being done that he did not remember exactly what happened.

Kollan and John Stimac were the two strikers who encountered Humphrey Quick, the watchman, while attempting to use a private path across the mining company's property. The deputies and guards had gone to the miners' boarding house, where the shooting occurred, to arrest these two men.

Powder Turned Baby's Face.
Describing the shooting at her home at Seaberville on Aug. 14, in which two of her boarders were killed, Mrs. Antonio Patrick testified that the face of a baby she held in her arms was burned by powder from the pistols of the officers.

Mrs. Patrick said she went out of the house (Continued on page 16, third column.)

ENDS LIFE WITH RAZOR

John Gibbie, Woodsman, Found Dead in Bed
 at Bethel.

John Gibbie, a woodsman, aged 35 years, who has been staying at the Bethel since Jan. 22, was found dead in bed this morning with his throat cut and a razor in his hand.
 Nothing is known of the man by the Bethel management.
 No reason for Gibbie's rash act is known except that he has been out of money. It is not known if he has a family or not, as nothing has been found in his possession to throw light on his history.
 It is reported that he went to bed last evening and locked his door. His body was found by a maid who entered the room by means of a pass key.
 The body was taken to Crawford's

WANT ANOTHER BOARD.

Backers of Bismarck College Expected to Propose Plan.
 Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 6.—(Special to the Herald.)—Complications in connection with the educational situation in the Methodist conference of the state may result from the fact that Bismarck college backers are insisting upon the creation of a college that will be independent of Wesley college at Grand Forks.
 Under the plan proposed by the conference, a single educational board that would have jurisdiction over both colleges is proposed, but the Bismarck plan proposes that a separate board be created, and that the board be self continuing.

 When the conference board meets again at Jamestown April 2, backers of the Bismarck college probably will have a proposition to submit. They will continue the fight to the end to avoid going under the same board with the Grand Forks institutions.
 The work of raising funds for the Bismarck college. It is proposed, shall be abandoned till after the creation of a $200,000 endowment fund for the college, after which time a $250,000 fund for the Bismarck institution will be authorized.
 Bismarck partisans, however, are not willing to wait that length of time, and maintain that they should be permitted to engage in work immediately.

QUINCY, ILL., TO VOTE ON LIQUOR.

Quincy, Ill., Feb. 6.—A petition has been filed with the city clerk of Quincy asking that the voters of Quincy vote on the question of saloons or no saloons at the election, April 2. The petition was filed by officers of the local branch of the Anti-Saloon league and has 3,800 signatures, of which about two-thirds are those of women.
 The prohibition question never before has been voted on in Quincy.
 This city has saloons and two breweries and always has been considered a stronghold of the liquor interests.

OVATION FOR CHAIRMAN

Members of Public Affairs Committee Welcome
 Julius H. Barnes.

Sub-Committees Present
 Reports—Hear Talk on Income Tax.

After the dinner served to the members of the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club last night, when Chairman Julius H.
 Barnes arose to call the meeting to order, he was given an ovation which brought ruddiness to his face. Mr.
 Barnes, who is one of the most popular members of the club, has just returned from an absence of several months in Europe, and the last few meetings of the committee have been presided over by Vice Chairman Henry Nolte. In his opening remarks Mr.
 Barnes said that there has been often the subject of wondering discussion as to why the cities on this nation's great waterways are prospering. He introduced a resolution, which was adopted, that Duluth should do everything possible to bring about the divorce of the lake-and-rail line combinations.
 The first committee called on for a report was the agricultural and C. E.
 Craig, the chairman, said that while there was no report to be made, the agricultural committee ended yesterday afternoon, he believes, has done a great deal of good for Northeastern Minnesota.
 B. C. Wade, reporting for the educational committee, spoke of the recent visit of Dr. Roberts, the language teaching expert, and of the remarkable results of his methods. He introduced a resolution, which was adopted, endorsing the request of a gathering of business men made on Jan. 27 that the Y. M. C. A. engage, if possible, a teacher to instruct foreigners in English according to Dr. Roberts' methods.
 W. C. Sargent introduced for the good roads committee a resolution to request of congress an appropriation of $100,000 for the construction of two bridges in the national forest reserve, one a mile from Ball club and the other across Pike's bay. These are necessary, it was reported, for the completion of the Duluth-St. Vincent highway. The club adopted the resolution.
 Residential District.
 The homecoming committee reported to the club that 85 per cent of the property owners of East Fond du Lac desire to have that section of the city established as a residential district, and the committee asked the public address committee to approve the plan by resolution requesting the council to take the required action. Some discussion arose over this, Senator H. W.
 Cleasde bringing up the fact that there has been a fight to keep out the houses at that point. A. C. Le Duc, reporting for the committee, said that that may be one of the best ones was that the residents wanted to build a better neighborhood and wished to make the place their home.
 The resolution was adopted.
 The public affairs committee reported on literature, being gotten out, on some of the "Landed for the future," told of the "Landed for the future," advertising Duluth as being published in the National Geographic magazines and trade papers and that motion picture showing the city being shown in a Pacific coast circuit. This report brought a very emphatic compliment from Chairman Barnes.
 J. H. Harding reported for the state and county committee that they will be meeting at the St. Louis County club and of the Association of County Schools next week. He asked that as many members of the club be on hand at the sessions as possible.
 He defined the satisfaction of Chairman Barnes the difference between the two committees, and the difference between the two committees, and that the men who will be present are the former kind.
 Arthur J. Edwards, secretary of the extension committee, reported briefly.
 G. Ray Hall reported for the traffic commission. He also gave the information that the hearing before the interstate commerce commission in which the carriers of the country are urging a general raise in freight rates has been postponed at the request of the carriers. He also told of the work of organizing the traffic departments of lake cities for mutual protection, and said that he believes that when the next meeting is called the organization will be perfected. Mr.
 Hall was given liberal applause when he took his seat.
 Feature of Next Meeting.
 Chairman Barnes announced that at the next meeting the work will be the purpose of the economy and efficiency commission recently appointed by the governor, and of which three Duluth-ians, C. P. Craig, C. A. Congdon and T. T. Hudson, are members, will be the subject of an address by Mr. Craig, who is its chairman.
 Arthur J. Edwards, secretary of the Wells & Dickey company, bond dealers of Minneapolis, gave the address of the evening, speaking on "The Income Tax." Mr. Edwards gave a clear idea of the requirements of the tax and after his opening, scores of questions were asked him. In fact, most of the evening was taken up in answering questions. He quit at two minutes of 11 and probably would not have quit then except for the fact that he had to catch the 11:10 train. His speech and answers were almost wholly technical, but, withal, entertaining. Keen interest was shown and few left the hall during the address.
 Mr. Edwards declared that the justness of the tax has ceased to be questioned and the only criticism is that too few people are affected. There are less than half a million, it is claimed, who have to pay the tax. Many believe, he said, that those who draw less income than $3,000 if single and $4,000 if married, should be included in the taxable list. He said also that there is some objection heard to the fact that Federal and state officials are exempt.

 Grano, N. D., Feb. 6.—(Special to The set of the twins were boys, another girls, and the third was a boy and a

HOW ADVERTISING CREATES "VALUE"

That constant, persistent advertising creates value has been demonstrated over and over again in the history of advertising. If advertising actually creates value in a commodity then newspaper advertising must be an important factor in creating this value because of its direct and intimate relation to the home of the consumer. The question naturally arises, "What is value?" We don't have to go the professor of psychology to learn the origin and nature of that quality which we call value. The chances are his answer would not be the correct one. An intelligent manufacturer or a better answer. The value of a thing is what you get for it. This is a fact that will stick to death all the pretty theories about value. Theoretically the value of a product may be $1.00; practically the value of the commodity may be 50 cents. You might come out of college with all sorts of notions about the meaning of the word "value," but ten years' experience in merchandising will give you a different viewpoint and you will finally conclude that you get for an article is what you get for it in the market. The value of the material and the labor that go into the safety razor may be 90 cents. If the razor sells for $5 the value of the razor is $5. Now, advertising creates an important part of this value. In the case of the safety razor, indeed, it is well within the facts to say that advertising creates at least $4 of its value. If the factory should be wiped out by fire the trademark asset of value created by years of advertising still remains. It is not possible to destroy it by the death of the owner, or by fire, or by any other form of disaster. Advertising has not only put value into the commodity, but has created value which we call a "good will asset" which cannot be destroyed so long as the quality of the goods is maintained. The same reasoning applies to any commodity which has been widely advertised by the manufacturer and which is sold through dealers, whether it be food, clothing, a household utensil, a musical instrument, a car, a car-sweeper or any other labor-saving device. If you have any doubt about advertising putting value into a commodity a little experience in merchandising will soon relieve you of that doubt. In many instances a well advertised article is practically sold before it goes on the dealer's shelves. The dealer takes no risk in it. He knows that the value of the well advertised article already has a certain value in the market. The manufacturer may be unfriendly he cannot afford to be in the market and not carry a well advertised commodity. He is in business to please his customers and not to gratify any personal animosities. Now, imagine if you can, the reception he would give to the representative of a manufacturer or underwriter of goods if he did not like the manufacturer. Merchandising experience shows that you can never overstock a dealer with unsold goods, but once buying advertised commodities means a fresher stock and a quick "turn-over," and this means a larger volume of sales and hence the merchant can sell a smaller margin at less cost to the consumer because the goods move quickly and he takes no chances on stale or unsalable stock. A good illustration of the value that advertising puts into goods is furnished by the fact that in making an annual inventory the merchant can put down advertised goods as "cash." He knows that the newspaper advertising will pull them off his shelves in due time and hence in making up a statement showing the condition of his business he can easily afford to put them down as cash.

900 WILL GO TO DEMAND U. S. AID

Unemployed Will Go From Coast to Washington.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 6.—Nine companies of 100 persons each—eight of men and one of women—were organized yesterday from among the unemployed and said they would start next week for Washington, where a demonstration of the nation's unemployed is planned for next May.

Charles Kelley, organizer of the scheme here, says that these men and women will assemble in the national capital to demand "money, machinery and land from the government so that they can work out their own salvation."

Miss Pearl Vogel is organizing the women for the trip.

LIFERS PARDONED FOR AIDING SUBVERSERS.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 6.—Like Johnson and Theodore McKim, among the most widely known convicts in the Kansas penitentiary, have been pardoned by Governor Hodges. In recognition of their services in assisting in caring for prisoners who were injured in the prison fire last year.

Johnson and McKim, who for several years terrorized Missouri river towns, were sentenced to the penitentiary for life in 1904 for killing Nicholas Bierick of Atchison, Kan. Johnson is a surgeon and while in prison performed more than 400 operations on other convicts.

SAYS LAWS CAN END DRUG HABIT.

New York, Feb. 6.—Habit-forming drugs are sold here in "appalling quantities," said Carl P. Whitney, speaking before the county medical society. Mr. Whitney, as an assistant United States district attorney, had charge of enforcing the laws regulating the sale and use of these drugs. He asserted that upwards of 100 doctors and druggists in New York are engaged in a drug traffic which threatens health and morals. One physician in a single month purchased on prescription $2,000 worth.

"The drug habit," he said, "can be cured by law. It does not require segregation and societies for social uplift. He recommended that the manufacture and importation of "dope" be limited and the traffic regulated by a system of registration which would make it possible to trace a container from the manufacturer to the dispenser.

FRAMING NEW LICENSE CODE

Will License Breweries, Beer Peddlers and Wholesale Liquor Dealers.

Billboards May Also Be Included in the New List.

The new license code which is being prepared will require a license fee of $500 a year for breweries and $200 a year for beer peddlers, according to Commissioner William A. Hicken, head of the safety division.

The commissioner said that the ordinance will also require wholesale liquor dealers to secure licenses, but he said that the amount of their fee has not yet been determined.

The new measure will be submitted to the city council in a short time, probably in a few weeks. The license question has been informally discussed by the commissioners several times and they have agreed that a complete new code should be drafted.

In addition to the wholesale liquor dealers, the ordinance will include several other classes of licensees, one of which is being given consideration is the licensing of billboards. When the ordinance is passed it will probably incorporate all the principal requirements now embodied in several ordinances, which will probably be repealed.

IS RELEASED ON $5,000 BOND

Madam Gain Given Liberty Pending Disposal of Her Case.

In order to qualify her brother as her bondsman, Mary Le Flohic, alias Madam Gain, yesterday caused the Alcega Real Estate company, her holding corporation, to transfer to August Le Flohic, the Elgin hotel property on First street, a lot on Croix avenue and a lot in West Duluth. Le Flohic, with the deeds in his possession, was taken into custody yesterday afternoon and convinced the court that he was "good" for $5,000 should the madam fail any reason fail to appear for sentence at a time fixed by the court. The woman was released on bond.

CASHMAN ACT TO BENEFIT DULUTH

Head of Lakes Shippers Given Better of Twin City Concerns.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 6.—Rates through the Twin Cities will be materially affected by the new law enacted by the 1913 legislature in conjunction with the Cashman distance tariff law. This was brought out yesterday at the hearing conducted by the state railroad commission.

Under the present system, when a shipper made over 100 or more connecting lines, the rate is 80 per cent of the sum of the local. The new law requires that joint rates be made through the Twin Cities.

Helps Duluth Shippers. This, it is said, will work to the advantage of Head of the Lakes points, as under a recent decision of the Interstate Commerce commission, they have an advantage over the Twin Cities in on-shippers from the east. The old rule required that Duluth merchants pay the local rate to St. Paul, plus the local rate from here to the point of destination south.

The new act requires that a joint through rate be made, and with the advantage from the east on account of lake competition, the Duluth shippers will be able to enter the Southern Minnesota market on equal terms with those of the Twin Cities.

The whole subject was discussed at length yesterday by what was perhaps the largest delegation of railroad men and shippers that has visited the capital in years. There was no disposition to attack the new law.

SUPERIOR OBJECTS TO PROPOSED DAM.

Resolutions protesting against the proposed dam on the Soo river which would cause a raise of the water level from one to five feet, were unanimously adopted last evening at the meeting of the Superior Commercial club.

The speakers of the evening asserted that the raising of the water level would cause severe damage to the city sewer system as well as require the rebuilding of practically all of the coal docks at the Head of the Lakes.

The resolutions will be forwarded to Capt. E. D. Peck with a request that in case the international joint commission seriously considers the project that the local club may be notified so that a personal representative of the city may be present at the hearing to enter formal protest.

Convicted of Vagrancy.

William Watson asked for a job at the state free employment bureau Wednesday and got one. When it was time to call around for the job Watson failed to show up. Supt. R. D. Socon hunted him up and found him loafing around a saloon. The superintendent charged and yesterday Watson started a ten-day job at the county workhouse. Mr. Socon says he intends putting a stop to the practice of asking for a job and then refusing to take it when offered, especially when the class of men asking for the job are those seeking free "dope" at the city jail and free lunches around the barrooms.

BIG CENTRAL POWER PLANT IS ADVOCATED

Scheme to Utilize Great Lignite Coal Deposits of North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a sufficient supply of lignite coal to furnish heat for the entire United States for the next century, its development must necessarily be taken up before a great period. Three Eastern capitalists, interested in power and lighting plants, are in the state endeavoring to size up the situation.

Lack of Water Power. North Dakota, with its broad area, has no swiftly running streams or high water falls from which electric power can be generated, as is true of more mountainous states. But instead it possesses billions of tons of lignite coal that is strong in heat units and lies from one to 100 feet underneath the surface awaiting the capital to convert it into a mighty power.

It is proposed to investigate conditions with a view to learning whether great central power plants could be established in the lignite sections along the Missouri river and power transmitted to the eastern part of the state at a profit.

January Lake Levels.

The United States lake survey reports the stages of the Great Lakes for the month of January, 1914, as follows:

Lake Superior is 0.35 foot lower than last month, 0.49 foot higher than a year ago, 0.34 foot above the average stage of January of the last ten years, 0.40 foot below the high stage of January, 1901, and 1.60 feet above the low stage of January, 1886. It will probably fall 0.2 foot during February.

Lake Michigan-Huron are 0.25 foot lower than last month, 0.49 foot higher as a year ago, 0.03 foot above the average stage of January of the last ten years, 2.73 feet below the high stage of January, 1886, 1.01 feet above the low stage of January, 1886. They will probably remain about stationary during February.

Lake Erie is 0.08 foot lower than last month, 0.17 foot lower than a year ago, 0.32 foot above the average stage of January of the last ten years, 1.49 feet below the high stage of January, 1886, and 1.10 feet above the

WANT SALOON KEPT CLOSED

Burning of Hotel Starts Movement to Have License Refused.

Following the burning of the Adelphi hotel at Twenty-eighth avenue west and Superior street last night, a movement has been started in the West end to prevent the re-opening of the saloon at that location.

Appeals to that end were made to Safety Commissioner Hickson this morning. He said that he will carefully consider the matter but that it is too soon for him to know what his recommendation will be. He explained that the condition of the building and the plans of the owners will have an important bearing on the proposition.

When the Hickson code was passed the patrol limits were revised. Special provision was made to allow the saloon in the Adelphi to be run.

The West end people who desire to have the saloon discontinued declare that it is too far away from the business section of the city and that police surveillance is difficult as it is not on one of the frequently patrolled beats. The police records do not show that the place has been improperly conducted or that it has violated the regulations governing the retail liquor traffic.

The building is said to be owned by the Duluth Brewing & Malting company and it was stated this morning that it is planned to rebuild it with as little delay as possible. The raising of the license issue may cause a change in the owner's intentions.

FIREMEN GET COLD BATH

Assistant Chief Wilson and Lieut. Sievers Narrowly Escape Drowning.

Hole Under Floor of Adelphi Hotel Pitfall During Fire.

Assistant Fire Chief Charles W. Wilson and Lieut. Otto Sievers of the No. 2 fire hall narrowly escaped drowning early this morning while fighting the Adelphi hotel fire, which practically destroyed the building and compelled the fifty guests to flee in their night clothes.

The accident to the two firemen happened separately, and each time other members of the department came to the rescue. Escaping from the hole over six feet of water, Chief Wilson and Lieut. Sievers fared none the worse for their experience.

Chief Wilson, according to his own story, this morning, while fighting the building to fight a blaze on the first floor. Not realizing that the floor had burned through, Chief Wilson walked right into a hole and fell into six feet of water in the basement. He yelled for assistance and tried his best to swim to safety. Owing to his heavy clothes, this was impossible, but he succeeded in grabbing onto one of the supports, holding himself above the water until some of the men threw him a rope and pulled him out of danger.

The same accident happened to Lieut. Sievers, and he, too, was pulled to safety by other members of the department.

Both Chief Wilson and Lieut. Sievers were rushed back to their respective fire halls for dry clothing. They later returned to the scene of the blaze.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

NO EXPENSE MONEY.

Amateur Tennis Players Must Not Accept Financial Aid.

New York, Feb. 6.—A proposed rule prohibiting American amateur tennis players from accepting expense money in world, national, sectional and state tournaments, has been approved by the amateur rules committee of the United States National Tennis association and will be offered as an amendment to the by-laws at the meeting of the association to be held on Feb. 12.

This announcement contained in a statement issued by President Robert D. Wrenn of the association and Robert Leroy of the committee, declares that the importance of such a rule, which would make the American tennis laws conform to an amateur standard, set by all nations, "cannot be overestimated, especially in view of the United States' prominent position as holder of the Davis cup and the approaching contests of 1914."

The international federation rule in force abroad permits the payment of expenses only in world's championships.

Buildings to Conform.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 6.—The grandstands of the local Federal league club will be built to conform to the building ordinance and will be ready for the opening of the season, according to President Steininger of the St. Louis Federals. Work on grading the park will continue while an appeal is taken from the ruling of the building commissioner who rejected the plans for the grandstand.

ADVICE FROM CONSTITUENTS

Representative Asks for It, and Mail Now Overwhelming.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Because his mails were flooded with all sorts of widely divergent suggestions from his constituents, Representative Augustus Loneragan of the First Connecticut district recently decided to make a systematic mail canvass of the voters whom he represents, for the purpose of ascertaining just what his people liked in the way of legislation. He sent two circular letters to every constituent asking him to send him some suggestions and to add a little advice on legislative matters. He also reminded his constituents that Uncle Sam prints a long list of interesting publications which he gave the names of many of these publications and told his constituents that it would give their congressman great pleasure to replenish their libraries.

The net result of Mr. Loneragan's quest for information was that he was compelled to hire a dozen girls to handle the correspondence that he received from his ordinarily silent constituents. For several days an extra mail man was assigned to Mr. Loneragan's route. His mail leaked until it averaged 600 letters daily.

He discovered that his constituents were just full of legislative ideas and that many of them were pinning for government publications. Hundreds of his constituents urged amendments to the immigration laws, but virtually all of them urged him to vote against the literacy test in the Burnett bill. This action provides that the alien must read and write a few sentences in his native language before he is allowed to enter this country.

Connecticut at least the First congressional district, appears to be evenly divided on the woman suffrage question. Many of his female constituents urged Mr. Loneragan to vote against anything that would take the vote in favor of any plan that would give women an entering chance. Rural communities sent great masses of letters urging agricultural and vocational education at the expense of the Federal government. Sentiment appeared to be about evenly divided on the proposed Alaskan railroad project. One constituent urged Mr. Loneragan to present a bill forbidding burial at sea.

WOULD DRAW LINE ON HIS OWN OUTPUT.

Washington, Feb. 6.—When Representative Barnhart of Indiana demanded that the house Congressional Record be pruned of random articles on subjects outside proceedings, Representative Langley called attention to the fact that in the last Congress he obtained unanimous consent that Mr. Barnhart's eulogy on a dog be inserted in the Congressional Record. Langley wanted to know if the Indiana member regarded that as extraneous matter. "I do," retorted Mr. Barnhart, "but inasmuch as I was new on my job then and it was my dog and he was dead I didn't have the heart to object." "I have forgotten whether it was your dog," replied Mr. Langley, "or whether the dog was dead, but regarded it as a splendid piece of English and thought it would improve the Record."

NEWS FROM BIRDLAND

Waxwings and Grosbeaks Will Eat Scraps From Table
---Robins Winter in Duluth---Northern Shrike Visits City.

"Feed the birds and Duluth will soon be a winter colony for big flocks of other feathered creatures besides sparrows," is the advice of S. George Stevens.

Mr. Stevens has been experimenting with food for the waxwings and grosbeaks which are so numerous in Duluth this winter. These birds have about stripped the mountain ash trees of their berries and are in danger of starvation. Mr. Stevens and other bird lovers of the city have been trying various kinds of food, and have found that the grosbeaks and waxwings, although they are seed eaters, will eat almost anything that chickens will, and frequently feed with chickens. Meat scraps, bits of suet, cracked corn, wheat and other grains will be eaten. The Herald the other evening published the "first robin" story, but Mr.

Stevens is authority for the statement that three robins have spent the winter in Duluth.

Another unusual visitor was seen in Duluth yesterday. It was a Northern shrike, commonly known as a "butcher bird." This bird is often confused with the "lumberjack" or Canada Jay, but it is a different species. The Northern shrike is a visitor from the North. It comes this far south in the winter, but in the summer is found as far north as Hudson's bay. It gets its name of "butcher bird" from its habit of preying on small birds and insects. It impales its food on a sharp thorn and tears it to pieces. The shrike is a deadly enemy of the English sparrow and is one of the new birds that can more than hold its own with this insatiable little bunch of feathered energy. If a few shrikes would winter in Duluth they would rapidly decrease the number of sparrows.

SCHMIDT IS FOUND GUILTY

Jury Condemns Him to Death in the Electric Chair.

Former Priest Will Not Help Lawyers Seek an Appeal.

New York, Feb. 6.—Hans Schmidt, a former priest, was found guilty last evening of murder in the first degree for killing Anna Amuller, a young woman he had married through a self-performed ceremony while acting as a priest at St. Joseph's church. The penalty for the crime is death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison. He will be sentenced next Wednesday.

Schmidt, whose defense was insanity, laughed bitterly when the verdict was pronounced. He had steadfastly declared himself guilty, and at his arraignment, before being held for the supreme court, pleaded that he be punished by death. Later he protested against the insanity defense advanced by his counsel, and last night said he would not assist them in any way if they prepared an appeal.

"It is as it should be, and as I wish it," he said.

This was the second trial and the jury was out a few minutes less than the first trial. The first trial the jury disagreed. Allentists for the prosecution.

HANS SCHMIDT.

tion and defense supplied most of the testimony at both trials. Schmidt's counsel late yesterday hoped that if he were not acquitted on the grounds of mental unsoundness, the degree of guilt fixed by the jury would be second degree murder; for the jurors, after retiring, were informed by Justice Vernon M. Davis, that they could, if they wished, pronounce a verdict less severe than death.

A. C. Knoble, of Schmidt's counsel, asserted after the verdict that, owing to the former priest's persistent silence concerning the crime, it had not been possible to place all the facts before the jury.

Says Schmidt Shielded Doctor. He said Schmidt was not guilty of murder, but had shielded a physician after the woman's death. She was not murdered, the lawyer declared. If the police would display energy, he said, they could get at the truth. The lawyer was undecided whether he would take an appeal.

"Father Schmidt will never go to the electric chair," he added. Anna Amuller's body was cut up with a knife in Schmidt's kitchen. The body was found in a bundle, and the pieces, in several bundles, were tossed into the Hudson river, where most of them were found before suspicion was directed against Schmidt. The head was never recovered. Schmidt, in his confession to the police, said he was commanded by a "murderer" of the Amuller girl's life by his patron saint, Elizabeth.

Dr. Ernest A. Muret, a dentist, Schmidt's friend and companion, who was arrested shortly after the priest was accused of murder, was sentenced in October to seven years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta after his conviction for counterfeiting. Muret is charged with the trial that it was he and not Muret who planned the counterfeiting operations.

Henderson, good Samaritan, presiding. Commissioner Hicken will be one of the judges to decide between the two sides.

At the meeting last evening Homer C. Fulton, past treasurer, gave an address on "Looking Forward," and a class of candidates was also initiated at the meeting yesterday.

Atlantic, Iowa, Feb. 6.—Judge Thomas Arthur of the district court today issued an order closing the receivership of the Atlantic, Northern & Southern railroad, which has been in the courts for more than three years.

The road was built by the farmers living along the line. It is a little less than 100 miles long and now is being operated by bondholders and partly by a company known as the Atlantic Southern Railroad company, organized by bondholders living mostly in St. Louis. It is a north and south line, with terminals at Villian and Kimballton. The general offices are in Council Bluffs.

DIFFER ON INCOME TAX

Duluth Attorney Takes Exception to Two Answers Given Before the Public Affairs Committee.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In the course of his address on the income tax last evening before the public affairs committee of the Commercial club Mr. Edwards answered various questions that were put to him.

In several cases his answers differed from answers to somewhat similar questions given some time ago by Mr. Robinson, and I think it would materially help a large number of your readers and prevent a good many wrong returns being made if I would kindly ask Mr. Robinson to answer these questions again. I refer particularly to two questions affecting real estate.

The first question was asked by Mr. Le Duc, and was as follows: "If I buy a lot for $5,000 in 1908, and sell it in the latter part of 1913 for $10,000, how would I determine what portion of the $10,000 should be returned as income?"

Mr. Edwards' answer to this was that the property having been held for five years should not be considered income. The same reasoning applies here as in the case of promissory notes. The amount of a note not yet due is not considered income. As under the small payment plan the whole $200 profit did not become due during the year 1913, the entire profit cannot be considered income for 1913.

In my opinion, the answer to the second question should be as follows: Only that part of the profit which is actually due is considered income. The same reasoning applies here as in the case of promissory notes. The amount of a note not yet due is not considered income. As under the small payment plan the whole $200 profit did not become due during the year 1913, the entire profit cannot be considered income for 1913.

MAMMA, DADDY AND CHILDREN ALL LOVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Harmless "Fruit Laxative" Cleanses Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

A delicious cure for constipation, biliousness, sick headache, sour stomach, indigestion, coated tongue, salivaceousness—take "California Syrup of Figs." For the cause of all this distress lies in a torpid liver and sluggish bowels.

A tablespoonful to-night means all constipation, poison, waste, matter, fermenting food and sour bile gently moved out of your system by morning.

without griping. Please don't think of "California Syrup of Figs" as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself or your children, because this delicious fruit laxative can not cause injury. Even a delicate child can take it as safely as a robust man. It is the most harmless, effective stomach, liver and bowel regulator and tonic ever devised.

Your only difficulty may be in getting the genuine; so ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Say to your druggist, "I want the genuine made by the California Fig Syrup Company." This city has many counterfeit "fig syrups," so watch out.

Open Court, give his opinion on the matter. Yours respectfully,

G. F. EAGLING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In compliance with your request I submit the following in answer to your two questions.

The answer to Mr. Le Duc's question seems to me should be as follows: The increase in value of the lot since March 1, 1913, represents the income from same. For instance, if the lot was worth $5,000 on Feb. 25, 1913, and was sold for $10,000 during the year, the income would be $5,000.

If the lot was worth $9,000 on Feb. 25, 1912, and was sold during the year for $10,000, the income would be only $1,000. In other words, the income in this case is determined not by the numbers of months or years the property was held, but by the increase in value since the law took effect. Any increase in value of a lot before the income tax law went into effect is not income. This answer is in accordance with that of Luther P. Spear, head of the income tax division of the internal revenue department.

In my opinion, the answer to the second question should be as follows: Only that part of the profit which is actually due is considered income. The same reasoning applies here as in the case of promissory notes. The amount of a note not yet due is not considered income. As under the small payment plan the whole $200 profit did not become due during the year 1913, the entire profit cannot be considered income for 1913.

Duluth, Feb. 4.

Chosen Fargo School Head.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. E. Hoover has been chosen for superintendent of the Fargo city schools by the unanimous vote of the board. His election this year is in striking contrast to that of last season when the old board refused to re-elect him and named another man in his place. At the election soon afterwards the anti-Hoover candidates were overwhelmingly defeated and the holdover opposition afterwards resigned in a body. This left the board entirely friendly to Hoover, who was again chosen for his position.

McPadden, who had taken the girl for a ride late last night, telephoned his employer here that he would never see him again, and men in high power machines were sent hurriedly over the mountains to find him. Hoover came upon the auto by the roadside, its engine still running and McPadden and the girl dead.

In McPadden's pocket was a note saying that Bertha Milligan, at Leavenworth, Pa., could tell the cause of the tragedy. To Coroner H. A. McMurray the girl said McPadden had written her a letter yesterday telling her he was going to kill "the other girl" and himself.

FOUND GUILTY OF BURGLARY

Jury Deliberates Only One Hour in James Carey's Case.

After deliberating for one hour, a jury in Judge Cant's division of the district court last evening found James Carey guilty of breaking into a room at the Adelphi hotel on the night of Jan. 1 for the purpose of committing a theft. He was convicted of burglary in the third degree, which carries with it a punishment of one to five years in the state penitentiary or reformatory. Carey was jointly indicted for the crime with Stans Sankoski, who was finally convicted at this term of court after he had been tried twice. Neither of the men has been sentenced as yet.

Harry F. White, third assistant county attorney, appeared for the state in both cases, and J. Hogg represented the defendants, who demanded separate trials.

ENGLISH ACTRESS IS BARRED AGAIN.

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 6.—Marie L. Lloyd, an English vaudeville singer, was refused readmission to the United States when she made formal application yesterday for permission to cross the international border line after the completion of a theatrical engagement in Vancouver. She was refused on the ground of "moral turpitude," the provision in the American immigration regulations under which her application was considered when she first applied for admission at Ellis Island, N. Y. An appeal in the present case will be made directly to the secretary of state.

Every Home Needs This Great Remedy

No Home Can Afford to Be Without a Mild, Reliable Laxative-Tonic.

No well-regulated home should be without a laxative, for there is scarcely a day in a family of several persons that someone doesn't complain of a headache, of sleeplessness, or show the first signs of a cold. A laxative then becomes a necessity or what was a trifling congestion at the beginning may run into a serious cold or fever. No harsh remedy is needed, but simply a mild laxative- tonic that will make the liver active and stir up the bowels. People who have tried a great many things, and are themselves heads of families, who have seen the little pills run to big ones, will tell you that there is nothing better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the family size.

Among the great believers in Syrup Pepsin for constipation in old or young, and as a general household emergency remedy, is Mrs. M. F. Smith, 710 N. Cherry St., San Antonio, Tex. To use her own words, she says she will bless Dr. Caldwell for her dying day for she believes that through his remedy, Syrup Pepsin, she found the way to permanent good health.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is scientifically compounded and its purity is vouched for. Mothers give it to tiny babies, and grown people taking a little larger amount, find it equally effective. It is mild and gentle, pleasant-tasting and free from gripping.

MRS. M. F. SMITH.

It does not hide behind a high sounding name and is absolutely free from any prohibited ingredient. Families who once use Syrup Pepsin forever after avoid cathartics, salts, pills and other harsh medicines, for these only do temporary good, are nauseous and a shock to any delicate system. Such things should never be given to children.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

LIVING COST IS REDUCED

Lower Butter, Egg and Sugar Prices Relieve Consumer.

Mild Weather and Low Tariff Responsible; Beef Quoted Higher.

With butter and eggs down to summer prices in midwinter taken in conjunction with cheap sugar, consumers are now coming in for material reductions in their costs of living in so far as edibles go at least.

Butter has taken a slide of 3 cents a pound down the scale today, the Bridgman-Russell company quoting 27 and 28 cents wholesale for the best creamery stock, while the storage product is to be had at 25 and 26 cents. The decline is attributed to the increased current make brought through the mild weather earlier in the winter, and to heavy importations from Argentina. Both the butter and the storage product are still in the market, and holders are unloading as expeditiously as possible. As a result of these conditions, the butter market has declined 11 cents a pound during the last three weeks. The situation in New York is still weak at the decline and dealers do not now care to hazard an opinion as to where prices will finally rest if imports continue on their present liberal scale.

Sharp Drop in Eggs. Eggs are down 3 cents at wholesale, making their figure today 50 and 51 cents a dozen. This is a drop of 8 cents from a few weeks ago. As the egg market is now largely a matter of proposition, storage supplies have been exhausted a month or two ago, any further radical decline in quotations is unlikely. It is reported by the trade that the current crop of eggs are remarkably liberal. Hens began to lay earlier than usual, and with the season so well along it would require a prolonged cold snap to bring about much diminution in production.

Contrary to the usual order of things, the cheese market has not followed butter on its downward course, but is holding firm and even showing an advancing tendency. The closing down of the cheese factories with dealers holding light with no chance of their being replenished before the spring, is responsible for that.

Small Poultry Supply. Prices in live, fresh dressed and frozen poultry are unchanged. Receipts of live poultry are light, being limited to a few straggling coops coming sporadically on the market. This leaves the filling of current demand dependent on frozen supplies, which are said to be smaller than a year ago.

Beef is slightly higher, with beefers quoted a cent up and a similar advance has come about in lamb. Mutton and pork prices are unchanged.

Choice in Fruits. Supplies of fruit in the Duluth market are liberal for the season, and prices are regarded as reasonable. Oranges are firm on account of rains in California interfering with shipments. While the market is the same as a week ago, owing to there having been stocks on hand here. A raise in figures is, however, regarded as certain within the next few days. Box apples have gone up from 10 to 25 cents a box following the heavy demand for them, and the rapid cutting down of stocks. Barred apples are being rapidly cleaned up, and will, it is thought, not last many weeks longer. Florida strawberries are still coming to hand and their figure is up to 50 cents a quart.

The market situation in vegetables is reported unchanged by the Flitzsimmons-Palmer company. Potatoes are steady at from 72 to 77 cents, just where they have stood for the last two months. Supplies are said to be liberal while their sale has not been as heavy as expected. California and Florida vegetables are coming in freely, with the demand originating in Duluth and through the range towns heavier than a year ago.

FINALLY EVICT OLD WOMAN IN MILWAUKEE

Officers Work-Ruse to Gain Possession of Property Long Sought.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 6.—After a two-weeks' siege during which a woman and her family of girls withstood attacks by the Milwaukee police, the Milwaukee county sheriff and his deputies and a court order of eviction, Mrs. Mary Klinkhammer, 69 years old, was last night led from her home by a ruse by Under Sheriff Walter Walsh, and the property was taken possession of by the city.

The Klinkhammer homestead has been sought for several years by school officials so the land could be added to the Windlake avenue school yard. All attempts to purchase the property failed, and finally it was condemned and a value of $3,050 was placed on the home. Mrs. Klinkhammer, however, refused to accept the price and demanded $4,200. This was refused, and a court order of eviction was issued.

Police officers have made several ineffectual attempts to move the woman from the place. Instead, she secured several vicious dogs and placed them at places of entry to the house. She barred her windows, secured guns and ammunition, and prepared to fight off all attacks. For several days there was a lull in the activity of the police and Mrs. Klinkhammer, on Monday sent three of her smaller children to school.

Milded By Ruse. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Klinkhammer was called to the rear door of her home on the pretext that one of her children had been taken ill at school, and while there, officers broke down the front door, and entered the "fort." They had just completed confiscating the arms and ammunition when Mrs. Klinkhammer returned with her family of girls.

She and her girls attacked the officers, biting, scratching and striking. One of her daughters released the dogs and for a time the eight barking deputy sheriffs had a hot fight on their hands. They finally succeeded in removing the family.

Late last night Mrs. Klinkhammer succeeded in re-entering her home and another "battle" ensued before she was removed. Moving vans took the furniture to the place, and the five deputies were stationed to guard the home during the night from another recapture by the woman.

Often Imitated But Never Equalled

When a remedy has been before the public for more than half a century, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and in prominent hospitals, and has carried the blessings of health into as many thousands of homes as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. Don't be deceived by imitations of this renowned medicinal whiskey. The genuine is sold in sealed bottles only.

is a pure, wholesome, healthful medicinal whiskey, produced without regard to expense in compliance with the test requirements of the United States Pharmacopoeia, and in both quality and wholesomeness is immeasurably superior to whiskey made from that standard. Its color, which is pleasant to the eye, is a soft amber obtained wholly from the wood. Unlike most whiskeys, its taste is pleasant and inviting, with an odor delicately rich and agreeable. Physicians declare it is retained by the stomach when other whiskeys and liquors are rejected.

It has carried the blessings of health into thousands of homes during the past fifty years, and Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey stands today without a rival as one of the greatest body builders and health givers known to science.

How to Live Long—Use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as directed. It aids in building up the nerve tissues, tones the heart, gives power to the brain, strength and elasticity to the muscles, and richness to the blood; it brings into play all the vital forces because it stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment.

Be sure you get the genuine Duffy's (shown in picture on right) of your druggist, grocer or dealer, $1.00 per bottle.

Our illustrated medical booklet, containing letters from grateful patients and common sense rules for health, and doctor's advice, sent free on request. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Refuse to Accept a Substitute For Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

"A short time ago I went into a store and asked for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. The clerk did his utmost to sell me another malt whiskey which he represented was better or at least 'just as good' as Duffy's. I became very angry for I knew his reason of trying to sell me a substitute for an article that was so well known and popular, and used and recommended by physicians and hospitals all over the world. This store is one like some others that sell a well advertised and popular article at cost, and sometimes less than cost, using it as a bait. Then they try to sell the customer their own unknown article at the same price as the well advertised article. But on their substitute they are making an extra profit, and often when it is an article of food or drink, this extra profit is made at the expense of the customer's health. I am now over 67 years old and for many years I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I was advised by my family doctor to take it three times a day before meals as I had a hacking cough. After ten days I noticed that my appetite increased wonderfully and it also helped my digestion, and I have not been troubled with a cough or indigestion since. My doctor says Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is a pure, unadulterated and excellent remedy. He says that taken as a medicine and as directed by a physician it is a blessing to mankind."—Margaret Stroud, 1942 E. Allegheny Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

ENDING OF DEPRESSION

Renewed Faith in Money Markets Since Banking
Law's Passage.

Remarkable Change Not Only in United States
But Abroad.

New York, Feb. 6.—There is steady advancement in business affairs, both at home and abroad, the increasing activities in all lines following day by day the marked improvement in the money markets of the world.

Looking backward, it can easily be perceived now that the passage of the Federal reserve bank measure stands as the end of the depression and the beginning of renewed confidence in monetary affairs, not only in the United States, but throughout all the continents.

It relieved the uncertainty in banking circles throughout the United States. It placed the government and the government's cash and credit as supporters of the financial system of the nation.

Instead of local clearing house certificates, with legality doubted, and always evidence of monetary distress, bankers and business men now have a national financial system legally organized, to be made highly efficient and profitable. Our own financial experts recognize the superiority of the new system over the old, and the business men of the country, through the relaxation of financial tension that the passage of the measure has already brought, are feeling its good effects even before the actual installation of the system.

The buying of commercial paper by the banks of the cities, the resumption of discounting throughout the country, the greater ease of money for loans to old and new enterprises, have made the past six weeks a noticeable and really a historical financial period of our annals as a nation.

Change For the Better. Our change for the better, the ability of this country to finance readily its own current demands without raiding Europe for the gold which is there to its credit, came to the struggling financiers of that continent as a providential relief, and saved the security market from a deluge of American securities which would have been forced to sale if we had called for trade balances in December or in the present month.

Britain is in better financial position. France is losing that feeling of financial weakness that was holding so heavily upon its affairs politically, financially, and commercially since it has the $5,000,000 of gold sent from New York, and knows it can get other millions from the same source and from London if now required.

Germany is taking new heart through evident passing away, at least temporarily, of the money pressure, and thus we see the few leading nations of the world once more in firm agreement, and this by the concerted action of the business men and the legislative and executive powers of the United States.

That action eased the world financially, and will permit commerce and industry to continue now in the large volume and at the great values of 1912-1913, but it should not be counted upon as able to brace up and support the huge developments and constructions that are being pressed for on every side by governments and active business men of money-making talents and good judgment.

It is only proper and right that conservatism rule that the best results may be attained, that safety be maintained, and the affairs move on securely through avoidance of dangerous booms and panics. The investment forces of the world are bearing great and ever-increasing burdens, and the low prices of bonds and stocks that have prevailed have been recorded throughout the world of the public to absorb, and at the same time inability of many investors to supply the capital for the time being, and the constantly growing demands upon their resources without conversion of savings of past years.

The United States plan of banking is very highly commended in European journals, and the relief it has brought to European financiers has made some of them enthusiastic for the time being.

So highly of it as to press for adoption of its meritorious features abroad, or whether these features can be applied successfully to the operations of foreign financing.

These same European financiers are doing some serious thinking, however, owing to their perception of the narrow escape from ruin of modern business by the action of the Federal reserve bank.

Conservative Demand for Capital. The demand for this capital is made by the most reliable and conservative business men of the United States, and that expression means the most reliable and successful men of the world. Great business men like James J. Hill, expert financiers like Mr. Vanderbilt.

The demand is sound, urgent, well founded, and cannot be ignored if the country desires to utilize its resources for its own people and for the progress of the republic and the world. The world's financial system of today offers not the slightest ray of hope of being able to furnish that liquid capital.

The development must wait and wait, or the world's financial system must be radically changed, and that the last will be accomplished through the determination of the world's people to progress can be set down as the result of the agitation which is already in progress.

As the horse and the pack saddle gave way to the Conestoga wagon and the ox team, and the latter to the railway, so the world's financiers will be busy devising modern monetary systems to take the place of the cumbersome, inefficient and totally inadequate system that dominated international business affairs today.

International monetary reform must come if the world is to progress. International monetary reform must come if bankers and business men are to be rendered secure and safe in their business transactions.

International monetary reform must come if the masses of the people are to be kept in constant employment at fair wages, if the world is to be kept in industrial activity and in social and political peace.

ELOPES WITH AN HERESS

Deadly Duellist Twice Runs Away With Beautiful Girl.

Inamorata Was Hidden By Mother in Warsaw Convent.

Warsaw, Feb. 6.—Count Hannibal Meza, who is a sure-nought count and is reputed to be an Americanized millionaire and, incidentally, the owner of large plantations in Cuba, and who figured in a deadly duel in the Antilles, is the hero of a "double-header" sensation that is agitating Warsaw society. His latest escapade involved the sequestering in a beautiful Polish heress.

On the first attempt at elopement the count was foiled by the girl's mother and rounded up by the police, the girl subsequently being sequestered in a convent as imprudent as a fortress. But the eager swain did not give up on the contrary, he tried bribery and political "pull" in vain. It is true, and finally resorted to stratagem, which won the day, and the young people are off and safely married, while the girl's mother, who was, outwitted, has disappeared, and there are hints of suicide from chagrin and humiliation, though there is doubt about it.

Romance Is Begun. The romance began last year in Rome and Nice, when Count Hannibal met Miss Sophie Zaleska, a young Polish beauty, with whom he fell in love. The girl's mother refused his offer of marriage, saying she could not think of her only daughter living in New York or Cuba, even though she spent some part of the year in Paris, in her husband's hotel there.

But the ardent lover followed the girl here. The parents made inquiries, finding out, through various members of the Polish aristocracy, that Count Hannibal was all he represented himself to be. Papa began to relent; mamma stood firm.

A couple of weeks ago Hannibal came here all the way from Paris in his car, again proposed to her mother, and was again refused by her mother.

As Sophie came of age last week, they planned an elopement, traveling to Bialystok, the nearest Russian town where they could get married. But mamma, missing her daughter, found out that she had flown, and a strong police force, declared the girl was a minor, took a couple of policemen with her to Bialystok, and surprised the lovers just as they were getting out of their car to go to church. They had a break-down on the road.

Mamma Makes a Show of Count. To the immense amusement of all social Warsaw, the stern mamma arrived with her daughter and her daughter's lover under a strong police escort, which released them when it was proved that Sophie is of age. She snubbed herself to be taken home, tried to poison herself, and only desisted when her father swore she should marry the man of her choice.

Count Hannibal was sent for and the engagement announced. According to local ideas, a young woman who runs off with a young man would never have another chance of marrying. But the troubles were not yet over. When Hannibal called the day after the official engagement the Zaleskas' butler assured him that neither mother nor daughter was in the bedroom room rushed off to the club for the father, who had left everything all right at home, in a short time the truth was out.

By some means the mother had persuaded her daughter to go to the convent of the Immaculate Sisters. The nuns sternly refused to let them in. They have so far intercepted all letters from them both to the girl, who is entirely cut off from the world. Papa went home and declared he would no longer live with a wife who treated his daughter in such a way, packed his trunk and is now living in a hotel.

Would Not Give Up the Girl. Count Hannibal de Meza made several vain pilgrimages to the convent. He threatened to report the whole matter to the governor-general of Poland unless the nuns gave in. This meant that he had expelled from the country, as they are only on Russian soil on sufferance, for the government of Roman Catholic institutions. He only desisted because he did not want the count ruined. Several priests, including Canon Chmielecki, a well-known prelate, tried to make the nuns see reason, but they refused to listen to anybody but Mme. Zaleska, who once was a pupil.

Then it was that Count Hannibal decided on stratagem and violence. He sneaked into the convent at night with his fiancée's father, called on Mrs. Zaleska to try and persuade her to agree to the marriage. As she firmly refused they got her into a separate room and kept her there for several days. They hastened to the convent, where enough pressure had been applied to cause the nuns to give up the young lady. The young lovers rushed to the nearest church, still accompanied by the father, and were married.

Escaped Too Late. In the meantime, but too late to prevent the ceremony, a servant released Mrs. Zaleska, who rushed out of the house and has not been seen since. Her children fear she has committed suicide, while her husband says she has gone to a convent in Austria.

The newly wedded pair will go to Paris and then to New York as soon as the bride's mother is found. They ran to the car that took them to church in their house clothes, despite the severe frost. Miss Zaleska was in a dark suit and white silk shirt-waist, and the count in a chocolate colored suit. Both were hatless. Their escape created a sensation and large crowds watched the car off.

One of Mme. Zaleska's first acts after bringing back her daughter from Bialystok was to go the round of all the photographers and threaten legal proceedings if they dared sell a copy of either the count's or her daughter's picture. She obtained all plates and destroyed them. The mother herself is a great beauty and looks as young as her daughter.

Escaping Career in America. Here there is only a vague hint of the adventurous career of the count on the other side of the water, but on the story of his great wealth and of his countless romances are beginning to be circulated. While it is known that he is a naturalized citizen, it is not known when or under what circumstances he became a naturalized citizen. It is asserted, however, that he was a squirrel, James Ryan, a hobo, climbed on top of houses, "shinned" up trees and slid down water pipes of various residences on the M street road in the early morning and had the neighbors in an uproar. Ryan was first discovered on the roof of the home of Peter Zinnig, in Schley avenue, near Wolf, and was driven from his perch by a junior member of the family armed with a shotgun.

Killed an American. In April 1913, he reached the zenith of his notoriety when he killed Rudolph Warren, the son of a prominent American sugar planter, in a duel. The young men met after a quarrel over a girl, in Havana, and Warren fell at the first fire, shot in the abdomen, at thirty-five paces. Warren died in a hospital on April 6, and three days later Count Meza arrived in New York. On landing he told the immigration inspectors that he was an American citizen, having lived in this country since he was 8 years old. The Cuban criminal court indicted the count and he suddenly left New York, and he was never arrested and the case was subsequently dropped.

Five duels grew out of the Meza-Warren meeting, and Havana was kept in a turmoil for many days on account of it. There were charges of foul play against Meza, but nothing came of it.

MAN TRIES TO ACT LIKE A SQUIRREL.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 6.—Imagining that he was a squirrel, James Ryan, a hobo, climbed on top of houses, "shinned" up trees and slid down water pipes of various residences on the M street road in the early morning and had the neighbors in an uproar. Ryan was first discovered on the roof of the home of Peter Zinnig, in Schley avenue, near Wolf, and was driven from his perch by a junior member of the family armed with a shotgun.

He slid down a water pipe and raced across country for two blocks where he climbed to the roof of a bungalow. A telephone call was sent to the police from the Zinnig residence and patrolmen responded. When the officers located their quarry on the roof of the bungalow he was doing a count and when told to descend, promptly started disrobing.

Patrolman Brown climbed to the roof of the house and ordered Ryan to don his clothing, which the latter would no longer live with a wife who treated his daughter in such a way, packed his trunk and is now living in a hotel.

Ryan informed the officers that he was a fruitpicker and had gathered the oranges from trees along the M street road.

Drawing work from public schools in thirty-two cities has been selected by the United States bureau of education for exhibition purposes, and is now touring the country.

AGRICULTURAL SESSIONS END

Better Farming Conditions Expected as Result of Conference.

Plans to Put Immigrants on Farms in St. Louis County Discussed.

After the most successful agricultural meeting ever held in St. Louis county, the Educational Agricultural conference, which has been in session two days at the Commercial club, came to a close yesterday afternoon, and the speakers and others in attendance returned to their homes.

According to A. B. Hostetter, agricultural expert for St. Louis county, who had charge of the meeting, and many of the other speakers, the meeting will have many excellent results. A great many suggestions of the most practical nature were made and will no doubt bear fruit in the future.

Among things recommended was the elimination of saloons in agricultural districts, a closer relation between the merchant and the farmer, co-operation among farmers through clubs, the transplanting of immigrants and city workers to farms, better equipment for the home and farm, better seed and stock.

T. A. Erickson, state supervisor of boys' and girls' clubs, spoke during the afternoon on his work in the state. He said the future welfare of the farming communities depended upon the knowledge and character of the coming generation, and that the best time to cultivate a liking for farm life was during the early period of life. He said that encouragement was necessary to enlist and to this end, contests are being held and awards made to the most successful. This work is being assisted by 9,000 rural school teachers.

The meeting was closed with an address by A. J. McGuire, superintendent of the Grand Rapids experiment station.

"The soil of this district requires crop rotation to yield the best returns," said Mr. McGuire. "After trying thirty-two different schemes, I find the best crops to be clover, oats and potatoes. Alfalfa should be raised only on rocky ground and hillsides. With livestock, the dairy cow is the most profitable animal to raise."

MANY WOULD DIG WELLS FOR SCHOOLS

More Than 100 Bids for Work in Unorganized Districts.

At a meeting of the county board of education last evening, more than 100 bids for the digging of forty wells in the unorganized school district were opened. The contracts for the work will be let at the next meeting. In the meantime the bids will be carefully checked over. If the offers are found to be excessive, the board will readvertise.

Lewis A. Ink, assistant superintendent of the county schools, was chosen as principal of the unorganized schools. Mrs. M. B. Holmes was elected assistant principal.

The board also let contracts for the supplying of wood to a number of the schools during the winter months and approved bills and accounts totaling $5,000. The board voted to approve the dissolution of organized school districts Nos. 61 and 78.

ATTORNEY GENERAL WOULD INTERVENE

Eveleth Mayoralty Contest Arouses State Official to Action.

In view of the fact that an attack has been made on the constitutionality of the 1911 law known as the corrupt practices act in the Eveleth mayoralty election contest, Lyndon A. Smith, attorney general, has requested that he be allowed to intervene in the case.

Judge Dancer, to whom the question has been submitted, has notified the attorney general and said he may hear in the matter, either personally in court or by brief. The court last Saturday listened to oral arguments on the point made by the attorneys in the election contest.

The constitutionality of the law is attacked by Judge S. F. White, attorney for John J. Gleason, present incumbent, whom Jacob S. Saari, defeated by a small margin at the last municipal election, is seeking to unseat. The attorneys for Mr. Saari are O. J. Larson and Neil E. Beaton.

PROTEST MOVING OF LIBERTY BELL.

Philadelphia, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Cora Rogers Blackley, president general of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, presented to Mayor Blankenburg yesterday a petition containing thousands of names, protesting against the proposed removal of the Liberty Bell from Independence hall.

Mrs. Blankenburg told the mayor that among the signers of the petition were veterans of the Civil war, university presidents, professors, bankers and editors.

The mayor is not averse to sending the Liberty Bell to San Francisco, where it is wanted for the Panama-Pacific international exposition. He said the protests now being made should be directed at any future trip after the proposed journey to the Pacific coast. Authority to send the bell to San Francisco rests with city councils.

NEWS FROM EAST REASSURING

Carnegie Steel Mill at Farrell, Pa., Now Employs 8,000 Men.

Further reassuring news is coming at hand from the leading industrial centers.

It is reported that the Carnegie Steel company's Farrell, Pa., works are running at about the same capacity as before the depression, that started in last fall, and that 8,000 men are being employed. The company's tin plate mill there is operating at capacity for the first time in months.

Production of the Ohio works of that company has been increased this week through its sheet, bar and slab mills being operated to capacity. One of the bessemer furnaces there that went out of blast some time ago has gone into commission again.

With the exception of a bar mill at its Brown-Tonnell works, the Republic Iron & Steel company is operating its plants in full.

The American Sheet & Tin Plate company's plant at Gary, Ind., is reported to be running at capacity, and the American Bridge company at 75 per cent of capacity.

It is expected that the Illinois Steel company's plant at South Chicago will be operating to its limit within a few days, employing 8,750 men, including 1,000 re-engaged since last autumn.

KILLS HIMSELF ON KNEES IN CHURCH.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 6.—On his knees in the chancel of Grace church, John Ogden, former town treasurer of North Providence, drew a revolver and shot himself in the head yesterday. He died almost instantly. Before he approached the chancel, Ogden had been sitting in a pew in the rear of the church, writing in a book, which he later handed to a deaconess. In the book were found notes to his wife and to the superintendent of a mill in which he had been employed.

About a year ago Ogden was accused of irregularities in office as town treasurer, but was acquitted by the courts.

ORDINANCE FOR BAR KEEPERS READY

Commissioner Hicken Completes Document; Suggestions Turned Down.

The final draft of Commissioner W. A. Hicken's ordinance to license bartenders has been completed and turned over to City Clerk Palmer, who will read it at the council meeting Monday afternoon.

Under it all bartenders must be able to show a clean record and pay a fee of $5 per year. Applications will be passed upon by the council and will be subject to the same conditions as saloon licenses, being subject to revocation for cause. The city will furnish a neat badge to each licensee, which must be worn in a conspicuous place while on duty.

KILL THE CATARRH GERM--UES HYOMI

It's the Direct-to-the-Spot Method—You Breathe It.

Why delay and continue to needlessly suffer the ravages of catarrh germs? It is not only unnecessary, but dangerous. Try now—today—the Hyomi treatment for catarrh, head colds, or bronchial coughs.

The Hyomi process of destroying catarrh germs relieving head colds and healing the raw and inflamed mucous membrane is not only most effective, but is quick, entirely harmless and pleasant to use—it's nature's way—you breathe it—no bad tasting drugs to upset the stomach.

You can't successfully reach the organs where the catarrh germs thrive except with antiseptic and germicidal air. The Hyomi method is to breathe a few times daily health-restoring Hyomi. Being medicated air it goes right to the spot and immediately reaches all the diseased tissues. Its antiseptic healing begins at once.

If suffering from frequent colds, headaches, raising of mucus, spasmodic coughing, difficult breathing or that weak and run-down feeling, surely try Hyomi. It's your duty to yourself, friends and family, for no catarrh victim ever enjoys good health. Get from your druggist at once a complete Hyomi outfit, $1.00 size. Boyce drug store always sells it on money back if not benefited plan.

A number of the barkeepers desire to have the ordinance amended to provide that bartenders must have resided in Duluth thirty or sixty days before being licensed. They state that this would afford them some protection for the $5 bill which must be paid for the license. The proposal does not meet with the approval of Commissioner Hicken.

SHOP MEN ARE TAUGHT HYGIENE

Y. M. C. A. Begins Lecture Course Dealing With Diseases of Men.

The workmen of the city are being instructed in "Sex Hygiene" through lectures by Dr. I. T. Ishkanian under the auspices of the educational department of the Y. M. C. A. These lectures reveal the truth in plain, simple language to the shop men.

Dr. Ishkanian has spoken to the men of the Northern Pacific shops, Scott-Traut Lumber company, and other corporations. It is the plan of the Y. M. C. A. to reach ultimately all the workers in the city.

SEIGEL WILL PAY ALL IN FIVE YEARS.

New York, Feb. 6.—Depositors in the private bank of Henry Siegel & Co., which recently went into bankruptcy with several Siegel department store enterprises, will soon recover 20 per cent of their money.

This was announced by Siegel's attorneys, who said more than $450,000 had been provided for the purpose. They added that Siegel and his partner, Frank E. Vogel, would agree, under certain conditions, to pay the remaining 70 per cent within five years.

TAFT "STRUGGLING TO BE REFORMER."

Boston, Feb. 6.—"In spite of my past history, I am struggling now to be a reformer," Prof. W. H. Taft told the Boston University Law School assembly last night. He devoted much of his address to consideration of a criticism of Massachusetts lawyers and court procedure which Sherman Whipple, a lawyer of this city, made in his presence at New London, Conn., a few days ago.

Regarding Mr. Whipple's proposal for a reformation of procedure, by which hearsay evidence would be admitted in court, Prof. Taft said that in his eleven years on the bench it seemed to him that if there was one rule more than another which tended to sift out truth, it was the rule which excluded hearsay evidence.

LEASE TAKEN BY JAPANESE UPHELD.

Seattle, Feb. 6.—The ninety-year lease on the premises occupied by the home of the Japanese consul, and which was financed by the Japanese foreign office eleven years ago, was sustained by Judge King Dykeman of the King county superior court yesterday. Judge Dykeman ordered the lessor to give a warranty deed for the property to Walter A. Keene, an American citizen, to whom the lease was assigned by the Japanese consul when it developed the lessor would probably attempt to forfeit the lease under the provision of the state Constitution forbidding alien ownership of Washington real estate.

BOSTON SHIPS TO USE PANAMA CANAL.

Boston, Feb. 6.—Plans for a steamship service to San Francisco through the Panama canal have been made public. Eight steamers of 4,200 tons each already have been purchased, according to the statement, and four more of 3,000 tons each are being built.

Woman's Realm

Several reports of general interest and importance were given this morning at the February meeting of the Woman's Council held at the library clubroom from Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge presiding.

Miss Edna Meeker of the Associated Charities explained methods used by that organization in carrying on its work. "The Associated Charities," she said, "is based on the idea of making those who need help self-supporting. We want to find out the cause of the disease of poverty that we may find a cure for it. Our organization is really a clearing house and it is your association as much as ours and we ask your help in sending to us those in whom you are interested in helping that the help may be of the most efficient kind. We must study the individual in order to know the whole and find help for the whole."

Mrs. A. A. Kerr, who went to St. Paul to the World's Fair congress held there last fall, as a delegate from the city of Duluth, read her report on the congress at the meeting this morning in a most interesting manner.

"The Suppression of Quackery" was the subject of an interesting talk by Dr. Schroeder, who spoke as a representative of the St. Louis County Medical association. "A large per cent of the men who are practicing medicine in Minnesota," he said, "have no right to practice, for they have not had the training necessary to bring them up to the standard that the medical profession is trying to uphold in the state. Diagnosis and not treatment is the basis of practice and many who are practicing under an alias have had only meager training in treatment and know nothing of the real study of medicine."

Dr. Schroeder stated that an effort was being made to have an ordinance passed in Duluth which would be an exact repetition of the state law regulating the practice of unlicensed doctors, but he doubted its passage until public sentiment was aroused sufficiently to demand it.

Civic Banquet. The committee in charge of arrangements of the civic banquet given at the Spaulding hotel recently, reported on the banquet, when the chief speaker of the evening was Dr. Beard of Minneapolis, who talked on "The Functions of a City and County Hospital." In regard to this matter Mrs. Woodbridge read the following report:

"Ladies, you have heard the treasurer's report, do you realize that $20 paid to Dr. Beard is really paid toward securing a city and county hospital? Do you realize that the Woman's Council has the honor of making the first contribution toward that needed institution? To be sure it isn't much, $20 is only a drop in the bucket, but it is the first drop and it is the first drop that will result in a hospital which will be a great source of satisfaction to us that the women of the city were its first contributors. "I, for one, felt at the banquet that Dr. Beard was as good as giving us his advice to us, that his directions concerning the construction of the buildings might be followed when we are ready to build, but he is an expert, he felt that he must cover the whole ground and must make the most of his opportunity. Those of you who heard him will remember that when considering conditions here and our need of a public hospital, he deplored the fact that such a rich county as ours should be obliged to use its almshouse for a general hospital. We must remember that the almshouse is not a hospital, and a hospital means to him something very different. He said that he was criticizing the management of the county fair, at a meeting, he stated that he had no such idea, he was merely trying to say that the certain cases which were sent there could not have the treatment which ought to be given them and would be given them in a regular hospital."

The Woman's Council has begun a great work. The members of the committee find that the subject given them to consider is one in which they are encouraged by the experience of charity workers and physicians that such a place is needed by the remark, if you women don't start things which have proved successful gives us courage to start this. When we are called to the telephone to hear a certain lot recommended for site or when we receive a letter which recommends a certain steam heating plant for the hospital building we feel that the day is not far distant when our efforts will be crowned with success."

Welfare Exhibit. Mrs. Arthur Barnes, chairman of the LADY LONDONDERRY.

Lady Londonderry is the leader of the Ulster women who are preparing for war against home rule. There are 240,000 of them joined together in a covenant to fight with their husbands against the Ulster Home Rule bill.

Her husband is a leader of the anti-home rule movement.

Committee in charge of arrangements for a civic welfare exhibit to be given jointly with the Commercial club next fall, reported on plans of work for the exhibit and the council voted to allow $20 toward the expense fund and committee chairman volunteered their help in making out charts and maps for the exhibit.

The council voted to extend its appreciation to the Spaulding hotel for its able arrangement for the civic banquet in caring for 150 guests when plans for an exhibit in the hotel were made for only 100, and to the King's Daughters for their aid in decorating the tables.

Mrs. J. Watson read a letter from Supt. R. E. Denfeld in which he stated that the recess during the school sessions is obligatory when the weather permits, and that the fire drill once a week is also required and that other recommendations made by the council would be given attention. Mrs. Watson urged the women to visit the schools often to see that requirements such as these, which the women feel are vital, are carried out.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

The Passing of Infantile Nicknames.

Where the idea of foreshortening a person's name or calling him by another that had a certain appropriateness, originated, I am sure I do not know. The dictionary definition of the word nickname is—"a name given to a person, usually by the people, or sportive familiarity or an appropriate appellation." That it is a term of endearment should also be included in the definition, for it is oftenest met with in this form.

It was in the home circle until very recently that the worst examples of the name were perpetrated and endured. But within a very few years there has been a decided revision of feeling in the matter. Little girls who are baptized in the name of Elizabeth are rarely called "Lizzie" nowadays. Margaretta are no longer called by the homely but endearing term "Maggie," as used to be invariably the case a generation or two back. Parents are beginning to call their children by their right names and to insist that outsiders do the same. And the step is well taken. It is Dorothy today where it used to be either Dolly or Dot. Nellies are fast disappearing from the face of the earth.

CERTAINLY THIS DOG IS A PERFECT MARVEL.

Allentown, Pa., Feb. 6.—Spike, the celebrated Allentown talking dog, has added several new words to his vocabulary, and can also do some additional tricks that are almost human. The dog is a handsome black and white bull terrier, nearly five years old and weighs thirty-seven pounds. He is owned by Edward Huff, who has put endless time and patience into training the animal. Mr. Huff is so interested in his dog that he has studied the science of the voice and the anatomy of the vocal organs to an extent that bewilders his friends.

Spike could a few years ago say mamma and papa so clearly as to make the most skeptical listener believe he really had speech so far as those two words were concerned. He has now learned to say good night and no. Indeed, his clearest word is no, especially if he is asked whether his interrogator shall call the dog catcher.

In addition to speaking the four words very clearly, he has a trick of indicating no with one bark and yes with two. He will also call the dog catcher's name.

Spike's training was begun when he was a pup. He was taught to sit, stand, lie down, and come when called. He was also taught to speak the words "mamma" and "papa" by imitating the sounds of his mother and father.

Mr. Huff says he does not believe any dog will ever be able to enunciate the word yes, as canine lips and vocal organs are not formed to allow that sound. He has, however, of teaching the dog a few words.

OBJECTS TO HAVING ITS MEAT CONDEMNED.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 6.—Health ordinances in various Ohio cities which provide for the inspection of meats, will be called in question by the Cincinnati Meat Packers' association, which is the plaintiff in the case of Cincinnati vs. the city of Cincinnati, in which the city of Cincinnati is defendant. The action not only disputes the right of the city to inspect and condemn animals, poultry, game and fish after they have been slaughtered, but also demands compensation for meats condemned. The suit is regarded as the opening wedge in a fight by butchers and packers operating in Ohio to effect changes in meat laws.

The suit declares that the Cincinnati ordinance for this purpose, passed in 1907, is unconstitutional in that it provides for the condemnation and destruction of property without any compensation to the owner.

During two years 34,000 miles of improved roads were constructed in this country, which is more than all the roads of France.

TO REPAIR TOMB OF AN ACTRESS

Mrs. Anne Warren, Famous on the Stage a Century Ago.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Mention Old Christ church, Alexandria, Va., and the names of George Washington and Robert E. Lee instantly come to mind. The memory of these great soldiers is indissolubly linked with this historic edifice because they were both worshippers within its walls and members of the vestry, and their pews, labeled by thousands of tourists every year, Washington rests at Mount Vernon and Lee at Lexington.

It is a little church, though, stands the tomb of a woman, who, more than any other woman, has lived on in the memory of the people. She was Anne Warren, a famous actress of a century ago.

She was born in Bristol, England, in 1770, and made her debut in November, 1788, as Euphrasia, in "The Grecian Daughter." In 1792 she became Mrs. Merry and retired from the stage. She came to America in 1796 and appeared at the Chestnut street theater, Philadelphia, as Juliet on Dec. 8 of that year. She opened in the same part in New York city on Aug. 19, 1798, and on Jan. 1, 1803, she married a Mr. Wignall, who died seven weeks later. She was married to William Warren on Aug. 18, 1806.

During two years 34,000 miles of improved roads were constructed in this country, which is more than all the roads of France.

DULUTH AND NORTHERN MINNESOTA DEVELOPMENT.

Public Affairs, the monthly bulletin of the Duluth Commercial club, says:

Duluth is dependent for much of its future growth on the settlement of the undeveloped areas of Northern Minnesota. Duluth has not grown more rapidly because of the slow growth of agriculture in the timbered regions which make up a great part of its tributary territory. Every family settling in Northern Minnesota is an asset to Duluth. Every family that springs up in the timbered regions is a probable patron of Duluth. As settlement expands, Duluth will expand, for Duluth is the natural distributing center of this region.

Profoundly true, this, and there is nothing more worth Duluth's while than to appreciate it and act upon it.

Happily, the growth of agriculture in the cut-over regions surrounding Duluth is gaining momentum rapidly. It will gain faster if it is helped. Duluth can do nothing more certain to prosper its own growth than to foster this agricultural development. Moreover, it should co-operate heartily in the movement to induce the greatest land-owner in this region, the state of Minnesota, to adopt a progressive policy of development.

Every vacant farm in Northern Minnesota is a stone in Duluth's road.

Every farm settled and tilled is a building stone in Duluth's foundation.

John D. Rockefeller doesn't want to pay a twelve-million-dollar personal property tax in Cleveland. John D. has some such little surprise in store.

THE NEWSPAPER AND THE PUBLIC.

There will be a conference on journalism in Topeka next May, at which certain questions will be discussed. The questions, though about newspapers, are of public importance. So is the discussion they will create, and the answers that will be worked out. Here they are:

1. Should newspapers publish reports of crime? The answer, of course, is yes. A newspaper which fails to report crime is as guilty of failure in its duty as a public print as a newspaper which exaggerates crime reports. Publicity is a healing agent for the disease of crime, and to withhold it is as fatal as to withhold sunlight from a germ-infested corner. That is not to say that a newspaper should go gloat over crime news as to give a distorted impression of the extent of crime and criminality. Crime should have its due proportion of space and prominence, and giving it more than that and making it altogether equally harmful.

2. Is the newspaper a private interest or a public utility? It is both, and it is neither. It is privately owned, and must always be. A government-owned newspaper would come to reflect only the views of the Government, and to report only that which fosters the government's political prosperity. But the newspaper's FIRST duty is to the public; and it is a truism which some newspaper owners are slow to learn that complete loyalty to the public interest is not only a newspaper's highest duty, but its most profitable course. The newspaper's earnings depend on advertising; and advertising depends not only on quantity of circulation, but on its CHARACTER. Advertising in a newspaper with ten thousand subscribers who respect it and credit it is worth much more than advertising in a newspaper with twenty thousand subscribers who do not respect it or believe in it. The cornerstone in a newspaper's prosperity is the public conviction that it is honest and that its loyalty to the public interest is real and not assumed to facilitate pliant chestnuts of privilege or politics out of the fire for its owners or its backers.

3. Is the adoption of a code of ethics advisable or feasible? Self-respecting newspapers now have a high code of ethics. Whether the formal adoption of a written code such as lawyers and doctors have would be feasible is not easily to be determined. If a code of ethics could be devised that would be honest and sincere and sensible it certainly would be advisable. At present the best public safeguard in that respect is the informally adopted code of professional ethics which accretes every respected and self-respecting newspaper—for such a code creates a competition which the unethical newspaper cannot survive.

4. Should the publisher by law be made responsible for the advertisements he carries? That is not to be answered offhand in the affirmative.

If it means, for instance, that a publisher shall be required to investigate every advertisement offered—for example, to ascertain if the department store's calico is precisely measured to the fraction of an inch, that the quality of the goods is precisely what is claimed, and that the statement that it was formerly sold at twenty cents a yard and now at thirteen cents is strictly true—if it means this, it is of course stupid, impracticable and impossible. The adoption of such a rule would require every newspaper to maintain a corps of experts in a hundred lines. But the publisher is responsible for the advertisements he carries, in another and more powerful way: the character of his advertisements, no less than the character of his news, determines public respect or lack of respect for his advertising columns, and therefore their value.

This, as well as ethical considerations, is responsible for the fact that The Herald and most other newspapers are scrutinizing more and more closely the advertisements submitted to them, and are excluding those manifestly fraudulent or against sound public policy.

5. Is the influence of the press a myth? Decidedly not. Its influence varies with the individual newspaper, of course; and for reasons which we have already outlined. But there never has been a time when the honest, sincere and public-spirited newspaper was able to wield a more powerful influence than now; and there never was a time when the venal, controlled, low-purposed or purchasable newspaper was able to wield so little influence. Each of these facts, the one no less than the other, is a high credit to a growing public intelligence and enlightenment.

6. How does the annual expenditure of a billion dollars in advertising affect the cost of living? It lowers it, beyond any question; for advertising is the cheapest and most effective form of salesmanship ever invented. Advertising on a broad scale makes for economy in two ways:

First, it cheapens the cost of salesmanship; because a dollar wisely spent in advertising is a more productive form of salesmanship than a hundred dollars wisely spent in personal salesmanship. Indeed, the salesmanship accomplished by advertising could not possibly be achieved by direct personal salesmanship.

Second, and even more important, advertising lowers cost of production by creating a large demand which makes possible production in large quantities; and that always is cheaper than production in small quantities. By personal direct salesmanship it might be possible to make a market for a hundred thousand safety razors, say, in a year, which on that scale of production could be made and sold for a dollar; while by advertising a market could be made for a million razors a year, which on that scale of production could be sold for fifty cents or even less. The cost of advertising, charged to salesmanship, would not only cheapen that item enormously, but by widening the market it would lower greatly the cost of production. So advertising, beyond any doubt whatever, works to lower the cost of living.

If there is any serious difficulty in collecting the income tax, Uncle Sam might hire some of these agents who go around getting the payments on installment plan purchases.

THE PISTOL TOTTER.

The Indianapolis News relates that the other day a Baptist preacher of Macon, Georgia, was killed at his home by his own pistol. It fell from his pocket when he stooped to caress his two-year-old child. He had put it there, the report says, to keep it away from his children.

"Is it possible," asks the News, "that no place could be found to hide a pistol? This seems incredible. The inference rather is that the pastor preferred to carry the pistol with him. In the whole sad circumstance there must still be the fair criticism of a man going armed. He may have felt it necessary to own a pistol for protection against burglars, but it indicates how lightly some things, which once were regarded as fundamental, sit when a minister of the gospel goes armed.

"Possibly it is a relic of the time when a 'gentleman' used to send word to the other 'gentleman' with whom he had a quarrel that he would shoot on sight. Perhaps it is an aftermath of our Civil war, which made familiar with firearms of all sorts. At all events, American civilization today is disgraced by the pistol-carrying habit."

And so it is.

Hence it ought to be stopped.

The News asks what business the pastor had carrying a revolver.

We ask what business he had owning one. For protection against burglars? Rubbish! A pistol in the hands of the average person is vastly more dangerous to members of the family than it is to any burglar.

The average home is better off, and far safer, without a revolver than with one. Waiting for the burglar, the pistol goes off and kills somebody. When the burglar comes at last, he is a desperate and wide-awake man, armed to the teeth and watchful of every move and sound. If there is shooting, ten to one he shoots first. The sleepy-eyed and startled householder has little chance against him.

There is too much shooting, accidental and intentional, the country over. The grand jury recently disclosed an appalling number of killings in this country.

Something ought to be done about it.

The first thing to do is for magistrates to bear harshly on every man caught carrying a deadly weapon. The presumption that it is carried for mischievous purposes is not lightly to be set aside. There is law for it, and a few stiff jail sentences for the offense of bearing arms would help a great deal.

The next thing to do, as we have said before and as the grand jury urged, is to pass a law forbidding any dealer to sell or any individual to have a revolver without a permit from the local authorities—and the local authorities should issue very few permits.

Now that peace treaties have been signed with Persia and Denmark, Hobson can get a good night's rest once more.

THE CANAL TOLLS AND THE NATIONAL HONOR.

President Wilson is emphatically for the repeal of the provision exempting American vessels from the payment of canal tolls, because it is a flat violation of a plain treaty with Great Britain.

The house is sure to pass the repeal, but there is a question about the senate. The issue is this: Shall the greed of a few stockholders in coastwise vessels prevail against the nation's honor and pledged word?

Every senator who votes against the repeal of the discriminatory provision should be judged by that test.

But you never hear of the Chicago cooks and waiters striking just before one of Bathhouse John's blowouts.

A Foolish Medical Censorship.

New York World: The County Medical society has now gone on record as against the publication of pathological or other professional matters in the "lay press" by doctors, either directly or in "inspired" articles. It deprecates the "self-laudation" of such methods and condemns the "unfortunate prominence" given to physicians who have been the subjects of pathological studies.

The names and pictures appear in connection with newspaper accounts of new forms of treatment in which their knowledge of them is of value to the lay readers of medical journals. Is the practice of medicine at this day an occult art about which nobody must know anything but the initiate? What taint is there in publicity that afflicts a doctor's reputation? If a medical theory is sound, public knowledge cannot harm it, and if it is unsound, the best way to discover the fact is through free discussion.

It would be interesting to know how much of this antagonism to "doctors' advertising" comes from doctors who have no discoveries of their own to make public, and how much is inspired by jealousy, stupidity and incompetence. Certainly the best way to educate the public in health matters is by giving the utmost publicity to medical discovery, while that is likewise the best safeguard against quackery. If individual doctors acquire some credit from the process, must the fact damn them?

A Word to the Worm.
Life: In view of Dr. Anna Shaw's call to all suffragists to resist the income tax assessor to the death, thus insuring the give or take principle of no taxation without representation, would it not be well for all men to combine against millinery? At present the majority of married men have to pay exorbitant prices for the imported models of hats which they wear. They have no adequate representation in any millinery establishment. Indeed, they don't even dare step inside. This is all wrong and against the fundamental idea of our government as ordained, promulgated, fashioned and originated by our forefathers. Every milliner's shop should have at least one man model, who will have the opportunity to inspect everything and parade before the customers. At present American husbands pay enormous sums, variously estimated at from one to two hundred millions a year, for articles over which they have no control. No man is permitted to set the fashions in women's hats. If any man suggests that his wife is paying altogether too much for these articles he is promptly shut upon.

Men of America, now is the time to rise up; no without plumes, algerettes, velvet spurs, flower gardens, or jets without male representation! Ex-Presidents Should Be Appreciated.
Life: Our ex-presidents are so good to us. Stopping their salaries makes no apparent difference to them; they keep on taking an interest in our welfare. And we should listen attentively to everything they have to say, whether garbled and sensational or not. No matter how sternly and unannouncedly we may have invited a gentleman to sit somewhere, no matter how valueless his advice may be, and no matter how many promises he broke while in office, we should still assume that his intentions are good, and receive his homilies deferentially, even though we use them into the wastebasket as soon as his back is turned.

How They Manage.
Detroit Free Press: "I'd like to know how you do it, so your wife gets so well together." "I'll tell you." Whenever a man decides that one of the children is a good deal more of a nuisance than the other, and when I decide to correct one of the youngsters she does the same for me."

How Much Do You Pay Your Wife?

From the Woman's Home Companion.

Economic independence should be as possible for women at home as for women in business. There is "one talk" about the "parasitic" woman—the woman who accepts her living with many luxuries thrown in, and gives nothing in return. Perhaps she exists, but not, we believe, in great or alarming numbers.

The fact is that most women work, either at home or outside. One of the great differences in the kind of work women do is the kind of pay they get.

Wage-earning women get actual money to put in their pockets, and there is a satisfaction about the possession of your own funds that is not quite like anything else. As one business woman expressed it: "You can buy the clothing and go hungry, or give your money away and go naked, or in your small way, a god. I don't know that there is nothing better than the feeling of having your own money to do with as you please. I do know that that pay day is a good day, even if it's all owing."

The trouble with the home worker is that she gets no pay. She works at home in the stage of exchange and barter with no medium of exchange to measure her work. She has to wait until the country where you may pay "in kind," where you may offer to the peddler, or where you may do door eggs in exchange for calico.

Des Moines, Iowa, Register and Leader: Some of the most pathetic and heart-breaking stories of the world come about through a lack of any independent and personal resources. They are the stories of men and women who are childishly incapable of amusements, of finding original interests and viewpoints and activities. They are the stories of men and women who are too poor to live for themselves. They are the stories of men and women who are too poor to live for themselves. Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator was making a speech one day and telling with a great many gestures exactly what this country needs.

After the speech was over the senator met Vice President Marshall out in the senator's private lobby lighting a cigar.

"You overlooked the chief need of the country," remarked Marshall.

"What's that?"

"The thing that seems to be needed most of all," declared Marshall, puffing thoughtfully, "is a really good representative."

Representative Julius Kahn of California used to be an actor and once appeared in an elaborate scenic production in which certain of the characters appeared to sink down into the floor of the stage. By means of a trap door and plenty of red fire the scene was made realistic. One night the smoothness of the production was marred somewhat by the fact that the process of sinking into the regions of fire and hellstone could not be completely complied with the facility and dispatch that one associates with such a journey. Kahn was even in those days a little thick through the waist line and when it came his turn he stuck fast in the trap door. He was obliged to scramble back and abandon his plan, as he solemnly set forth in his lines, "to sink into eternal torment forever and ever."

Senator Henry F. Hollis of New York, a factotum of the New York state when he was only 22 years old. He does not look more than about 40 even now, and it is difficult to believe that he was a gubernatorial candidate more than twenty years ago.

The consequence of this is that hardly a week goes by without somebody walking up to Hollis and saying: "I can remember of voting for your dad for governor."

Whenever one hears a congressman get up and talk for an hour about a point of parliamentary law, one is disposed to point with pride to the admirable restraint and self-abnegation of Representative William E. Dicks of Maine and S. D. Fess of Ohio.

Hinds and Fess probably know more things that are so about parliamentary law than any other two members of the house—Hinds because of his long service as parliamentary clerk to the speaker, and Fess because he has having studied the subject and taught it in colleges for years. Yet Hinds and Fess seldom, if ever, say a word about parliamentary law. So far as they are concerned, they are reconciled to have parliamentary law seen in the eyes of the public.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Raising of Lake Level Would Do Untold Damage in Duluth.

Public Affairs Committee Protests Against Proposed Dam.

The most important matter that came before the public affairs committee of the Commercial club last evening was the report of the committee on rivers and harbors, made by Chairman Frederick B. Spuman on the application of the Michigan Northern Power company to the international joint commission for permission to dam the Soo river, thus raising the level of Lake Superior as much as two feet at certain seasons of the year.

That the committee considered the situation a dangerous one, and that the government should not grant further permits in any way, shape or manner by any kind of a corporation or individual, was the unanimous opinion of the committee.

During the discussion of the matter, which did not become very general as the committee members seemed to have their minds made up without further explanation than that given in the sub-committee's report, Capt. Alex McDougall was called on to give his opinion as to the amount of damage that would result from the raising of the water level.

"Several million acres of valuable land will probably be inundated," said the captain, "but I can say with safety that 1,000,000 acres will be submerged. There should be no work of protest made for the matter is too serious a one to trifle with."

Aside from the committee's report and Capt. McDougall's short talk the only thing in connection with the matter was a copy of a communication sent by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company to Capt. E. D. Peck, United States engineer in charge of this district, in reply to his request for information in connection with the proposed increasing of the lake level.

The company informed the engineer that the basement floor of their building on Lake avenue is only twelve inches above the normal level of the lake and that in case of storms now their basement is flooded; and it was pointed out that with an increase in the lake level their basement would be made untenable at all times.

A circular letter under date of Jan. 23, 1914, was issued by E. D. Peck, captain, corps of engineers, United States army, and copies of the same have been sent to corporations and individuals at the Head of the Lakes interested in the information contained therein.

"The letter referred to states that there is now pending before the international joint commission an application made by the Michigan Northern Power company for permission to dam the Soo river certain compensating work, information is being given as to what inconvenience or damage may be expected to all docks or structures, lands adjacent, or riparian holdings, either through actual and direct damage or through the inconvenience caused by such undue elevation of Lake Superior."

In conclusion, it is stated that it would simply mean that a level of the lake would be maintained at a level never to exceed 192 feet above the mean lake level of 1913.

"We have been unable to find out what and who is back of this application, but the fact remains that it is a power company asking for two feet more than they are now entitled to for the purpose of increasing the power."

"The army engineers have always taken great pride in their work on Great Lakes, and have approved projects of local commerce on our inland waterways. This application does not come to us with their recommendation, but it seems to be simply a scheme of a new elevation. Every inch of elevation on the lake will increase the amount of power to the applicant, but we do not see how it will help the shipping interests, as it is the drift at the lower end of the locks, St. Mary's river and Lake Huron which regulates the loads that the vessels can carry."

Lake Superior is large enough and deep enough now, and to increase its level two feet would give it a level to its area, causing an overflow of an enormous acreage of land. perceptibly near its whole length, and with a gale blowing the lake waters through the canal, the damage to the water front will be further increased.

"On the lake side we have a long sloping beach, which breaks the waves to a more or less extent, but there are low places between the point and the shore, and old Lake Superior washing over at several points, it would take but a short time to make wide openings in this sand. The surveys show a large part of the point about six feet above the lake during the summer of 1913. Raise the lake two feet, and the elevation would be reduced to four feet."

In the severe storm of 1905 the water rose 3.8 feet and may raise six feet caused by wave action. We who were at the wreck of the Matafa saw how near the waves came to crossing Lake avenue. We should fight this application in every way possible and to make a detailed report to the international joint commission."

"The government has granted permits to several hydro-electric companies to build dams and locks where the water is abundant, but these are places where the commerce alone is not sufficient without the power plant. Justify the outlay of millions. The Keokuk dam on the Mississippi river and the dam on the St. Lawrence river are examples. The 'Sault' is an entirely different class. Controlling, as it does, the entire water traffic of the Canadian waterways to the ocean, we cannot tell where the needs of the Canadian government should not grant further permits in any way, shape or manner by any kind of a corporation or individual."

"The improvement of the Canadian waterways to the ocean, we cannot tell where the needs of the Canadian government should not grant further permits in any way, shape or manner by any kind of a corporation or individual."

"We have now an international joint commission to arbitrate matters in relation to boundary waters, and it should recommend that an agreement be entered into which will prevent in the future, the granting of any kind of a permit for the use of water from the St. Mary's river in this circular letter, written by E. D. Peck, captain, corps of engineers, United States army, should be taken up with the different commercial bodies, both in this country and Canada, so that we may be united, provided the matter comes up for a hearing before the joint commission."

Following is a copy of the resolution adopted as requested by the committee:

"Whereas, application has been made by the Michigan Northern Power company to raise the present level of Lake Superior 192 feet, and the change of the lake level will cause enormous damage to the water front and will submerge, during storms, parts of the city and harbor landlocked."

"Be it resolved, That we protest against a permit being issued to the Michigan Northern Power company for the raising of the level of Lake Superior, and that the international joint commission is hereby requested to recommend to the respective governments, the prohibition of the further use of water from the St. Mary's river by any corporation or individual, and

Be it further resolved, That this club extend an invitation, and the same is hereby extended to the international joint commission, to visit our city next summer and make an examination of our harbor and water front, and to grant hearings to the interested parties in the matter of application made by the Michigan Northern Power company."

West End HOTEL FIRE

DOUSTS FIFTY

Adelphi Totally Guttied By Midnight Blaze—Heavy Damage.

Scantily-Clad Guests Are Aroused and Sent Shivering Into Street.

A spectacular midnight fire drove five guests dressed only in their night clothes, out into the zero weather, and almost totally gutted the Adelphi hotel, Twenty-eighth avenue west and Superior street, causing a damage estimated at over $30,000.

The fire was discovered shortly before 1 o'clock. It is believed to have started from an overheated furnace in the rear of the building. The location of the blaze made it difficult for the firemen to get at it, and before any streams of water could be turned on to it, it had spread under the entire structure and worked its way into the walls.

When first discovered by the smoke pouring through the building, the guests believed that the blaze would not amount to much, but hurriedly got out of the building in their night clothes. Some of the more fortunate ones picked up a few of their clothes, while others were prevented from entering the building later by the heavy black smoke.

For a short time the fire proved spectacular. When it broke through the roof, flames shot high in the air, but luckily none of the flying embers were driven towards the lumber yard of the Duluth Showcase company across the street.

The damage to the hotel building is estimated at about $20,000. The building is owned by the Gopher Realty company and is valued at $50,000. It was constructed during the winter of 1907-8 and opened early in the spring of 1908. The realty company carries $30,000 insurance on the structure. The owners of the hotel are Charles and Albert McBean, who purchased it last fall from the J. B. Dunphy estate. Their loss on the furnishings is placed at about $4,000, partially covered by insurance.

The buffet adjoining the hotel was operated by Harry Brown, administrator for the Dunphy estate. The loss on the bar fixtures and stock, said to be complete and placed at about $2,500, is partially covered by insurance. A poolroom operated by Harry Wallace, and a barber shop owned by Oliver were also located in the western end of the building, and both are total losses. A small amount of insurance was carried by each.

During the early stages of the fire the guests added in the office of the Duluth Showcase company opposite the hotel. Later some of them were taken to the McBean residence given quarters for the night, while others were taken to other hotels of the West end. Ten young men living at the hotel were out at the time the fire started enjoying a skat.

Shortly after the first alarm was sent in, which was responded to by No. 3, a general alarm was given, which brought to the scene Companies Nos. 1, 2 and 4 from uptown and No. 8 from West Duluth. It was not until 7:30 o'clock this morning that the last embers had died and the firemen were able to leave the place. No accidents were reported during the fire.

Announcement was made this morning by an official of the Gopher Realty company that the loss on the building could be adjusted, the building would be rebuilt. It is hoped to have this work completed before the middle of April. The building had fifty guest rooms, all of which were filled at the time of the fire.

Mr. Kirkpatrick is here on a trip of inspection of the various offices of his company, the Duluth office being one of the largest. $30,000 MORE IN SALARIES

City Payroll Has Increased That Amount During the Year.

Half Due to "Raises" and Half to New Employees.

Salary increases aggregating more than $15,000 a year have been granted city employees by the city commission in the last year, according to figures which have been prepared by City Auditor B. J. Campbell.

The payroll for January, 1914 and 1913, were used by the auditor as the basis for his comparison. Including the salary increases and the numerical increases to the force, the payroll is now running more than $30,000 more annually.

The figures are somewhat of a surprise to the commission and demonstrate the need of exercising economy, particularly in view of the city's financially embarrassed treasury.

The auditor's table gives the net increase, a month, as $1,264.53 of this is due to the extra expense being incurred to secure the physical valuation of the Duluth-Edison company's plant. This leaves the other increase $2,646.61 per month, or $30,552.12 a year. Considerable additions have also been made to other departments, but principally that of the assessor, who is this year making both real estate and personal property assessments. When this work is finished, which will likely be in July, the assessor's force will be heavily reduced. The commissioners state that the other increases are warranted by the necessity of enlarging the various departmental staffs to keep pace with the natural growth and development of the city.

OVER HALF OF ALL SICKNESS CAUSED BY CLOGGED-UP WEAKENED KIDNEYS

Hundreds Are Suffering With Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It. Backache, Bladder Disorder and Rheumatism Are the Result.

It is a well recognized fact among physicians today, that the greater part of all sickness can be avoided by keeping the kidneys working properly. This is even more important than for the bowels to move regularly, because the kidneys and bladder are the filters and sewers of the body. If you suffer with pains in the back or sides, bladder or urinary disorders, lumbago, rheumatism, dizziness, puffing swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, nervousness, tired and worn-out feeling, or any of the many other symptoms of kidney trouble, don't neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure an original package of Croxone, which costs but a trifle, take three doses a day, for a few days, and you will be surprised how entirely different you will feel.

Croxone overcomes the very worst cases because it removes the cause of such troubles. It soaks right in and cleans out the kidneys and makes them filter out all the poisonous waste matter and uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the bladder and quickly ends all such troubles. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for the purpose. You will find it entirely different from anything you have ever used. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 6.—(Special to The Herald).—The following decisions were given today by the Minnesota supreme court:

St. Louis County.
Onofrio Marfia, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway company, appellant.

1. Action, based upon the laws of Wisconsin, to recover for personal injuries. Held that the questions as to negligence and contributory negligence were properly submitted to the jury and that the evidence sustains the verdict. Also that the verdict is not so excessive, in view of the facts of the case, as to justify this court in interfering therewith.

2. The testimony of a physician as to the instructions given his patient and as to whether the patient obeyed such instructions is not within the privilege conferred by section 8375, general statutes 1913, and was properly excluded.

3. The patient does not waive his privilege by bringing an action to recover for the injuries for which the physician treated him, unless the action be against the physician for malpractice. Neither does he waive such privilege by presenting such evidence in support of his claim, where such evidence is confined to matters outside his transactions with the physician.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

Washington County.
John C. Zeitler, respondent, vs. National Casualty company, appellant.

1. In an action upon an accident insurance policy the contract is construed and held to obligate defendant to make monthly payments of indemnity during the disability of the insured, not exceeding the period covered by the policy.

2. The verdict of the jury to the effect that the disability for which plaintiff claims indemnity was the result of accidental injury and that defendant waived strict compliance with the terms of the policy in notice and proof of injury is sustained by the evidence.

3. Indemnity being under obligation to make monthly payments of indemnity, and having waived formal notice of the injury or proof of disability, it is held that the action was not prematurely brought, notwithstanding a provision of the policy that no action could be commenced thereon until after the proofs have been submitted.

4. The record presents no reversible error either in the instructions or refusal to instruct the jury.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Ramsey County.
State of Minnesota, ex rel. Lyndon A. Smith, as attorney general, petitioner, vs. The Probate Court of the County of Ramsey and State of Minnesota, and the Hon. E. W. Bazille, judge thereof, respondents.

Acting under a power of appointment in a will executed by his mother in Kentucky, a testator residing in Minnesota exercised the power in his will, naming his nephews, residents of Tennessee, as the beneficiaries. The property which was the subject of the exercise of the power was indebtedness of corporations and mortgages which were at the time of the testator's death and for many years had been in the custody of a resident of Kentucky. It is held:

1. It was the exercise of the power of appointment that constituted the transfer of the property, and not its creation.

2. Under the inheritance tax law of this state, the appointment when made is a taxable transfer in the same manner as though the property to which such appointment related had longed absolutely to the donee of the power and had been received by him as such.

3. As between debtor and creditor, the situs of a debt is the domicile of the creditor. But he may give it a situs elsewhere, and it may be taxed under the laws of the state where the evidence of indebtedness are deposited. But our statute imposes tax upon the transfer of the property, and not upon the property itself. The transfer having been made in this state by a resident thereof, it is taxable here, although the actual situs of the property was at the time of the testator's death in Kentucky, and although such transfer may be subject to a tax in Kentucky.

Reversed with directions. BUNN, J.

Rice County.
In the matter of the guardianship of Margaret Lynch, incompetent; Margaret Lynch, Frank Wilkowske (petitioner), respondent.

1. Under general statutes 1913, section 7433, it is not necessary in order to confer jurisdiction on the court in the matter of a petition for the appointment of a guardian that it is made by the county board, or by relative or friend of the incompetent. It is sufficient if it is made by a fact. It does not affirmatively appear that it was not so made in fact. It is therefore presumed that the court had jurisdiction of the subject matter. Any request in the petition or in the facts set forth in the petition are waived if not taken advantage of on the trial.

2. A finding that the person for whom a guardian was asked was, by reason of old age and the loss and imperfection of mental faculties, incompetent to have the care and management of her person and estate, held sustained by the evidence.

3. There was no abuse of discretion in selecting as guardians the persons appointed, rather than others suggested by the incompetent.

Order affirmed. BUNN, J.

Hennepin County.
Catherine A. Burnes, respondent, vs. State of Minnesota, appellant.

1. Laws 1901, chapter 167, providing that a village council may on its own motion order a sidewalk constructed, is not unconstitutional because it does not give property owners an opportunity to be heard as to the propriety or necessity of the proposed improvement. The opportunities which the property owner has to be heard when the assessment is fixed and on the application for judgment, satisfy the due process of law enforcement.

2. It does not appear that the village council did not ascertain or determine the amount of benefits to defendants' property. An assessment of the abutting property on the basis of frontage is not illegal in an improvement of this character.

3. The council had the right to postpone the construction of the sidewalk from October, 1909, until the first of May following. Such postponement was not an abandonment of the work and it was not necessary to give property owners another opportunity to build the walk themselves.

Judgment affirmed. BUNN, J.

Ramsey County.
Fulton M. Skaggs, respondent, vs. Illinois Central Railroad Co., appellant.

Evidence in an action to recover damages sustained while jointly engaged with a fellow brakeman in switching movements, by being caught between the engine tender and cars left on another track, considered and held to warrant findings that, under the circumstances disclosed, plaintiff had the right to rely on the other brakeman's statement that the cars were clear for the engine to pass, and that the making thereof constituted negligence attributable to defendant's negligence under the Federal act held Charge held not subject to the criticism that it authorized a registration of negligence not alleged or alleged but not proved in Chicago on Tuesday.

Charge upon so-called comparative negligence under the Federal act held technically erroneous, but not prejudicial.

Order affirmed. PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Ramsey County.
James Lewis, respondent, vs. C. G. W. R. Co., appellant.

Evidence in an action by a railroad brakeman to recover damages for injuries received from being caught between the engine tender and the end of certain poles projecting from a car which he had just uncoupled, or was uncoupling, held insufficient to sustain a verdict in his favor, in that thereunder it was merely conjectural whether the accident was due to some movement of the engine, which would have involved liability on defendant's part, or from the setting of the poles or switch which would not.

Order reversed and new trial granted. PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Hennepin County.
State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Alexis E. Georgian, et al., defendants, Alexis E. Georgian, appellant.

A temporary separation of a juror from the others after the case has been submitted to them, is no ground for a new trial, where the facts and circumstances exclude all reasonable inference, presumption, or suspicion that the juror has been improperly influenced. It is clearly and affirmatively appears that no prejudice has resulted. Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

Lyon County.
Village of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Jack Martin, appellant.

In a criminal prosecution for violation of a village ordinance the complaint is sufficient if it refers to the ordinance by number, chapter or section, and it is not necessary to introduce the ordinance in evidence. It is not made to appear that a $25 per day license fee for auctioneers, which village ordinance is imposed by Chapter 158, Laws of 1905, is so large as to be beyond the scope of legislative discretion.

Judgment affirmed. HOLT, J.

Ramsey County.
Catherine Hughes, respondent, vs. Modern Women of America, appellant.

1. The beneficiary named in a benefit certificate issued by a fraternal beneficiary association acquires no vested interest in the proceeds of the death of the assured and his expectant interest may be defeated at any time prior thereto by the proper substitution of another in his stead, but his interest, becoming fixed and vested at such death and cannot be defeated thereafter.

2. If the assured has done all the things required of him to make a change in beneficiary, his death before the issuance of the new certificate required by the by-laws will not defeat the change, if the change is in accordance with the provision in the contract specifying when the change shall take effect.

3. Where the contract provided that, no change of beneficiary shall be effective until a new certificate shall have been issued during the lifetime of the member, and until such time the provision of the old certificate shall remain in force, and the request for the change was not received until after the death of the member, no proposed change did not become effective.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

Morrison County.
County of Morrison, respondent, vs. Charles Leffeburg, et al., appellants.

1. Petitioners who execute a bond in a ditch in force, and the request for the change was not received until after the death of the member, no proposed change did not become effective.

2. Under Laws 1905, C. 220, the county board may either establish or refuse to establish a ditch at a special hearing called for a re-hearing of a petition and report when the final order establishing or refusing to establish a ditch has been held void for failure to give proper notice of hearing.

3. The evidence sustains the finding of the court as to the amount of the preliminary expense.

4. A judgment entered upon the dismissal of an action on motion of the defendant at the close of the plaintiff's testimony for insufficiency of evidence is not res judicata.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C.

Washington County.
Emil Munch, et al., appellants, vs. James E. McGrath, respondent.

Per Curiam: A lease by plaintiffs to defendant of a dam required the lessee to repair the dam and keep it in repair and to pay a fixed annual rental for its use. Under the facts in the case it is held, that the lease contemplated the use of the dam for the purpose of floating logs down the stream to the dam, and for no other purpose; that the lease was an assertion of the right of the lessor to lease the dam for that purpose and of the lessee to use it for that purpose; that a provision in the lease that the lessee should use the dam in a lawful manner and not do or suffer anything unlawful to be done in and about the dam premises, or in the use thereof, was not intended to forbid this contemplated use; and that the lessor, having been compelled to pay damages to land owners on account of flooding of their lands by the use of the dam, was not liable for any part of the amount so paid.

Order affirmed.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

THE city of Providence, R. I., by the establishment of a depreciation and extension fund has taken measures to forestall the losses in the operation of the waterworks there that are now threatening other municipalities. Elsewhere in the country the cities where the waterworks systems are municipally owned are being forced to raise their rates because of the losses which are being occasioned by the depreciation of their plants and the failure to set aside a fund for the replacement of the same.

In the city of Providence, R. I., the depreciation and extension fund has been established by ordinance. The fund is to be used for the replacement of the waterworks plants and for the extension of the same. The fund is to be built up by the city's saving a portion of the depreciation fund which is set aside for the replacement of the waterworks plants.

to take care of the renewals and the depreciation of the waterworks system, and in this line our safeguard against this city's having to follow in the steps of several other municipalities which own their own water plants and which have been obliged to increase their rates.

Allowances for depreciation and the creation of interest and sinking funds to retire the $3,400,000 indebtedness against the water and light plant were the objects desired in the recent revision of the water rates in Duluth. To this time no charge has been made for depreciation, but most of the extensions have been paid for from the earnings of the plant. Under the new schedule of rates the maximum rate is reduced from 17 1/2 to 15 cents per 100 cubic feet and the minimum rate is raised from 2 1/2 cents to 8 cents.

The department officials state that their computations show that water costs close to 8 cents and they object to selling it at less than cost. The new rates will be passed upon by a commission of three, consisting of Halvor Erickson, a member of the Wisconsin utility commission; W. B. Hittnerhouse, now engaged in revaluing the plant of the Duluth Edison company; and D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department. Mr. Erickson has written to Commissioner Merritt that he will serve as a member of the committee and that his services will cost the city nothing unless unforeseen circumstances arise.

DANGER OF LOSING WATER SUPPLY

Main Leading to Railroad Street Likely to Break, Says Manager.

D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, states that buildings along Railroad street are in constant danger of being cut off from their water supply.

He explains that the main in Sixth avenue west, leading from Michigan street to Railroad street, is laid in soft ground and is liable to break at any time because it is slowly sinking. He recommends the laying of a 12-inch main in Fifth avenue west from Michigan street to Railroad street, the cost of which is estimated at $1,800.

THINKS POSTAL MEN TOO MUCH ORGANIZED

Burleson Not in Favor of Conventions of Postmasters.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Postmaster General Burleson has announced that he does not approve of postmaster conventions under present conditions. He said that too much time is lost on the part of postmasters and other employees and that besides he was inclined "to believe that, at this time, the tendency of the postal service is toward over-organization."

It was explained, however, that this reference was not to "organization"

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure a cold. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

BAR STRIKE-BREAKERS FROM TRANSPORTATION

GENERAL DEBATE ON ALASKA BILL ENDS.

Washington, Feb. 6.—General debate on the Chamberlain bill, authorizing the president to construct a government railroad in Alaska was concluded yesterday by the house. The measure will be taken up for detailed consideration next Wednesday, and Representative Houston, in charge of the bill, said every effort would be made to carry it to final passage. It already has passed the senate.

More than two score of the members of the house made brief speeches for and against the project. Representative Mann of Illinois and Representative Dicks of Texas opposing it. Mr. Dicks denounced the measure as opening the way for paternalism, and as "socialistic." Republican Leader McCall declared that the same cry had been raised against every extension of governmental activity.

ASSAILANT OF MISS WALSH SENTENCED.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Joseph McDonough, charged by his cousin, Mae Walsh, an election judge, with attacking her while she was pursuing her election duties, was sentenced to six months in jail. He was released on bond and given one week in which to show that he has the right of appeal.

Miss Walsh testified that she had entered McDonough's home attending her election duties, and that in putting her out, he had handled her roughly.

Relatives of both families testified that there had been quarrels between the McDonough and Walsh branches for years, and that Miss Walsh had been warned not to enter the home.

COURT REFUSES TO DEFEND BILLBOARDS.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 6.—Application for an injunction to restrain the city building commissioner from tearing down nearly 1,000 illegal billboards in St. Louis, was refused by Judge Dyer in the federal district court here today. Judge Dyer held that the decision of the Missouri supreme court, upholding the validity of the billboard ordinance, left him no course but to refuse the injunction.

MAKES HAIR DISAPPEAR ALMOST LIKE MAGIC

(Toilet Tips)

Advocates of the electric needle for removing stubborn hairy growths now concede that a simple paste made with powdered delatone and water is fully as efficacious and is devoid of pain, while the cost is trifling. The delatone paste is left on the hairy surface about two minutes and when it is rubbed off all traces of hair vanish. Washing leaves the skin soft, smooth and spotless. Be careful to see that it is delatone you get or you may be disappointed with the result.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Randall of Louisiana and Representatives Sparkman of Florida and Humphreys of Mississippi, conferred for more than an hour last night with President Wilson on the subject of Mississippi river flood regulation.

RELIGION IS NOT ATTACKED

About 1,200 Sit Quietly Through Socialist Lecture By C. D. Thompson.

Knights of Columbus Offered Opportunity to Debate With Speaker.

If anyone visited the Armory last evening expecting to witness fireworks of a "clash between speakers for the Socialists and those for the Knights of Columbus" they were disappointed for disappointment. The meeting was as quiet and orderly as a Sunday school convention and not once was Carl D. Thompson of Milwaukee, Socialist lecturer, interrupted during the two hours he addressed his audience.

It is estimated that about 1,200 people attended the lecture. Most of the seats on the ground floor were occupied and many took seats in the galleries. Mr. Thompson stated at the outset that he was willing to answer questions should anyone in the audience wish to put any to him. The meeting was the very antithesis of the gathering several weeks ago, when Peter W. Collins anti-Socialist lecturer, who was brought here by the Knights of Columbus and spoke. Mr. Collins was frequently interrupted by questions interposed by Morris Kaplan and other local Socialists and the meeting furnished considerable excitement.

Socialism and Labor.

Mr. Thompson took up for discussion the subject of "Socialism and Labor Movement." He recited the history of Socialism in this connection pointed out the fact that Socialism was accomplished and what Socialists were seeking to accomplish for the betterment of labor conditions through their representatives in the different parliaments and congresses of the world.

The speaker also declared that the Socialists had already contributed about $7,000 for strikes throughout the United States and that so far as the Calumet strike was concerned the Socialists had contributed per capita three times as much as the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Thompson took up the question of religion and Socialism and declared that there was nothing about religion in any of the constitutions or platforms of the Socialist party in any of the countries and that Socialism was not concerned with a man's religious views.

Ready for Debate.

Richard Jones acted as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Jones stated this morning that the local Socialists will still be glad to give any accredited representative of the Knights of Columbus an opportunity to debate with Mr. Thompson and that if each side is required to put up a forfeit in a local bank they would be glad to bring Mr. Thompson here again to debate according to the terms suggested by Collins at the Armory meeting Nov. 11.

Tonight at the Socialist headquarters, 310 West First street, John Ohsel, professor of economics at the Finnish college at Smithville, will conduct a discussion on "Social Classes Under Capitalism." The meeting is open to the general public.

LESS BEEF FROM ARGENTINA LATER

Utah Man Says North American Trade Need Not Worry.

Lozan, Utah, Feb. 6.—That North American beef producers need not worry about competition with Argentina, as that country will have less to export in the future, was the statement of John T. Caine III, of the Utah agricultural college, at a conference yesterday of agricultural college representatives from Utah, Idaho, Colorado and Montana, held in conjunction with the Farmers' union at the Utah college.

Mr. Caine declared that the United States is not now a beef exporter, and that the country's beef production has been one-third in the last seven years.

Director Stanford of the Montana college said that the state must go into hog raising and dairying. W. L. Carlyle, acting president of the college, declared that the state must go into dairying.

POLICEMAN'S CHILD VICTIM OF ASSAULT

St. Louis Officer Himself Arrests Man Identified By Daughter.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 6.—Late Wednesday night Loretta, the 9-year-old daughter of Police Sergeant John Stephens-Meyer, was lured into an alley and after being attacked was left unconscious by a man who escaped. Immediately a general order for the assailant's arrest was issued and every fellow officer in the city sought vengeance for the injury to the sergeant's daughter.

Last night Stephens-Meyer, by promising the police board that he would not harm the man in any way should the assailant be caught, was permitted to don citizens' clothes and to join the search.

A few hours later the sergeant arrested a man in a downtown saloon and took him home, where the little girl positively identified him as the one who had attacked her.

RELIGIOUS WORK AT FRISCO FAIR.

New York, Feb. 6.—Rev. H. H. Bell of San Francisco laid before a gathering of prominent New York business and professional men yesterday, plans for a great religious campaign in connection with the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Dr. Bell represents the committee of 100 appointed by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

He proposed a large auditorium to cost $240,000 inside the exposition grounds, a tabernacle near the civic center of San Francisco, and smaller halls where evangelical meetings would be held every day and night during the exposition, under prominent leaders. The auditorium inside the

FRANK BERRY SUMMONED

Well Known Duluthian Is Victim of a Nervous Breakdown.

Frank C. Berry, prominent thirty-third degree Mason and one of the most widely known business men in Duluth, died yesterday at Bilozi, Miss., where he had gone with Mrs. Berry last October to recover from a nervous breakdown. According to word received here by friends, the body will be brought to Minneapolis for burial.

Mr. Berry was a pioneer in the mercantile business of Minnesota and was known among the business men throughout the Northwest. When the Wright-Clarkson Mercantile company was organized in Duluth about three years ago, Mr. Berry was called here from Minneapolis to join the sales force of the new institution and remained with it after the Gowen-Peterson-Condor company was formed and the two mercantile companies merged. Less than two years ago he was made sales manager, continuing in the position up to a short time after the present Gowen-Lanning-Brown company was incorporated. He was compelled to give up his work here in December, 1912, owing to ill health and he moved with his family to Florida, where they have since made their home. About a year ago Mr. Berry and his family went to Florida and later to California for short visits. Last summer he returned to Duluth and in October Mr. and Mrs. Berry went to Bilozi for the winter.

Besides Mrs. Berry, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harry Johnson of Colorado, and two sons, Clayton Berry of Duluth and Lawrence Berry, 16 years old, who lives with Mrs. Johnson at Colorado. The oldest son is employed at the steel plant. Mr. Berry was born in Minneapolis in 1859, his parents having been among the earliest pioneers of Minnesota. He received his early education in the Mill City and later attended the University of Minnesota, graduating in the early 80s. Following his college education, Mr. Berry became a traveling salesman and worked out of Minneapolis for many years. He was married to Miss Harriet Lyon, a Minneapolis girl, twenty years ago. No definite funeral arrangements have been made as yet, with the exception that the body will be taken to Minneapolis for burial. He was a member of the Bilozi lodge, and that order will have charge of the services.

WOULD CUT EXPENSES

able to pay. He argued for it earnestly. It would prevent loading the state with people whose families wished to be rid of their burden; it would reduce the state treasury of a considerable weight which belonged elsewhere.

The legislature did not pass any bill. Two years later Governor Van Sant repeated his recommendation, cutting out a paragraph from his old message, and pasting it in the new, with a little added emphasis.

The legislature did not pass any bill. During Van Sant's administration the board of control was created. One of the first recommendations of the board of control was that part of the cost of maintaining the patients in the insane hospital should be borne by the counties from which they come, with leave to the county to reimburse themselves where relatives were able to pay. It was pointed out that this was a perfectly proper distribution of the burden; that it would reduce the number of commitments.

that it would bring home responsibility.

No Action by Legislature.
The legislature did not pass any bill. The board of control renewed its recommendation in 1904, bill attached.

The legislature did not pass any bill. The board of control renewed its recommendation in 1906.

The legislature did not pass any bill. The board of control renewed its recommendation in 1908.

The legislature did not pass any bill. The board of control renewed its recommendation in 1910, bill attached.

Same result. Ditto 1912, bill attached.

Same result. Here is a measure favored actively by two governors and by the board of control five times running. Nobody ever opposed it. Yet it never got anywhere.

There has been a good deal of talk about cutting down expenses. This would reduce the state's expenses $300,000 a year or more.

Daily Plan to Cut Expenses.
Except the measures prepared by the house committee on claims and county, it is the only measure that stands out prominently which seriously promises a reduction in state expenses. And those bills came in at the end of a session, having taken the entire time in preparation, so their passage was out of the question. So it is the only measure ever proposed to cut down expenses to an appreciable extent.

Nobody was against it in particular. But nobody was for it in a general way. Maybe it ought not to pass, but that is not the reason why in the face of such distinguished indorsement it failed to pass. Nobody ever went after it as they have gone for a demonstration farm school at Duluth, or a fish hatchery at Lake Traverse, or a normal school at Bemidji. Nobody wanted it that bad.

Now there are two ways any measure gets through the legislature. One is for two or three people to want it so much they make a nuisance of themselves. They get it the other way is for pretty much all the people to want it.

If the state really wants to cut down expenses, here is a simple little measure that the legislature could pass in half an hour on an off day, which would take off $300,000 a year in one slice.

It has been around long enough to have got acquainted anyhow. Nobody ever actively opposed it.

As the Herald has heretofore pointed out on several occasions, it is not so necessary to find who is to blame for lack of action as it is for the great American voter to get busy.

cury at 18 deg. below zero. Butte is experiencing the coldest weather this winter. The extreme official temperature during Wednesday night was 22 deg. below.

Montana. Northern Idaho and Eastern Washington are experiencing the coldest weather of the season, and the forecast is for continued cold for several days. Heavy snow preceded the drop in temperature.

Severe in South Dakota.
Pier, S. D., Feb. 6.—The severest snow storm of the winter prevailed over the northern part of South Dakota yesterday and last night. The thermometers dropped to 22 below zero.

Bitter in Wyoming.
Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 6.—With the thermometer showing 18 deg. below zero at 10 o'clock and dropping 1 deg. every fifteen minutes, this city experienced the coldest night of the winter. Stock is well protected, however, and only a trace of snow has fallen.

Blizzard in Nebraska.
Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 6.—The storm which started early yesterday in Western Nebraska and swept over the entire state here this morning, with the temperature dropping to 22 below zero, accompanied by a high wind, fell over the entire state, and Western Nebraska points to a temperature from 12 to 15 deg. below.

Down to Zero in Texas.
Dallas, Texas, Feb. 6.—Severe winter weather, the first of the season, visited the Southwest today. In the Texas Panhandle temperatures dropped to zero. In Oklahoma snow accompanied the extreme cold. At Vernon, Tex., the temperature fell to 12 deg. below 16 above zero in three hours. Fort Worth and Dallas had freezing weather today.

The cold wave is going South toward the Gulf of Mexico, with predictions that it will carry temperatures in Central Texas down to 10 or 15 deg. below zero by tomorrow.

Cold Wave for Duluth.
Duluth, Feb. 6.—The edge of a cold wave that is sweeping over the North and South, even to the Southwest, is here tonight all right, and heavy wraps will be the thing.

So extensive is the cold wave that there is zero weather as far south as Kansas. This morning it was 12 below at Denver, 4 below at Dodge City, Kan., and only 2 above at Amarillo, Tex. It got to 30 below at Bismarck and at Winnipeg and went as far as 42 below at Harlingen. It was only 1 below here. The cold will be accompanied by brisk winds.

The snow delayed early cars this morning to some extent, and the West Duluth line suffered a good deal by a tie-up caused by the hotel fire at the West end. Cars were not delayed for long, however, and are moving well now.

Constitutional-Conservative party and leader of the Pan-Slavic movement in Russia, who the trial was resumed today at Marmorek-Sziget, where four Rutenians charged with inciting rebellion against the Austro-Hungarian government.

Duliskovics, a detective, who was called to give evidence of Pan-Slavic activities in Hungary, quoted the sensational phrase from Count Bobrinsky: Duliskovics had been specially commissioned to investigate the alleged treasonable proceedings of the Rutenians.

Trusted With Mission.
"I got into touch with Count Bobrinsky," he said, "and the count entrusted me with the task of enlisting the services of educated Rutenians who were to join the Russian orthodox church, and after having been trained, were to return to Hungary to push the Pan-Slavic movement among their compatriots. Count Bobrinsky had plenty of funds at his disposal for the Pan-Slavic propaganda."

Denied Statement.
Count Bobrinsky, who is a member of the Russian duma, was immediately called to the witness stand, where he emphatically denied that he ever made the incriminating statement attributed to him. He admitted acquaintance with Duliskovics, but said his confidential agents had warned him against the detective. The court gave Count Bobrinsky permission to return to Russia when he had concluded his evidence.

The trial has been in progress since Dec. 25. The principal defendant is Father Alexius of Mount Athos. Great political interest has been aroused throughout Europe by the proceedings, as it is alleged that the seditious movement among the Rutenians was directed by the Russian government, and that it was carried out under the guise of propaganda to convert the Rutenians to the orthodox church, but with the ultimate object of enticing them from their allegiance to Austria-Hungary.

the house when the shooting began. She returned when the deputies left, and saw her brother-in-law, Steve Putrich, standing in the kitchen.

"I am shot," he said, according to the witness, "if anything happens to me, send my money to my children."

Putrich died the next day.

In another room, she said, she found Stanko Stepech lying on the floor, wounded in the arm. She went upstairs and saw Alois Tujan lying dead on the bed.

The witness denied that any shots were fired from inside the house. She said she did not see any clubs or other missiles thrown by any of her boarders.

Saw Two Men Shooting.
As she ran out of the house, she said, she could see the deputies shooting. Two men were standing in the room window, and by the parlor window, and two by the bedroom window.

"Did all have revolvers?" she did not see.

John Stine, one of the boarders whom the deputies came to her house to arrest, denied that he made any threats against Humphrey Quick, a mine watchman. He said he was cutting his supper at the time of the shooting, and did not know how it began.

There have been no developments in the strike situation. The strikers continued the work, and the necessities to appear before the congressional investigators next week.

Hilton Looked For.
A fire of unknown origin in the Winona mine was extinguished yesterday afternoon with small damage. It broke out on the eighth of two coal mines while miners were at work on lower levels. It also brought to the surface safely.

O. N. Hilton of Duluth called counsel for the Western Federation of Miners, to assist local attorneys for the striking copper miners in the preparation of evidence to be given before the congressional investigating committee next week. The committee will begin its hearings Monday, Hanson said.

The investigation may be in progress for a month or more.

will be tied up. Even in the event of peace it may be lost, for the rebels have declared it confiscated.

"I do not mind going to work; it may be a good thing," he said to friends before his departure, and then smiled at his own remarks, for his prodigality of which have been written on two continents, in London and Paris, in Mexico, Texas, California, and elsewhere, in Chihuahua, the family seat from which the estate has always been administered.

Terrazas has always worked as rich men have to, and has been making the most of the state of Chihuahua; but he did not work for a living. Now, according to himself, he is to labor for bread and butter.

He learned of farming and the breeding of horses and cattle on his own ranches, and his friends say he will be able to hold his own in western income from the soil.

The Terrazas Estate was founded by Don Luis Terrazas, now an octogenarian refugee in land grants from President Juarez and President Porfirio Diaz. These holdings, immense as they are, have been augmented constantly until now, as a train schedule in Mexico, it would take a passenger train, making the usual stops, three days to travel the boundaries of this estate for the removal of German subjects from Tampico.

Just how the capture of the bandit detachment was accomplished, was not stated in the report. In his retreat, however, Castillo wrought what revenge he could. He ran ten cars of lumber into the town, and covered with snow at this season, and through deep canyons and fertile valleys, he carried from a car loaded with supplies, ran the car on a high wooden bridge and set fire to the car, which was the bridge, was destroyed.

city. He is one of the original members of the club and in the early days taught many of the present "crack" players the fine points of the game.

When any interesting game is taking place at the rink Mr. Donald is present to watch its progress.

H. C. Brown's rink was last evening given the club's championship buttons, which were won by that rink last year. The buttons were subject to change of ownership at any time and the holders are liable to a challenge every twenty-four hours. The present personnel of the Brown rink, which has possession of the buttons, is: T. F. Olson, lead; G. Brown, second; A. Lyons, third; and H. C. Brown, skip.

Last evening four games were played at the rink. Zauft won from Wade in the Bagley event by a score of 18 to 7, placing the former in the semi-finals of that event. Brown lost to Simpson by a score of 9 to 12; and Mallory lost to Evers by a score of 8 to 9 in the Hendrickson event, and Judson won from Illis by a score of 14 to 13 in the Esterly. Tonight Simpson and Wade will play in the semi-finals of the Union Match, and Illis and Wieland will play in the Hendrickson event.

BIG SETTLEMENT IN INJURY SUIT

Widow of Walter C. Spornitz Is Awarded $6,000.

One of the largest settlements which has been made of court in a wrongful death action for some time was effected today when the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company paid over $6,000 to the widow of Walter C. Spornitz in settlement for her husband's death while employed by the company.

Walter C. Spornitz was fatally injured while working in the company's yards at West Duluth on April 21, 1913. His foot caught in a frog and he was unable to release himself in time to prevent his run down being fatal. He died from his injuries a few hours after the accident.

Suit for damages was brought in district court against the railroad company on behalf of the widow and three children. The action was instituted under the Federal employer's liability act and a $6,000 damage was asked. If the action had been brought under the state law, the maximum amount of damages which might be claimed would have been $7,500.

STATE WINS IN TAX CASE

Heron Estate Is Held Subject to Levy By Minnesota.

Decision By Judge Bazille of St. Paul Is Reversed.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 6.—(Special to The Herald).—The state won a notable victory in the Minnesota supreme court today when an opinion was handed down reversing the decision of Judge E. W. Bazille of the Ramsey county probate court in the matter of the inheritance tax on the estate of George S. Heron, a St. Paul real estate man who died in 1912.

personal property made in Minnesota by a resident of this state is taxable here, although the actual situs of the property was at the time of the testator's death in another state, and although such transfer was subject to a tax in that state also.

The decision is a personal victory for Attorney General L. A. Smith, who appealed from the decree of the Ramsey county probate court on behalf of the state, and it serves to clear up, perhaps, the last disputed point in regard to the enforcement of the Minnesota inheritance tax law.

The question at issue was whether this exercise by George S. Heron of the power of appointment given to him by the will of his brother for life, and upon his brother's death it was to go to two nephews, S. S. and W. E. Heron.

Could Evade Law.
The question at issue was whether this exercise by George S. Heron of the power of appointment given to him by the will of his brother was a transfer of property that is taxable under the Minnesota law. Judge Bazille held it was not, but he is reversed by the supreme court.

The supreme court points to the law and says there might be many opportunities to evade the tax should it be held that the transfer in Minnesota by the owner residing here of property of this character located in another state was not taxable here because the evidence of indebtedness are not in this state.

The opinion was written by Justice Bunn.

SEEK LAW TO BACK FISHERIES TREATY

Administration Is Behind
Bill Introduced in House
By Flood.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)
Washington, Feb. 6.—An effort is to be made by the administration to secure the enactment of a law to carry into effect the provisions of the treaty between the United States and Canada for the regulation of the fisheries in boundary waters, from Lake Superior and the Lake of the Woods and Rainy lake, the latter two in Minnesota. The treaty fixes the size of fish that may be taken and the size of the nets that fishermen may use. A provision that was objected to several years ago by the fishermen on Saginaw bay, under the Georgian bay is excluded from the operation of the treaty, is in the bill that has been introduced by Representative Flood, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, and it is likely that the fight against the proposed legislation will be renewed.

The protest served to defeat the bill when it was in congress before, and it may fail of action in this congress for the same reason.

Recall Petition Complete.

Chairman C. J. Hartley of the executive committee in charge of the recall movement against Mayor J. S. Konkell of Superior, today announced that enough names had been secured to assure the success of the effort, and that the petitions would be filed next Tuesday. Konkell's supporters claim that the time limit for filing the petitions has expired and that efforts to bring about a recall election will be fought in the courts.

WOMEN SPEAK AT CORN MEET

Household Topics Mark Discussion at Grand Forks Gathering.

Mallory, Minn., Woman Wins First Prize as Butter Maker.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Women had their opportunity in the North Dakota Corn and Clover convention today, the afternoon session being given over to them, as will be the session Saturday morning. The study of household topics marks both sessions, with Mrs. Hattie Moore-Mitchell of Des Moines, Iowa, Miss Minnie J. Nelson of Valley City, Mrs. Clark W. Kelly of Devils Lake, and Miss Beatrice Johnstone of Grand Forks, as the featured speakers.

Tonight the visiting women speakers will be entertained at a banquet by the Women's Civic League of Grand Forks.

Last night the visiting farmers, over 800 in number, were entertained at luncheon as the guests of the Grand Forks Commercial club, and the event was exceptionally interesting. Several Grand Forks speakers and entertainers appeared before the visitors, and the meeting lasted till midnight. It gave the business men of the city an opportunity to come into close touch with the visitors, and was much enjoyed by all.

Ohio Speaker Optimistic.

Joseph Wing of Mechanicsburg, Ohio, addressing the convention yesterday, declared that he believed North Dakota would, within a few years, become one of the greatest farming states in the United States. He pointed to progress already made as the basis for his prediction.

Discussing the growing of alfalfa, Mr. Wing, himself regarded as the greatest alfalfa expert in the world, maintained that it could be raised successfully and at a splendid profit.

Mr. Wing also discussed his own experience in building up a run-down Ohio farm, and he contended that the adoption of the same system in this state, in treating worn-out land, would bring magnificent results.

Citing the fact that English farmers in Saskatchewan are keeping sheep at a profit, Mr. Wing urged North Dakota farmers to follow the same example.

Tomorrow is the last day of the convention, and with the big event drawing to a close, officers express themselves as being very well satisfied with the week's success. The convention has been well attended, and every feature has been well received.

J. D. Bacon of Grand Forks was declared the winner of the sweetest corn prize.

DOES MUCH WORK AMONG FARMERS

North Dakota Better Farming Association Gets Results.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—It cost the North Dakota Better Farming association $22,500 to spread the gospel of good farming over the state in 1913, out of which additional profits to the farmers, aggregating $114,000, were forthcoming.

Director Thomas Cooper, reporting on the financial features of the association's work, shows that private subscription provided $39,343 of the total funds used during the year.

Sixteen individual districts in which field agents are being maintained at a cost to the counties ranging from $1,022.79 in La Moure county, to $5,654.06 in Grand Forks county.

The several counties have contributed cash for promoting the work as follows:

Barnes, $5,034.15; Bottineau, $1,192.08; Cavalier, $1,873.92; Sutton, $1,346.63; Bowman, $1,787.84; Ransom, $1,242.62; Wells, $1,200.66; Edin, $3,652.88; Grand Forks, $5,654.06; Adams, $1,623.13; Hettinger, $2,257.43; Steele, $1,820.40; McIntosh, $1,877.74; Benson, $1,221.78; La Moure, $1,022.79.

Financial contracts made by the association with counties previous to its merger with the state agricultural college, which charges the acceptance, place, Golden Valley, Hettinger and Ramsey. Ultimately, it is the hope of the supporters of the movement to have an agent in every county.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 6.—The acquittal by a district court jury yesterday of former Police Chief Martin Flanagan and ex-City Detective Fred Turner of the charge of having accepted a $1,000 bribe from a woman of the underworld continues an absorbing topic in the capital city. So intense was feeling against the accused that hisses greeted the verdict when it was read in court.

Both the defendants will be placed on trial next Monday on a second indictment, which charges the acceptance, through Willie Wolf, the state's principal witness, of a $3,000 bribe from a former resort keeper.

Citizens Gathering Evidence.

The committee has obtained the services of a score of detectives of a large national agency to aid in the investigation.

WILSON DENOUNCES EXEMPTION CLAUSE OF THE PANAMA ACT

Declares It Is Benefit to Nobody But the Monopolists.

Spirited Debate Over Repeal Bill Certain in Congress.

Senate Will Wait for House to Act on the Measure.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 7.—President Woodrow Wilson, in a letter to William L. Mahony of this city, published in the Baltimore Sun today, says that the exemption of American coastwise shipping from the Panama canal tolls "constitutes a very mistaken policy from every point of view" and "benefits, for the present at any rate, only a monopoly."

The president says a high tribute to Secretary of State Bryan, who he says deserves "not only our confidence, but our affectionate admiration." The letter follows:

"My Dear Mr. Mahony—I have your letter of Jan. 30. With regard to the question of canal tolls, my opinion is very clear. The exemption constitutes a very mistaken policy from every point of view. It is economically in such a manner as to be a matter of fact, it benefits for the present, at any rate, only a monopoly; and it seems to me in violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty."

"There is, of course, much honest difference of opinion as to the last point, as there is no doubt to the others, but it is at least debatable, matters are debatable, I, for one, do not care to debate them. I think the country would prefer to let the question arise as to its whole-hearted purpose to redeem its promise in the light of any reasonable construction of them, rather than debate a point of honor."

"Our reference to the secretary of state shows how comprehensively he has looked on during the last few months. Not only have Mr. Bryan's character, his justice, his integrity, his transparent integrity, his Christian principle, made him a man of honor upon all with whom he has dealt, but his tact in dealing with men of many (Continued on page 6, second column.)

C. Frick Coke company; Interstate Commerce Railway company; and Spirit Lake Transfer Railway company.

SERIOUS CHARGES BREW AT KELLNER

Representative of State Fire Marshal Begins an Inquiry.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the arrival this morning at Kellner of a representative from the state fire marshal's office, came information that serious charges may develop as a result of the fire which destroyed the Grace hotel at Kellner Wednesday evening, when nine persons were cremated and eleven injured.

Coroner M. E. Iversen has conducted an inquest and the jury, after examining three witnesses, returned the following verdict: "We, the coroner's jury, after investigation, find that Odin Mecklen and two other unknown persons, whose bodies are unrecognizable, came to their deaths in a fire which, according to the witnesses, started in the basement of the Grace hotel on the morning of Feb. 4." The verdict was signed by D. J. Taylor, John Hartman, L. J. Kramer, E. C. Lange, G. Keef and C. Johnson.

The bones of but three of the victims could be found, and although every effort was made by the coroner to locate the other bodies, they could not be found and the coroner does not believe they ever will be found.

At the inquest it was found that T. O'Neill, reported among the dead, is alive, but his body was incinerated in the fire. The witnesses testified that forty-five minutes after the fire started the three-story building had been consumed.

PANKHURST RULE BROKEN

Sylvia Is Forced Out of Organization of Suffragettes.

Mother Is Too Ill to Act and Christabel Is in Paris.

London, Feb. 7.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of the militant suffragette leader, has announced her secession from the Women's Social and Political union, the militant women's organization. Her East End of London federation, which hitherto has been a branch of the parent organization, will henceforth be entirely independent.

The rift among the militant suffragettes is said to be due to Miss Sylvia Pankhurst's ultra-revolutionary aspirations, which the leaders of the Women's Social and Political union are beginning to believe are damaging their cause.

Among the grievances of the Women's Social and Political union against Sylvia Pankhurst's new federation is the disregard of Christabel Pankhurst's instructions that the union must be kept independent of all political parties. Margaret Murray, who advocates a low-rate strike as a means toward obtaining the vote for women, has worked in close association with Sylvia Pankhurst's new federation.

COURT DENOUNCES WOMAN CLAIMANT

Throws Out Mrs. Snyder's Suit for Share in Tacoma Estate.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 7.—"Nothing in my experience has been so glaringly fraudulent as this claim, nothing so transparently brazen and barren of merit. I cannot make it too strong," Superior Judge Clifford said in throwing out of court yesterday the claim of Mrs. Margaret Mulroy Snyder of Rockford, Ill., to a share in the $90,000 estate of John W. Roberts, pioneer Tacoma merchant.

Beside evidence that Mrs. Snyder tried to induce many persons to swear falsely to back her case, testimony was introduced as to almost a score of other times when the woman was said to have acted the part of an adventuress and impostor. Roberts was a bachelor.

Mrs. Snyder asserted she was a grand-daughter.

FINE AND CELL FOR DANGERS OF TANGO

Norwalk, Wis., Puts Ban on "This Invention of Satan."

Norwalk, Wis., Feb. 7.—At a meeting of the village council here last night an ordinance was passed making the dancing of the tango within the municipal limits of Norwalk a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment. The marshal was ordered to close at once all dancing academies in which one of the counsellors declared "this invention of Satan" was taught.

Norwalk is the only organization having drastic rules as to listing securities, and that stocks, bonds, and other securities were accepted without question by the London exchange.

Senator Pomeroy asked if legislation requiring other exchanges to have equally drastic rules would not be beneficial. Mr. Pomeroy replied that it would and agreed to draft a plan as a basis for such legislation.

COLD WAVE GOES EAST

Storm Warnings Ordered on the Atlantic Coast.

Tennessee and Texas Get Temperatures Below Freezing.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Cold weather sweeping eastward spread its frosty blanket over the Ohio valley and the upper lake region today, with promise of bringing the lowest temperatures of the year.

Storm warnings were issued up all along the Atlantic coast, from Delaware Breakwater to Newport, Me., heralded the cold wave which, by all predictions, will be over the Atlantic coast district and the lower lake region by tonight, and will remain over Sunday.

Zero temperatures throughout the Missouri valley and the plains states being pushed along eastward are expected to make it very cold and clear for the next two or three days, except in the lower lake regions and North-west England, where snows were expected. Generally fair weather was predicted elsewhere.

The weather bureau's little white flag with the black square in the center was fluttering off its silent message, "Cold wave" from all the stations in the East today.

Blizzard in Milwaukee. Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 7.—The first real blizzard of the winter in Milwaukee and vicinity resulted in a snowfall during the night of about 6 inches.

PREPARE FOR CONGRESSMEN

Union Officials Will Present Evidence in Copper Strike Probe.

Witnesses Tell of Shooting at Trial of Deputies.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the congressional committee which will make an investigation of the copper miners' strike were expected to arrive today. Reservations were made for them yesterday at a hotel in Hancock, where the hearings will be held. O. N. Hilton of Denver, chief of counsel for the Western Federation of Miners, arrived yesterday to take charge of the evidence which will be presented to the committee by the strikers. The investigation will begin Monday.

Seven witnesses were heard yesterday in the Seaberville murder case, in which five deputies are on trial for killing two strikers last August.

Witnesses Tell Story. Stanko Stepek, one of the striking copper miners who was wounded in the Seaberville shooting, testified that he saw the officers' captain, John Kolan, before a shot had been fired. Kolan was one of the men they had gone to arrest.

The witness said that James Cooper, a Waddell-Mahon man, hit him also, and pointed a revolver at him. He then ran into the house, and while he was inside, he heard a shot fired outside, he said. Stepek had started upstairs. (Continued on page 6, second column.)

Inverness, Scotland, Feb. 7.—An arson squad of militant suffragettes today set fire to Hazelbank House, a Highland residence in Tomatin, sixteen miles from here. The house, which was destroyed, belonged to the widow of a county councillor and was temporarily unoccupied.

The usual suffragette placards and literature were found in the neighborhood.

Arsenal and Artillery Also Protected as Revolt Story Spreads.

Twenty-Five Hundred Police Said to Be in New Plot.

Carden's Successor Stops at Washington on Way to Post.

Mexico City, Feb. 7.—Troops guarded the palace, the arsenal and the artillery barracks throughout the night as the result of last night's reports that conspirators had planned a coup d'etat in the shape of a new revolt in the city against the government of Gen. Huerta.

For a time last night considerable excitement was caused by the activity of the soldiers and by a report that an outbreak had actually occurred in Guadalupe, a suburb seven miles northeast of the capital, where fighting was said to be in progress. Messages early today failed, however, to confirm the rumors of fighting. It was thought that the fact that troops had been hurriedly sent to the suburbs in accordance with military plans to be in readiness for a possible uprising was responsible for the Guadalupe reports.

Army Chiefs Confused. Gen. Blanquet, minister of war, and others of the military officers in command in the capital were involved in the plot and that they had pledged themselves to revolt with certain troops.

The beginning of the new revolt, according to the report, was fixed for Feb. 8, the anniversary of the beginning of the ten days bombardment of the city.

BIG FIGHT ON LIQUOR IS DUE IN ILLINOIS

More Than 200 Towns Will Vote on Saloons April 7.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—A canvass just completed shows that more than 200 of the 325 voting units in Illinois outside of Cook county will vote on the saloon question on April 7. Reports indicate that a great campaign between prohibition and saloon forces will be waged the coming spring.

Confidence that women voters will cast their ballots against the saloon is reasonable for the decision of the anti-saloon supporters to make fights in many townships. The fact that women have voted has encouraged the Illinois anti-saloon forces to force the liquor issue in many saloon strongholds.

The principal effort to oust the saloon will be made April 7, but there will be another election April 21, at which more than fifty additional voting units will ballot on the saloon question, leaving possibly as few as fifty units outside of Cook county, where this problem is not to be considered by voters.

LAYS DISASTERS BY FIRE TO WIRELESS

French Electrician So Explains Volturno and Other Outbreaks.

Paris, Feb. 7.—M. Duroquiere, an electrician, says he has reason to believe that wireless waves have been responsible for several recent catastrophes, notably the burning at sea of the Uranium liner Volturno, the Cardiff mine explosion, and the destruction of the French battleship Liberté at Toulon.

M. Duroquiere says that experiments made by him in his laboratory in the province of Touraine, which is situated about midway between the Eiffel Tower and the Rochefort wireless stations, show that whenever the stations are sending signals, a powerful magnetic phenomenon is produced in the zone of intersection of the waves. Two glass globes filled with inflammable gas, Mr. Duroquiere says, were exploded by the disturbance, although they were not connected with the antennas of his apparatus.

M. Duroquiere points out that the spot in the ocean where the Volturno caught fire was exactly in the intersection of wireless waves from the Glace Bay and Paris, the Cardiff, and the Toulon.

WILL ADMIT HIS GUILT

Tony Mikrut Will Receive Sentence for Shooting at Saloonkeeper.

Twelve Prisoners Tried This Term and Twelve Found Guilty.

Tony Mikrut, who on Jan. 6 last, walked into a saloon at 639 E. Second street, and after Martin Fajedich, the proprietor, had refused to give him a drink, opened fire on him with a loaded gun, is expected to plead guilty to a charge of shooting at a saloonkeeper in district court this afternoon.

Mikrut was indicted by the January grand jury on a charge of assault in the first degree. Since his incarceration in the county jail he has been quiet. If given an opportunity he would change his plea of not guilty to one of guilty to the lesser offense. He has so notified the county attorney's office and it has been arranged to have the prisoner brought before Judge Cant this afternoon for sentence.

Mikrut fired three shots at Fajedich, but the latter fortunately escaped without serious injury. Mikrut, it is claimed, had been in the saloon earlier in the day and during an altercation with the bartender, had hurled a telephone instrument at him.

Two other prisoners will be brought before Judge Cant this afternoon for sentence. One of them, James Carey, was found guilty this week of having burglarized a room at the Adelphi hotel on Jan. 1, and the other, James Anderson Porter, a negro, on Jan. 28 was found guilty of having on Jan. 13 stolen nineteen fountain pens from the Smith & Smith drug store, 101 West Superior street.

The sentences today will clean up the work on the January term calendar of criminal cases. Of the twelve defendants brought to trial at this term of court, none has been acquitted, three have pleaded guilty and nine have been convicted. One case was dismissed. One prisoner, Johan Zyl, pleaded guilty to the charge of murdering in the first degree, and was sentenced to Stillwater for life by Judge Cant. Zyl shot and killed Neil J. Mooney, a 25-year-old Duluth patrolman.

STAY GRANTED IN DR. ANDERSON CASE

Appeal Is Being Prepared From $4,000 Verdict By Jury.

Dr. James C. Anderson of this city, against whom a $4,000 verdict was returned Dec. 24 last by a district court jury, which cited the malpractice action brought against him by Albert C. Burgess, will ask for a new trial.

Judge Cant today granted an additional thirty days stay of proceedings in order that the court reporter might prepare a transcript of the evidence taken at the trial on which his attorneys might base their motion for a new trial.

In the first case the jury found that a mistake made by the local surgeon was the life of Grace L. Burgess, wife of the plaintiff.

An operation was performed on Mrs. Burgess on March 27, 1913, and her death followed on April 12. Burgess sued for the maximum amount, $7,500.

Preparations Under Way for Coming State Convention at Brainerd.

Monday evening representatives of the Socialists in St. Louis county will meet at the local headquarters, 310 1/2 West First street, and choose the delegates to the state convention that will be held at Brainerd on Feb. 14.

Indications point to a good attendance, although on account of the short time that must elapse between the convention on Monday night and the biennial county congress, many of the districts outside of Duluth will not be represented.

A number of the Socialist locals have sent in the names of their candidates for delegates. It is expected that at least six or seven of the St. Louis

Following election of the delegates various matters pertaining to the campaign in the coming election and the work and policies of the state organization will be taken up.

Definite instructions regarding the platform of the state ticket will be given to the delegates. Upon this question there is some difference of opinion among the Socialists, many being in favor of specifying certain definite reform measures which they believe the people are in need of, and others favor an out and out statement of the Socialist principles and declaration favoring the co-operative commonwealth in preference to the present order of things.

No prospective candidates for any of the state offices have appeared yet, and it is extremely doubtful if any will be announced between now and the time that the convention in Brainerd meets.

TO "PEN" FOR BURGLARY

Stans Sankoski, Who Has Served Many Jail Terms, Gets Five Years.

Protests His Innocence—His Partner Will Be Sentenced Also.

Stans Sankoski, 25 years old, who has spent the greater part of his time during the last five years serving jail sentences for getting drunk and committing assaults and other crimes, will shortly change his place of abode from the county jail to the state penitentiary.

In Judge Dancer's division of district court, where he was recently convicted of breaking into a room at the Adelphi hotel, Sankoski was sentenced to stillwater this morning. He will serve up to five years on the indeterminate term.

Sankoski was jointly indicted with Jack Cant for burglary in the third degree. Both of the men pleaded not guilty and stood trial. Sankoski was convicted after forty hours of deliberation and the second returning a verdict of guilty after twenty minutes consideration. Carey was tried before Judge Cant and was also pronounced guilty.

This morning Sankoski protested that he was innocent. He laid the blame for the affair on Carey, claiming that so far as he was concerned himself he was so drunk at the time that it would have been impossible for him to do it.

He will be brought before Judge Cant for sentence this afternoon.

One of the chief complaints that has been made against the pool halls, aside from the allowing of minors to frequent them, is the gambling which is carried on. It is not encouraged. Commissioner Hicken is determined that these places should be properly conducted, and declares that any that transgress will be put out of business by having their licenses revoked.

ITALY RESENTS ONE IMMIGRATION PLAN.

Rome, Feb. 7.—If the Barnett immigration bill passed by the United States house of representatives on Wednesday, when finally enacted containing a clause providing that an American doctor and an inspector shall be aboard Italian steamers transporting immigrants to the United States, the provision will not be accepted by Italy.

The foreign office here already has made known this fact to Thomas Nelson Page, the American ambassador. It is stated that a similar representation has been made to the authorities in Washington by the Marquis Cusani Falconieri, the Italian ambassador.

The ground of objection taken by the foreign office is that Italy already has a surgeon of the royal navy. Also it considers that Italian steamers are extra-territorial and therefore not subject to foreign control.

Compromise Reached in Action
Brought By Texas.Austin, Tex., Feb. 7.—The $100,000,000 suit of the state of Texas against the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway of Texas was settled by a compromise without a money penalty.The suit was brought under the state anti-trust laws to prevent the railroad merging several of its Texas branches under one management, a merger which the Texas legislature specifically authorized last spring. In the suit, State Attorney General R. F. Looney held the legislature's action to be unconstitutional.Under the compromise, filed in court here, the Texas system is to be sellanted from the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad of Kansas, which the court called the "parent corporation."The compromise binds the railroad to spend $5,000,000 on improvements in Texas. This is in addition to $2,000, 000 for the repair of damage done in last December's floods. The argumentdeclares its purpose is to place the affairs of the road's Texas lines behind the power of control of any railroad corporation chartered under the laws of another state.FEDERAL PROBE

OF THE FUTUREConcrete Will Be Used,
Says Engineer in Public
Address.Fred H. Waldron, Jr., gave an address last night on "The Building Material of the Future" in which he advocated the use of concrete for building material, pavements and other purposes, before a meeting of the Adams Alumni association at the Adams school, Seventeenth avenue west and Superior street.He gave a brief history of concrete stating that as yet it was in its infancy. He also gave the history of concrete saying that it was not until the last two decades that it came into general use.The great value of concrete as a structural material when subjected to compression only, has long been recognized. With the advent of modern concrete, the facilities with which reinforcing rods or bars of metal may be embedded anywhere in the mass of masonry has been taken advantage of. The compressive resistance of concrete is about ten times as much as its tensile resistance, while steel has the same strength in tension as in compression. Volume for volume, steel costs about fifty times as much as concrete.For the same section of concrete to support in compression thirty times therefore, for duty under compression only, concrete will carry a given load at six-tenths of the cost required to support it with steel.When the steel is embedded in concrete, it is protected from rust by the heat resisting qualities of the concrete, and by no other material excepting fireclay. In many cases the substantial appearance of a masonry of concrete is obtained at the cost of an unprotected steel structure.All these properties of concrete are taken advantage of in engineering, architecture and even in designs of an artistic nature.He has only to visit the model city of the steel plant to realize what is being done in concrete residence construction. When the average mason realizes that concrete is not mere mud, and can be used in place of more expensive material, it will be universally accepted for residence building as it is now for roads, pavements and dams.RECEIVES CALL now almost completed.Rev. Mr. Nelson is paid for the most prominent workers in the national conference of Swedish Baptist churches.

ROYAL

The world-wide standard
Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder and its use is more economical than other leavening agents, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.Cheap baking powders, containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or advertised as pure and wholesome. Such mixtures are not desirable for food ingredients. Most persons have learned to their sorrow that a low price does not always mean economy. This is especially so in a food article. No baking powder can properly be substituted for Royal.Read the ingredient clause upon the label. If it does not show "Cream of Tartar," don't buy the powder.

COLDEST OF THE SEASON

Mercury Expected to Touch 25 Below Zero Before Morning.

Lowest Point in Last Twenty-four Hours Was 18 Below.

The weather bureau today predicted the coldest weather of the season for tonight in Duluth. It is probable that the temperature will drop to 25 below zero. No relief is expected before Monday. The coldest in Duluth last night was 18 deg. below zero, and the mercury went up during the morning to the zero mark. There will be no strong wind or snow.

The present cold wave is not only the most severe of the season, but is also the most continued and widespread. From the Rocky mountains to the Gulf of Mexico, and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, the weather is cold. The Southwest and Southern regions are feeling the cold the keenest. Galveston, Tex., almost set a new record last night with the temperature at 32 deg. above zero, and Freeport, La., was hit hard when the mercury dropped to 18 above. Florida and other Gulf and Southern states are feeling unusually low temperatures. The lake region, Ohio valley and Northern states, experienced a drop of from 10 to 40 deg. last night.

The recent fall of snow over the Northwest and Southwest will probably mean thousands of dollars to the farmers in the winter wheat and clover belts. In most of these districts it is believed that the blanket of snow will serve as effective protection against the ravages of the cold for the remainder of the winter. In many places the snow storms of a few days ago were accompanied by mild weather, making the snow firm and heavy. This has prevented drifting, and for that reason few fields are bare and unprotected.

The storm was general throughout the state.

With the absence of high winds and the snow being of the light variety, telegraph and telephone companies experienced little or no trouble. Snow plows, operating throughout the night, kept traffic in many places. Places are running about on time.

Freezing in Texas.
Dallas, Tex., Feb. 7.—Ten degrees above zero was registered here today. The cold covered the entire state, ranging from 4 degrees above zero at Amarillo to 10 degrees below at Galveston. The freeze in South Texas was not believed to have damaged seriously the strawberry and other early spring garden crops.

Tennessee Gets a Chill.
Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 7.—The temperature here early today was 20 deg. below zero.

STOPPED HIS DRINKING
This Wife and Mother Saved Her Husband Over Ten Years Ago
SHE WILL GLADLY TELL YOU HOW FREE

For over 20 years Jas. Anderson of Hillburn, N. Y., was a confirmed drunkard. His case was about as bad as it could be, but a little over ten years ago his devoted wife, after years of trying, finally succeeded in stopping his drinking entirely.

Write to her today. Send No Money. She has Nothing To Sell

For over 20 years Jas. Anderson of Hillburn, N. Y., was a confirmed drunkard. His case was about as bad as it could be, but a little over ten years ago his devoted wife, after years of trying, finally succeeded in stopping his drinking entirely.

Write to this woman if you have a relative or friend who drinks. Not only did she save Mr. Anderson but she stopped the drinking of her brother and several of her neighbors as well. All this she accomplished with a simple home remedy which anyone can get and use. And she now desires to tell every man and woman who has a relative or friend who drinks, just what it is.

It can be given secretly if desired and every reader of this notice who is interested in curing a dear one of drinking will be glad to receive it. Her reply will come by return mail in a sealed envelope. She does this gladly, in hopes that others will be benefited as she was. One thing she asks however, and that is that you do not send money for she has nothing to sell. Her complete address is 222 Hill Ave., Hillburn, N. Y.

NOTE: This offer should be accepted at once by all who live in one who drinks. In fact, even one who has to contend in any way with drunkenness should know about it. Therefore, if you do not wish to see a relative or friend who is a drunkard, write to Mrs. Anderson and get this FREE OFFER and tell her that you will not send money for she has nothing to sell. Her complete address is 222 Hill Ave., Hillburn, N. Y.

Sioux City, Iowa, Feb. 7.—The coldest weather of the winter is being experienced in this section today. The thermometer registered 16 below zero here this morning. At Mitchell, S. D., it was 25 below.

Below Zero in Missouri.
St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7.—Temperatures ranging from 2 below zero to 5 above were recorded in various parts of St. Louis this morning. Many cases of suffering were reported.

Under Zero in Southwest.
Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 7.—Temperatures over Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Northern Oklahoma were below zero today. In the cities where gas is used for heating and cooking, many families suffered because of a heavy drop in natural gas pressure. The blizzard-like winds that swept the plains yesterday died down today and temperatures rose slowly.

when he heard other shots. He dropped at the foot of the stairs with a bullet wound in his side.

"Where did the bullet that struck you come from?" was asked.

"It came through the window," said the man who was shot.

None of the seven witnesses examined by the grand jury could identify the man who shot at the deputies. The man who shot at the deputies was seen by the grand jury. He heard about twelve shots fired.

Mrs. Anton A. Sabanski, a neighbor, testified that she saw a stick thrown before the first shot was fired, but she did not know who threw it.

Slavo Jellian, a 19-year-old boy, said he ran into the street when the trouble started, but turned in time to see the deputies shooting through the window of the brick house.

Albert Tjian, brother of one of the men who was shot, said he ran up the stairs at the first shot and remained there until his brother Alois came up a short time later and died in his arms.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 7.—The executive board of the Western Federation of Miners resumed its session today with prospects of a late report on its determination concerning the copper miners strike in Northern Michigan. It was stated that the sessions probably would continue over into next week.

Socialists and labor leaders, notably George L. Pankhurst, former Socialist member of parliament. Also, instead of following the policy of the union in excluding men from membership, Sylvia welcomed both sexes to her federation. Henceforth Sylvia's organization will be styled the East London Federation of Suffragettes.

Reports of dissensions in the inner circles of the militant organization, involving the Pankhurst triumvirate, have been in circulation for some time. According to these, Christabel Pankhurst is anxious to end her long exile in Paris and return to London to take control of the militant tactics. It is doubtful if her mother, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who still is in exile, will be willing to drop her command-in-chief position. It is doubtful if her mother, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who still is in exile, will be willing to drop her command-in-chief position.

Several of the younger and more ardent members of the Social and Political Union view with unqualified satisfaction the Pankhurst platform, believing it will kill the moderate wing of the Pankhursts have exercised over the society since Mrs. and Mrs. Frederick Matthews were driven out of it last year.

sorts, his capacity for business, his mastery of the principles of each matter, he has been called upon to deal with have cleared away many a difficulty and have given to the policy of the state department a definiteness and dignity that are very valuable.

"I need not say what pleasure and profit I would have taken from close association with Mr. Bryan or how thoroughly he has seemed to all of us who are associated with him, but to deserve, not only our confidence, but our affectionate admiration. Sincerely yours,"

"WOODROW WILSON."

Spiritual Debate Aband.
Washington, Feb. 7.—President Wilson expressed desire for repeal of the provision of the Panama canal act which excludes American coastwise ships from tolls will precipitate spirited debate in both houses of congress when the bill is introduced. The suggestion is submitted.

Senators and representatives discussed the situation, but no move was made in the matter. Action probably will come first from the house interstate and foreign commerce committee. The proposed bill to repeal the toll exemption provision. Representative Adamson, chairman of the committee, probably will introduce the bill next week. He is awaiting word from the present in the matter.

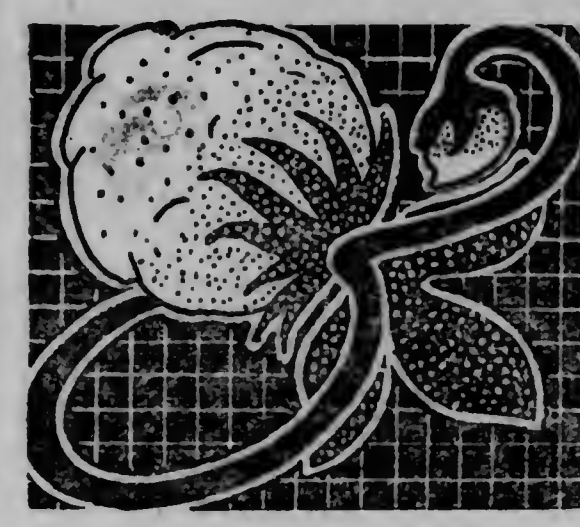

Although the repeal is proposed in the face of a plank in the Baltimore platform of the Democratic party, discussion of that phase of the proposed reversal of policy is not expected to be extended as the influence of the contemplated action upon the relations of the United States to Great Britain.

Will Wait for House.
Senate Democrats plan to await action in the house before taking up the president's suggestion, but the forthcoming debate on the general arbitration treaty with Great Britain, which is soon to come up in executive session, undoubtedly will provoke discussion on the subject.

That opposition to the repeal will develop in the house interests commerce committee, was indicated by a proposed bill to repeal the toll exemption provision. Representative Adamson, chairman of the committee, probably will introduce the bill next week. He is awaiting word from the present in the matter.

Although the repeal is proposed in the face of a plank in the Baltimore platform of the Democratic party, discussion of that phase of the proposed reversal of policy is not expected to be extended as the influence of the contemplated action upon the relations of the United States to Great Britain.

RESIDENCE DESTROYED

No one was injured, with the exception of Mr. Ryerson, whose hair and eyebrows were singed by the flames in his effort to stop the blaze with a fire extinguisher kept in the home. The fire had too big a start and his efforts were fruitless.

The fire department received the call at 8:20 o'clock, but when the men arrived the entire interior of the house was destroyed. After working over two hours, the firemen succeeded in extinguishing the blaze, which had by this time penetrated all the rooms and closets except the kitchen and pantry on the first floor, two bedrooms on the second floor and two bedrooms on the third floor. There are sixteen rooms in the residence.

Loss of $20,000.
Mr. Ryerson, who is general manager of the Great Northern Power company, said shortly after the fire that he estimates his loss to be $20,000. The residence itself was insured at $16,000 and the furnishings and contents for $12,000. Mr. Ryerson said that the loss of the residence is a complete loss. The house is valued at $20,000 and was insured for 80 per cent of its actual value, Mr. Ryerson said.

Assistant Fire Chief Wilson said this noon that it was his belief the fire started from defective wiring. In the investigation of the cause of the fire, Wilson said that the fire must have gone to the attic from the parlor wall, where the blaze was first discovered, and that the fire then broke out in the kitchen and living room.

Mrs. Ryerson and Miss Lee lost almost all of their wardrobe, while the manager of the house, Mr. Ryerson, lost his collection of books and papers. The family and they will make their home there for a few weeks.

The Ryerson residence was built in 1910.

Pays on Home Fund.
Mexico City, Feb. 7.—The annual payment on the plous fund debt to American Charge Nelson O'Shaughnessy, notwithstanding the postponement of other claims was postponed. The prompt payment of the fund debt was a personal request made by the charge. The amount was about $43,000 Mexican.

O'Shaughnessy first called at the office of general treasury and asked to return in an hour as the treasury had available only about two-thirds of the amount.

The arbitration court at The Hague in October, 1902, ordered Mexico to pay to the United States $1,420,682 in Mexican currency. The claim against Mexico was made by the United States in behalf of the archbishop of San Francisco.

READY FOR VOTE ON AGRICULTURAL BILL
Senate Hears Vardaman Make Attack on the Negroes.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The agricultural extension bill was before the senate today for a final vote. It already has passed the house. By a graduated scale of appropriations, it proposes to gradually extend the agricultural extension service to all states to the extent of $5,000,000 a year.

This brought forth a bitter debate on the race question that the senate agreed to vote on final passage of the Lever bill. Senator Gallinger started the argument with a statement that the bill was a "Goddamn" bill, and that it was a "Goddamn" bill, and that it was a "Goddamn" bill.

Clamp Took Exception.
Senator Vardaman was saying about the bill that it was a "Goddamn" bill, and that it was a "Goddamn" bill, and that it was a "Goddamn" bill.

Says Mexicans Must Be Left to Fight It Out.

New Castle, Eng., Feb. 7.—Walter H. Page, the American ambassador, in an address here last night before the committee of the British Foreign Affairs society, said that the Monroe doctrine and the situation in Mexico.

Mr. Page said the United States desired no more territory, as it now had sufficient for a self-governing unit. The Monroe doctrine, the ambassador said, stood for self-government.

The United States desired no European government in America because it wished to dedicate the American continent to self-government by the peoples who live there.

Referring to complaints that investors were losing money in Mexico, Mr. Page said nothing could be done; that dividends could not be paid until the Monroe doctrine and the situation in Mexico.

NEW PLAN IN CITY BUYING

Committee Will Prepare List of Supplies Needed by Departments.

Better Goods and Lower Prices Possible Under Proposed System.

The first step which will be taken by the committee of city employees, who met in the council chambers this morning to discuss purchasing methods, will be the preparation of a list of all supplies used in the various departments. These will be prepared at once and presented at the next meeting, which will be held two weeks from today. From the discussion this morning it became more apparent that the city can make a big saving by establishing a purchasing system under which the various departments use the same kinds of supplies, and by obtaining the best prices possible by standardizing their better quality also can be had. Twelve employees of the city, including Finance Commissioner J. A. Hickman, and Safety Commissioner W. A. Hickman, attended today's session. City Clerk Charles S. Palmer, who will have supervision of the purchasing for the present, acted as chairman. Other present were Miss Frances Earhart, librarian; George L. Gross, secretary of the water and light department; Eben Johnson, secretary of the health department; C. G. Fetter, secretary of the works department; Harris Trux, secretary to Mayor Prince and Commissioner Hickman; J. B. Campbell, city auditor; Fred S. Johnson, secretary of the police department; and William Fowler, deputy city assessor. The plan of purchasing of the departments with which they are connected. Each of them will be developed into more concrete and useful form after the lists have been prepared on a working basis.

FOUR YEARS COLLECTING

Widow of Accident Victim Finally Receives Money Due Her.

Forced to Ask County for Aid, Owing to Delay.

Although Olof Nilsson was accidentally killed on the Misabe ore docks nearly four years ago, his widow, Therese Nilsson, did not collect damages due her on a claim for wrongful death until today. Judge Foster in district court this morning signed an order of final distribution of the wrongful death fund recovered from the Bennett & Record company after a long legal battle which was carried to the supreme court. Nilsson was killed on March 3, 1910. At the time of his death he was employed by the Bennett & Record company, which was engaged in the construction of Dock No. 1. A car struck him from the top of the dock and struck Nilsson who was working below. The blow cast him into the water. Nilsson left a widow and two children, Harry, aged 9 and Clifford, 6, surviving him. Mrs. Nilsson, as administrator of his estate, did not bring suit to recover until nearly a year later. By that time a number of the witnesses had left the country and it was only after a diligent search on the part of her attorney, John J. Jensen, that they were found. One was brought here from eastern Canada in the district court a verdict for $5,000 was rendered. The case was taken to the supreme court where it was finally won by Mrs. Nilsson. During the last four years Mrs. Nilsson has been regularly receiving aid from the county poor commission. She is deaf and is handicapped in making her own living. Under an order of the court made today, the widow and children receive about $3,000 of the amount recovered and the balance will go for attorney's fees and costs of the litigation.

Edward A. Eskola Returns From Peru To Find Himself Divorced.

Charging that his wife, Anna Reno, aged 31, deserted his home and children and entered a life of shame, Harry Reno, 38, today started suit for divorce in district court. He claims that since July, 1908, when she left, he has never heard from her. He believes that she is now in Canada.

The Renos were married at Superior Aug. 1, 1897, and are parents of two children, George, 10, and Helen, 9, who are living with their father in this city. The suit asks for the custody of his children.

Answering a divorce action filed against her by her husband, Fred Steffen, 31, Anna Steffen, 32, today denied that she was ever his wife. She alleges that, on the contrary, he has been guilty in a matrimonial matter. She was working as a cook in a hotel at the time she married him.

Edward A. Eskola, who is in Peru, South America, when his wife, Laura Eskola, 24, secured a divorce last September. At that time the court made no finding as to the grounds for the divorce. Eskola's whereabouts being unknown, he has since returned and in district court today Judge Canby, on the petition of John H. Norton, Mrs. Eskola's attorney, required the defendant to pay $50 attorney's fees and alimony at the rate of $15 a month, for the support of her children.

DOUBT AMERICANS PERISHED IN TUNNEL

Cumbre Affair Is Not Yet Completely Investigated.

June 27, Feb. 7.—Definite information of the fate of the ten American railroaders captured by Mexican bandits still was lacking today, although railroad officials still were disposed to discredit the rumor that they, or at least the six of them who were on the train, were killed in the Cumbre tunnel. Circumstances thus far learned are not encouraging to the railroaders. According to P. C. Theodor, superintendent of the Mexican railway, the train stopped at the station of Cumbre. This is only a quarter of a mile from the tunnel. The train could not have gone through the tunnel, as it was a wreck so complete that all persons on the train would have been killed.

HEARTS AND SWEETHEARTS

You Can Entertain on St. Valentine's Day in a Nonsensical Way.

What more appropriate day can one think of to bring some backward Prince Charming to his senses than St. Valentine's day? It is the one day in the year when a girl can indulge in all the foolish nonsense her natural heart craves, says the Kansas City Star.

Never mind trying to save how much money can be spent. Rather endeavor to have everything as dainty as possible, then to make a great showing. It is the little extras and incidentals that count up, and where every penny must count, common sense must be shown in getting only what is really needed, and not all that may be wanted.

If your dining room boasts a hanging lamp, this evening it will not be necessary to invest in candlesticks and shades. Of course, if you have only the old-fashioned chandelier, it will be necessary to have something of this kind.

The pressed colonial glass candlesticks are very pretty and not expensive. They will need no cheap-looking, so do not suggest them.

Paper Cloth Can Be Used. A long white paper cloth will be more economical than to use regular table linen. Buy as many napkins as the candy department has in of any large store. With your ice-cream lady fingers and your mountain of candy, why feed cakes.

Wind up your little feast with good, strong black coffee, also cheese and crackers, if you wish. Fancy bonbons and pastries, given something with heart for the boys and caps for the girls—add much to the merriment of the occasion.

Small candy boxes with tiny Cupids on the top make a very pretty favor, or small hearts, either of which could be filled with chocolate buds or wafers. A favor of some kind is really essential.

In arranging your table, however, be careful not to overload it with too many dishes or bowls. A few small glass or china dishes with salted almonds, mints and olives are really enough.

If there is cake to be cut it would be better to have this done away from the table, also arrange your fruit (if you intend having any) in a pretty dish or bowl and place on a table to the side.

Start your little feast with a rich, creamy, tomato soup with croutons or toasted squares of bread. Then follow with a light entree. Scalloped oysters, oyster or chicken patties or fried oysters with home-made potato salad—any one of these can be served.

For dessert, cherry or orange ice in heart-shaped cups is very nice. The heart-shaped punch cups can be purchased at almost any grocery store or the candy department in of any large store. With your ice-cream lady fingers and your mountain of candy, why feed cakes.

PUSHING AN INQUISITIVE QUILL INTO CREVICES OF SPORT THOUGHT

A General Review and Discussion of the Happenings of the Past and the Maybe Events of the Near and Rosy Future, With the Anchor of Seriousness Hung High.

BY BRUCE.

HERE is hope, multitudes of it, for the Federal league. Where do you get that hope? In an odd record of accomplishment, to be sure. Shoot. Well the Philadelphia American league club had just nine dollars, some old baseball stockings and some old uniforms and a lot of nerve, when it started its major league career. If the brave leaders of the Athletics did this, pray why not the Federals?

It requires the gilded stuff laid away in strong boxes. Following in order is the question as to whether the brave leaders of the insurgents have the nerve, the brains and the patience to surmount apparently insurmountable obstacles. Hand it to Ban Johnson and the Pilgrims of the baseball world. They fought their way through to the Plymouth rock of landing and then battled through to victory.

In the leaders of the American league insurgency the leaders of the Federals have a grand little case to emulate.

The Brown Announcement.
On Tuesday evening, when Pal Brown is introduced to the crowd of fans at the Ketchikan-Suter contest, it is very probable that announcement will be made of the next opponent the range batter will meet. Negotiations are going on busily at the present time and it is possible and even probable that the name of Pal's ring enemy will be definitely known by Tuesday evening.

Dr. Ned McNulty will introduce Pal to the assembled multitude. In his introduction to the Duluth and range fans the range batter is expected to utter a few words of importance to utter.

The Curling Progress.
With the Herald curling trophy event down to the fours and several of the other events down to the eights, the progress of play in the local events is very well along, when you come to look at its pale counterpart the fact that the weather man issued an interdictory decree that prevented the playing of the games until again in January.

J. Oldham, Esq., has surely kept the games moving along since the time they handed over the completed plans and drawings of the ideal winter weather. There have been no hitches and no delays, and it looks as if John could get one of those coveted sights at the close of the year and look joyfully back over labor well performed.

Concerning Baseball.
READING in one of the musty changes of the Australian view of baseball, one is inclined to doubt whether our great national game will break into three columns of popularity with the antipodean people before strenuous methods of education have been accomplished.

Says one of the Australian critics about the world tourists' visit: "Several of the Americans have said that it is not their wish or expectation to displace cricket in Australia. It is perhaps just as well that they do not expect to do so. They would probably be disappointed. To say that baseball is very much like rounders—that juvenile game which the young Australian plays with his sister until he reaches a certain age—is to state an obvious truth. Some one stands in the base with a wooden bat in his hand; if he hits the ball hard enough or fair enough, he will get around the ring; if he is caught off the bat he is out—just as he is in rounders, and if he is not fast enough to get to a base before the ball gets there, he is out also, just as he is in the more primitive game. It is not calculated at this stage to supplant cricket or football as a means of making a Melbourne holiday."

If that is not slapping baseball on the wrist, pray explain.

Feeding the Multitude.
AFTER giving the extended list of candidates signed by Darby O'Brien the once over, the startling question as to how in the world all of these men are going to be fed on the spring training trip, comes gently tripping into inquisitive form.

On the list there are at the present time more than thirty candidates—and this is not counting the old men. As the youngsters breaking in baseball are famous for storage capabilities in the food line, one groans when one thinks of the money it will require to keep the good ship White Sox afloat.

Dear Darby was in yesterday. As he smoked a pipe and fingered gingerly the mail in the office of Herr Blaine, he looked immaculately pleased with that large thing called life.

"Sure, I ought to be able to get a ball team out of the bunch I have signed," said the I. O. "Some of the boys in that bunch come pretty well recommended. It looks like we will have a young and scrapping team. Most of the boys will be youngsters. I only hope that the Federals raid the other teams of the league and let your Uncle Darby's team alone."

The harp will leave for Cleveland during the present week. He has several of the Cleveland city league rugged as Yodel; but he is a wonderful little wrestling machine, more like the Ed Adamson of ten years ago than any wrestler before the public today.

The Peeved Mons. Davis.
NOW comes the winter of the discontent of one Lefty Davis, eminent citizen of Winona since the result of last September, and formerly a prominent roving cosmopolite of New York, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul and other well known cities.

First we learn that the Federals have butted into the argument and wiled away Bowery Collins and young and presumably innocent Bud Croake. Close upon the lead of this shot into the camp of the winning Winonas comes the report that young Snow, brother-in-law of Tommy North, is holding out for more money.

Mr. Davis is old and ill to the aged mean peevish temper. We have seen Lefty roar and rear on the baseball field and threaten dire consequences to umpires and others. The picture of Lefty at the present time would be one worth seeing, we are quite sure.

GOUGHAM MAY GET A TEAM

Toronto Unable to Finance Federal Franchise; New Yorkers Seek It.

Cleveland and Cincinnati Want Team, But New York Favored.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Toronto may be dropped from the Federal league circuit and the club's franchise may be transferred to Cleveland, Cincinnati or New York, according to intimations from Federal league officials who gathered here today for a conference.

Several New Yorkers are said to be eager to finance a Federal league club and it was rumored that an option has been obtained on the old Brooklyn grounds, which would be used for games the first season. The New York men are said to be willing to build a new park the second year.

First intimation of a change in the makeup of the new league was a statement yesterday by Charles Weegman, owner of the Chicago Federal club, who said he was almost certain Toronto would be dropped. Inability to finance a club in that city is said to be the reason for the contemplated change which may be made at today's meeting.

Cleveland interests which formerly held the franchise turned over to Toronto because no available grounds could be secured in Cleveland, are said to be willing to take back the franchise. Promoters in Cincinnati have announced they are anxious to have a Federal league team in the city, which is known as the seat of organized baseball. Federal league officials, however, are said to care less for that territory than other prospective sites.

Should the Canadian city's franchise be turned over to New York, it is understood that several of the major league players who have been signed contracts with the Browns, also will be considered today.

GERMANY FIRST BALLOON ENTRANT

Will Send Three Craft to Take Part in Big Race.

New York, Feb. 7.—Three balloons have been entered by the Imperial Aeroclub of Germany in the Gordon Bennett race, which is to start from Kansas City next October, according to a cable message just given out by the Aeroclub of America.

This is the first entry received for the race. It is expected each of the eighteen countries forming the International Aeroclub federation will send three balloons.

In addition to the Gordon Bennett trophy, which was won by the Americans in 1913, the Aeroclub of Kansas City, it was announced, has offered $7,500 in prizes to be divided among the first seven winners as follows: $2,000, $1,500, $1,200, $1,000, $750, $500 and $250.

At the aeroclub, it was said that these cash prizes are to some extent to be looked upon as reimbursement by the participants in the race, because the laws forbid the giving of free transportation and other advantages. Free gas and labor will be added to these inducements, it was said.

The Aeroclub of America also has been notified by the Aeroclub of France that the international contest for the Jacques Schneider water flying trophy and a $5,000 prize will take place on April 20, at Monaco.

BEGIN WORK IN THE CAGE

Gopher Baseball Squad Sets New Record for Early Practice.

Basket Ball Fans Worried Over Loss of McKeon, Star Forward.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The University of Minnesota baseball team started its spring practice Thursday afternoon. It is possibly one of the earliest workout sessions in the history of varsity baseball. In the past it has been the custom to open the season's activities the latter part of February. Dr. Cooke, the new coach, has instituted a change in conditions. On account of the situation of other of the Big Nine teams it is possible for some of them to stage their first out-of-door practice a month before the Gophers. Consequently, when they meet in an early season clash, the seasoned warriors from the rival conference institutions usually prove the winners. In order to minimize this state of affairs as far as it is possible, Dr. Cooke is making his get away now and hopes to have his proteges in shape to battle with any of them when the first game is played. Active practice for a time at least will be confined to the gymnasium and the batting cage recently installed on the Army floor.

The candidates for the pitching jobs will get the opportunity to limber up their arms by throwing slow, straight ones across the plate for the ambitious candidates to bat as far as the net will permit. Nothing was attempted the first day but a general talk of the changes made in the rules at the last meeting of the rules committee.

The prospects for a team this year are not so good as they have been in the past. Four veterans are on the job, four old men being the nucleus that Dr. Cooke will have to build his 1914 team around. Capt. Lawler, shortstop; Aranson, third base; Cochrane, catcher; and Samuels, fielder, are the only old men eligible. Lambert, the star pitcher, is at school but ineligible on account of the ruling relative to receiving degrees.

The varsity basketball team played the first of two games with Nebraska last night at the Army. The second game will come tonight. The Gophers have been doing little practicing of late, although they have managed to get in the better part of a week since their return from the last game. With the exception of Doc Lawler and McKeon, the squad is in good shape, and ready for anything that may come. The team play has improved much over that exhibited the early part of the season, and the basket shooting of the individuals is far better. Little is known concerning the strength of Cornhuskers although they are listed as being capable of giving any team a hard royal. The thought of the football game last fall is still ranking in the hearts of Minnesota men, and while Minnesota win both games by overwhelming scores some of the football players have their desires satisfied to a slight degree at least.

Minnesota basketball followers were given another cause for sorrow when it was learned that Joe McKeon, star forward for the Gophers, would be out of the game for the rest of the year. McKeon went home recently for vacation between semesters and while there he came down with an attack of diphtheria. He is now at his home in Montgomery, Minn., under the care of his father, who is a physician. It was learned that McKeon's heart has been affected and that he will not be able to take part in any form of athletics for some time. McKeon was also a member of the football squad and took part in the Illinois game last fall.

That the Minnesota football team of 1914 will be entertained at a banquet Feb. 11 at the University club, was an announcement made Wednesday after the meeting of the athletic board of control. At this banquet all of the candidates for next year's team will gather and listen to remarks by Dr. Williams, Assistant Coach McDevitt and some of the football alumni. Spring football practice will commence next week. Men were granted to athletes of former days, and an appropriation was made to outfit the baseball team.

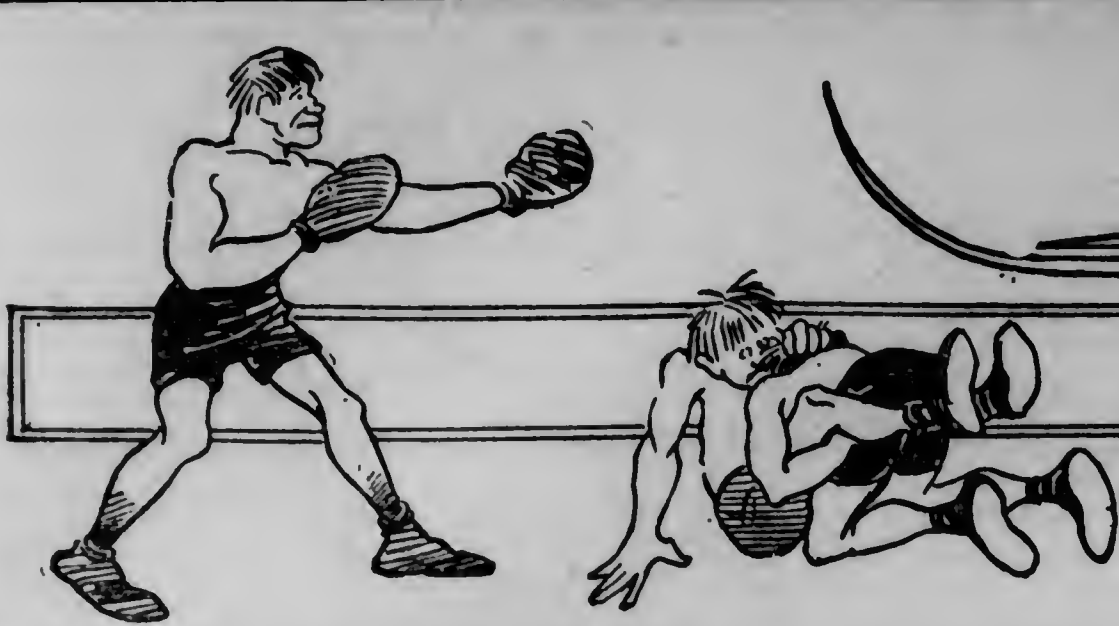

Definite action upon the much mooted question of dancing after basketball games was taken by the board. It was decided, after a warm debate, that dancing should again be permitted, provided some student or faculty organization would provide chaperones and stand sponsor for the dancing. This question has been held in abeyance since the opening of the college year last September, the faculty and alumni members of the board arguing against the lifting of the ban, and the student members almost unanimously strong for it. The matter has been referred to faculty meetings, meetings of deans, and even to President Vincent, but no one until Wednesday has been willing to decide what should be done. It is extremely probable that the student council will take the initiative and arrange for suitable chaperones. There is little doubt that this will be the final solution of the matter. It is not likely, though, that the arrangements will be made soon enough to permit the spectators to dance at this week's games.

Racquet Entries Closed.
Tuxedo Park, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Entries for the racquets championship for the gold racquet, open to all amateurs, to be held under the management of the Tuxedo club at Tuxedo park, beginning Feb. 12, are closed. The trials include some of the best players in the country. H. E. McCormick won the gold racquet championship last year. It must be won twice to become individual property.

Byrne to Play Second.
Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 7.—Bobby Byrne has signed a contract with the Philadelphia National league club. Byrne came to the Philadelphia club last year from Pittsburgh. Although a third baseman he will play at second base this year, succeeding Otto Knebb, who signed with the Baltimore Federal league club.

Duluth defeated Portage Lake last evening by the score of 6 to 5 in a contest that showed the local team in the best light of the present season. Outplaying Portage Lake completely in the first half, Duluth hung up five of the six scores. In the second half the visitors switched Ole Haas from rover to center and from that point on more than held their own, though the clever defense of Duluth prevented the visitors from tying up the score.

Young Jimmy Owens was in at right wing and the younger played a sterling game, his speed assisting largely in keeping the puck out of the danger zone. But it was the ability of the Duluthians to play together that resulted in the defeat of the Portage Lake aggregation, and in the respect of teamwork the Duluthians gave the best and most satisfactory exhibition of the season.

Start Scoring Early.—Duluth started the scoring early in the game. Kahler shooting a goal from a sideline in just one minute and fifteen seconds after the call of time. The shot was a clean one, Kahler securing the puck first, it was being rushed out of the danger zone by the visitors.

Shortly after this Kahler secured the puck off a pretty pass from Owens after James had taken it for a pretty rush down the ice, and slipped it past the vigilant Haas.

Barkell scored the third goal for the locals from scrimmage, and Kahler came back a minute later with the fourth net of the game. Six minutes before the end of the first half, Kahler edged the puck again, the little center putting the rubber in from a not scrimmage from in front of the net.

With the score of 5 to 0 at half-time in favor of the locals, there were few who thought the Portage Lakers had a chance to make the game interesting in the second half. But the shift of Haas, one of some hot-headed words from Manager Croze and large Paul Hogan, or some other incentive, seemed to pull the Houghtons together, for the second half witnessed a reversal of the first half, and aggressive playing came near pulling the game out of the fire.

Ole Haas scored from scrimmage in front of the net, and in just four minutes later large Paul Hogan took the puck down to the scoring zone, by some clever stick work, slipped it over to Exley and he scored. The goal was slipped it through the defense of Bellock.

The ever-working Haas scored the next goal on a clean shot after getting the puck out of the danger zone, the goal, and the scoring of this game made the fans sit up and take notice. With the passing of the 20-minute mark Haas shot the fourth goal in a clean shot from the right side.

Owens took the puck down the right side of the rink, slipped it over to Kahler and in just three minutes before the call of time the final goal of the game was scored.

Haas scored the final goal of the game in fifteen seconds before the call of time, shooting a net goal. The mark Haas shot the fourth goal in a clean shot from the right side.

In general terms, Duluth gave the best exhibition of the present season. The defense of the visiting team was so strong that most of the combinations of the visitors were broken up before they could get into the scoring zone.

After the exhibition of last evening, the majority of the fans believe that Duluth will win the second game of the series. In most of the details of the game the visitors were fairly outplayed, and it looks as if Duluth has struck its gait.

Stop the Tough Work.—There are other forms of rough work besides that committed on the ice. One is the man with the megaphone. It might possibly occur to some that it is not pleasing to some who have paid to witness a contest to have epithets like "yellow dog" and "dirty rat" yelled through a megaphone. It gets on the nerves. It is not only bothersome, but it also lowers the moral tone of the game. Some steps should be taken to quiet the person who has offended in this regard since the start of the season.

IS AN ICE CARNIVAL GOOD BUSINESS FOR DULUTH?

Let's get this ice carnival matter straight at the go-off.

In the first place, The Herald isn't opposing it—yet. It is not The Herald's habit to jump into opposition to anything that has the slightest possibility of helping Duluth, any more than it is its habit to jump to the support of anything that has the slightest possibility of hurting Duluth. It just wants it talked about and analyzed thoroughly, so if it is decided to make a start at it everybody will be sure of his ground and everybody can get under it and leave. To that end, and in order that both sides will be sure of a hearing, we are taking the negative side to bring out the negative arguments. If, after such thorough discussion as a scheme so elaborate deserves, the weight of the argument is clearly in favor of it, then The Herald and everybody else will get behind it and push. That's the Duluth way.

In the second place, let's make a careful distinction between the plan of making a great deal out of winter sports, and the plan of centering them into an ice carnival week with the purpose of advertising Duluth as the world's center for winter sports, and with the hope of attracting large numbers of people who now, we are told, go to Switzerland to see ice and snow sports, or to Palm Beach and New Orleans to lie in the sun.

There is absolutely no debate about winter sports and winter sports tournaments. Everybody is for having all of these we can. Let's have all the bouspels we can get. Let's have all the ski tournaments we can lure here. Let's have all the hockey tournaments we can induce to come—and let's support them a little better than we are doing this winter. That's very important, too—home support of these enterprises.

But that's one thing. The ice carnival, with the primary motive of making Duluth famous as a winter sport center, is another thing entirely.

Let's pin the argument right down to the advertising issue—the issue of whether the kind of advertising Duluth would get out of that is the kind of advertising Duluth wants. Let's discuss practical things, like the question whether an ice carnival would attract many spectators here; whether, indeed, ice and snow are so rare in the northern two-thirds of the United States and all of Canada that many people would come here to see them and to see them used for sport purposes; whether many people could be induced to take winter pleasure trips north to Duluth for an ice carnival, when the prevailing outdoor view is that it is terribly cold here, and when the average person with time and money for a winter trip usually takes his course southward instead of north; whether, finally, it is a good plan to rub in the idea of ice and snow and cold when one of Duluth's big jobs is to destroy the irritating tradition of Duluth's perennial frigidity.

Let's discuss, too, the question whether it is possible to have Duluth famous both as a winter sport center and as a summer resort center. There can be no debate whatever over the fact that the more important thing is to spread Duluth's fame as a summer resort center; not only because it is good business but because it is the best way to attack and destroy that damaging tradition about Duluth as the near neighbor of the north pole. Can Duluth have that kind of fame—the kind it needs most—and also fame as a center of winter sports? No other city is famous for two things; it usually has been found job enough for a city to make itself famous for one thing. And if the ice carnival idea is going to harm the summer resort idea in the slightest degree, it ought not to be considered for a moment.

The ice carnival plan, even though on discussion and thorough consideration it may turn out to be a bully one, shouldn't be snapped up and swallowed without examination.

It should not be forgotten that St. Paul had an ice carnival, and quit it

WHY I ATTEND CHURCH.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: I go to church because I find there that peace which De Quincy described as a resting from human labors, a Sabbath of repose, a respite granted from the secret burdens of the heart, as if I stood at a distance and aloof from the uproar of life; as if the tumult and fever of strife were suspended; as if there brooded over me a dove-like and halycon calm.

I go to church because I love the music that I hear there, the mighty roll of the great organ, mingled with the marvelous symphonies of that divine stringed instrument, the human voice, untwisting all the chains that tie the hidden soul of harmony.

I go to church because "the way is dark and I am far from home," and because the church is the polar star to light my pathway in the rayless night.

I go to church because the church ministers not only to the spiritual, but also to the material needs of life, and because it is there that the charities that soothe and heal and bless are scattered at the feet of man like flowers.

I go to church because in that atmosphere vice and crime wither and die.

I go to church because I hear the teachings of the philosophy of Jesus, the incomparable man; and if you say His teaching is philosophy and not religion, and that He was a man and not a god, then the philosophy of that man has redeemed the world from savagery.

I go to church because there I find consolation and hope; because I see there the dawn and not the sunset, and it is better for man, if the hope is baseless and the vision but an elusive phantom, to cherish a dream so glorious and beautiful than to be weighted down and crushed with the quarried mountains of the world without hope and without God.

because it was discovered that it was damaging the whole Northwest by associating this region in the public mind everywhere with ice and snow.

It should not be forgotten that Montreal had an ice carnival, that Montreal with its Mount Royal is ideally equipped for such a feature, that the ice carnival became famous and Montreal became famous for it, and that Montreal had to abandon it because it found that when people thought of Montreal, they also thought of ice and snow and shivered.

It should not be forgotten that wherever you go, you find people irrationally insistent in their belief that Duluth has three seasons, July, August and winter; that the coldest winter an Irishman ever saw was the summer he spent in Duluth; that Duluth is only ten miles from the north pole; and that the cold must be unbearable "up there." That false and lying tradition has grown country-wide. It must be fought and destroyed. The question is, can it be fought and destroyed with an ice carnival, or will an ice carnival simply confirm it forevermore?

If the ice carnival is a good thing, by all means we should have it. If it is a good thing for Duluth, everybody should get behind it in the Duluth way and make it the greatest ice carnival on earth, and make Duluth's fame as a center of winter sports ring round the globe. If it is a bad thing for Duluth, then it ought to be dropped, and the energy it is proposed to put behind it ought to be put behind the work of making Duluth famous as the center and outfitting point for the greatest summer resort region on earth.

Let's hear both sides of it, so that it may be decided wisely and surely and correctly.

And over in Wisconsin they are now writing it, "Dan Cupid, M. D."

A CHILD LABOR LAW WITH TEETH IN IT.

Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, one of the striking and admirable figures in the new Democratic regime, has introduced in Congress a child labor law that has teeth in it.

Maybe it will not pass, but it ought to. The difficulty in the way is that aside from the general opposition of employers who profit by the labor of children, the Southern states are pretty bad offenders in this respect, and this makes it difficult for the Southern Democrats to take the position they ought to and that, we prefer to think, they would like to.

The Palmer bill gives the Federal government ample authority to check the child labor evil through the interstate commerce clause, on the same principle that it used to check food adulterations. It has the sanction of the National Child Labor committee. Section 1 discloses the purposes and effect of the measure:

No person, partnership, association, or corporation, or any agent or employee thereof, manufacturing, producing or dealing in the products of any mine or quarry in which children under sixteen years of age are employed or permitted to work at any time; or in which children between the ages of fourteen and sixteen are employed or permitted to work more than eight hours in any day or more than six days in any week. SHALL BE PENALIZED FOR DELIVERY FOR SHIPMENT SUCH PRODUCTS IN INTERSTATE COMMERCE.

In other words no mine product dependent in any way upon the labor of children under sixteen, no manufactured product dependent in any way upon the labor of children under fourteen, and no product in the handling of which children between fourteen and sixteen are worked more than eight hours a day or six days a week, can be sold outside the state in which it is manufactured.

State regulation of this problem is difficult because where one state adopts proper protective laws its manufacturers are subjected to competition by manufacturers in states which permit employers to exploit child labor as they please.

Federal regulation of child labor is wise and sound because it is against the national interest to have child laborers crowd out adult laborers, or to have its citizenship stunted by improper labor in childhood.

The Palmer bill deserves the widest possible support, and it ought to pass.

But how would you like to feel as the "keep off the grass" sign in the park looks this kind of weather?

NO HOPE OF PEACE, EVER?

Mr. Carnegie said the other evening, talking to the New York Peace society, that he expects to live to see the end of war.

Whereupon the New York Sun proceeds to whack him over the crown for it, and to intimate that the vision of universal peace and disarmament is an empty dream, doomed never to be realized.

Why? Because "man is a fighting animal, and how shall his nature be changed?"

Mr. Carnegie need not let that worry him. Man is a fighting animal, doubtless; at least he was, though each generation finds the fighting spirit fainter and fainter as civilization advances.

When man was really a fighting animal it was not only war between nations that plagued humanity, but war between man and man. Every man went armed. Every man who considered himself affronted referred his cause to the arbitrament of arms—and the strongest man and the best fighter, not the man who was right, usually prevailed.

That isn't so now, is it, dear Sun? It is only war between nations that remains. It is only nations that are armed now, not individuals. The police take care of that.

Now if it has been possible to disarm the individual despite the fact that the individual is a fighting animal, why is it not possible to disarm the nations, especially when the great majority in all nations are anxious to disarm, anxious to escape the growing burden of taxation armament involves, anxious to avoid the terrible waste of life and labor and the weakening of national fiber caused by war and preparedness for war?

The answer is that of course it is possible—invisible, indeed.

Mr. Carnegie is an old man, and he may not live to see it. But the turning of swords into plowshares is coming, much sooner than most people think.

Man may be a fighting animal, but he is growing desperately weary of fighting, and wearier still of the waste and expense of having his nations go armed to the teeth.

Prof. Taft says that "in spite of his record" he is turning reformer. If he had any other kind of a record he wouldn't have to "turn."

THE TANGO AND BOOKS.

"It has remained for E. Hopkinson Smith," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "to discover why Americans do not read good books. They are too busy, he says, with the tango. And before the tango came there was bridge, and there was motoring."

And there still is bridge and motoring, of course; and before these doubtless the bicycle craze might have been blamed for the decline in appreciation of good literature.

The particular thing that may be interfering with reading at the present moment is not so important as the deeper cause that leads people generally to turn to other diversions, and to read only when nothing better offers itself in the way of diversion.

Perhaps that's the trouble right there—too much reading for diversion only.

If reading is to be only for diversion, only as a form of amusement, there is nothing particularly to be regretted when people choose some other form, providing that it is fairly wholesome. And for motoring and bicycling it is to be said that they take people out in the fresh air, and the merry pursuit of leaping from the frying pan to the fire. The prices are the same everywhere; when one dealer advances the price, the others advance it, too; when one dealer's coal is found to be dull of hue and full of slate and produces more clinkers than heat, the coal of the other dealers will be found about the same.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger, which is published in the immediate neighborhood of the coal fields, is urging the state public service commission to do something about it. It says:

If the public service commission can take cognizance of the price of coal it will enter upon a fruitful field of investigation. It has been one of the unredressed grievances of the consumers that they were helpless under the exactions of the coal "barons"—whoever they may be—and another has been the inexorable law which has operated to double or treble to the consumer any increase in the cost of mining. No wonder the stocks of the coal-carrying roads are growing daily more valuable! The public is long suffering, but it will not long stand this sort of exploitation, and if the public service commission cannot afford relief from this extortion, some other and more drastic way will have to be found.

It is extortion, and of the cruellest and most remorseless type.

Perhaps the Creator intended the coal supplies for the aggrandizement and extortionate profit of the coal barons. Perhaps He intended them for the comfort of mankind. If the latter was His intent, the cunning of greed has set it at naught.

The people have indeed been long suffering, in the matter of coal extortion. How much longer must they suffer?

Mexico will now be the stage for an exciting and remarkable production of an adaptation of "The Killenby Cats."

That isn't so now, is it, dear Sun? It is only war between nations that remains. It is only nations that are armed now, not individuals. The police take care of that.

Now if it has been possible to disarm the individual despite the fact that the individual is a fighting animal, why is it not possible to disarm the nations, especially when the great majority in all nations are anxious to disarm, anxious to escape the growing burden of taxation armament involves, anxious to avoid the terrible waste of life and labor and the weakening of national fiber caused by war and preparedness for war?

The answer is that of course it is possible—invisible, indeed.

Mr. Carnegie is an old man, and he may not live to see it. But the turning of swords into plowshares is coming, much sooner than most people think.

Man may be a fighting animal, but he is growing desperately weary of fighting, and wearier still of the waste and expense of having his nations go armed to the teeth.

Prof. Taft says that "in spite of his record" he is turning reformer. If he had any other kind of a record he wouldn't have to "turn."

THE TANGO AND BOOKS.

"It has remained for E. Hopkinson Smith," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "to discover why Americans do not read good books. They are too busy, he says, with the tango. And before the tango came there was bridge, and there was motoring."

And there still is bridge and motoring, of course; and before these doubtless the bicycle craze might have been blamed for the decline in appreciation of good literature.

The particular thing that may be interfering with reading at the present moment is not so important as the deeper cause that leads people generally to turn to other diversions, and to read only when nothing better offers itself in the way of diversion.

Perhaps that's the trouble right there—too much reading for diversion only.

If reading is to be only for diversion, only as a form of amusement, there is nothing particularly to be regretted when people choose some other form, providing that it is fairly wholesome. And for motoring and bicycling it is to be said that they take people out in the fresh air, and that's good for health, strength and happiness.

Indeed, if reading is to be only a diversion, we are not so sure that outdoor diversions are not really better on the whole.

But all this is taking a good deal for granted. ARE people generally neglecting good reading? Not everybody is tangoing—nobody is, of course, because the tango is a difficult feat which few but professionals can master, but the term has been popularly distorted out of its meaning to cover as with a blanket a horde of eccentric new dances. Not everybody is motoring. Not everybody is playing bridge. And nobody is bicycling any more.

A good many people do none of these things, and those who do them do not give all their time to them as a rule.

The libraries do not report any falling off in custom. The really good books that are being written, including an increasing percentage of serious books, are having a large sale. We are sure that a good many more people read Winston Churchill's "The Inside of the Cup" than either tango motor or play bridge habitually.

Doubtless these things do to some extent—perhaps to a considerable extent—interfere with reading. They don't exclude it, by any means; and we rather have an idea that they don't interfere quite so much as Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith seems to think.

Moreover, there always has been a class that preferred lively diversions like tangoing and its predecessors to reading—a class that when it reads at all reads merely for diversion. Such a class will turn to whatever may be the reigning fad of the moment and neglect its books—probably hasn't many books to neglect.

On the whole, we should have guessed that there never was a time when so many people were reading, and reading for enlightenment as well as for diversion, and thinking about what they read, as today.

George Perkins says that as soon as the colonial gentry broke from South America he will "get in the saddle and take command" of the Bull Moose party. That's a nice, reassuring thought for the rank and file of the Great Unbowed.

LOVE LETTERS.

Robert Browning's love letters were put up at auction, and eager dealers bid them up to thirty-five thousand dollars.

Clement Shorter, editor of Sphere, has disclosed the fact that this bidding was due to the expectation that the buyers would be able to sell the letters to an American millionaire.

The millionaire having refused to "bite"—thereby showing uncommon good sense, for a millionaire—the buyers are trying to have the British museum buy them, and Shorter is fighting the project tooth and nail.

Says the Des Moines Register and Leader: "An international law to destroy all love letters of famous persons would be a tremendous civilizing influence in the world."

But would it? May there not be some value in these cases of atrocious publicity for the love letters of the great? May they not impose some restraint in the writing of love letters? For what writer of a love letter, at the age when most love letters are written, can know that he will not some day be great and his relics have a value?

How, gentle reader, would you like to have your own love letters published, just as you wrote them?

Borrow one or two from your wife, and read them over, and then answer that question, and this: Aren't you glad you did not become great and famous?

Ice Carnival Advertising

Superior Telegram: There is a dispute in Duluth about the proposition of having a winter carnival of sports. Some take the view that to the country at large the word "winter" would look larger than the word "carnival."

Others say that people everywhere know where is snow and ice here in winter season, and that nothing is to be gained by trying to conceal the fact. However, there is some ground to the objection. The facts are all right, yet the carnival might afford opportunity for a perversion of facts. St. Paul found it so when that city had an ice palace and winter carnival about a quarter of a century ago. The carnival was a great success, and the palace was a great and interesting structure of ice where the ice king was installed with great parade and ceremony.

But the following summer Eastern newspapers said that St. Paul had decided to let the ice palace stand and use it again the next winter, and for months jokes went around in distant newspapers about the St. Paul ice palace standing unmet in the Minnesota summer atmosphere. Persons interested in immigration found that the tide toward Minnesota was hindered by these jokes. People would not go to a region where the summer air would not melt ice. From then until now St. Paul people have not tolerated any suggestions about having another ice palace. Once was enough.

The fact of the matter is that Minnesota and Wisconsin have the finest summers and winters in the world. The only worry this winter is to get snow enough for good sledding and ice thick enough to cut and pack in the ice houses. But in some other parts of the country the impression easily gets underway that the people here visit back and forth with the eskimo up toward the North pole. There is no wish to conceal any of the facts about the climate, but possibly it would be well to use caution about giving jokes elsewhere opportunity to exaggerate and pervert the facts.

Eat Less and Be Merrier

Editorial in the Boston Globe.

A woman had a hen that laid an egg every day. The food was of superior breed, and the eggs were very fine and sold for a good price. The woman thought that by giving the hen twice as much food as she had been in the habit of getting, she might be brought to lay two eggs a day; instead of one, so the quantity of food was doubled. The hen thereupon grew very fat and stopped laying altogether—dead.

This fable teaches that it does not pay to overload the stomach.

The man who stuffs with nutriment beyond his needs, or permits himself to be stuffed, decreases his usefulness and diminishes his earning capacity.

Many of us who do not scratch very hard (physically) for a living eat, I think, to excess.

We would be healthier and consequently happier if we ate less.

One medical opinion, the result of observation and a sifting of facts during a quarter of a century of active practice in well-to-do circles of society, is that as much mischief in the form of actual disease, of impaired vigor and of shortened life accrues to civilized human being, from erroneous habits as from the habitual use of alcoholic drink, considerable as the evil of that is known to be.

Yet, because an unwise indulgence in food only makes the brain sluggish instead of brudding it, numerous persons of sedentary occupations will persist in devouring red meat three times a day.

In a readable and valuable book, entitled "Diet in Relation to Age and Activity," with hints concerning habits conducive to longevity," an English physician, Sir Henry Thompson, writes thus:

A young fellow in the fullness of health and habituated to daily active life in the open air; may, under the stimulus of appetite and enjoyment in gratifying it, often largely exceed both in quantity and variety of food what is necessary to supply all the demands of his system. Without feeling a very exorbitant price for the indulgence. If the stomach is sensitive or very powerful it sometimes rejects an extravagant ration of food, either at once or after a few hours, and the action of the digestive force is considerable. The meals, habitually superabundant as they are, are gradually absorbed, and the surplus fund of nutrient material is stored up in some form. When a certain amount has been thus deposited, the capacity for storage varying greatly in different persons, a considerable balance remains against the feeder, and in young people is mostly rectified by a bilious attack during the season of which a few hours of misery square the account.

But what of later years?

After the first half or so of life, says the doctor, the unemployed material may be relegated in the form of fat to be stored on the external surface of the body, or be packed among the internal organs, and thus the man may become corpulent and heavy. A faculty for converting nutriment into fat is consistent with the constitution of the individual, but it is not a faculty to be without the power of storing fat, however rich the diet, for the surplus cannot take place, and in many instances, also, when it does, the overplus of nutriment is ingested more or less directly, to produce disease in some form, or near the end of life, by the action of the liver, and next appearing as gout or rheumatism, or the cause of fits, or the destruction of various kinds. Thus, recurring attacks of indigestion, which are the result of the accumulation of food in the stomach, are a sign of the fact that the individual is overfed.

Lucius Licinius Lucullus, returning for a late triumph in Rome and spreading those splendid feasts in his magnificent villas at Tusculum and Naples, forgot that he was "as young as he used to be" in the days when he thrashed Mithridates. Soon, thereafter, you remember, his Roman empire began to decay and his vast properties passed under the management of his brother.

His banquets finished him about 67 B. C.

Factors used in calculating meals consumed in modern dietary studies, based in part on experimental data, in part on arbitrary assumptions, follow:

Man at hard muscular work requires 12 feet of food at moderate active muscular work. Man with light muscular work requires 9.3 feet of food at moderate active muscular work. Man at sedentary occupation and woman at moderate active muscular work requires 6.7 feet of food at moderate active muscular work.

Woman at light work requires 6.7 feet of food at moderate active muscular work.

These factors plainly indicate the folly of the person who, employing a rather small amount of force for the purposes of daily life, titillates his appetite with cocktails and condiments to such an extent that he is unable to swallow and actually does engulf enormous dinners it only for a farm hand in harvest season the laborer who wheels slag away from a blast furnace.

Eugene Field's song of indigestion, analyzed and rightly understood, is the song of the overfed:

Alas! What thing I dearly love—
Pie, pudding and preserves,
An' sure to raise the vengeance
Of all pneumatic nerves!

Why shouldn't they, I ask, when they are served after the soup, the fish, the entree, the piece de resistance, etc., at or near the very end of a twelve-course layout?

Most folks in fair condition can attack mince pie or plum pudding separately without harm or qualms.

"A lean horse for a race."

Also a wily man.
Too much food is as bad as too little, and occasions not only a waste of energy and strength in the body, but a waste as well of nutritive material which costs considerable money in these times of high prices.

Get Over Her Scare.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Didn't Mrs. Flissy Soandso contribute liberally to the support of the church last year?" asked the man who took his privilege as a vestryman to look at the books now and then.

"Yes," answered the rector with a sad smile, "she did."

"I don't find her name on this year's list," continued the altar. "There must be some mistake; she still lives here and her family is still prosperous."

"Yes, I know. But she has entirely recovered from that alarming trouble she was having with her lungs. Her physician tells her that with proper care she may live for many years yet. So I'm afraid we won't see her any more."

Doubt.

Tired? So am I. Let's rest.
Stop preparing for the worst;
Get ready for the best.
I fear that most of us are cursed
With a too persistent rest.
At counting over the ills of life—
Forgetting all the rest.

Disappointed? So am I.
My plans have come to naught,
And success has passed me by.
Nor given me a thought.
But no tear shall dim my eye
Till the battle has been fought
To a finish—live or die.

Heartbroken? No, you're not.
You've too many blessings still
That you know cannot be bought.
See the good—forget the ill—
Joys that come to us unthought,
And abide with us until
We leave this earth-worn spot.

O, doubter! Lift your eyes
From your little selfish gloom,
Beneath the wide blue skies,
O, see you not there's room
For all the hopes you prize
Some time, somewhere to bloom?
Stop doubting and grow wise.

WILSON AND PUBLIC OPINION

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, Feb. 7.—(Special to The Herald).—Measured by what has been accomplished in less than a year, the Democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson is the most progressive and the most successful in the history of our republic. For two score years the Democratic party had sought to reform the odious and infamous monopoly tariff, and frequently the people had given that party power with instructions to put the knife to the throat of tariff privilege; but there always sprang up protection Democrats to defeat the will of the people and to discredit the Democratic party. The Wilson-Gorman tariff of 1893 was a highly protection measure, made so by the benchmark of monopoly on the Democratic side of the United States senate, who held up the party and forced it to stand and deliver.

In seven months President Wilson, as leader of the party and head of the nation, extorted from congress a dearest tariff bill that is a body blow to tariff monopoly. As yet the country is not adjusted to the new order; but it will be by dog days.

When they had reformed the tariff congress was on its head to go home and rest, and it is a fact that had not the president insisted on a reform of the currency, congress would have finished the tariff two months earlier. The attempt was made to tire out the president, but the president threw out congress, and by Christmas day, 1913, the currency bill was the law of the land. Everybody who has said a word about it agrees that the currency bill is a vast improvement upon the system it supplants. It is not yet set a-going and will not be, perhaps, before April, but the country welcomes it, puts trust in it, and is determined that it shall have a fair trial.

If the Wilson administration had rested when the currency bill had been a law its achievement would have been pronounced marvelous; but the president is Napoleonic in this. He regards nothing done so long as something remains to be done. That was the maxim practiced by the Czar when in his first Italian campaign that yielded him so exuberant glory.

And so Wilson—his motto is thorough. Leave nothing to chance. He should be done, and eat no idle bread.

What a Herculean job was his and how like a Hercules he seized it with Grover Cleveland was in its honeymoon, the Democratic congress, had it been in session, would have been as subservient to the president as the Republican congress was to Col. Roosevelt twelve years later. But Mr. Cleveland, unfortunately, lost the hold he had on public opinion, and the congress of his own party turned on him and rendered his administration.

And a pretty healthy condition it is—congress carrying out the policies of a president who is supported by the people. It is the armor that makes Woodrow Wilson secure from all assault.

The sixteen years of McKinley Roosevelt and Taft were a continuous saturnalia of monopoly government bestowed on those who had bought elections for the party of Great Moral Ideas, privileges to engross the market, limit production and establish extortionate prices. Nobody is reckless enough to think that proposition now. The policies of the Republican party 1897-1913 made hundreds of thousands of Socialists.

And the election and the policies of Woodrow Wilson have halted that movement. For how long? Time will tell.

FACTS AND ADVICE FOR THE FARMER

CLIMATE'S INFLUENCE UPON COMPOSITION OF THE WHEAT CROP.

By R. W. THATCHER, Agricultural Chemist, University Farm.

Climate is a very powerful factor in determining both the yield and the composition of the wheat crop. Its effect is produced by lengthening or shortening the period of kernel formation. If this period is prolonged it causes a greater filling of the kernels with starch and protein, increasing the size of the kernels and the weight per bushel of the grain, and the starch character of the flour.

Thus a cool summer season, with a liberal supply of moisture, produces large yields of plump relatively soft wheat. On the other hand a hot, dry summer, particularly during July, while the grain is filling gives a smaller yield per acre with a lighter weight per bushel and harder grain.

In general, climatic conditions which favor large yields produce grain of lower milling quality than those which give smaller yields. Climate varies from year to year in any given locality, and the resulting variations in the quality of wheat. There are also variations in the quality of wheat of the same variety when grown the same season in different localities of the same variety.

It is impossible to say, therefore, that any one variety of grain is better or poorer than another variety. The latter is grown under different climatic conditions.

Plant the seed of the following varieties: Globe, Beauty, and Stone. Good vegetables must be quickly grown, and in order to get rapid growth, plant food must be available.

When watering house plants give them a thorough soaking when they are dry and then wait until they need water again before applying it.

HOG CHOLERA'S SPREAD.

By H. PRESTON HOSKINS, Assistant Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul.

In the co-operation of controlling and eradicating hog cholera, being carried to the spreading of common industry and a number of the states, an attempt has been made to determine the source of infection wherever a herd was found to be infected.

The reports of these investigations were presented at a recent meeting of the United States Live Stock Sanitary Board, held at St. Paul, Minn.

The sources of infection were divided into two great classes, designated "distant" and "nearby" sources. It was estimated that in 45 per cent of the cases the disease had been spread from "distant" sources. The remainder—55 per cent—appeared to have been spread from "nearby" sources.

In 25 per cent of the cases the infection seemed to be due to the visiting of neighbors, or the exchange of hogs between neighboring farmers.

It has long been thought that this was a common method of carrying infection, and the results of the investigations appear to verify it. Birds appear to be spreading the infection in over one-fourth of the cases.

Sparrows and crows have been under suspicion for a long time and it would appear that the suspicion has been well founded.

Although none of the above figures were obtained from Minnesota, we have no reason to believe that conditions here are radically different from those elsewhere.

The investigations were carried on.

DAIRY COW'S RATION.

By T. L. HAECKELER, Dairy and Animal Husbandman, University Farm, St. Paul.

Since it is important that a cow should have enough feed to satisfy her appetite the proportion of coarse feed to grain must be adjusted to her actual needs. Roughage, in a general way, should be fed according to her size, allowing two pounds of hay per hundredweight when it is the only roughage used. When silage is fed the rule may be to feed one pound of hay and three pounds of silage per hundredweight and the balance of the nutrients needed should be provided in concentrates, except that when roots are fed they will take the place of part of the grain and the rate of ten pounds of roots for one pound of grain.

In practice it will be found that spare, big-bodied cows will take relatively more roughage.

For complete feeding directions write to the Division of Dairy and Animal Husbandry, University Farm, St. Paul, for booklet on feeding dairy cows.

SUPERIOR MARKET METHODS SUCCEED.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 7.—Building a hundred homes in five years, clearing several hundred acres of land, organizing a co-operative society, building a $4,000 potato warehouse, marketing branded butter at premium prices, specializing in one kind of potatoes and shipping choice tubers to the coast, giving an annual livestock show, and breeding only bred-for-production Guernsey cattle, is the remarkable record of the Ashland Slavic settlement near Mequon, Bayfield county, according to R. H. Beebe of Ashland, who addressed one of the joint sessions of the Wisconsin farmers' course of the University of Wisconsin, held here.

The Slavic community is following what is known as the "Ashland" method of farming, and the community buys a bull of excepeven to the detail of having an extra button sewed on the inside of the coat for an emergency. He will undoubtedly have a heavy suit for winter and a lighter one for warm weather. Yet he'll wear the same overalls and jacket in every kind of weather.

"If a hole works itself in one pocket he changes his small change, nails, ruler and knife to the other one, and inconveniences himself over and over.

"In shoes it is a great deal the same. He buys the latest models for comfort and style when purchasing for what he intends to wear two or three times a week, but he will work on the farm, wading through wet grass and treading cloying cloddy ground for weeks, with a pair of shoes that are full of leaks, and whose bottoms are ridged from sand and dirt wedged between the parts of the soles. Many times the strings will be wanting, and a piece of binder-twine is used in their place.

"Now how can a man work in comfort if he is harnessed up in such a manner? If he is not working in comfort it is impossible for him to do. And if there is anything irritating him, such as a nail in his shoe, still he is apt to develop as much mental energy as when all his clothing was comfortable in every way? And isn't every little bit of brains needed for carrying on a successful farm these days?"

Architects Report That Many Important Projects Are Under Way.

Judging by the record in January building operations promise to be upon an extended scale during the present year.

Permits issued at the building inspector's office last month were seventy-three in number with the cost of improvements placed at $237,000. This compares with forty-four permits for $88,415 taken out during the corresponding month last year. Permits of the present week include a number of important propositions, some of which are expected to come to a head within the next few weeks.

To begin with figures upon the addition to the normal school building, due to be in the hands of the architect, W. A. Hunt, by next Monday. It is expected that they will be considered immediately and the contract let, so that the contractor may be enabled to arrange for his materials with a view to proceeding with the job in the near future.

A considerable amount of work is also in sight in the district towns, including schools and public buildings, and that as in the past, will mean business for Duluth contractors and jobbers in materials.

An important factor in the building situation comes in the easy money market. Abundant funds are now available for investment in mortgage loans at reasonable rates, and this is expected to foster the movement for the building of modern, priced homes which attained such momentum last year. A number of builders are preparing to operate in that line in the steel plant districts and in West Duluth and the West end, where the demand for houses promises to be in view of the industrial expansion in these sections. Announcements are expected.

FEW REALTY TRANSACTIONS CLOSED DURING THE WEEK

Unfavorable Weather Affects Market—Superior Street Property Sold.

Brewing Companies Beginning to Dispose of Their Hotel Property.

Affected somewhat by unfavorable weather conditions, the number of real estate transactions actually closed during the present week was comparatively light. Interest of outside investors in Duluth realties is said to be steadily broadening, as evidenced by the nature of the inquiry being received by the offices.

The feature of the week was the purchase by Stryker & Buck of the P. McDonnell building adjoining the Glass Block store at a consideration of $70,000. The sale was made by order of the referee in bankruptcy and the offer of the firm mentioned was the highest of the four sealed tenders filed. The price is regarded as satisfactory, figuring out at $2,000 a foot for the twenty-five foot frontage with $2,800 allowed for the building.

The ground floor of the block is occupied by the Glass Block store's shoe department.

A stiffening up in values in Superior street central business frontages is reported. This was emphasized in the withdrawal from sale this week of a frontage on the lower side of the street between Second and Third avenues west in which a large amount of business has been done. The owners have revised their estimates regarding values and will not present more than a figure that would be considered by them for the property.

The sale was recorded yesterday by the Minneapolis Brewing company to August C. Kuhlberg of two hotel properties. One with a frontage of fifty feet on the upper side of Superior street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues west, was sold for $35,000, and the other with twenty-five feet frontage also on the upper side of the street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues west, brought $12,000. The transaction was closed at Minneapolis and is supposed to be a move on the part of the brewing company to divest itself of its interest in saloon properties before the clause in the new license ordinance prohibiting such ownership becomes operative next May. The company had several offers for the properties, and it is said that at the sale price a fair profit was netted upon the original investment.

Optimism is the keynote of leading Duluth real estate operators in commenting upon the situation here. The outlook could hardly be better than it is here right now, said J. D. Stryker this morning. "This city has come in for so much adversity, and although its victory in the freight rate case that outsiders are becoming more and more realizing that prospects for the future in values are certain to materialize in our realties in the near future."

The L. A. Larsen company reported the receipt of advance money on sales of three lots in Hazelwood and Selborne parks.

A strong general inquiry for all classes of property was made by the Hoopes-Kohagen company. Sales of four building lots in West Duluth were put through yesterday.

The Duluth Realty company effected permitted shortly in two warehouse propositions and in three factory enterprises.

Vernon J. Price & Co. have plans out for a two-room school to be built in school district No. 56 at Polo, Minn.

Wangenstein & Gillison, architects, have plans in preparation for a three-story addition to the Rex hotel at International Falls. It is estimated to cost $20,000, and it is understood that the job will go out for figures in a short time.

John A. Stephenson & Co. are taking figures upon the remodeling of the Ray house at Second street and Fourth avenue east. The contract will probably be let next week.

Lignell & Loebbeck have plans out for a proposed enlargement of the Glass Block store's dining room. The increased patronage being afforded, having rendered additional space necessary. That will be arranged for through the enlarging of what is known as the "bitch" room and the providing of another private dining room.

The Lounsbury-McLeod company is rapidly bringing to completion sixty-two houses in the Minnesota Steel company's model town at Spirit Lake, Wis., upon the remaining 108 houses provided for under its contract, will be started early in the spring.

The following permits were issued during the week at the office of the building inspector:

To H. Bergstrom, fire-proof office and garage, Oneonta street between Third and Fourth streets, $1,500.

To F. Guyett, frame dwelling, Washington street between Bwing and Kolstad avenues, 2,000.

To T. Thorburn, repairs, West Superior street between Twentieth and twenty-first avenues, 800.

Number of permits, 8.

sales of two lots at Lakeside to parties who propose to erect homes early in the spring.

P. George Hanson & Sons advised improvement investment interest in West end properties with every prospect of some large transactions being put through during the next few weeks. The office now has negotiations on foot for a new industry being established in the West end.

The Gary Land company effected sales of fifteen building lots in Gary First and Central divisions. Inquiry for building lots in the townships of many outside points is noted by A. W. Kuchnow, manager of the company. The Twin Cities, Chicago, Peoria, Ill., Davenport, Iowa, and St. Louis, Mo., were represented in the list of inquiries coming to hand during the last few days.

N. J. Upham, secretary of the International Realty association, says that the new organization is rapidly getting into a working basis. There are nearly $100,000 stock has been subscribed, and a number of real estate properties, including one in Duluth, are being looked into. Its executive aims to put through some deals that are likely to show profits before the Pittsburgh convention of the association is held next July.

That every man can be a property owner needs no discussion, but that only a small percentage do, needs some comment.

Five, ten or fifteen years ago had you purchased a home on the easy payment plan, on payments no bigger than the monthly rent, it would be free and clear today and working for you every minute. It would have greatly increased in value. But it's never too late. In fact, there never was a better time to buy than now, never a time when the prospects for a bigger and better Duluth looked better, or a time when cozy, comfortable homes can be purchased on such easy terms. That monthly rent will do it, and to do it a duty.
